The service, which was conducted by Adjutant Winnie Jones, of Peterborough, was in the nature of a musical event. The band rendered three selections, a march, "Fight for the Lord," a selection, "Warriors of the Cross," and a selection of hymn tunes with the bells, entitled, "Chimes." A saxaphone selection was also given, and two numbers by a male singing group, "Heavenly Mansions," and "Jesus is the Lord."

Ensign Payton addressed the lodges on this occasion. He spoke of the ideals of the Orange order, which is tolerance and liberty in worship, but emphasized the fact that it was necessary at all times to be prepared to defend with our life blood the rights for which our forefathers suffered.

Taking for his thought the Word of God, the Bible, the speaker showed how it was woven into the very ritual and life of the order. That in placing our life upon the Word of God, we can make no mistake. Of the truth of the Word, their can be no doubt. Mr. Payton drew attention to the fact that so many people do not believe that God keeps records of man's sins, and that He can hear all that is said, and that He can see all things. "This," said the speaker, "was the truth," and went on to show that by the gramaphone, man can record the words of man, by the radio man can hear the voice of man many miles away, and by the latest discovery of television, man can see man many miles away, and pointed out that if these things are possible to finite man, why should they be impossible to infinite God.

In conclusion, Ensign Payton spoke of the open Bible, the symbol and boast of the order. "It had been a book that the fathers of the order had shed their blood to open," he said, and made a strong appeal that it should not only be open, but read.

That the word of life was in that open book, and that we must wake to the responsibilities that are ours in connection with it, was the thought that the preacher concluded with.

After the singing of the National Anthem, the Rev. Dr. W. J. Mark pronounced the Benediction.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, June 2. — Further reports of wind damage to South Saskatchewan crops offset weakness at Liverpool, and meagre overnight export business and values on the Winnipeg wheat market on Saturday finished only ⅝c lower to unchanged. May and July slipped ¼c and ⅜c respectively, but October was the same at the close.

Overnight export business was placed at some 500,000 bushels, believed mostly to have been sold by the pool to Italy. Little business was done in cash wheat or coarse grains during the short session.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 2 — Produce prices on the Montreal markets showed a downward trend during the past week. Butter prices were off 2 cents a pound in wholesale lots, ending the week at 26½c to 27c a pound. Quotations for Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter to the trade, solids were 31c and 32c a pound.

Cheese was also slightly off, closing the week at 16½c for Westerns and 16c for Easterns. In the egg markets fresh specials were quoted at 38c, fresh extras at 36c-37c, and fresh firsts 33c-34c. Potatoes were also down, being quoted at from $1.45 to $1.50 for Quebecs and $1.60 for New Brunswick Green Mountains.

Stocks of butter, storage eggs and cheese showed an increase over this time last year. Exports of cheese to Europe from the Port of Montreal were the largest this season.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, June 2—Terrifying blizzards of dust reported as having swept the Canadian Prairie wheat country gave a general upward swing Saturday to the wheat market here. Crop losses that resulted to wheat in the path of the storm were estimated at 30 to 50 per cent. in places. Chicago May delivery of wheat, however, failed to hold gains, and finished at a decline because of lack of buying except from Federal Farm Board allies.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ranging from ¼c setback to 1¼c advance, compared with Thursday's finish. Corn closed at a shade to 2½c gain; oats varying 4¼c off to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 70

BREAKLINERS RETAIN FIRST PLACE IN THE LAKESHORE LEAGUE RACE; SCORE IS CLOSE BUT GAME IS TAME

Both Teams Fail to Hit in the Pinches—Kitchen Has 13 Strikeouts.

FEW PASSES GIVEN.

Ibey Used Assortment of Curves But Rays Hit His Slow Ball Hard.

By defeating the fast-coming Cobourg outfit 3-2 at Exhibition Park on Saturday afternoon the Raybestos ball team still retain first place in the Lakeshore League race. While the score was close the game itself was tame.

The Rays were materially assisted in securing their runs by the errors of their opponents, but they were also robbed of several counters by their own mistakes in running the pathways.

Rus Kitchen further strengthened his reputation as a pitcher by carrying off most of the honors in a duel with Toey Ibey, the Cobourg ace and formerly a member of Bob Elliott's Deloro team. Kitchen held the Cobourg batters in subjection throughout with the exception of one innings, the seventh, when they packed in three hits for their two runs. But the Rays could not connect with any regularity off Ibey's slants either. He allowed but seven hits, all of them coming as solos except for a pair in the first innings. They used an assortment of curves and the only one the Rays succeeded in solving was his slow ball.

In the matter of strikeouts, Kitchen had a big edge, whiffing thirteen as compared with Ibey's seven, and he failed to issue one base on balls while Ibey walked two.

Rollings and McFadden carried the burden of Cobourg's offensive, each getting two singles and a double. Hillier, Moore and Barry were the stickers for the Rays with two hits apiece.

How It Happened.

Rollings, first up for Cobourg, started the game off smartly. He crashed out a soaring fly into centre field, which caught Moore flat-footed and went for two bases. He was doomed to die there, however, because Hodgetts struck out, Waldon's fast drive was taken on the fly by H. Nicholls, and Jones fanned.

The Rays got one in their half. Hillier singled over third base. Rogers fanned, but Moore single into left field. Hillier scored when Elliott's throw-in to get him at third was wild, but the ball was quickly recovered and Moore was picked off running between second and third. Hall rolled out to short.

Cobourg was retired in order in the second, but an error and a wild pitch gave the Rays another run. Nicholls was safe when Waldon muffed his grounder and he stole second. Mein rolled out to second, but Nicholls went to third on the play and walked home on a wild pitch by Ibey. Hope grounded to first and Barry popped a fly in front of the plate which was taken by the catcher.

A double play robbed the Rays of a likely chance to score in the third. After Kitchen had struck out, Hillier singled and stole second. Rogers hit a ball right in front of the plate and he was tagged by the catcher, who threw to third getting Hillier.

The game continued along an even keel with both pitchers playing a prominent part until the fifth, when the Rays secured their other tally. Hope got on when hit by a pitched ball and he stole second. Barry singled into right field, Hope stopping at third. Kitchen was safe at first when Ibey's throw pulled Waldon off the bag. Hillier sacrificed a fly into centre field, scoring Hope. A double play followed when Rogers elected to run to first after Jones dropped his third strike. Barry being caught off second.

The game took on a promising look for Cobourg in the seventh, when McFadden, first up, laced a two-bagger into left field and Barry mused up Ibey's slow roller to first. With a runner on third and second and none out, Kitchen went to work and prevented any score by retiring the side on strikes.

Cobourg Count Twice

Cobourg came back in the eighth, however, to get two runs. Rollings singled and stole second. Hodgett's clout into left field was caught by Hall, but Waldon hit into the same field for two bases, scoring Rollings. Jones reached first when he ducked his head into one of Kitchen's drops. McFadden singled into right scoring Waldon. The flurry was nipped when Ibey's fly bunt was caught by Kitchen, who doubled McFadden at first.

MRS. MOODY ALSO REIGNS.

AUTEUIL, France, June 8 (C.P.).—Henri Cochet of France, whose rise into the realm of tennis began at the lowest rung of the ladder, was crowned undisputed king of the court yesterday, while Mrs. Helen Wills Moody re-emphasized her right to rule women's tennis.

"Big Bill" Tilden of the United States, fighting a gallant but vain battle against the little Frenchman's racquet wizardry, was beaten by Cochet 3-6, 8-6, 6-3, 6-1, in the men's singles finals of the French hard-court championship.

A determined onslaught to snatch from the crown of Mrs. Moody the diadem she has worn for several years also ended disastrously. Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., lone remaining fighter left out of a field of 44, lost in straight sets to Mrs. Moody 6-2, 6-2.

GLASGOW RANGERS DEFEAT CARSTEEL

Scottish Champions Give Brilliant Display in Winning 5 to 2.

MONTREAL, June 2.—With one of the most finished exhibitions of soccer witnessed here in some time, Glasgow Rangers, football champions of Scotland for 1930, defeated Carsteel of the National Soccer League 5 to 2 here on Saturday. The game, which is one of the many to be played by the Rangers on their tour of Canada and the United States, was witnessed by more than 5,000 devotees of the sport.

The visitors played under wraps in the initial part of the first half, but once they opened up the locals were hard put to save themselves from a more overwhelming defeat. The victors combined a brilliant attack, with an almost airtight defensive. The locals played one of the best games seen here, but their brilliancy was not to be compared with that of the Scotsmen. Time and again the Scottish champions executed end to end plays which left the spectators amazed at the speed and precision with which they were carried out.

BALTIMORE ORIOLES DEFEAT JERSEY SKEETERS IN DOUBLE TO STRENGTHEN LEAGUE LEAD

Winners Take Each Game From Blackcats By One Run Margin, 5 to 4 and 6 to 5.

ROYALS DOWN HERD 7-6.

Rochester Connects With Twenty-seven Hits to Defeat Toronto 11-8.

The Baltimore Orioles have taken a firmer grasp on the International League lead, but Montreal, Buffalo, Rochester and Toronto are waging a hectic battle for second place.

A double victory over Jersey City yesterday enabled the Orioles to stretch their advantage to a game and a half over Montreal, which is trained by Buffalo, Rochester and Toronto, each only half a game apart.

Baltimore won each game from the Blackcats by a one run margin, 5 to 4 and 6 to 5 in 12 innings.

Montreal pushed over a run in the 11th to down Buffalo, 7 to 6.

Twenty-seven hits rattled the fences as Toronto bowed to Rochester 11-8. Five doubles, two triples and three home runs were hit.

Newark pounded out 19 hits to Reading's 16 and won a wild game 14 to 9. The Bears scored eight runs in the second inning and added six more runs to their total by the time the seventh inning was reached.

LEAGUE PRESIDENT CAN "UMP" GAMES

Second Trophy Donated to East Northumberland Baseball Loop.

HASTINGS, June .—An executive meeting of the Northumberland Baseball league was held in Roseneath on Friday evening with delegates present from all towns in the league except Precious Corners and Baltimore. The meeting was called for the purpose of hearing the protest from Harwood in regard to the president of the league umpiring any ball games in the league.

The trouble arose when Mr. Varcoe, president, umpired the recent Bailleboro-Harwood game. After much discussion by the executive it was decided that there was no rule whereby the president could not umpire a game in his own league.

The league has received another handsome trophy to be competed for annually and to be known as the Charles Roger's trophy. The team finishing first will become holders of this trophy.

A motion was put through whereby teams finishing second and third places in the league will play off for the right to enter the final with the team winning first place for the Sam Clarke trophy. This system of play-offs will, it is believed, cause more interest. Owing to a mix-up in the schedule there will be no game in Hastings on Tuesday, as the schedule calls for. Due to some misunderstanding Bailleboro had advertised a game there with Precious Corners on the holiday. Bailleboro have no holiday games scheduled for their home grounds and Hastings already having had a game here on May 24th, gave Bailleboro the preference.

NEW MARK FOR DAY'S HOMERS SET ON SUNDAY; 24 CIRCUITS MADE IN TEN GAMES PLAYED

Babe Ruth Contributed His 16th Homer While Hack Wilson Equalled Bambino's Total.

A'S DOWN SENATORS.

Adolfo Luque Scores His Fifth Straight Victory For Brooklyn Robins.

The old adage that all things, good or bad, sometime must come to an end seems to be working out very well in the major leagues except where the habit of hitting home runs is concerned. Various winning and losing streaks toppled in yesterday's ten games, along with a few other marks for consistent performance, but the boys continued to drive balls outside the confines of the parks at an amazing rate.

In all 24 home runs were hit in the ten games, seriously threatening the mark set May 22 when 26 homers were made in the same number of contests and Friday's performance of 27 homers in 16 games. Babe Ruth contributed his 16th homer and Hack Wilson hit two to equal the Babe's total.

As the long-distance hitting went on, the Boston Red Sox ended the season's longest losing streak, turning on the New York Yankees after 14 successive losses to win by a 7 to 4 count. Ruth did not hit his homer until two were out in the ninth inning and by that time the game belonged to Boston.

Another New York team, the Giants put an end to Harry Seibold's great pitching performance of having completed nine straight games as they took a double header from the Boston Braves by scores of 9 to 4 and 16 to 3.

A'S DOWN SENATORS

The Philadelphia Athletics, downing Washington for the fourth time in a row and their eighth straight victory, gave Sad Sam Jones his first defeat of the season after he had won six games. The final count was 9 to 6. Providing the margin of victory, Bob Grove handled the really tough job of the game as he relived Mahaffey in the ninth inning and fanned two of the three men who faced him.

Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns, possessor of another of the American League's best hurling records, could not check the slugging propensities of the Chicago White Sox to earn his eighth victory and lost, 6 to 5. The Chicago victory helped produce a three-way tie in games for fifth place between these two teams and the Detroit Tigers, defeated 3 to 2 by Cleveland. The Indians, bunching hits off George Uhle to score all their runs in the third inning, moved into third place ahead of the Yankees.

Old Adolfo Luque of Brooklyn continued to win for the Robins scoring his fifth straight victory at the expense of the Phillies, 10 to 2. The Robins hit 15 times for 24 bases, five of their blows being homers, and placed themselves three full games ahead of their nearest National League rivals. Chicago moved into second place, running its winning streak to five straight, by trouncing the Pittsburgh Pirates 16 to 4.

Good pitching was the important factor as the Cincinnati Reds sent the St. Louis Cardinals down to third place with double victory. The Cards got only 15 hits in the games losing by scores of 5 to 4 and 7 to 1.

SUBURBAN AREA ROADS

To the Editor:

Dear Sir.—According to the report of the meeting of the City Council, May 26th last, some members of the City Council appear to have a wrong impression of the amount of funds available and amount expended on Sub-Area roads from 1920 to 1929 inclusive, or ten years.

Instead of $350,000 expended over said years, there was $299,400. County taxes met of the total $92,000. City taxes met of the total $83,500. The balance met by the Highway Department. The city, to meet the request for such purpose, paid in, for 1920, $6,000; for 1921, 23, 23, 24 and 25, $8,000 each year; for 1926, 27, 28, $9,250 each year, and for 1929, $9,750. Of the amounts paid in, $9,750 would not be ½ mill on the city, but the county, in order to meet the demand had to assess the township and villages in the highway system over 1 mill on the dollar.

The townships and villages have, to meet such demands for some 30 miles of Sub-Area roads and are also loaded with some 130 miles county roads, and upwards of 500 miles of local roads and streets.

After making allowance for more subsidized expenditures (by the Government) there was for 1929 approximately $36,500 available. To pave one mile would take from $20,000 to $30,000; then you can realize how much would be left for maintenance, calcuim, etc., for the remaining 29 miles.

If the city desires so called permanent work, then as the chairman of the Sub-Area Commission pointed out, the City Council can comply with the Statutes and pass a resolution authorizing the passing of a by-law to raise up to 2 mills or some $40,000 for Sub-Area roads and submit copy of such resolution to the County Council for consideration.

The Sub-Area Commission during the ten years has constructed 21 concrete bridges and culverts and installed a number of galvanized culverts, also have widened, ditched, drained and put surface gravel top on upwards of 20 miles road construction.

Concrete bridges and culverts are decidedly permanent when properly constructed.

Not in any way decrying so-called permanent roadways, yet have all attempts at constructing of such been successful; that is, has the roadway outlived the paying off of the debentures issued for the purpose. Are the debentures all paid off that were issued to construct the parts of certain streets that are now practically out of commission?

Concrete structures and streets are protected by the restriction of traffic in the city from 15 to 20 miles an hour. Outside roads are subjected to from 35 miles to 50 miles by autos and 25 to 40 miles per hour by heavy trucks. It was stated by some member of the City Council that "nothing" obtained as a result of Sub-Area expenditures. To prove to himself that such is not in accordance with the facts he should give the following outside roads and streets of the city a try out. He can safely ride in his car at 35 miles per hour without slackening save on Chemong Bridge or abrupt turns, that are also being as far as possible eliminated, from Gannons, Buckhorn, Burleigh Falls, McCracken's Landing, Havelock, Keene and Frazerville, all on county and Sub-Area roads, being upwards of 140 miles, all gravel roads.

Then he should get in his auto and attempt at 35 miles an hour to drive south on George street, then west on Charlotte street, the two most important streets; if he did it would not be surprising to find him delivered into the top of The Examiner Office or Bond's Drug Store or Gus. White's hotel.

The county has paid out of the townships' and villages' taxes for demand and carrying charges towards the Provincial highway leading into the city, $108,000. But there is something very gratifying about Provincial Highways; that is all defacing and plastering of fences is prohibited. Bill stickers must beware.

Respectfully yours,
M. M. ELLIOTT,
Treasurer,
County of Peterborough.

BRINTON BEATS LOCAL SCOTS IN LEAGUE GAME

BRINTON 5, CALEYS 1.

Winners Far Superior to Register Four Goals Against Losers' One.

The Brinton soccer team gathered two valuable points on Saturday afternoon at the Caledonians expense by the score of five goals to one, before a good attendanceof spectators on the new football field of the Brinton club.

Official opening ceremonies was carried through by Jack Kilbrick, chief engineer of the plant, who took the place of Mr. Sweetman, the manager, having to go out of the city on business. He kicked off to set the ball arolling and the team a win.

Opening Very Slow

The spin of the coin went against the Scots who fielded a weak team, many of the players being on the injured list. Alexander Mitchell who was picked to play, made his appearance as Keirn filled his position at inside left. From the start, the Brinton men took up the attack in real earnest to make progress into the Caley's territory where they tested the ability of the Scots custodian. After nice combination along the wing, Robertson and James went right inside the defense to let the latter have a right foot drive that was going inside the upright. Ward's anticipation nullified the count when he stopped the ball with a one-handed save. He cleared up field to Curtain who travelled to the other end to be held in check by Westwood when in the act of shooting.

For the next fifteen minutes, the Brinton front rank held the upper hand through the clever manipulation of Anderson at inside left. He dribbled his way through time and again then would pass to his inside men so that they would score but Ward offset them repeatedly with clever goal-keeping to save the Scots from a heavy count.

Scores Against His Team

Pressure ultimately told on the loser's who had to concede defeat when Eric Jones harassed the full backs in front of goal. He banged the ball for the far corner of the net. The custodian being in a position to clear but he was astonished to witness it land in the net from the foot of Bogie when he made a faulty clearance. Five minutes later, combination prevailed against the erratic clearances of the Caleys. Continual bombardment eventually confined all the play to the Caley's goal and on one occasion James sent a lightning drive into goal that had Ward in difficulty in stopping. He stopped the peculiar shot, then fell on the ground in so doing but prevented a tally as he grasped the ball on the line.

Occasional raids were made by the Caley's into the opposition area through the elusive tactics of Coyle at outside left. He would trap the ball on the run, feint a move in the opposite direction to have the half back in a mix-up, dribbling his way towards goal with the ball at his foot and until the finish of the interval period called a halt when he was in the front of goal along with Curtain, having shots at Curtis' charge. Half time—Brinton Athletic, 1; Caledonians 0.

HALF TIME

Both teams retired to the pavilion at the interval and after the customary respite tackled the problem of settling the decision of the league points. The Brinton team settled down to business right away and peppered the Scots goal from all angles; while the Scots made spasmodic raids into the winner's territory through Coyle, McCracken and Curtain.

Injuries Depleted Ranks

Ten minutes had only gone when Miller received an injury that prevented him taking so active part in the tussle. He received the trainer's attention and returned a little while later. No sooner had he returned when Pottie was carried to the line. His services were not available thereafter because he retired for the remainder of the encounter. Then Graham had to get the attention of the trainer when he met with an unfortunate crack on the muscle of the leg. With the team all upset, the Scots changed their men around to suit the condition of the play.

All within a short duration, the Brinton forwards opened up an onslaught against the weakened defense to rap in four counters when Jones increased the scoring. Then James landed the ball in the net after jumping quickly around to make it three. Anderson finished his clever play by slipping a low grounder past Ward from close range. James getting the last tally. It was a recompense of continual manoeuvring that brought them success, because Ward was the master of the situation on many visits and he had no chance to stop any of the shots scored.

Curtain's Brilliant Goal

On midfield play, Coyle gained the verdict and carried the ball up the centre of the field. He was tackled near midfield, and drawing his man close upon him, he sent Curtain away up into the Brinton half, where he took the ball along with him while he was harassed by two full backs. The Scot finishing with the only goal for his side after running with the ball at his toe until he met the custodian, who had no chance to stop him as he slipped it into the net. Play ran from end to end until the finish, with nothing interesting transpiring.

LOCAL ELEVEN BEATS TRINITY

Peterborough C. C. Takes Decision From Port Hope College Team.

BRILLIANT FIELDING.

The Peterborough Cricket Club defeated Trinity College at the Oval on Saturday afternoon by 25 runs. The victory was well deserved, as the College sent their strongest eleven.

Winning the toss, the visitors sent thee locals in to bat first, the innings opening with Binks and Jefferson, to the bowling of Mickle and Irvine. The batsmen opened cautiously. In reaching forward to Irvine, Binks was smartly stumped. Mitchell joined Jefferson, and these two players brought the score steadily to 20, when Jefferson fell to a catch by Johnson. Gore was cleaned bowled after scoring a couple. Thorpe joined Mitchell, and with 10 runs added the former was given out to an appeal for a catch at the wicket—four good wickets down for 39 runs. Frank Dyer, who was next man in, soon started hitting the ball, and with Mitchell playing beautiful cricket, the score was carried to 60 before Dyer was bowled by Irvine for a well-played 16. Jackson and Elliott both failed. Monkman and Stuart stayed with Mitchell for a while. Martin was last man in, and when it seemed almost certain that Mitchell would carry his bat, he was stumped in running out to Pacand, and the innings closed for 78 runs.

Had it not been for the brilliant fielding of the visitors, the score would have been much larger. Their ground work was brilliant, and their throwing in was accurate—the best fielding that has been seen at the Oval for many a long day. Irvine bowled well, taking four wickets for 20 runs, Pacand had two for 6, and Knight two for 9. Elliott kept wicket in fine style.

Trinity College sent in Johnstone and Irvine, against the bowling of Dyer and Jefferson. With four runs on the board, Dyer clean bowled the former. In Jefferson's second over, Irvine succumbed to a good ball from Jefferson, which kept low and beat the batsman. Mitchell for Jefferson was the first bowling change. At the tea interval the score stood at 39 runs for four wickets, and the local team were in a good position.

After the adjournment Knight and Robertson batted confidently and the score mounted quickly to 41 before Mitchell beat Knight with a 'beauty.' Dyer kept up his good bowling and bowled Robertson. After these two batsmen left the remaining wickets fell quickly and cheaply. Mitchell and Dyer were almost unplayable at this period, the tenth wicket falling at 53, leaving Peterborough victorious by 25 runs.

Frank Dyer and Don Mitchell were the outstanding players for the local club, playing splendid all-round cricket. The Peterborough fielding, although perhaps not as brilliant as the Port Hope boys, was good. Dyer captured six wickets for 27, Mitchell three for 12, and Jefferson one for 9. This game gives Peterborough three wins in a row, the next match scheduled being with Toronto C.C. at the Oval on June 14.

Practices this week on Monday, Wednesday, Thurday and Friday. A practice game for next Saturday will be arranged during the week.

An important executive meeting will be held after practice relative to the Ross Robertson Cup competition. All members of the executive please be on hand.

TRAINER FEARS FOR BALLYFERIS

Preparations Rapidly Progressing For Great Racing Carnival.

DIOLITE FAVORITE.

LONDON, June 2 (C.P. Cable).—All is ready for the opening of the great Epsom racing carnival and, if the weather gods are on their best behaviour the meeting is bound to be a success in every way.

The Derby favorites were closely watched over the week-end and all are reported well save Ballyferis, who was hurt in his box on Friday. Ballyferis, however, is making a good recovery though he did not impress Sam Darling, his trainer, much in his Sunday tryout. He had a gallop and some walking exercise. "I am afraid he will not be able to stay the distance of the Derby," said Darling to-day, "My only hope now is that the blinkers he wore during his little trial spin may have upset him and been the cause of his poor display."

Diolite's admirers can rest assured the colt has not receded in condition since his recent victory. Trainer Templtman says Diolite's performances have been most satisfactory, and he is confident the horse will give a good account of himself. Rustom Pasha and Blenheim are both reported in splendid trim and the former, especially, is expected to make a bold bid for victory.

KYTE OUTLINES CANADA'S DEBT TO MOTHERLAND

Alumni of Queen's University Holds Re-union Banquet in Empress Hotel.

56 ATTEND.

Librarian of University is the Special Speaker of the Evening.

The Alumni of Queen's University, Kingston, and their friends gathered at the Empress Hotel on Saturday evening for a very pleasant reunion banquet which brought together members from the city and district, and visitors whose home addresses range all the way from Peterborough and Lakefield and Norwood and Keene to as far away as Vancouver Island, the home town of one of the guests. A member of the Alumni who had a special welcome extended to her was from the class of 1898, Mrs. Agnes L. Hawkes, B.A., of Chandos, who came down for the reunion, which was attended by fifty-six people.

The guest speaker of the evening was E. C. Kyte, Librarian of Queen's University, who addressed the Alumni and their guests on the debt which Canada owes to England.

The banquet was held in the grill room and was presided over in pleasant fashion by R. F. Downey, president of the Alumni of Peterborough. The tables were very attractively arranged with crossed bands of crepe paper in Queen's colors of navy, red and yellow, while glass vases held a profusion of white and purple lilacs, blue iris, white narcissus and yellow and rose tulips. Song leading was in the hands of Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield and Trevor Miller presided at the piano. A number of Queen's college songs and yells enlivened the program and set the collective pulse of the gathering beating in tune to old memories of their Alma Mater. One song, "On the Old Ontario Strand" had a series of verses, the Rev. W. McDonald, chaplain of the society, taking the verse that recounts the doings of the "theologue" and Dr. Smith favoring the verse about the medics.

General Gathering

It was a pleasant and general gathering, and the members and their friends fraternizing in comradley style. The entertainment opened with a clap for Mrs. Hawkes, for president Downey, for honorary president R. Lees, and for Dr. J. A. Bannister, principal of the Normal School.

Mr. Downey, with a few words for the "children" or the under-graduates of Queen's, who were present, half a dozen strong, went on to express his pleasure in the chair of president for the past five years, and to ask the members to allow him to retire from the office.

Gordon Smith of Kingston, who accompanied Mr. Kyte, spoke briefly about the advancement made by the graduates of Queen's and said that there are 6,606 living graduates at the present time, the oldest being John Jones Bell of Ottawa, a member of the class of 1864.

The Rev. W. McDonald introduced the speaker of the evening in a characteristically entertaining address.

Mr. Kyte, with a pleasantly pronounced English accent and a confession that he was "half Scotch", with a very nice smile and an enthusiastic delivery of well-chosen thoughts, impressed upon his hearers the debt which the Dominion owes to England and the manner in which the Canadian background is based upon British standards.

The Golden Keys

"Canada holds the 'golden keys of east and west at her girdle'," he declared, "but her background is British in some of her best traditional attitudes."

Going on, he itemized the bequests of Britain to her daughter as the streng English law which forms the basis of Canadian jurisprudence; British customs, tradition and speech "ordered and unperturbed" and especially, English literature.

"We find it very hard to get the Canadian child to read a good book. It is difficult to prevent it from going out and kicking its heels at the street corner, instead of sitting down to the perusal of a worth-while volume."

Mr. Kyte described in entertaining words and graphic sentences some of the contributions made by Englishmen to the traditions of their land. But he proved himself, above all else, a bibliophile. His speech wandered imperceptibly but surely to the world of books. An Englishman whose purchases of rare volumes averaged $20,000 yearly for forty years and whose sixteen tons of books were sold during the war for the benefit of the fighting troops, commanded his sincere admiration, and he spoke at some length of his own experiences when valuating, by the aid of a shivering servitor in an emmense, heatless house in England, the books which, at the end of fourteen days of constant work, left him still bemused as to their extent and value. "It was the one time in my life when I detested the sight of a book" he declared.

Again, there was the illuminating little story of the patriotic Englishman who turned over to the Royal Library at Windsor, books in his collection which, if sold, would have netted him over one million dollars, but whose contents were such, in his opinion, as to warrant their being placed in the custody of a national library.

The common bond of religion was another element in the binding ties between the Motherland and her daughter, in Mr. Kyte's opinion. He ended his pleasant discourse by an adjuration to his hearers to "live justly, love mercy and walk humbly before thy God."

Mr. Downey presented the sincere vote of thanks which was accorded the speaker by J. E. R. Munro, seconded by Adrian Macdonald, and also extended his own appreciation of the assistance given by those in charge of arrangements for the evening, to Trevor Miller, the pianist and to the "efficient and loyal executive" of the past year.

After the election of officers, which followed in swift, business-like style, and a few words from the secretary, V. R. Henry, M.A., "Auld Lang Syne" was sung with a friendship circle of clasped hands, and the gathering closed with a Queen's yell.

The election resulted as follows: Honorary president, R. Lees; President, Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield; vice presidents; Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner, R. O. Lawlor of Norwood and Mrs. Arthur Camercn of Keene, and E. R. Shirley of Peterborough; secretary-treasurer, Miss Margaret Lees; chaplain, Rev. W. McDonald; committee: R. F. Downey, Adrian Macdonald, Miss A. Howson and Miss E. Murphy.

V. R. Henry, the popular secretary-treasurer of last year, in a brief speech, asked the co-operation of the members in bringing the list of graduates up to date.

Vancouver Official Dies in Hospital

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 2. (C.P.)—Frederick M. Bentley, 49, dismissed chief clerk of the Vancouver scavenging department, who last Monday took bichloride of mercury tablets following discovery of alleged discrepancies in his books, died in hospital Sunday. He leaves a wife and daughter.

Bentley, who had been in the city's employ for twenty years, last Tuesday, made a signed statement in which he admitted taking an average of $200 a month from the city over a period of five or six years. His salary as chief clerk in the scavenging department was $155 a month.

World War Veterans Are Awarded Honors

FAIRFIELD, Iowa, June 2 (Canadian Press). — Two veterans of the Great War, one a private and the other a sergeant, yesterday were awarded Distinguished Service Crosses.

John J. Gorss, reared in Canada a private in Comapny M, 69th Division, in France during the war, shared honors with Lane E. Stansberry, a sergeant in that company, and now Sheriff of Jefferson County, Iowa.

Major-General Matt Tinley of Omaha, commander of the Rainbow Division in France, pinned the crosses on the two men, after reviewing eight companies of National Guardsmen.

To-day's ceremony was the first of its kind outside of a regular army post.

SALT RAIDS OVER AS RAINY SEASON ARRIVES IN INDIA

150 ARE INJURED.

BOMBAY, June 2. (C.P.)—A drizzling rain fell over Bombay presidency to-day from cloudy forbidding skies, marking the first of the rainy season which comes every summer with the arrival of the monsoon.

This year the rain will mark the end of an important phase of the Indian Nationalist civil disobedience campaign. The showers to-day will be torrents to-morrow and the salt deposit areas, such as at Waldala and Dharasana will become morasses of mud and slime, inaccessible to the raiders who during the past two months have harrassed British police guarding them.

The final raid of the year at Waldala was undertaken yesterday by 15,000 Nationalist volunteers and spectators. Presence of troops was believed to have restrained the crowd somewhat, although about 150 persons were injured when the police charged with their lathis, or bamboo clubs.

There will be some further raiding at Dharasana but even this will ceaze within a few days. There was no raiding anywhere to-day inasmuch as Monday is the day observed by Mahatma Gandhi, imprisoned leader of the Swarajist movement, as a day of silence.

With abandonment of the campaign against the salt law the Nationalist volunteers are stressing the non-payment of taxes, a campaign of possibly much more serious import for the British authorities than that just concluded.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND TOOTIE'S TOOTH

Tootie was a little rabbit boy, one of Uncle Wiggily's many bunny children, and Tootie was a very jolly little chap. There was only one thing about Tootie which was queer and this was, he was so slow about having his loose teeth pulled. All the other rabbit boys and girls, even Baby Bunty, the orphan, never made any fuss when they had a loose tooth that needed to be taken out so a new tooth could grow in its place.

Here," Unkie Wig!" Baby Bunty would say when she found she had a loose tooth that needed pulling. "Please take it out for me."

Then Uncle Wiggily would gently take hold of Bunty's loose tooth in his paw and lift it out so easily that Bunty never felt it. She didn't even try to talk baby talk, which she might easily have been excused for doing at such times.

Just so with Jingle and Jangle and Tingle and Tangle and Buster and Custer. If they had a loose tooth they would let Uncle Wiggily or their mother or Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy pull it without any fuss.

"But it isn't that way with Tootie," Uncle Wiggily would say. "He certainly makes a terrible fuss over a little loose, baby tooth. Why, Tootie," the rabbit gentleman would say to his little boy rabbit, "you know that loose tooth is one that must come out so a new and better tooth can grow in place of it. If you don't let me take that loose tooth out the one that is growing under it may come in crooked like the crumpled horn of the cow that tossed the dog that worried the cat that caught the rat that ate the malt that lay in the House that Jack built."

"No, no, Daddicums!" Tootie would say, backing into a corner and holding his front paws over his mouth. "Please not now. After a while I will let you pull my loose tooth."

So it went on and it would sometimes take Uncle Wiggily as long as a week to get Tootie brave enough so a loose tooth could be pulled.

Then, one day Tootie had another loose tooth. The way his father found out about it was this. Uncle Wiggily brought home some early apples and gave them to his bunny boys and girls to eat. He gave an apple to Tootie, but the little rabbit boy never took a bite.

"Why don't you eat your apple, Tootie?" his father asked. "Don't you like it?"

"Oh, yes," answered Tootie. "Thank you. But I don't care for an apple just now. I'll save it."

"I know why Tootie doesn't bite his apple!" said Baby Bunty.

"Why?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Because," answered Bunty, dancing around on one paw and laughing, "Tootie has a loose tooth and he's afraid if he bites into the hard apple, that his tooth will come out. Ha! Ha!"

"Is that right, Tootie?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, er—now—sort of," Tootie said slowly. "I have got a loose tooth and I don't want to swallow it in a piece of apple."

"No, that wouldn't be a good thing to do," agreed Mr. Longears. "But if you have a loose tooth, Tootsie, you had better let me pull it with my paw as I have often done before."

"No! No, thank you!" cried Tootie, backing into a corner and holding his paws over his mouth.

"But why?" asked Uncle Wiggily, smiling. "I never hurt you the other times I took out your loose teeth, did I, Tootie?"

"No, Daddicums, you didn't," answered the little rabbit boy. "But I don't just want my loose tooth pulled now, Please!"

"Oh, dear! How silly you are!" sighed Uncle Wiggily. "I suppose I shall have to tease you off and on, now, for a week before you will let me pull that tooth. I don't want to have your mother and Nurse Jane hold you fast so I can take the tooth out that way. I would rather you pulled the tooth yourself, or let me take it out gently. Will you?"

"No! Oh, no! Please!" cried Tootie, running away to school.

"Well, I shall have to think up some way of getting that loose tooth out of Tootie's mouth," said Uncle Wiggily, sadly shaking his head. "If he would only let me tie a string on it, as I did once on the tooth of Billie Wagtail, the goat boy, and then tie a cork on the end of the string, I could get Tomminie Cat to yank on the cork and so pull Tootie's tooth. But Tootie knows that trick and I fear it will not work in his case. I wonder how I can pull Tootie's tooth?"

Uncle Wiggily thought and thought of some way to do this so Tootie would not scream and yell and then the rabbit gentleman started to hop over the field toward the Hollow Stump School. The Lady Mouse Teacher might know of a way.

COMMENT ON MORNING STOCK MARKETS OVER BIGGAR & CRAWFORD WIRE.

After the extended holiday the impressive fashion with initial impressive fashion wit hinitial instructions featured by the same apathy as at the end of last week. Mont. Ward met special demand, advancing to a new high on the recovery. Steel was steady. The Motors were unsettled by the unexpected cut in Ford prices and showed fractional recessions. Case Threshing and Pullman were weak spots, while fresh buying ran the Utilities higher.

Trading was slow on Toronto this morning, with price changes mostly fractional. City Dairy was most active and gained 1 at 62¼. Walkers and B. A. Oil were fractionally lower, while Nickel and Brazilian were steady at last week's closing prices.

RAILS CONTINUE TO SAG ON MART

TRADING IS LIGHT.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 2. (C.P.)—Trading was wearily resumed in the stock market to-day. Drive trends were vague and unconvincing, and transactions were light. The three day holiday apparently failed to restore either the courage or the vigor of professional traders, and the public held aloof.

Business surveys and analysis appearing over the week-end were on the whole, re assuring, but with little general improvement in view until late summer or early fall, speculators remained unenthusiastic. The slashing of the Kennecott Copper annual dividend rate from $5 to $3 had been expected for some time, but Wall Street expects there will be a few more dividend cuts, and some unsatisfactory earnings statements to be digested this month. Rails continued to sag, for with the unsatisfactory April earnings reports out of the way.

Chain store issues made moderate gains in sympathy with the mail order houses, and utilities were again well supported, as well as one of the industrial specialties and chemicals. Eastman Kodak rose several points, and shares gaining 2 or more included Air Reduction, Colorado Fuel, Allied Chemical, American Water Works, Spiegel May Stern, Amerda, United Cigar preferred, and Ingersoll Rand. Celotex sold up a couple of points in response to dismissal of the receivership suit.

The Kennecott dividend action had been too widely expected to have much influence on the copper shares. Case dropped 12 points, apparently under bear pressure, and Worthington Pump declined several points. Foster Wheeler, Westinghouse, International Harvester and Columbian Carbon were also under pressure.

ARTICLE XXXVII.

Q.—If noteholders forced the sale of the property, how would they fare as regards other securities?

A.—If noteholders forced the sale of a property they would fare ahead of the stockholders but would be entitled to their share only after all the mortgage bondholders. Accounts payable, guarantees and notes are on the same basis.

Some short term notes are partly secured by collateral, and where this is the case, if noteholders forced the sale of the business, the collateral would be sold in favor of the noteholders. This would be in addition to that which they would receive as an ordinary noteholder.

In some bond issues, provision is made whereby the company reserves the right to pay off certain short term notes before their maturity, providing due notice is given the noteholders. Such a condition might prove detrimental to the bondholders, although it is usually just a safeguard on the part of the company against lower money rates.

A certain proportion of an investor's money should be in a liquid state, and short term notes, if properly selected, provide a good opportunity for carryin out this practice.

ADVANCES MADE IN ALL GROUPS

But Issues Such as Hollinger and Lake Shore Suffer 15-Point Losses.

SMALLER STOCKS FIRM.

TORONTO, Ont., June 2. (C.P.)—Enhanced by an accumulation of orders over the two-day holiday trading, was better than any day last week, and advances were made in all groups, but towards noon the activity decreased, and prices either held early gains, or declined a few points.

Teck Hughes set a new high at $7.05, but this was only 10 above the previous close. Dome was also up 10, and McIntyre 5, while Hollinger and Lake Shore displayed 15 point losses. Then lower-priced golds were firm, Wright Hargreaves, Kirkland Lake, Vipond and Sylvanite all making small advances, while Howey was unchanged at 1.01.

HEAVY RAINS.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 2. (C.P.)—With rains reported in Canada where dust storms have prevailed, wheat prices here averaged lower early to-day. Liverpool quotations showing unlooked for declines counted also as a bearish factor. Opening 3-8 7-8c off from Saturday's finish, Chicago wheat sagged a little more, and then rallied, but afterward sagged again. Corn and oats displayed relative strength with corn starting at ¼c setback to ½c advance, and subsequently rising all around. Provisions held steady.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Foreign exchange easier, demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents) Great Britain 4.85⅝, France, 3.91 7-8, Italy, 5.23½, Germany, 23.85. Canadian dollars at 1-16 of one per cent discount.

PRIZE CAR WILL GO TO BELLEVILLE

May Also Be on Display at Duffus Motor Show.

At today's luncheon of the Rotary Club a letter was read from J. J. Duffus explaining that he expected thousands of visitors at the motor show in his sales rooms this week and offering Rotary the privilege of displaying the Rotary prize car outside the premises where it would be seen by the crowds attending the show and a ticket selling campaign could be carried on.

The Rotary car as announced would make the round trip to Belleville tomorrow and come back on the platform at Street Fair headquarters tomorrow night.

RIKER PASSES AWAY.

FAIRFIELD, Conn., June 2.—(C.P.)—Andrew Lawrence Riker, designer and builder of the first gasoline propelled locomobile, died here yesterday at the age of 81. Death followed a heart attack.

TRADING DROPS IN LATE SESSION

OIL SECTION QUIET.

TORONTO, Ont., June 2. (C.P.)—Somewhat better at the opening, activity on Toronto Stock Exchange died down quickly to-day, resulting in another aimless, uninteresting session such as were the rule last week. Prices of several issues at mid-day were down fractionally from the opening but there was no definite trend and fractional variations were given scant consideration.

Announcement by Ford of a cut in retail prices did not result in speculation in that stock. The price at midday was off a point but this was accounted for by the fact both the "A" and "B" were to-day selling ex-dividend $1.50.

42 PERMITS ARE ISSUED IN MAY

BELOW YEAR 1929.

Forty-two building permits issued from the city engineer's office during the month of May totalled $22,130 in estimated value and brought the total value of permits issued this year to $109,265. Of the month's $1,415 was for the erection of garages, $3,125 for the erection of dwellings and the remaining $17,500 covered alteration work, the building of extensions and miscellaneous building.

The May total showed a decrease over the total during April which was $36,945. In March this year the total was $29,865, February $1,000 and January $19,325.

For May last year the total was $58,145, more than twice that of last month and the total for the year to the end of May last year was $232,610, also more than twice the current figure.

Among the permits issued for May this year was one for a two-storey brick building for manufacturing purposes at 377 Aylmer street to be erected for Peterborough's Silverwood Dairy. The estimated cost is $4,500. Permits for dwellings on Princess and Rogers streets, for stores on Lake and Charlotte streets and for a machine shop at 220 Rink street were among those issued during the month.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

TORONTO, June 2 (Special to The Examiner).—Ramifications of the huge distributing organization of Imperial Oil Limited are outlined in a brief note accompanying dividend cheques to-day. From Newfoundland's "farthest east" to the most westerly point on Vancouver Island, and from the international boundary up into the barren lands of the Arctic extend's Imperial's system, a development of 50 years constant enterprise. Shareholders are told the company marched alongside the pioneer into the most remote districts and has not been content to cater alone to urban demand or the business offering in the older settled farming districts. The enormous effort represented by these pioneering activities has been justified by the goodwill which resulted therefrom and by the steady growth of Canada whereby distributing points which a few years ago had but very small markets to cater to, now are centers of populous districts in which a large volume of business is done. In conclusion, it is said, the objective of all Imperial Oils marketing enterprises is to develop and retain customers. Naturally, Imperial looks to its shareholders as customers and expects their support by their expressed preference for its products.

Beatty Stock Withdrawn.

The 139,000 no par value value ordinary shares and the 12,000 first preferred convertible shares of $100 par value of Beatty Bros. Limited, were withdrawn from the Toronto curb to-day and placed on the listed section of the Toronto Stock Exchange. Beatty Bros. was first organized in 1874 and while its chief business is the manufacture of electrical laundry equipment, its activities are backed by a wide diversity of products numbering about 600. Public offering of the securities was made for the first time in March, 1929, and a financial statement published for the fiscal year ended August 31, 1929. Indicated in the company to have had the best year in history with total sales almost $7,000,000 and operating profit of over $800,000. Earnings were sufficient to meet the dividend requirements of the first and second preferred issues by a substantial margin and after all prior charges the amount available for distribution on the ordinary shares of no par was equal to $4.62 a share.

Ford Car Reductions.

Official announcement of a reduction in the price of Ford cars, ranging from $5 to $25 in the United States and from $15 to $55 in Canada is made to-day. Of particular interest to shareholders of the Ford Motor Company of Canada is the statement that these reductions are made possible by the large volume of business in 1930 and that to-day the new Ford is outselling every other automobile in Canada by a large and constantly increasing margin. This will be welcome news to the thousands of Canadian shareholders who only a few days ago received the financial statement for the fiscal period ending December 31, 1929. Ford in 1929 had one of the best years on record with earnings of approximately $3.15 a share and in the present month practically $2,500,000 will be distributed in dividends, the first distribution since 1927. To-day the shares are selling ex-dividend the dividend of $1.20 and the bonus of 30 cents a share.

Trading Continues Dull.

To-morrow, the King's birthday, will be another holiday for the Canadian exchanges and the pre-holiday atmosphere surrounding the local market for the past week was again in evidence this forenoon. Trading in the early hours continued dull and price movements of no consequence. The market lately has suffered from interruptions through holidays.

First it was May 24, followed by Decoration Day in the United States and the closing of the local exchanges on Saturday and now comes June 3, all in about ten days' time. Sentiment in Wall Street was more optimistic to-day but the bears again got in their work shortly after the opening and were successful in drives against the more volatile issues.

Better Than Politics.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 2 (Canadian Press). — "Let the woman be queen of her home, a stage far more noble and more worthy of woman than the political platform," said His Grace Archbishop M. J. O'Brien, during the course of his address to a large class of candidates confirmed at St. Mary's Cathedral yesterday. Woman is called upon to govern the home, he said, and the richest and proudest heritage of any boy or girl lies in the virtuous lives of their mother and father more than in millions of dollars

WEDDING BELLS

KENNEALEY—HOLLAND.

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at half-past eight o'clock this morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, when Mary Josephine, eldest daughter of Alderman and Mrs. D. J. Holland, of 174 Douro Street, became the bride of Charles Patrick Kennealey, of Brantford, son of Mrs. Margaret Kennealey of Peterborough and the late William Kennealey. The bride, a member of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary, was married in the sanctuary. The Nuptial Mass was solemnized by the Rev. Dean O'Sullivan.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful gown made in Princess effect, of white canton crepe, with circular skirt drapery, long, tight-fitting sleeves, plain tailored jabot finishing the neckline in front and a graceful narrow stole collar hanging from the back.

The bride wore short gloves of white silk, white kid slippers, and white silk hose. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and wore the gift of the bridegroom, a crystal necklace.

The bridesmaid, sister of the bride, Miss Suzanna Holland, was in pale pink rose crepe romain, with long lines and little flat bows at neck and cuffs. She wore a small hat of white silk, heavily stitched in a floral design, with short white silk gloves, white kid slippers, and white silk hose. She also wore the gift of the bridegroom, a necklet of rose crystal, and carried a bouquet of red Premier roses.

Mr. Orville Kennealey of Peterborough acted as best man for his brother.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, where decorations were in pink and white, with a large pink and white bell and streamers over the table, which was centred by the bride's cake and arranged with bridal rose and lilacs.

Mrs. Holland, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Kennealey, mother of the bridegroom, were both attired in black silk crepe, with black hats and corsage bouquets of carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennealey left on the afternoon C.P.R. train for a honeymoon trip to Toronto, Hamilton, and Detroit. They will live in Brantford.

The bride travelled in a smart suit of pin-stripe navy tricotine, with small hat of sand Baku straw, trimmed with an "off the face" pleated frill of sand silk and tailored blouse of sand silk crepe. She wore a cinnamon fox fur scarf, brown kid slippers and matching silk hose, and carried an envelope purse of brown and sand leather.

The gifts to the young couple were many and useful, and testified to the high esteem in which they are held by a large circle of friends. The gift of the bridegroom to the best man was a gold watch chain.

The first annual bait casting tournament of the Peterborough Fish and Game Portective Association will be held at Exhibition Park on Wednesday evening at 6.45. All members and those interested in the great sport are requested to be present to take a hand. There will be valuable cash and tackle prizes donated through the kindness of Peterborough Hardware Company and Mrs. L. LeBarr. Prizes will be awarded for the greatest accuracy and distance. There is no entrance fee.

MORE SPECKLED TROUT

Two hundred more large speckled trout will be dropped into the local waters tomorrow by members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association. These are male fish and weigh between two and four pounds each. They are surplus from the Government hatcheries and are not for propogation purposes. While it was suggested by the Department that they be put in the Kawartha Lakes, it is likely that some at least will be placed in local streams that are open to the public. Anyone knowing a good stream should get in touch with J. W. Gravestock, president of the local Association.

COMMISSION HAS NO AUHORITY

That the matter of granting licenses for boathouses or other buildings on sub-area roads is not within the jurisdiction of the Suburban-area Commission, was decided at a meeting at the Court House on Friday. The matter was brought up after the receipt of several requests for permission to erect such buildings on the sub-area roads.

The motion was moved and seconded by Messrs. Kitney and Gainey.

FIREMEN KEPT ON RUN

Several runs were made by Peterborough Fire Department over the week-end although none of the fires were of a serious nature. At 3.07 Saturday afternoon they responded to an alarm from 608 Elmwood avenue. On Sunday morning at 9.45 a short circuit in the electric wires at the corner of Stewart and McDonnel streets, necessitated attention from the Peterborough Public Utilities men, as also did a short circuit outside 248 Charlotte street later on in the morning. Shortly before noon the final turn-out for the day was made to 171 Aylmer street, where a roof had become ignited from flying sparks from a chimney.

"AUNT LUCIA" RIDES.

"Aunt Lucia prefers the Dodge." With that banner leading a procession of Dodge cars, a parade moved down George Street last Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. About twelve new cars were in the procession, and these were filled with girls from the "Aunt Lucia" chorus and Rangers. "Aunt Lucia" banners were waved, and yells were given. "Aunt Lucia" was perched on a rumble seat. She looked very dignified dressed in an old lady's outfit. Due to the fact that the real "Aunt Lucia," Norman Laing, did not want to sacrifice his mustache until the night of the show, a substitution was made, and H. Weir of the Rangers donned "Aunt Lucia's" costume.

THE WORM MIGHT TURN.

Evidently a visitor from some great metropolitan centre, and unfamiliar with the art of fishing, a young man was seen at Wallace's Point over the week-end cutting peculiar capers in his fastidious endeavor to get a worm on to his fish hook without coming into personal contact with the slimy, wriggling victim which was to provide the bait for some unsuspecting fish.

Placing his foot on the worm, the would-be fisherman stuck his hook into the portion which protruded from under his sole, and casting into the water he soon got a bite. Hauling his capture ashore, it proved to be a good specimen of a sun fish, which the young man was either too excited or scared to handle at all. He had perforce to await help from the interested group of spectators who soon helped him out of his predicament.

BUSH FIRE DESTROYS 1,500 ACRES OF BRUSH

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 2. (C.P.)—A bush fire at Sault Lake 14 miles north of the Sault along the line of the Algoma Central Railway has destroyed 1,500 acres of brush and small timber and is still out of control according to the local offices of the forestry department.

Sixty men are engaged in fighting the blaze, which started Saturday from sparks from a railway engine, and three pumps are being operated in the effort to check the blaze which spread rapidly under a strong wind yesterday.

A small fire was reported last night at Perry, 149 3-4 miles north of Sault where eleven men are engaged.

Two small blazes near Glendale, one of them at Pauquette's Lake, also started on Sunday but were quickly extinguished.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

CITY CHURCHES

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

Sixty little children, pupils of the junior classes of St. Peter's High School and of St. Mary's Convent, received their First Communion at the nine o'clock Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday.

The little boys and girls, thirty of each, hands devoutely clasped, small faces shining with anticipation of this major event in their religious life, made a pretty picture as they moved in procession up the broad aisles of the Cathedral. The little girls wore white frocks and veils and the little boys had black suits with spotless white collars. They sang hymns as they went through the solemn ceremony.

IN MEMORIAM

WINDOVER—In loving memory of our dear husband and father who died June the second, 1929.
The month of June again is here,
The saddest month of the year;
It is just one year ago today,
Our dear one passed away.
In life we loved him dearly,
In death we do the same;
We oftentimes do think of him,
And wish him here again.
We think of him in silence,
No eyes may see us weep;
But many silent tears are shed,
When other are asleep.
Happy were the hours we spent together,
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.
We loved him, yes, no tongue can tell,
How deep, how dearly, and how well;
Christ loved him too, and thought it best
To take him home with him to rest.
Sadly missed by Mrs. Matthew Windover and her family.

Cambridge Tragedy Arouses England

STUDENT SHOOTS HIS TUTOR, SELF AND DETECTIVE

TUTOR A NOTED EXPLORER.

Youth Being Questioned About Absence Without Leave When He Draws Revolver.

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., June 3. (A.P.) Historic King's College, Cambridge, to-day was the scene of a double tragedy which ended in the death of A. F. R. Wollaston, famous explorer and Cambridge instructor, and D. N. Potts, an undergraduate who died in a local hospital from a bullet wound.

Detective Sergeant Willis was at a local hospital seriously wounded.

Senior Tutor of College

The dead explorer was senior tutor of King's College. He was a member of the 1921 Mount Everest Expedition and had also travelled in Central Africa and New Guinea. He held numerous scholastic distinctions and was at the age of 55 one of the best known men in Cambridge University.

It was the expressed police theory that during an interview in the College between Pots and Wollaston at which Detective Sergeant Willis of the Cambridge Police, was also present the undergraduate drew a revolver, fired at Wollaston and then shot at Willis before turning the weapon on himself.

"A detective sergeant of the Cambridge Police was also lying seriously injured," stated Dean Miller-White in telling of the tragedy. "I do not know how the police officer was present in the room, whether he went in with Potts or was called in during the interview. I have been told there is no hope of Potts' recovery".

Generously Treated

The Dean then added: "I should like to make it clear that Potts was in every way well and generously treated here. When he left King's College a week ago, there was nothing against him—at any rate nothing of a serious nature. He was a 'Victory' scholar having come to the College from Lancing, Sussex, with a scholarship of £80 yearly. He appeared to be doing quite well. His father has offices in London".

The dean said that Wollaston, the tutor, was one of the best men in Cambridge as well as one of the most distinguished. He was widely known as an explorer. He leaves a wife and two little children.

Detective Sergeant Willis who has bullet wounds in the shoulder and leg, was said to be fairly comfortable.

According to one Cambridge authority Potts had been absent without leave for some days and was in the tutor's room being interrogated regarding this.

Wollaston was shot through the heart. Willis was shot through the shoulder and was stated to have received a second shot as he lay on the floor.

Distinguished Traveller

Wollaston, whose full name was Alexander Frederick Richmond was a distinguished explorer and mountaineer. He was a member of the Mount Everest Expedition of 1921. He was a member of the British Expedition to Ruwenzori, Central Africa, in 1906-7 and of an expedition to Dutch Guinea 190911. He was the leader of another expedition to Dutch New Guinea in 1912. He served as a surgeon in the Royal Navy during the war and was medical officer and naturalist of the 1921 Mount Everest Expedition. He was the author of several books on travel and had received several medals for his work.

HERO OF RHEIMS IS LAID TO REST

Cardinal Lucan's Funeral Attended By Outstanding Military Leaders.

STAYED UNDER FIRE.

RHEIMS, France, June 3.—(A.P.)—Cardinal Lucon, heroic figure of the World War days who stayed under fire during the long bombardment of Rheims, was laid to rest today in the crypt of his beloved cathedral.

A long procession of clergy, notables and parishioners walked behind the flower-laden hearse with the military band of the regiment of which he was chaplain playing a funeral march.

Andre Maginot, Minister of War, and General Lasson, representing President Doumergue, marched in the cortege from the Archbishopric to the cathedral where Monsgnor Baudrillant preached the funeral sermon and five cardinals gave the absolution.

Cardinal Lucon, who was 87 years old, died last week.

FIRE DESTROYS CHEESE FACTORY AND SMALL HOME

Killarney Factory of Dummer Was Burned at Noon Yesterday.

$5,000 INSURANCE.

Fire Pumper From Village of Norwood Answers the Calls.

HAVELOCK, June 3 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Killarney Cheese Factory on the boundary between Asphodel and Dummer, and a nearby dwelling house belonging to Mrs. T. Glover, were burned to the ground at noon yesterday in a blaze which was started by a spark from the factory boiler. With great difficulty, a farmhouse nearby, owned by Roy Parker, was saved when the fire spread to this property.

The cheese factory was built by William Andrews in 1904, and has been operated by a stock company. It was in charge of Cecil Cuthbertson, maker. Insurance to the amount of $5,000 was carried on it.

Fire-fighters who brought a pump-engine from Norwood failed in their efforts to confine the fire to the factory and it was spread by the breeze to the Glover house 50 yards away. Furniture was removed, but the house, valued at $2,500, was a complete loss. It was not insured. The house might have been saved, it is reported, if the firemen had not failed to bring a ladder in answering the alarm. They were unable to get to the roof. A ladder was secured from G. A. Brethen.

The house was a rough-cast structure.

Sixty-seven cheese were saved before the factory building became a blazing inferno. Twenty-seven were lost. The fire loss also included 187 pounds of butter. Milk gathered on Sunday and Monday was in the vats.

RT. HON. J. H. THOMAS APPOINTED SECRETARY FOR THE DOMINIONS

Colonies and Dominion Cabinet Posts Are Separated Premier Announces.

IMPORTANT CHANGE.

LONDON, June 3.—(A.P.)— Premier Ramsay MacDonald to-day announced inauguration of the offices of Secretary of State for the Dominions and for the Colonies, separate cabinet posts as a departure in the Empire Government set up.

The office of Secretary of State for the Dominions and Colonies has been held by Lord Passfield.

Premier MacDonald announced that Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, will take the appointment of Secretary of State for the Dominions.

Important Change.

Abolition of the dual office was regarded as an extremely important change. The news was received with keen interest in the House of Commons this afternoon.

The Premier said the approach of the Imperial Conference and the nature of its business necessitated a separation of the Dominion and Colonial Departments.

The appointment of Mr. Thomas, he said, would necessitate readjustment of the machinery set up for dealing with unemployment, changes in which would be announced in due time.

ATTEMPT IS MADE TO KILL WEALTHY CHICAGO WOMAN

BULLETS LODGE IN BED.

Woman Had Arisen Few Moments Previously and Had Left Her Bedroom.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 3.—(C.P.) — An attempt was made early today upon the life of Mrs. Lottie Brenner Dechow, the wealthy and elderly woman who recently divorced the young, self-styled "Count Von Buelow".

The bedroom is on the second floor of Mrs. Dechow's costly residence at 5928 Sheridan Road. The assassin climbed to the roof of a garage abutting the house, placed a gun against the bedroom window and fired twice.

Mrs. Dechow 55 years old and possessor of a fortune left her by the late Alderman Nate Brenner, had arisen five minutes earlier to go to the chamber of her sister, Mrs. May Gross, whose husband was buried yesterday. It was while in her sister's room that she heard the shots and hurried back to her own.

Revolver Is Found

The bullets had drilled the screen and window just below the point the shade reached. Police later found a .38 calibre bullet embedded in the floor. The other bullet buried itself in the mattress. Detectives said that from the position of the bullet holes Mrs. Dechow would have been wounded in the side had she been in bed.

Seeking a motive, officers asked Mrs. Dechow if she had been unusually active in seeking to trace robbers who, in the guise of census enumerators, invaded her home March 31, taking valuable jewelry. She said she had not. They also inquired concerning her feelings toward her divorced husband. She said although she recently had sought his arrest on a charge of false swearing in the procurance of their marriage license, she and Dechow were now on friendly terms.

DESIRED SECRECY.

OWEN SOUND, June 3. — Mrs. William Mothersill, daughter of Lafayette Dales, who is seeking a pardon from the Lincoln, Nebraska, jail after having served 21 years of a life sentence for the murder of a horse trader while crossing the prairies, has reached the point where she decided it was in the best interests of herself to break her silence. She admits she wrote to her father in March and told him their home in Owen Sound was open to him, but had hoped no publicity would be made, and he could have come back quietly.

Further than this she had no comment to make.

PAVING WORK SEVERELY CRITICIZED BY ALDERMEN AT COUNCIL MEETING SIDEWALK IS LAID AT BAD TIME

Alderman McNabb Leads Attack on Behalf of Local Laborers.

GRANDSTAND TALK.

Mayor and Alderman Huffman Declare Local Labor is Employed.

There was a great pow-wow among the aldermen at last night's City Council meeting concerning the paving work being done on George street by the Warren Paving Company. In fact at certain stages the argument went beyond the bound of etiquette. Everyone took a hand in it.

The Warren Paving Company was criticized for a piece of sidewalk put down on George street in front of Hooper's centre store. It was alleged that the company was not living up to the contract, which required employment of local labor, and it was strongly implied that Chairman Huffman of the Board of Works, Mayor Denne and City Engineer Parsons had been lax in not maintaining a check-up to learn how many city men were employed.

Leads the Attack

Alderman McNabb led the attack being supported by Alderman Tuggey, while the Mayor and Alderman Huffman defended. All the allegations were denied, but it was fully admitted that the sidewalk on George street in front of the stores should not have been put down on Saturday, but that the work was started before the City Engineer had information of it.

"There is a lot of grandstand talk been going on here to-night, in an effort to make a big show in the paper," contributed Alderman Phelan half way through the debate. "Chairman Huffman states that there are only four outside men on the job and they are key men. I'm willing to believe him."

The suggestion of grand stand play was hotly denied by Alderman McNabb, who maintained that he only desired information.

Why Laid on Saturday?

Starting off, Alderman McNabb wanted to know who authorized the breaking up of the sidewalk on George street and why the pavement was laid on Saturday, thus hurting the stores' business. He stated it was the "rottenest piece of paving" he had ever seen and "de-

SHIP GOES DOWN FORTY ARE LOST

BOILER EXPLODED.

BOGOTA SOUTH AMERICA, June 3.—(C.P.)—Forty bodies were recovered today following the sinking of the passenger steamer Goenaga in the Magdalena river yesterday after a boiler explosion. The captain of the steamer, Carlos Mora Henrique Felahmaz, went down with the vessel and his body was among those recovered.

Thirty-five members of the crew were saved. Eleven of them were seriously burned by fire which followed the explosion. The vessel sank almost immediately after the explosion and before any aid could be summoned. The survivors arrived in Barran Quilla early this morning and the injured were sent to a hospital at Tenerife.

12 SALT RAIDERS SERIOUSLY HURT IN PRISON RIOT

Prisoners Clash With Authorities in the Worli Prison.

MANY INJURED.

Encounter Occurred When Prisoners Made Rush For Freedom.

BOMBAY, June 3.—(C.P.)—Twelve salt raiders were seriously injured in Worli prison to-day in a conflict with the authorities. The number of others injured in a bitter clash was not made known.

The encounter occurred when a large group of prisoners within the barbed wire enclosure in the detention pen at the Bombay suburb made a rush for freedom.

Aided By Angry Mob.

The Congress volunteers within the pen were aided by an excited and angry mob from without, who hampered the civil and military guards.

Troops were concentrated at Worli Sunday after attempts by hundreds of prisoners to force their way out of the prison enclosure.

Repairs to the barbed wire fences occupied their attention all day yesterday. To-day a procession from the congress went to the prison.

While the troops and police were engaged in erecting a stronger barrier about the internment place the natives, instigated by agitators, attempted to block the work of the troops.

The mob insulted the police and military by spitting on them. This immediately led to strife, which was increasing steadily.

Mill Women Lead Riot.

Women from the mill area nearby were the first to precipitate the encounter. They attempted to interfere with the work of the soldiers. They were forcibly removed. The volunteers became excited and rushed for the entanglements.

The volunteers were put back in their quarters but as this was going on a stone knocked a soldier's helmet off. This was the signal for general confusion. The police made several charges with their bamboo sticks, inflicting extensive casualties.

A company of the 19th Hyderabad regiment went to Worli and restored order.

WRIGHT CASE IS SETTLED

AGAINST THE P. H. D.

WHITBY, June 3 (Special to The Examiner).—Settlement was reached in the Harmony Creek case here today in which the parents of the late Miss Helen Wright and the widow of the late Walter Northrop were the claimants in an action against the Provincial Highways Department.

Messrs. Gordon and Elliott, barristers, of Peterborough, appeared for the claimants, while Messrs. Erickson, Brown and Strachan, barristers, of Toronto, appeared for the defendants. Settlement was reached in both cases, although the amount was not disclosed.

It will be remembered that the claim arises out of the death of Miss Helen Wright and Walter Northrop, who were drowned at Harmony Creek in March, 1929, as the result of a bridge being washed out in the heavy floods.

INEFFICIENCY NOTED IN ADMINISTRATION OF JAILS

Fire Traps, Seething Unrest and Other Troubles Found by Investigator

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 3 (C.P.)—Reporting the results of a two-weeks' survey of the recent Ohio Penitentiary fire, in which 322 inmates were burned to death, William B B. Cox, secretary of the National Society of Penal Information, noted inefficiency in the administration of the prison and suggested that an inquiry into prison condition in Ohio generally be conducted by a group of penologists from outside of that State.

Commenting on conditions in other State prisons, Mr. Cox said the Missouri institutions are as bad as those in Ohio and that the New Jersey State prison in Trenton is "a veritable fire trap." Clinton prison in New York, he said, is still "seething with unrest," and likely to have another break any day.

Forest-Fire Crisis Believed Averted; One Flier Is Dead

Hundreds of Forestry Men and Lumber Camp Employees Still Toil Under Smoky Spies to Protect Isolated Settlements and Valuable Timber Limits.

DEATH OF AVIATOR IN FIRE AREA IS ASCRIBED TO THE THREATENING SITUATION—DAMAGE HEAVY.

Hardly Breath of Air Stirred Over Lake Head District To-day Where 24 Hours Ago a Driving Gale Fanned Forest Fires, Sweeping Them Eastward.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 3 (C anadian Press). — Crisis in northwest Ontario's forest fire danger appeared to have passed to-day as high winds abated and rain fell. Hundreds of forestry men and lumber camp employees, however, still toiled under smoky skies to protect isolated settlements and valuable timber limits. Death of an aviator in the fire area was ascribed to the threatening situation, while the toll of flame-razed and homesteads mounted to an unestimated total.

Paul Garten, flier for Western Canada Airways, was believed to have been drowned in the lake near Allenwater, east of Sioux Lookout, Canadian National Railways centre. He failed to return to Sioux Lookout after making a trip to Allenwater, made necessary by burned-down telegraph wires. A reconnoitring follow-up plane found Garten's plane floating upside down, but could not locate the airman.

Hardly a breath of air stirred over the Lakehead district to-day, where 24 hours ago a driving gale fanned forest fires, sweeping them eastward.

Surveying district

Fire rangers here left for an aerial survey of the burning district to the north and east early to-day. Dozens of fires among both large and small timbers destroyed large areas of valuable bushland at Hurkett, 35 miles to the north during Sunday and yesterday. Eight persons, three of whom were believed yesterday to have died when trapped by flames, had narrow escapes from death.

The situation in the outlying areas was believed improved due to slackening of the wind, though smouldering, smoking fires may spring up in a score of places at any minute.

Fires that raced through stubbily-wooded Brent Park were not put under control until they had crept to within a few feet of homes. The entire personnel of Port Arthur's fire department concentrated their efforts here. Vagaries of the wind, as much as anything, saved the residence of Theodore Stirrett. Flames licked their way into heavy grass beside the house and then suddenly veered off their course.

Voluntary fire-fighters saved two other homes, having dug wide trenches around them to block the leaping columns of fire. Other residents of the thickly populated district were preparing to flee when told that the danger was past.

Less dangerous fires close to the city also were under control to-day.

At Sioux Lookout, the eastbound continental train of the National lines was halted for three hours last night as a pilot engine reconnoitred through blaze-ridden areas. Later, the train proceeded unharmed. The most dangerous situation developed between Robinson and savant Lake, points east of Sioux Lookout, but abating winds removed the hazard.

At Armstrong, divisional point, as well as at Sioux Lookout, pilot engines were held in readiness to take out refugees from the Robinson-Savant Lake zone. In this area, fires raged along both sides of the track under the force of a stiff west wind. Preparations were made to take out the few residents of Savant Lake but the fire died down with the wind before this was necessary.

JOSEPH STEWART RETIRES FROM POLICE DUTIES

Has Served For Over 40 Years as Law Enforcement Officer in Peterborough.

ONCE ON CITY FORCE.

License Inspector For Many Years and Later Provincial Officer.

Joseph Stewart has retired from the service of the Provincial Police under superannuation, which began June 1st, his seventieth birthday. His active police duties terminated on Saturday, May 31, after more than forty years as a law enforcement officer in Peterborough.

For many years Mr. Stewart was a constable of the city's police force, from which he was appointed to the position of license inspector under the Ontario Government. With the passing of the system of licensed hotels, Mr. Stewart was retained as a special officer for the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act, and more recently the Liquor Control Act. These duties have extended through a long period of years, and have constituted a record upon which Joseph Stewart always held the confidence of his superiors and also of the public.

While he was license inspector and enforcement officer under the O.T.A. it used to be said that conditions in Peterborough were comparatively favorable in the extent to which the law was respected and obeyed. This was the general opinion, particularly in the later years of the license system.

Mr. Stewart has already moved out to his farm on the Keene Road in Otonabee, and with his transfer to the retired list only memories are left of the old city police force of which George I. Roszel was chief. Robert Adams, Charley McGinty, Joseph Stewart and Chief Roszel comprised the Peterborough Police Department's personnel for years. The other three are dead, and the last of the old force has reached the age of superannuation which the province provides for its police employees.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 2.—(C.P.)—Dhan Gopal Murkerji, Indian author and patriot who lives in New York and Milford, Conn., arrived today on the French liner Rochambeau after a month's visit to India, where he confererd with leaders of the Gandhi campaign and gathered data in the centres of reesistance.

He said India does not know the extent of Great Britain's strength, but added that the first two steps of the revolt had met with much success, the first being the breaking of the salt law and the second the boycott of British goods. He said the third step, refusal to pay taxes, would begin at the end of the month, with three provinces organized for the move.

200 Arrested in Chicago Clean-up

EIGHT MURDERS IN THREE DAYS IS NEW RECORD

200 Are Arrested in City Wide Clean Up Campaign.

TELEPHONE WIRES TAPPED.

Control of Chicago's Beer Franchise is at Bottom of Gang Warfare.

CHICAGO, Ills., June 3 (C.P.) — An epidemic of murder—eight in three days, with six persons dangerously wounded—to-day was treated with the police panacea—an intensive, city-wide round-up of bad men.

More than 200 persons, including three who are listed among the Crime Commission's "public enemies" had been arrested at dawn, with police squads still busy throughout the city. Even as the squads spread over the city, guns blazed again; this time at the rear of the fashionable Belmont Hotel, Belmont and Sheridan road.

Several persons saw the flash of the guns in the north side alley and heard the shots. Guests in the hotel were awakened by the roar of the guns; but no victim was found. It was a gun attack like the one last week in which the victim, after being shot down, was carted away by his attackers. A policeman reported seeing an automobile racing down Belmont Avenue shortly after the shots were heard last night, a man's form slumped in the seat beside the driver, and the tonneau filled with other men.

Among the 200 arrested as first fruits of the round-up is Jack McGurn (called the machine gunner of the Capone gang); James Belcastro and Rocco Fanelli—three "public enemies."

Telephone Wires Tapped

Deputy Commissioner Stege's investigation of the gun outbreak led to the discovery that gang leaders recently have been tapping the telephone wires of each other, listening in each other's plans and thus being able to "get the jump" on their rivals.

"They read about the State Attorney's men tapping wires," said Stege, "and they thought it would work for them, too."

Stege said he had learned that a duel to the death between Capone men and cohorts of George (Buzz) Moran was in the making. It was this knowledge, he said, that prompted the police round-up.

In the Deputy Commissioner's opinion, the recent slayings were traceable to the murder, May 25, of Peter Piescia. That slaying, he said, broke the peace pact between the gangs, and war was renewed.

At the bottom of most of the gunnery, however, is beer. Stege believes; the conflict between rival beer rings to gain control of lucrative territory.

The condition of George Druggan and his companion, Mrs. Vivian McGinnies, wounded in the "Little Massacre" at Fox Lake early Sunday, when three were killed, remained critical early to-day. Each has refused to talk.

STORES PICKETED IN OPEN DEFIANCE OF BRITISH ORDER

Behind Picketing Looms More Serious Nationalist Project of Non-Payment of Taxes.

MOSLEM-HINDU CONFLICT.

Musselmans Seek Separation of the Sind From Bombay Presidency.

BOMBAY, June 3. (A.P.)—Picketing of all shops in Bombay dealing in British goods was ordered for to-day by the "war council" of the Satiagraha or Indian Nationalist movement.

The orders, issued Monday, called upon Nationalist volunteers also to picket the liquor shops, a move which has not been taken heretofore in Bombay city. Five hundred Bombay women Monday picketed the city's cloth shops in inaugurating the new campaign.

The move of the "war council" was in open defiance of one of the two ordinances promulgated last week by Viceroy Lord Irwin which, intended by the government to restrict the civil disobedience campaign have been hailed by the Nationalists as according them two more laws to disobey.

Behind the picketing and boycotting there loomed to-day the even more serious Nationalist project to bring about non-payment of taxes. The second of the Viceroy's ordinances, providing heavy penalties for instigation to this offense focussed attention on the move, which easily

DEPARTMENT IS SEEKING ACTION ON SEWER PLANT

Not Satisfied With City Council's Action in Merely Letting the Tender.

NOT FULFILLING PROMISE.

Wants to Know Immediately When Work Will Be Commenced on Addition.

The Department of Health is not satisfied with the City Council's action in merely letting the tender for the ordered addition to the sewage disposal plant to City Engineer Parsons. The Department has approved the plans for the addition and desires to know immediately when the work will be commenced and the contract for the machinery let.

Part of a letter from J. T. Phair, Acting Deputy Minister of the Department of Health, which was read at the City Council meeting last night, follows:

"I believe no effort has been made to let any contract for the mechanical equipment to be used in this plant. Permit me to draw to the attention of the Council that this action is not in fulfillment of the promise made by the delegation which visited this office during the winter. The fact that the engineers' estimate is accepted for this work does not by any means indicate that a contract has been let.

"I should be glad to know just when the contract will be accepted for the mechanical equipment, and also when the work on the plant is to start.

"May we have an immediate consideration of this matter."

The letter was referred to the Board of Works.

TWO MERCHANTS ARE BEING HELD

Inquiry Into the Death of Tom Brown Brings Two More Under Suspicion.

DANCER HAS RECORD.

MEXICO, CITY, June 3. (C.P.)—Police last night revealed that, in addition to the arrest of Roberto Gomez in connection with the case of Tom Brown, former mayor of Stratford, Ont., who died suddenly here, two clothing merchants, Mike Rivolin and Samuel Pdoorov, who knew Brown, are being held. Rivolin and Podorov are British subjects, being Palestine Jews.

No specific charges, it was announced, have yet been placed against those arrested, pending investigation of Tom Brown's death to ascertain if there was any foul play.

It was also announced that Angelina Hodriguez, cabaret entertainer, who lived with Mr. Brown, has a police record as a pickpocket, and Rivolin also was previously arrested for forgery.

The arrests of Rivolin and Podorov followed the discovery of a letter Gomez wrote to Mrs. Brown from Brownsville, in which he charged Rivolin with getting 8,000 pesos (nearly $4,000) of Mr. Brown's money, and Podorov with getting 1,000 pesos (nearly $500) all of which he said he could recover if Mrs. Brown sent him $500 for expenses. Gomez, interviewed this afternoon, refused to talk other than to say Mr. Brown went to Vera Cruz with him during Holy Week.

One theory being investigated is the possibility that Mr. Brown was slowly poisoned with drugs or liquor by his associates, who robbed him of all they could meanwhile.

LUNATICS ESCAPE FROM HOSPITAL

RELEASE 150 OTHERS.

IONIA, Mich., June 3. —(C.P.)— Thirteen inmates of the "bad wards" escaped from the Ionia State hospital for the criminal insane early today after making a prisoner of the night superintendent.

The inmates forced the night door guard to release them by threatening to kill the superintendent, Gene Owen. One of the fugitives was recaptured three hours after the break. The others were the object of a widespread search.

At Least 150 Released

Before leaving, the thirteen men cut telephone wires leading from the institution, which is a mile and a half for the city limits and opened doors of other wards in the first floor. This released approximately 150 men, who, however, conducted themselves in an orderly manner and made no attempt to escape.

Perry C. Robertson, superintendent of the hospital described the released of the 150 men as creating "a very serious situation."

The capture of night superintendent Owen was effected by a ruse. One of the eighteen men in the ward stopped a guard on his rounds at 2.30 a.m. and told him that another inmate was crawling out of the rear of the ward. The guard called Owen and the two unlocked the door of the ward.

Owen and the guard were set upon by the inmates, who were armed with improvised knives and some of whom had razors. They submitted as they saw that fight was hopeless, and word was taken to the front door, where the inmates told the guard that they would kill the night superintendent unless they were let out of the building. In the meanwhile some of the 13 had cut telephone wires and opened doors of other wards. Five of the men in the ward from which the escape was effected remained with the 150 from the other wards.

Istvan Csordaw, 39, sentenced from Wayne County (Detroit) for murder, was recaptured on State Highway No. 16, seven miles south of the hospital.

Of the twelve prisoners still at large, five were under prison sentence for murder or assault with intent to murder. The remainder were robbers or housebreakers.

INSECT STORM HITS CORNWALL

Shad Flies in Yearly Migration Descend Like Plague Over District.

LIVE BUT FEW HOURS.

CORNWALL, June 3.—Like the plague of locusts of Biblical times, millions of shad flies descended upon Cornwall and district in their annual flight from breeding places along the St. Lawrence River.

The insects, varying in size from one-half to three-quarters of an inch in length, were so numerous last night that Cornwall appeared to be in the midst of a blizzard.

Automobiles proceeding along the highway east and west of the city were frequently stopped while drivers cleared windshields of sticky masses of crushed insect bodies. Brightly lighted store windows were almost completed obscured as the flies clustered on the glass and illuminated signs were unreadable as thousands of flies flittered about them.

Shad flies are harmless insects and live but a few hours. The annual plague in this district last from a week to 10 days during which millions of the insects infest the entire section.

CAUSE OF PLANE CRASH LACKING

BEING INVESTIGATED.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 3. (C.P.)—A coroner's jury called to inquire into the death of Sergt.-Pilot Robert W. Pike, of Vancouver, young Royal Canadian Air Force flyer killed in an aeroplane crash here on May 27, was unable last night to determine cause of the tragedy. The report of a Government investigation board has not yet been made public.

According to evidence given at the inquest, Pike tested his plane after accepting delivery at the Curtis-Reid plant in Montreal on the morning of the day he met death, and complained the propellor was not making sufficient revolutions per minute. After the engine was given a further test, Pike took off for the flight to Ottawa. The machine crashed near the Rockcliffe aerodrome here.

Flight Lieut. F. C. Higgis, Acting Commanding Officer of Ottawa Air Station said the plane which Pike was flying, had been sent to Montreal for installation of a new engine. He thought the crash might have been caused either through a defective engine or an error in judgement.

Dad Offers Him One for Passing

"Look here, Bill, if you'll pitch in and pass your exams, I'll get you a C.C.M. Bicycle. How does that strike you?"

"Dad, I'd do almost anything for a C.C.M. You just watch me."

"And, dad, a C.C.M. won't cost you as much this year either. I saw in the paper that C.C.M. bicycle prices were the lowest in thirty years."

"Well, that's certainly good news, son. Most everything else I know of costs a lot more than thirty years ago. Is the C.C.M. quality as good?"

"I asked the bicycle dealer about that, dad. He said C.C.M.'s were, if anything, better than ever. Anyway, they've got the same six big C.C.M. features."

"What do you mean, six features?"

"Gee, dad, don't you know anything about bikes?

"First, there is the C.C.M. 20-year Nickel Plating.

"Second, the C.C.M. Triplex Crank Hanger that makes for easy riding.

"Third, the C.C.M. Improved Hercules Coaster Brake that makes it so safe.

"Fourth, the three Coats of C.C.M. Enamel baked on over a Coat of Rust-Proof.

"Fifth, the Gibson Pedals, (on most models).

"Sixth, the Dunlop Tires."

"Why, Bill, you must have been hanging around that bicycle store lately, to pick up all that information. I did not know you were so keen about a bicycle."

"I'm so crazy to own one, dad, that I'll study my head off to win a C.C.M."

PAVING WORK SEVERELY CRITICIZED BY ALDERMEN AT COUNCIL MEETING

served full criticism." Further, he asked, how many Peterborough men were employed by the paving company, declaring that he couldn't pick out one local man on the job.

Alderman Huffman could not give the name and addresses of the local men employed, but he said that there were only four outside men, two foremen and two asphalt rakers.

"I'm satisfied in my mind there are few Peterborough men on the job," stated Alderman McIntyre, and he continued by asking if it was necessary that all the gutter be removed.

City Engineer Parsons explained that if a good job was to be done it was necessary to lay all new curbing and not leave patches of the old.

Answering Alderman McNabb, the Mayor stated that outside of one truck the Warren Company had no other equipment in the city, and that local teams and trucks had already been contracted for.

Alderman Tuggey asked the City Engineer why he had changed his mind about taking up all the old curbing. He alleged that on the Water Street resurfacing the Engineer had maintained that it should not be removed.

"Well, I'll tell you," said Mayor Denne.

"Just a moment. I'm talking to Mr. Parsons," interrupted Alderman Tuggey.

Wants Usual Courtesies

Replying, Alderman Tuggey maintained that he deserved the usual courtesies of the Council, and he said that the way the people's money was being spent on George street that all it needed was "a railing around it, and a few chesterfields and it would be a place of beauty and rest."

"George street is our main street and we are going to have it decent," stated the Mayor.

Alderman McIntyre asked if the city could not have done the curbing better themselves, as he suggested when thte tender was being let.

All the unemployed possible was being absorbed on the job, declared the Mayor, and the Warren Company was doing the work cheaper than the city could.

Alderman Phelan said that all the talk was wasted and it was only grand stand play, maintaining the Warren Company was doing a good job and always had on previous jobs.

Alderman McNabb stated that the grand stand accusation was false and unfair. He asked the reporter if he would keep out of the paper all talk about paving; but received a negative reply.

Alderman Huffman and the Mayor urged him to go around and see the Warren Company's superintendent about the number of outside men employed. "They'll fire any man you can prove isn't a Peterborough man," Alderman Huffman assured him.

"We've been trying to give as many men work as possible," said the Mayor. "To that end we decided to do our own oiling, and we are doing it."

"Yes, and they're doing it well," admitted Alderman Tuggey.

Would Delay Paving

Alderman McNabb moved that except for the rounding of curbs, all paving in the city be delayed until after the Warren Company moved their plant out of the city.

Alderman Macdonald thought it a good policy to do necessary repairs to the sidewalk on George and Charlotte streets at the same time that the company had its machinery on the scene. It was economy and sensible, he thought. The motion was withdrawn and the discussion was concluded.

Accept Invitation

The invitation of Rev. Paul Costello to the Council to attend the arrival of Bishop O'Connor on June 11 was accepted and a public reception on a following day is planned.

Notice will be given of the Council's intention to open up Geraldine avenue, putting in drains and sidewalks on both sides.

Alderman Tuggey opposed the clause in the Board of Works report to continue the drain on McDonnel street to Monaghan road and down Monaghan to Walnut. The motion carried when City Engineer Parsons assured the council that sufficient money of the $10,000 grant for drains would be left after the completion of the job to put drains on Harvey street and Engleburn avenue.

The following eating house licenses were granted, except that of J. Morency, which was held until investigation is made by the City Engineer and Chairman of Finance Committee: M. Renzetti, M. E. Finn, John Pritchard, J. Penrose, Mrs. Beatrice McKnight, Silverwood's Peterborough Dairy, Hum Lee, P. Gosselin, Mrs. A. Lefebvre, Gordon Hill, E. L. Payne, Coleman Bros., F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd., H. Hill and J. Morency, Mrs. J. Bradley and V. E. Crebar.

The Johnston Outboard Motor Company, in a letter, requested that the old powder magazine be rented to them for use as a storehouse for the motors. The letter stated, that in an effort to relieve the criticism created by the noise of the motors they were now doing their testing on the river and not on Little Lake. The council unanimously favored the rental of the old building and will arrange it with the company.

SECOND FIRE IN HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 3 (C.P.).—For a second time within 24 hours Hamilton has been visited by a serious fire. The damage is estimated at from $15,000 to $20,000.

Milwaukee Streets Paved With Gold

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 2. —(C.P.).—William H. Gillen, city engineer, says there is a city with "streets paved with gold," and that the city is Milwaukee.

Finding particles of gold in the city sand pit, he said: "There has been three cents worth of gold in each cubic yard used to pave Milwaukee streets. A pedestrian walks on $4 worth of gold in a block, and automobilists driving down town from an average distance roll over gold worth $100. Altogether, there is about $48,500 worth."

Washington British Will Honor the King

Canadian Legation in U. S. Will Be Scene of King's Dinner To-night.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 3. (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—"Gentlemen, I give you His Majesty the King!" the Canadian Minister, Hon. Vincent Massey, will say. Fifty citizens of the United States and the Empire, including the secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson, and the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, standing about the long table in the dining room of the Canadian legation this evening, will drink the health on the occasion of His Majesty's 65th birthday. The minister will then offer the toast, "The President!"

The Canadian legation is the scene of the King's dinner, an event traditionally held at the British embassy, chiefly because Sir Ronald and his staff are in process of moving to the new embassy on Massachusetts avenue. At the legation will be gathered the British official family in the United States; the Irish Free State minister, Hon. Michael MacWhite; the Australian commissioner general in New York, Herbert Brookes; E. K. Scallon, representing the South African minister, Hon. Eric Louw. Guests from Ottawa will be Dr. O. D. Skelton, under-secretary of state for external affairs and Major General McNaughton, chief of staff.

STEVE DONOGHUE TO RIDE SEA ROVER IN DERBY

LONDON, June 3 (C.P.)—Steve Donoghue will ride Sea Rover in the Derby. The hero of six derbies was booked to be on the back of Strong Bow, which was scratched on Saturday and there were many who thought over the week-end that he would be seen only as a spectator of the great event. Today, however, Mr. A. R. Cox, owner of Sea Rover, announced he had retained Donoghue. Sea Rover is by Pomme-De-Terre out of Gay Laura. Early afternoon odds quoted him at 66 to 1 against.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

BUTTER AND EGGS

TORONTO, June 3.—The local butter market followed the weaker tone shown by the Western and Montreal markets yesterday, and prices were down ½c on No. 1 creamery, pasteurized. Local dealers were quoting shippers 28½c for Ontario No. 1, and were not anxious to take much even at that price. No. 2 Ontario was quoted at 27½ to 28c, and the general undertone of the market was quiet. The coming Shriners' convention was expected to make a big difference in local sales this week, but buyers did not seem over anxious, and were probably figuring on the market getting still weaker.

The report on storage holdings just issued, showed a reduction in local supplies of creamery butter of over 7,000 packages. The total amount in local storage on June 1 this year was 31,163 packages, and on May 1 this year there were 38,553 packages in storage. The market was a little firmer during the first part of last month, and though supplies were moving into Toronto, storage holders seemed successful in clearing some of their stock without taking too much of a loss. On June 1, 1929, there were only 6,053 packages—56 pounds— in storage in this city. On June 1 this year, as shown above, there were 31,163 packages, or 1,745,128 pounds.

Cheese

The cheese market was steady, with prices unchanged at 17c for new, large, paraffined; 17½c for new twins; and 17½c for new triplets. Prices to retailers were 18½c for new large, 18 3-4 for new twins, and 19c for new triplets.

Winnipeg Wheat

WINNIPEG, June 3.—Wheat values fell off a cent and more on the Winnipeg grain market today as a number of factors tended toward decreased values. Losses were 1¼ cents in July futures and 1 1-8 in October. December wheat, replacing the May option in the quotations, opened at $1.16½ and finished half a cent better.

Weakness at Liverpool, coupled with slight export demand and disappointing reports of shipments last week, helped in causing the recessions. Pit trade reflected a little buying by Eastern interests but it failed to hold, and the market seemed unable to recover under selling by commission houses and others.

Trading was slow and small in both cash wheat and coarse grains.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, June 3.—Reported ideal conditions for the new wheat harvest in Texas and for ripening the Oklahoma crop did much yesterday to slide the wheat market downgrade. There were also advices of heavy to light rainfalls in Canada, affording relief from the effects of dust storms. Besides, a halt in export demand for wheat from North America was apparent, and friends of higher prices were disappointed because of only 1,589,000 bushels decrease in the United States wheat visible supply.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at nearly the day's bottom level and 1 1-8c to 1 5-8c lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 3-8c to 7-8c advanced, oats ¼c to ½c up and provisions 5c to 12c off.

Tending to bring about sharp setbacks in wheat values was the fact that, although rains in Canada were not as copious as needed in some sections, the downpours elsewhere were ample to take the edge off of aggressiveness on the part of buyers.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 3. — Prices of butter, as quoted by Montreal wholesale jobbing houses to the retail trade, were reduced 1c per pound today. The new prices were 30c per lb. for solids and 31c per lb. for prints. These prices, the lowest in years, were made possible by the lower costs of wholesale butter. Receipts were 227 boxes.

Cheese and egg prices were steady. Receipts of the former were 2,343 boxes, and of eggs, 1,718 cases. The potato market was unchanged.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK

MONTREAL, June 3.—Cattle receipts on the two Montreal live stock markets yesterday totalled 626. Cattle prices were very firm on all grades. Cows were 25c or more higher. Steers sold from $7 for light yearlings of poor type to $11.25 for well-finished breedy steers averaging over 1,150 pounds. The bulk of the medium kinds of steers sold between $10 and $10.50. Good heifers brought $10 and good to choice cows, $8.50 to $9, with odd tops a shade higher. Very plain cows sold between $6 and $7 and medium quality cows around $7.75 and $8. Bulls were firm. The bulk brought $7 to $7.50.

Calf receipts, 2,389. The calf market was steady to firm. There was a fairly good demand, trade being active. One or two loads of good calves averaging between 130 and 160 pounds, brought $10. Medium good to good quality around $9, and plain to fair quality were sold between $7.50 and $8.50. Common light veal and drinkers made the bulk of the offering and these brought from $5.75 to $7.

Good veal, $8.50 to $10; medium, $7.50 to $8.50; common, $5.75 to $7.

Sheep receipts were 347. The sheep market was steady at $3 for culls to $7 for the best lots, including yearlings and bucks. Spring lambs were sold for $15.50 to $17.50, according to weight and quality.

Ewes, $3 to $7; lambs, good $17 to $17.50; common $15.00 to $16.50.

Hog receipts were 1,288. Hogs were stronger. Bacons and butchers brought $12.35 to $12.75 with $1 premium per hog on selects. Heavies were sold for $11 to $11.75; light and feeders, from $12.40 to $13. Sows brought $9.75 to $10.50.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 3.—The cattle receipts at the Union stock yards yesterday morning were 2,836 cattle, 76 calves, 649 hogs, 555 sheep and lambs.

The cattle receipts were 700 head more than last Monday. Opening trade was slow with bids generally a quarter lower. Early sales, however, were made at steady prices. Small lots of butcher steers sold at $9 to $10.75. Butcher cows were fairly active at $8.25 to $8.75 for choice with a few kosher cows at $9. There are several loads of western store cattle on the market.

Calf trade was active at the opening with prices about steady with last week's close. Exporters were back in the market. Choice calves sold at $11 to $11.50 and a few tops made $12. Farmers took some feeding calves at $7 to $10 a hundred.

The hog market was unsettled at the opening with packers bidding 11¼ f.o.b. and 12½ w.o.c. for bacon. Buyers are quoting $1 per cwt. differential between f.o.b. and off car hogs.

Spring lambs were unchanged at $17 to $18 for the best. Yearlings were also steady at $10 to $15, according to quality. Sheep were weak with few sales made up to noon.

A bomb exploded Monday in Derozepur Road, Lahore, but did no damage. The neighborhood was searched immediately and other live bombs and explosive material were found.

Oppose Palestine for Jews

KARACHI, India, June 3. (A.P.)—A conference of Mussulmans from Karachi and Hyderabad (Sind) Nwabshan and Parkar districts held in Hyderabad to-day passed a resolution advocating immediate separation of the Sind from Bombay presidency.

The resolution asserts that the civil disobedience campaign had been ruinous to India's cause and urged Moslems to stand aloof and to ask adequate representation at the forthcoming Indian Round Table Conference.

The resolution also urged withdrawal of the Balfour Declaration with regard to Palestine being developed as a national home for Jews. About 75 percent of the Sind's population is Mohammedan.

NO DATE SET FOR VOTE ON LIQUOR

Two By-laws Passed at Regular Meeting of Campbellford Town Council.

Monthly Pay Sheet Passed.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 3 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — The regular meeting of the Campbellford Town Council was held last evening in the Public Library, with Reeve J. M. Bygott and Councillors W. S. Wiggins, J. O'Sullivan, W. J. Abernethy, N. A. McColl, and H. N. Carr present. Mayor C. H. Davidson occupied the chair.

The correspondence included a letter from the Standard Paving Company in reference to the cracks in the sidewalks of the town, guaranteeing immediate attention if necessary, and a letter from the Dominion Road Machinry Company regarding the rotary Champion Horse-drawn street sweeper. These letters were tabled.

The clerk also read a letter from the Liquor Control Board, in which it was stated that they were not prepared to fix a date for presenting the petition for a liquor store in Campbellford to the electorate.

This communication advised that the question be put to the voters at the next municipal election, but stated that even if it was approved on vote, it did not necessarily mean that a store would be established in town. This letter was placed on file.

Walter Rutherford and T. Varcoe addressed the Council in reference to a short thoroughfare leading off Victoria Street. This piece of road, which was near to Mr. Bateson's property, needed a culvert fixed, as it was too high, and held all the water back and hindered proper drainage. After some discussion, it was agreed that the Road and Bridge Committee investigate.

Two By-laws Passed.

A by-law authorizing the town to the second time, authorizing the tax collector to mail all notices of taxes payable, and passed on motion of Councillor Wiggins, seconded by Reeve Bygott.

A by-la wauthorizing the town to borrow money for the current expenses was read for the third time, passed, signed, and sealed. This called for the raising of $15,000 on proper security until such time as the taxes are collected, and was on the motion of Councillor McColl, seconded by Councillor Wiggins.

The pay sheet, totalling $1,578.68, was presented and passed.

On motion, the Council adjourned.

EFFECTIVE PUBLICITY.

The Canadian National Railways are to be congratulated upon the enterprise shown in regard to the Mystic Shrine convention at Toronto, which is being wisely utilized by the publicity department as a rare opportunity afforded Canada to bid for an aftermath of tourist business.

The illustrated souvenir folder issued by the C.N.R. "Where to Go and What to See in Canada," should do much to fill Shrine visitors with a desire to see something of Canada before returning home—and if successful in that respect will bring them back in succeeding years to enjoy the many attractions of this country.

The booklet, which by the way devotes a well illustrated section to the charms of the Kawartha Lakes, tells in picture and story a great deal about many parts of Canada and undoubtedly will prove decidedly effective in bringing before the thousands of Shrine visitors to Toronto next week a new visualization of the many advantages from a tourist viewpoint offered by the Dominion.

It will be surprising indeed if the convention is not followed by an influx of visitors into many sections of Canada, and our own district should materially benefit as a result.

IF YOU CAN'T SEE, STOP.

In several traffic accidents recently in which pedestrians on the highways have been run down and killed by automobiles the defence has been raised that the driver of the fatal car was so blinded by the headlights of approaching cars that he failed to notice his victim on the road in front of his own machine.

There is no doubt that glaring headlights are a contributing factor in many accidents, and that a very large number of cars seem to be equipped with lights that are faulty and that are blinding in their effect upon drivers of other automobiles.

But there is this point that motorists should not forget: the duty of a driver who finds himself unable to see because of overbright headlights on approaching machines is to stop his automobile until he can see where he is going.

To drive recklessly ahead when temporarily blinded is to invite disaster, and The Examiner fancies that a coroner called upon to deal with a case in which an accident followed the action of a motorist in going ahead when he admitted that he could not see would have little hesitation in finding the driver who took such a course guilty of negligence.

"If you can't see, stop," is a slogan that might well be adopted by all motorists.

THE NEW BOWLING GREENS.

The opening of Peterborough's new bowling greens last night was an event upon which not only the officers and members of the Peterborough Bowling Club but the community generally are to be felicitated.

It should be a matter for general satisfaction that there is now available here one of the largest and finest bowling plants in the country, with a splendid clubhouse and the added attraction of tennis courts for the benefit of lovers of that game.

A community that offers adequate facilities for all forms of athletic sport is the best possible kind of community in which to live, and its reputation spreads far and wide, making it easy to attract manufacturers and business firms who naturally desire to locate in centres where they know their employees will be contented.

The Lawn Bowling Club in its sphere has put this city in the forefront of the parade.

It has not been satisfied to provide merely a good green, but wisely launched out a program that would give Peterborough something better than other cities have been able to offer.

How thoroughly it has succeeded a visit to the beautiful grounds on McDonnel street will tell more effectively than any printed description could possibly do.

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION.

The Examiner, which has consistently urged upon temperance organizations the necessity of meeting the drink problem by a persistent and systematic policy of education, is in receipt of a large amount of material issued by the Temperance Education Council which appeals to us as most effective propaganda.

The program sponsored by the organization includes educational work in the Sunday schools, young people's societies, churchts, in the schools, collegiates and colleges, in factories and offices, in the public press and generally in the home and the community.

This is a comprehensive program that has apparently been carefully worked, and that should be successful in focussing public attention upon the folly of intemperance, and especially in placing the social, scientific and economic facts in regard to alcohol before the children, youth and adults of Ontario.

As an illustration of the style of the material being used a poster dealing with the danger of mixing alcohol and gasoline is typical.

"Every wise motorist will abstain from using beverage alcohol," declares this poster, and the following judicial comments are effectively displayed:

"An auto in the hands of a drunken driver is a ravaging juggernaut."—Hon. Mr. Justice Raney.

"A drunken driver is more dangerous to society than a drunken man brandishing a revolver."—Judge Millar of Hull.

"A man who consumes liquor and then drives an automobile is a menace to humanity."—Magistrate Browne of Toronto.

EMPIRE TRADE.

There is nothing like plain speaking when it comes to dealing with crucial problems. Unless there is a thorough understanding between the parties, satisfactory relationships are not possible. Complimentary remarks and polite gestures are ineffective of themselves in bringing about necessary reforms; clear expositions are the essential prelude to purposeful action. This is as true of international relationships as it is of personal transactions. That the Empire Chambers of Commerce, in session in London, mean business is evidenced by the outspokenness of the delegates. All the cards are being laid on the table and the issues being boldly faced. In the matter of imperial preferences, for instance, the remarks of the president of the Canadian Chamber, Col. J. H. Woods, are right to the point. Having recently gone to Washington and told the American people exactly what was in the minds of Canadians regarding the tariff proposals directed against this Dominion, he now presents, in unequivocal language, the sentiments of a large section of Canadian opinion, regardless of political affiliations, on the question of imperial preferences.

It was not to be supposed that this frank declaration that the Dominions could hardly be expected to extend preferential treatment unless something were offered in return by the Mother Country, would be welcomed by British free-traders. That there is, however, a large and influential body of opinion in the United Kingdom which is getting away from the traditional attitude that would not for a moment entertain protectionist ideas, even when they were clearly for the advantage of the Empire as a whole, is quite apparent from the result of the voting. Only seven dissentients—and they from the free-trade strongholds of England—voted in the negative when it came to endorsing the resolution in favor of imperial preferences. In asking for a "quid pro quo" Canada is not unmindful of the very real benefits which the British connection confers on this Dominion. While duly grateful for these, when it comes down to a discussion of economic problems, they are necessarily viewed from the practical angle by the business interests of the Empire. The extension of intra-imperial trade obviously depends upon the adoption of sound, workable expedients, which, to be enduring, must have due regard for every part as well as the whole.—Hamilton Spectator.

ICE CREAM—ONCE A RARITY.

Although the seasonal demand for ice cream has been slow in developing this year many hearts, young and otherwise, are doubtless anticipating the wholesale arrival of the delectable confection with an almost irrepressible gusto. Meantime the memory of past delight and future revellings has moved Miss Victoria Carlsson, instructor in household arts at Teachers' College, Columbia University, to present in the Teachers' College Record a bibliography of fifty-three titles dealing with the history and manufacture of ice cream, although she confesses that the data regarding its origin are of "variable reliability." One of the first references to the delicacy which Miss Carlsson found occurs in the tales of Marco Polo, who in the thirteenth century brought recipes for water and milk ices from China and Japan. Other early incidents in the history of ice cream, as related by her, are:

"When Catherine de' Medici left Italy to go to France (1533) to wed the future King Henry II. she took with her the best chefs available to make sure that she would be supplied with frozen creams and ices.

"Sir Walter Scott tells how Saladin, leader of the Mohammedan armies, sent a frozen sherbet to Richard the Lion Hearted.

"In 1630 ice cream was served in the Cafe Procopio in Paris.

"In 1716 Lady Mary Wortley Montagu spoke of ice cream in one of her letters.

"In 1796 Elizabeth Raffald published 'The Experienced Housekeeper' in London. In it appeared a recipe under the heading 'Ice Cream' . . . Mistress Raffald tells how to make an apricot ice also."

This is sufficient to show that whatever its origin, ice cream was fairly well known at about the time of the conquest of Quebec. Not only had recipes for its preparation been included in a household book such as Mistress Raffald's, but the delicacy was being made by a London confectioner. On this side of the Atlantic Joseph Crowe of New York advertised his ice cream in 1786. "He is believed to have been America's first ice cream maker," says Miss Carlsson, adding:

"There is, however, a tradition that the first American ice cream seller was named Hall and that he had his shop in Park Row, at Number 75, when it was called Chatham street."

When the young gallants of the new republic purchased the rare dainty at Master Hall's shop they would have laughed heartily at a prediction that at the beginning of the twentieth century the United States would consume approximately 100,000,000 gallons of commercially made ice cream a year. By 1928, Miss Carlsson records, the annual output of ice cream factories in that country was in the neighborhood of 348,048,000 gallons. How much this expansion of the industry owes to the invention of the ice cream cone may well be made the subject of further research. Miss Carlsson says that ice cream cones made their first appearance at the world's fair in St. Louis in 1904.

Incredible! Then there actually was a time when a youngster on this continent could not get his pick of a chocolate, vanilla or strawberry ice cream cone by presenting a nickel or a dime at the nearest drug store. At any rate, the rare sweetmeat which Saladin sent to Richard and the dessert, "cold as marble," with which Louis XIV. surprised his delighted guests may be had to-day by any one who has the inclination to eat it.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It's going to be tough work for political speakers to juggle a lot of statistics during the hot weather.

The week-end casualty list was as heavy as usual. The death and injury toll is a challenge to the intelligence of the people of this country.

Several Liberal members of the last Parliament are slated for the Senate. Safe in that port, the vagaries of political campaigns will hold no terrors for them.

Some people must stay at home sometimes, for the United States Bureau of Standards says that one-fourth of all fatal accidents occur in the home.

It is too bad the political parties did not enter into an agreement to limit the number of speeches to be delivered in the present campaign.

If New Brunswick and Alberta people have not had a sufficiency of politics by July 28th, they are certainly hard folks to satisfy. Both Provinces have a provincial election this month as a curtain-raiser to the federal campaign on July 28th.

New match boxes in London are shaped like books. Apparently to give a little light on the subject.—Guelph Mercury

LONDON CATHOLICS HONOR NEW BISHOP

Presentations Are Made By Catholics of Five London Parishes.

LONDON, Ont., June 2.—Presentations were made tonight to Very Rev. Montaignor Dennis O'Connor, who is leaving London soon to become Bishop of Peterboro', Catholics from all five parishes of London and many from the surrounding districts crowded St. Peter's Cathedral to attend the last public service before he leaves. A purse of gold and an address were presented to him by Hugh O'Donnell, and an address was read by M. P. McDonagh. An illuminated scroll was presented by James McDougall, and later in the evening, at the rectory London Council of Knights of Columbus made still another presentation. The consecration will take place in Peterboro' Wednesday morning, June 11.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If June 3rd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

A light hearted, romantic and eventful time is predicted for this date. Beware of Cupid's arrows, however, as it is not a propitious time for a betrothal. There are health warnings, also, especially in regard to food dangers.

Children born on this June 3rd will have a versatile nature, and although they will not be especially gifted, they will be able to do a numberof things well. They will be all round good students, and very diligent workers. They will be inclined to take life rather seriouslly, and will not take much interest in sports.

You are not a sleepy sort of person, you stride about the world thinking crisply. At times your theughts are embarrassing. They are too terse and concrete. You believe in calling a spade a spade, and you do not mind shocking those who are afraid to ex..ress themselves so freely. As a result you are either very popular or very unpopular. You cannot be accepted with indifference. The meek and timid usually admire you very much, and they probably are thrilled by your seeming bravery and dare-devitry.

It cannot be said that you ever dislike being in the lime light, and you play up to your audience very cleverly. You are extremely quick witted, and good at repartee. You fortunately think of the right thing at the right time, and not the next day. Your tongie at times is pretty sharp and your sarcasm very biting. You are not on intimate terms with "tact." There are also times when you talk too much and you bite your tongue with regret.

You are naturally industrjous, and rather frugal, but not stingy. You often make great personal sacrifices in order to do something generous for another. It would be difficult to find a selfish hair in your head. If you marry, you will never fall into the "well of loneliness" and despair into which cynics tell us the married inevitably fall. APRIL ESCAPADES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XXV.

Mary Kate, rapidly, without looking at any of them, told her story. There was abrief, not unkindly, cross-examination.

"That's all," said Browning.

"You won't need Miss O'Hara any more?" Chris said.

"Not unless he gets well—the feller that was shot," the officer said, with all the rancor of his type for the arrogant and idle rich. "If he does she may have to appear in court."

"It seems to me a—well, if you'll excuse me a rotten thing," Christopher said, "that a man can't take a shot at an armed burglar in his own house, without dragging his—his friends, his guests through all this publicity."

"It isn't that," Mr. Browning explained, with the menacing patience of those who know that they are invincible. "It's that—looka here, now. I don't say it's so in this case, and I don't say it's often so, but suppose this young lady had framed this up with the burglar? How would I know—"

"It seems to me you're rather exceeding your authority, Constable," Chris said, in a pause, in a tone Mary Kate had never heard from him before. "Anything that is in the line of your duty, by all means do," he went on, a white line forming about his mouth as he spoke, and his color receding under his country tan, leaving his face pallid, "but don't diverge into any plot that you happen to remember from any book you may have read!"

The two men frowned at one another. Each was measuring the other's strength; the power of the law against the power of money. And as usual, the money won. The Constable dropped something of his truculent manner; no use to antagonize these people, who had influence sometimes in unexpected quarters.

"That's all right, sir," he said civilly. "I'm sure I have no object in annoying Miss O'Hara. As far as I'm concerned we'll have no further use for her, and if she's wanted at the trial, she can settle that with the Court."

"All right, Mary," Chris said, coming over to her. "Come out into the patio a minute," he said, putting his hand on her shoulder, "I want to talk to you."

The square patio was filled with fog, but the sun was beating against the gray mass, far up in the sky, and the soft damp air was warm and penetrated with a strange, golden light. The little red fish swam busily under their lily pads, and the parrot walked upside down on the gay hoop of the perch, and talked and chuckled mysteriously to himself. All the upper windows were open to the morning air, letting out the smoky, close dusty air of the night.

"Don't worry about him," Chris said reassuringly, with a jerk of his head toward the living-room, and the inquisitioner. "He's just puffed with a little brief authority."

"Chris, if Moody—the burglar, lives, will they have a trial?"

"Why should there be any trial? There isn't any question that Moody was in the house; they saw him lying there, themselves, at the foot of the stairs. The man undoubtedly will plead guilty. I never heard anything funnier in my life than the way this Browning ass is carrying on!

"As a matter of fact," Chris continued, "Gordy thinks much the best thing would be to let the whole thing drop, not prosecute. In that case I decline to appear against him, say that nothing was stolen—nothing was—and the man would be discharged."

"Wouldn't the police—wouldn't the District Attorney prosecute?"

"I don't believe so."

"He might—" she said, in agony.

"Not without a complaint being filed."

"I think Gordy's brother has considerable pull," the man went on; he'll work it, if we need it. But at any rate, here's what I was thinking," he added, in a brisker tone, returning to the problem of the present moment. "They're through with us, and we can beat it. I'll have Rountree take the luncheon on. He can have the crowd over to the Club. You're in no condition to play hostess after last night, and Gordon'll make our excuses. Get your things, and put them in the car and we'll drive off somewhere and fool away the time until your Los Angeles train is due."

Again in the beautiful Serano, which shot through the green springtime roads like a projectile, Mary Kate was very silent at Chris's side. None of the happy babble of yesterday was repeated; she watched the countryside go by with brooding eyes.

"Like Half Moon Bay?"

"I didn't hear you."

"I asked you if you'd like the run over to Half Moon Bay?"

"Oh? Oh, I don't care."

And she lapsed into her apprehensive silence again.

The car climbed up above the trees to the top of the hills, and started down toward the broad plane of dim grayness that was the ocean. The grass was spattered with buttercups, and their milky smell was sweet, with a thousand other good springtime odors, in the warm soft air.

Larks went whirling up to the blue sky, leaving their plaintive liquid notes like bells in the air beneath them. In the sheltered ingle of a great rock, on the ridge, there were poppies in the grass, satiny burning petals lying sprawled in a foam of delicate green foliage, or folded into shining orange cones.

Going down the long grade the vegetation changed; became the stout, tough, shorter herbage of the coast. Lupin and onion flowers were blue in ash-gray furze, and about the silvery old barns and farmhouses pink mallow grew on blowing bushes.

The wind was keen and soft from the sea; it brought the color into Mary Kate's tired face. Chris stopped the car on a headland, and they looked out across the rolling blue waters, heaving and dimpling placidly, mysteriously, under the season's first hot sun.

North and south the beaches curved between waters and land, sometimes rising to cliffs, some broken by great tumbled masses of rock. The tide foamed and bubbled and slid into a thousand pools, and churned through a thousand channels, in the rocky places, and wrote endless, unceasing curves over and over again on the sand.

All along the shore were the little frame houses, beaten and discolored by wind, and set in angles of artichoke and cabbage patches. Now and then there passed a humble little village, marked by windblown hedges, and blighted gardens whose paths were outlined by iridescent abolone shells. It was a deserted world, on a fragrant spring morning. The men were in the fields, the women in houses. Now and then a Saturday group of little girls, walking toward a village store, and gum, and chocolate bars, huddled cautiously at one side of the road, when the car, with its long desolate melancholy four-toned cry, went sweeping by.

The queer, endless day dragged by. At half-past one o'clock they had mussels and spaghetti and sour, delicious Italian bread, at a bleak, bare, odorous seaside restaurant that looked as if they had been its only guests in years, and the old Italian host made zabayone for Mary Kate himself, and brought it, warm and foaming, to the table.

It was three o'clock. Four o'clock. They were going back over the hill; they were in Belmont, and had turned north. At the Burlingame station Chris very simply and kindly put Mary Kate back on her train.

"You have money?" he asked, while they were waiting at the station.

"Oh, plenty, thanks!"

"You've been an awfully good sport, and I'm awfully sorry it's turned out this way. But don't worry. It'll be all right."

"O, I hope so!"

"And I'll see you, soon."

But at this she looked up at him unsmilingly.

"I think not. I'd rather not — ever see you again!"

"Oh, say—" he protested with that widening of the eyes that was familiar to her now. "Why this?" he asked.

"I'm hoping to get married this year," she told him. But without any confidence in her tone. "I'll be leaving Mr. Rountree—"

"You don't mean," he asked, as she paused, "you don't mean that you think you have to tell the man you marry about this?"

"No, I wasn't thinking of that," she said quietly. "Although it might be the wise thing to do. I'm going to tell my mother the whole story, this afternoon, and if she thinks I ought to tell Cass—"

"She won't!" Chris protested.

"But I was thinking that our ways won't cross again," the girl went on, as if she had not been interrupted. "There's no reason why they should. So good-by."

She held out her hand, and Chris shook it, and said again, "I think you've been a wonderful sport! And don't worry, you'll never hear of his housebreaking mess again. And thanks awfully, Mary."

"You're welcome," she said youthfully, indifferently. He followed her, with her bag, into the car, and placed her luggage conveniently. There was only a second left, in which to run to the door and jump down. Mary Kate was on the wrong side of the train; she did not see him again.

And then it was all simple. The towns and villages of yesterday began to reverse themselves, like a film running backward, and in no time at all she was in San Francisco, she was in a taxicab, she had given the driver the O'Farrell Street number.

Bank Robbers Are Besieged By Posse

BELLAIRE, Mich., June 3 (C.P.)—Several men who robbed the Antrim County State Savings Bank at Mancelona this morning were trapped in a farm house a short distance from here this afternoon.

The robbers, barricaded in a farm building, kept up a running fire which held a posse of hundreds of citizens at bay. Two members of a party which attempted to pursue the robbers were believed to be held captive in the besieged building. A third member of the party was wounded seriously by gunfire.

TWO SMALL GIRLS HAVE CLOSE CALL

Frame Collapses as School Children Are Using

HAVELOCK, June 3.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — Little Marjorie Jamieson, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jamieson, and Dora Lutz, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lutz in this village, had a narrow escape from serious injury, on Thursday evening, after school hours, when the swing on which they were riding in the Jamieson back yard collapsed. The rope did not break, but the whole frame collapsed, and a scantling struck Marjorie on the right forearm, fracturing it. The Lutz child escaped with a few minor bruises. Only last week a Toronto child was instantly killed when a Maypole near which she was playing fell, striking her on the head.

HATE.

Therein to Thee allied;
All sweet accords of hearts and homes
In Thee are multiplied.

All labor vainly done:

NOTE THREATENS LIFE OF JAILER

Sinister Message and Two Bullets Sent to Essex County Jail Governor.

POLICE INVESTIGATE.

WINDSOR, Ont., June 3 (C.P.)—What is taken to be a threat on the life of Ernest Hopgood, Acting Governor of the Essex County Jail at Sandwich, is now under investigation by Provincial Police. A brief note "Hopgood—the rest to follow," in crudely printed letters, and two cartridges, with the ends of the lead cut off, and then the lead slitted endwise, contained in a small matchbox were found attached to the door of the office of the Acting Governor at the jail. The cartridges were .38 and long. James R. Wilkinson, Superintendent of Identification for the Windsor Police Department, is examining the box and the note for possible fingerprints. Hopgood says that if the missive was intended to frighten him the purpose has not been accomplished. He added that while he could see no good reason why such a threat should be sent him, he had some suspicions which he would communicate to the police. The box, note and cartridges are being forwarded to the Provincial Secretary at Toronto.

DURHAM TORIES MEET WEDNESDAY

Fred Bowen Will Probably Be Nominated to Contest Seat.

BOWMANVILLE, June 3—Conservatives of Durham will meet on Wednesday at Orono, the county town, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the approaching Federal elections. The present member, Fred W. Bowen, who defeated Vincent Massey in the 1925 election and defeated Melville H. Staples, of Orono in the 1926 election is expected again to be the standard-bearer. The Liberals of the county have as yet not set a date for their convention, but are expected to do so this week. Among the names mentioned for the Liberal nomination are those of ex-Mayor Thomas Holgate of Bowmanville and W. Ross Strike, prominent Bowmanville barrister.

LONDON DAILIES MERGE.

LONDON, June 3.—(C.P.)— Announcement has been made that the London Daily Chronicle, one of the two Liberal national newspapers, has been merged with the London Daily News, and the combined papers will appear as the News-Chronicle.

The circulation of both totals 1,600,000. The News was founded in 1846, with Charles Dickens as the first editor, and the Chronicle was started in 1855.

Thunder Bay District Mines In No Danger From Forest Fires

GENERAL LIST SAGS AS BEARS ON AGGRESSIVE

Trading is Lightest in Many Years, But Losses Limited.

CREDIT RATES LEVEL.

Canadian Pacific Drops Four Points Along With Other Prominent Stocks.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 3.—The Bulls, having failed to stir up any activity in the Stock Market of late, left the field to the Bears to-day, but they made even a worse showing, practically the entire list turned heavy, but despite rather aggressive bearish operations in spots, most losses were limited to a point or two, and during the early hours of the session, trading was in the lightest volume since August, 1928, with the lone exception of January 13, last.

Credit rates remained stationary, and call and time money were unusually dull, but Bankers Acceptance and Commercial Paper were fairly active. The weekly condition statement of Federal Reserve reporting member banks showed a drop of $61,000,000 in commercial loans, but an unexpectedly large increase of $99,000,000 in loans on securities.

A few share sagged about 4 points or more, including Auburn, Ingersoll Rand, Canadian Pacific, Air Reduction, and American Tobacco B. The Continental Baking issues were weak features, reaching new lows for the year. Curtiss Wright also sagged a little to record a new 1930 low. Such issues as U.S. Steel, Radio, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, and General Electric lost a point or two.

Reported plans to complete public works and roads have brightened the prospects for improvement of the unemployment situation in Mexico.

Famous Distiller Leaves Quarter Billion Estate

LONDON, Eng., June 3. (C.P. Cable).—Lord Dewar, the famous distiller, sportsman, raconteur and wit, left an estate of more than five million pounds (about $25,000,000) when he died on April 11, according to the announcement made public to-day of this sum the government death duties will account for about two million pounds.

Lord Dewar left a million pounds free of legacy duty, to his nephew, John Arthur Dewar, who his uncle said in his will, "Went to Canada when quite young and carried out successfully all my business transactions there."

IMPROVING SIGNS ALREADY VISIBLE

Canadian Manufacturers Hear Review of Present Condition in Canada.

CONVENTION OPENS.

TORONTO, Ont., June 3. (C.P.)—Opening the 59th annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here yesterday the President, R. J. Hutchings, of Calgary, Alberta, in a luncheon address gave a survey of conditions throughout Canada and spoke optimistically of the future. Mr. Hutchings said: "All realize that conditions are not as good as in the immediately preceeding years. We know that this depression, like all previous depressions, will pass. There are already visible certain encouraging signs of improvement. When prosperity will return in full tide is impossible to forecast. The co-operation of all is necessary now, as at other times. Governments can help by formulating and maintaining with the highest possible measure of stability, wise policies. After that individuals will have to work out their own destinies, with the aid of the qualities of adventure, initiative, courage, intelligence and thrift."

Touching upon existent conditions in his opening remarks, Mr. Hutchings said that while the business recession had been severe, all could remember worse conditions than those of the past year. He spoke of the efforts made by manufacturers to maintain employment, and of the limitations of these. Some well meaning persons exhorted manufacturers to maintain their staffs, irrespective of whether they were selling goods or not. But reasonable people knew that a factor which, for example, which was paying out $10,000 a day for wages cannot go on very long unless it is selling its products. "It must be remembered" he said, "that there is no law to compel consumers to buy goods."

Proceeding he gave an interesting review of the development of agriculture, business and fiance, for the period from 1871, when the C.M.A. was organized to the present. In this he emphasized as one who had spent 46 years in Western Canada, the steady growth of manufacturing west of the Great Lakes. The earliest available statistics in the west those of 1880 showed 1,921 employes in Manitoba, getting $755,507 in salaries and wages, and the value of products being $3,413,026. Saskatchewan and Alberta together showed corresponding figures of 83, $34,425 and $195,938, and British Columbia, 2,871, $929,213 and $2,926,784. The last available figures, those of 1928 showed employees: Manitoba 25,166, Saskatchewan 6,173, Alberta 12,827, and British Columbia 48,949. Salaries and wages, Manitoba $32,569,223, Saskatchewan $8,003,577, Alberta, $15,403,292, British Columbia $58,726,003. Value of products, Manitoba $159,435,094, Saskatchewan $59,125,280, Alberta $100,744,401, British Columbia, $270,851,669. For the whole country the contrasting figures were: 1871 employees 187,942; 1928, 656,023; capital $77,964,020 and $4,780,296,049; salaries and wages $40,851,009 and $755,365,972; value of products, $221,617,773 and $3,769,847,364.

As to agriculture, Mr. Hutchings said he was engaged in farming operations, and he had witnessed several "pauses" followed by greater development. This he believed would happen again. He devoted some attention to mineral development, especially during the past 10 years and to the ever expanding manufacturing which this brought about. He urged constant effort to bring about the complete manufacture of the raw mineral product in Canada.

Fiscal Policy

Dealing with the fiscal policy he thought he could not do better than quote verbatim, which he proceeded to do, the report of a special committee presented to the annual general meeting at Halifax last year, and which was then unanimously adopted. A salient paragraph read: "No country in history has been able to take substantial progress in building up a well balanced and prosperous state without establishing and maintaining a fiscal policy, including customs tariff rates, and important restrictions, which protected and safeguarded its agricultural and industrial production, as well as the people and capital engaged in various forms of enterprise. We are firmly convinced that no people will ever achieve such development without a reasonable policy of protection."

Mr. Hutchings touched upon British and United States investments in Canada, and Canadian investments abroad as showing that this country was in no danger financially. He paid considerable attention to the development of aircraft construction and use in the country, nothing that all manufacturers of aircraft in Canada were in the section of the Association organized for them during the past year. The developments in research, for the benefit of all the community were mentioned. As to immigration he thought that the "general principles which should govern an immigration policy for Canada should be fairly clear. Immigrants should be predominantly of British and French origins, including those repatriated from the United States. Of other racial origins, those of Northern Europe should be preferred. Employment at the remuneration should be the keynote of our immigration policy."

NORDON OIL LISTING.

TORONTO, June 3. (Special to Examiner.)—While the rise in the shares of Nordon Corporation is fairly well explained by the transfer of sponsorship to a group of New York bankers and the statement made by President Glen M. Ruby at the recent annual meeting that preliminary estimates placed a value of approximately $4 a share behind the stock, the street is accepting the listing on the New York curb, to be carried out possibly this week, as another reason for the upward movement. The reorganization of the company under a Delaware charter, besides cutting the amount of authorized stock in half, provides for a par value of $5 for the shares, and it is thought a better impression would be made if the stock could be listed at a price more in line with this figure.

Mayland Improvement.

The improvement in demand for Mayland shares, noticeable late yesterday, it is attributed to the report that the company's No. 1 well which was frozen off for a few days, came back with a flow of about 11,000,000 cubic feet. This is apparently better than the former production when some 35 barrels daily were being secured.

The refinancing of Canusa mines is now said to have been completed. Strong Detroit interests are understood to be supplying the bulk of the new funds, and it is expected directors will visit the property within the next few days. The Canusa was one of the first staked in the Porcupine mine camp work having been carried down to a depth of 500 feet.

Toronto office of Beethwain Oils, Ltd., reports the No. 2 well had been cored to a depth of 2,272 feet with the last two feet of the hole showing oil. The last foot shows the rock to be very hard and porous and oil is present in promising quantities. The holes passed through a nine foot seam of coal, and, as a coal is considered an indication of oil in the Wainwright structure prospects are said to be good for big well. Further coring is being done to-day and the boilers are being washed out.

According to Montreal advices, drill hole No. 15 at the Mabell property in Rouyn district is now down 715 feet and shows 100 feet of mineralization. Some of which contain very heavy sulphides showing chalcopyrite. The drill is expected to cut mineralized zone No. 1 at about 900 feet.

No Fire Danger.

The head office of Howey gold mines reports that the mines are in no danger from the fires burning through the Thunder Bay and Patricia districts. The ground has been cleared for some distance around the mine and the property is well supplied with fire fighting equipment, about 150 workmen being available if needed. A small fire was seen some distance to the west of Redlake but this has now been put under control.

Production from the Coniaurum has increased to an average of $60,000 per month. The mill has handled an average of over 9,000 tons of ore monthly so far this year, and has recovered approximately $6.35 per ton. Output for the first four months of the year totalled about $240,000 or a rate of 720,000 a year. The work in connection with driving the winze below the 2,000 feet level is progressing and is intended to probe the property to a possible depth of 3,000 feet.

OIL COMPANY IS RAZING UNSIGHTLY DWELLINGS

The property owned by the Imperial Oil Company at 225 and 227 Charlotte street, which comprises two brick dwelling houses are at present in the course of demolition, under the supervision of Contractor Vass.

Number 225 was formerly occupied by the late Dr. Robinson who carried on an extensive practice in this city, but it is reported that the timbers in the house are now in a state of dry rot. The Imperial Oil Company is removing the buildings in keeping with their policy of improving the surroundings of their gas stations, and also in compliance with a recommendation from Fire Chief Gimblett that as the houses are in the restricted area it was advisable to have them razed. Some of the old wooden buildings at the rear of the houses will also be in the hands of the wreckers shortly.

ARTICLE XXXVIII.

Q.—In what way and at what times, can Short Term Notes be most profitably used as investments?

A.—When money rates are high and expected to go lower in the course of a few years, corporations resort to short term notes rather than long term bonds, and vice versa, as a means of financing themselves. Therefore what is advantageous for the corporation may often be disadvantageous from the investor's standpoint. When a corporation is wisely issuing long term bonds the investor should probably be purchasing short term notes and conversely. Short term notes should be bought when interest rates are low and expected to be higher when the notes mature, at which time the investor can profitably purchase high yield bonds at a reasonable price.

During periods of depression and readjustment money that has been in more speculative channels is invested in high grade securities.

Bond prices go higher with the increased demand and their yield decreases. At such times as this, it is often profitable to resort to short term notes. An investor can thus keep his money in a liquid state until market conditions are more favorable for the buying of more speculative issues or common stock.

COMMUNIST SPEAKERS BEATEN BY CHINESE

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 3 (C.P.) — The Young Workers' Party, a Communist organization, got an unpleasant jolt last night when it tried to stage a rally in Chinatown and precipitated a riot.

"Hail the first Chinese Sovist Congress," Albert Stone and James Elsen, youthful speakers exhorted. The Chinese, however, refused to do any hailing. University students among them politely asked to know what the speakers knew about China or even about Chinatown.

Apparently the answer was unsatisfactory, for when police arrived, the Chinese were joyfully engaged in beating up the Communists.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

It's a real holiday to-day, while the retail and industrial centres are carrying on, the financial district of the city is a pretty dead shot with the banks all closed, investment houses on holiday and most brokerage offices shut up and those open practically deserted. The trading lull of past weeks has permitted clerks to keep abreast of their work and leave them free to enjoy the King's birthday. There has been a general exodus from the financial district to the golf courses and picnic grounds and clerks can come back to work in the morning knowing there is no accumulation of work on their desks that will require increased energy to clean up. This is the first 3rd of Hune in two years that the population of the financial district has felt free to take the day off and enjoy themselves. When the bull market was at its height, holidays only meant a respite to help catch up both the massive amount of work that kept accumulating neccessitating overtime and work on all occasions. With all the Canadians exchanges closed what little trading interest there was had to be directed to Wall street where many Canadian issues are listed. The New York market was heavy in early trading, firming slightly around midday, and interlisted securities were soft. Brazilian Traction International Nickle and International Petroleum were all down fractionally at one time from closing prices here Monday and Ford of Canadian Distillers Association, Hiram Walker Gooderham and and Worts and Noranda were holding at about the level of the previous day. Tuesday was the slowest trading day of the year in New York since summer of 1928 and there were no signs of improvement in the forenoon to-day. The stock markets of the continent are suffering from too many holidays and public interest has turned to other matters for the time being.

Total of securities selling ex-dividend on the Toronto Stock Exchange is about the largest of the year and the number will be increased substantially between now and the end of the month. The month of June this year, will set a new monthly record for dividend for this period of the year and distributions total payments, estimated at $33,600,000 on Canadian securities, is almost equal to peak of $34,000,000 distributed in October last. June will bring to an end the first half of 1930 and the first few days of July will again witness heavy dividend payments by companies who end their fiscal period with the end of the calendar year. To the regular quarterly dividend will be added on this occasion the companies that pay annually in January and July.

DECLARES DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, June 3 (C.P.)—The Kennecott Copper Company one of the largest copper producing companies in the world, today declared a quarterly dividend of 75 cents, placing the stock on a $3 annual basis instead of $5.00, the previous rate. The dividend is payable July 1 on stock of record June 12.

Several of the smaller producers have drastically reduced their dividends during the past month, reflecting the reduction in copper prices from 18 to 15 cents a pound.

POLICE CHIEF IS SHOT

ABSECON, N. J., June 3.—(C.P.)—Chief of Police William M. Schoettlin 41, of Absecon, was shot and killed instantly here early today, when he was mistaken for an intruder while investigating an alleged disorderly house.

George Howard Much 31, of Ventor, N. J., an Atlantic City Hall contractor, was arrested by state police charged with the shooting. Three others, including two women, are being held as material witnesses.

ANZACS DEFEAT BRITISH

WELLINGTON, N. Z., June 3.—(C.P.)—The touring British rugby team suffered its first defeat since its arrival in New Zealand when Wellington today captured a great struggle for a score of 12 to 8 points. The New Zealanders captured the game mainly because their forwards concentrated all their efforts to keep the fleet British backs from breaking clear with the ball.

WIDE AWAKES HOLD SUCCESSFUL SALE

Money Raised to Allow Two Members to Attend C.G.E.T. Summer Camp.

MILLBROOK, June 3 (Examiner Correspondence).— The Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. group held a successful sale of home-made candy in Dr. H. A. Turner's store on Saturday afternoon, the entire stock of delicious confection being disposed of in about two hours' time.

The group held its closing meeting last week, when the sale was planned in order to add to the amount already on hand sufficient funds to have two members represent the Wide Awakes at one of the Provincial C.G.I.T. camps this summer.

The group colors of blue and white were used to decorate the tables where the wares were displayed for sale, and among the members assisting were: Misses Marion O'Brien Bernice Thornton, Helen Mitchell, May Perren, Mary Burnham, Phyllis Kidd, Bryar Edmunds, Charlotte McMahon, Mary Vance, and the leader.

The group will probably hold its annual picnic outing in July when a report of the camp activities will be received from the delegates who attend the Provincial outing.

Peterborough Rangers Planning to Stage Play Hit of Season

AUNT LUCIA IS SURE TO BE BIG LAUGH-GETTER

Will be Staged in Collegiate Auditorium Two Nights This Week.

100 IN THE CAST

Play Proper Deals With Home-coming of Bula Bula College.

"Aunt Lucia" will prove a successful laugh getter when it is staged at the Collegiate Auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings. It has all the hilarity of a collegiate movie and the laugh-provoking situations that look like a cross between "animal crackers" and Will Rogers. This "Aunt Lucia" show is not of the common run of home talent bills for it is refreshingly different, and it is studded with amusing situations. The "town clown" who is so screamingly funny that he goes beyond description is Norman Laing. It is around this character that the actions of the play progress. "Aunt Lucia"—the dear sweet old lady who has so many proposals and rates so much attention is pretty good appeal and is a thing of beauty and a joke forever. The cast is now nearing the tapering off stage. The big butter and egg man is already complaining of having corns on his knees. He proposes to "Aunt Lucia" in the second act and has been doing it nightly ever since she came to town.

Worth $50 Million.

The play proper deals with the home-coming at Bula Bula College. The whole story revolves around the school anxiously awaiting the arrival of an old maid, Aunt Lucia Wakefield who is worth fifty million dollars and who plans to give the college a large sum of money for the building of a new college stadium. She is to be the honored guest of the home-coming and is an aunt to one of the girls, Betsy, Jerry Watson, played by Norman Laing, with the help of his two room mates, George and Dick, played by Charles McLeish and Dr. Ralph Honey, dresses himself as an old lady for the entertainment of his fellow fraternity brothers. While dressed in this garb he is mistaken by Prof Gaddis, played by G. A. Richmond and Dean Howard, played by Annie Crocker, as the real Lucia Wakefield from Florida and they immediately introduce him to everyone as such. In this dilemma it is impossible for him to explain without getting in bad. Around this character playing the part of the fake aunt, all the funny and comical situations of the play develop. Mr. Collins, played by Jack Primeau, and the Butter and Egg Man, played by Jim Turnbull fall in love with the fake aunt and want to marry her. Their proposals are flowery and very funny. The climax is reached when the real Lucia from Florida wires the necessary amout of money for the College Stadium.

Many Special Features.

Besides the plot of the play one will find himself entertained by an evening's program of special features. The College Flappers who will flap and flop must be seen to be appreciated. A College Glee Club will sing college songs and assist in the chorus specialties. This group will be composed of members of the Male Voice Choir, the Kinsmen Club, and the Rangers Band. A big Baby Pageant will open the show. Mrs. Hazel McClelland, a very talented dramatic reader, will give the musical readings for the pageant. A girls' chorus composed of Collegiate girls will offer special numbers and also assist in the ensemble choruses.

About 100 local people will take part in this production. Under the auspices of the Peterborough Rangers, Peterborough, will be given a clever performance, full of scintillating wit and plenty of action. It's a good slogan, "If you want to laugh, see "Aunt Lucia."

London's debt this year totals more than $600,000,000, the main increases in expenditures being for education housing, street improvements and drainage.

Cavan Farmer Issues Fall Wheat Challenge

Can any farmer beat this? G. F. Clarke of the th concession, Cavan township proudly issues a friendly challenge to any other farmer in this district to beat his 9 acres crop of fall wheat, which gives remarkable promise of yielding a bumper crop at harvest time. Already it is rippling in the breezes, an uncommon sight at this period of the season when the rest of the fall wheat is just commencing to toughen on the stalk, while it is yet too short to ripple.

Twenty-nine inches is the length of the straw from root to tip. The strain is Dawson's Golden Chaff. Will Cavan Township's record remain unchallenged?

OBITUARY

MRS. GEORGE GARBUTT.

WARSAW, June 3.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Long before the hour set for the service George Garbutt's house and lawn were crowded with people who came to pay their last respects to the late Mrs. George Garbutt. Rev. H. B. Herrington, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hinton, a former pastor on the Warsaw circuit conducted the services at the house and at the grave in Lakefield cemetery.

Mrs. Dora McMillan of Lakefield and Mr. Rufus Payne of Warsaw sang "The Valley of Peace." The pall-bearers were cousins, Messrs. Oswald and Ivan Jory, Arthur and Allan Edwards, Wallace Anderson, and Mr. Grant.

Mrs. Garbutt was born and brought up near Warsaw in the stone house now owned by Burt Rae.

She was a faithful and consistent member of the Methodist church at Bethel, and during her long and distressing illness of over two years she was an example of Christian patience and faith, and to the last thought of the Christian work of the church.

She loved life and visitors at her home were always graciously welcomed. Her loss will be deeply felt by the community.

ANGLE PARKING MAY BE TABOO

Legal Committee of Council is to Meet With Chief Newhall to Discuss Question.

ALDERMEN OPPOSED.

Angle parking on George street may soon be a thing of the past and the old system of straight parking be the rule again. Most of the aldermen expressed themselves as being dissatisfied with the result of angle parking when the subject of parking and speeding came up for discussion last night at the City Council meeting. A motion was put through that the Legal Committee meet with Chief Newhall and go into the parking question in an effort to relieve the existing congestion in the downtown area.

Alderman McNabb stressed the importance of the police making further check up on speeding, requesting the Mayor to bring it to the attention of the Police Commission. He reviewed several flagrant cases that had come to his personal notice.

"The time is fast approaching when we will need a traffic officer on a motor cycle," declared Alderman Tuggey.

Some Improvement Necessary

Some improvement in the parking by-law was stated to be necessary by Mayor Denne, and Alderman Cotton was of the same opinion. "We slid along with the other cities of the same size when angle parking was introduced here," he said. "Now I think we realize it is time to go back to straight parking. On Saturday night in the business district it is next to impossible to drive a car through the parked cars."

"Are there any accidents?" asked Alderman McIntyre.

"Lots of bumped fenders," replied Alderman Huffman.

"Yes, but you would get those with any kind of parking," contributed Alderman MacDonald.

"But lets have George street clear", urged the Mayor. "Angle parking is all right on the side streets, but we should have straight parking on George Street from King to Brock streets.

Alderman Cotton moved the motion that the Legal Committee meet with the Chief of Police and strive to bring in measures to cope with the situation. It was understood that no changes will be made until after the re-surfacing has been completed, but the Council desires to have the situation in hand.

ARE YOU WITH BRITAIN OR WITH BENNETT?

"Canadian agriculturists are profoundly interested in the scheme of reciprocal Empire preferences, now being promoted in Great Britain by Mr. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party, by such powerful publishers as Lord Beaverbrook and by such outstanding industrialists as Lord Melchett. Mr. Baldwin has promised that when the Conservatives return to office he will submit the question of taxes on foreign food imports, with preferences for the dominions and colonies, to a popular referendum."

(The Mail and Empire.)

That is what is now to be submitted to the Canadian people at this election.

Mr. Bennett says that he is not in favor of preferences and when he says that he is in favor of Britain after Canada, he says he means just as he is in favor of any other country after Canada and "no better." Mr. Bennett refuses to entertain the idea of favoring one country over another, whether within or without an Empire which the London Conference of Empire delegates with the King presiding, in 1926, said means no Empire.

The Empire Chambers of Commerce meeting this week at London, passed the strongest kind of resolutions in favor of Empire co-operation and preference.

Britain has pledged herself to extend an equal preference to the dominions which will give a stimulus to trade and agriculture of the highest order.

Mr Meighen tried to sell out the Empire idea to the French of Quebec for their support but they would not buy. He failed.

Mr. Bennett is making a more subtle appeal to Quebec. He preaches the Bourassa "Nationalist" doctrine of independence. Even Mr. King is afraid of this appeal and is apprehensive of a stalemate and no Empire-mandate for the coming London Conference at all.

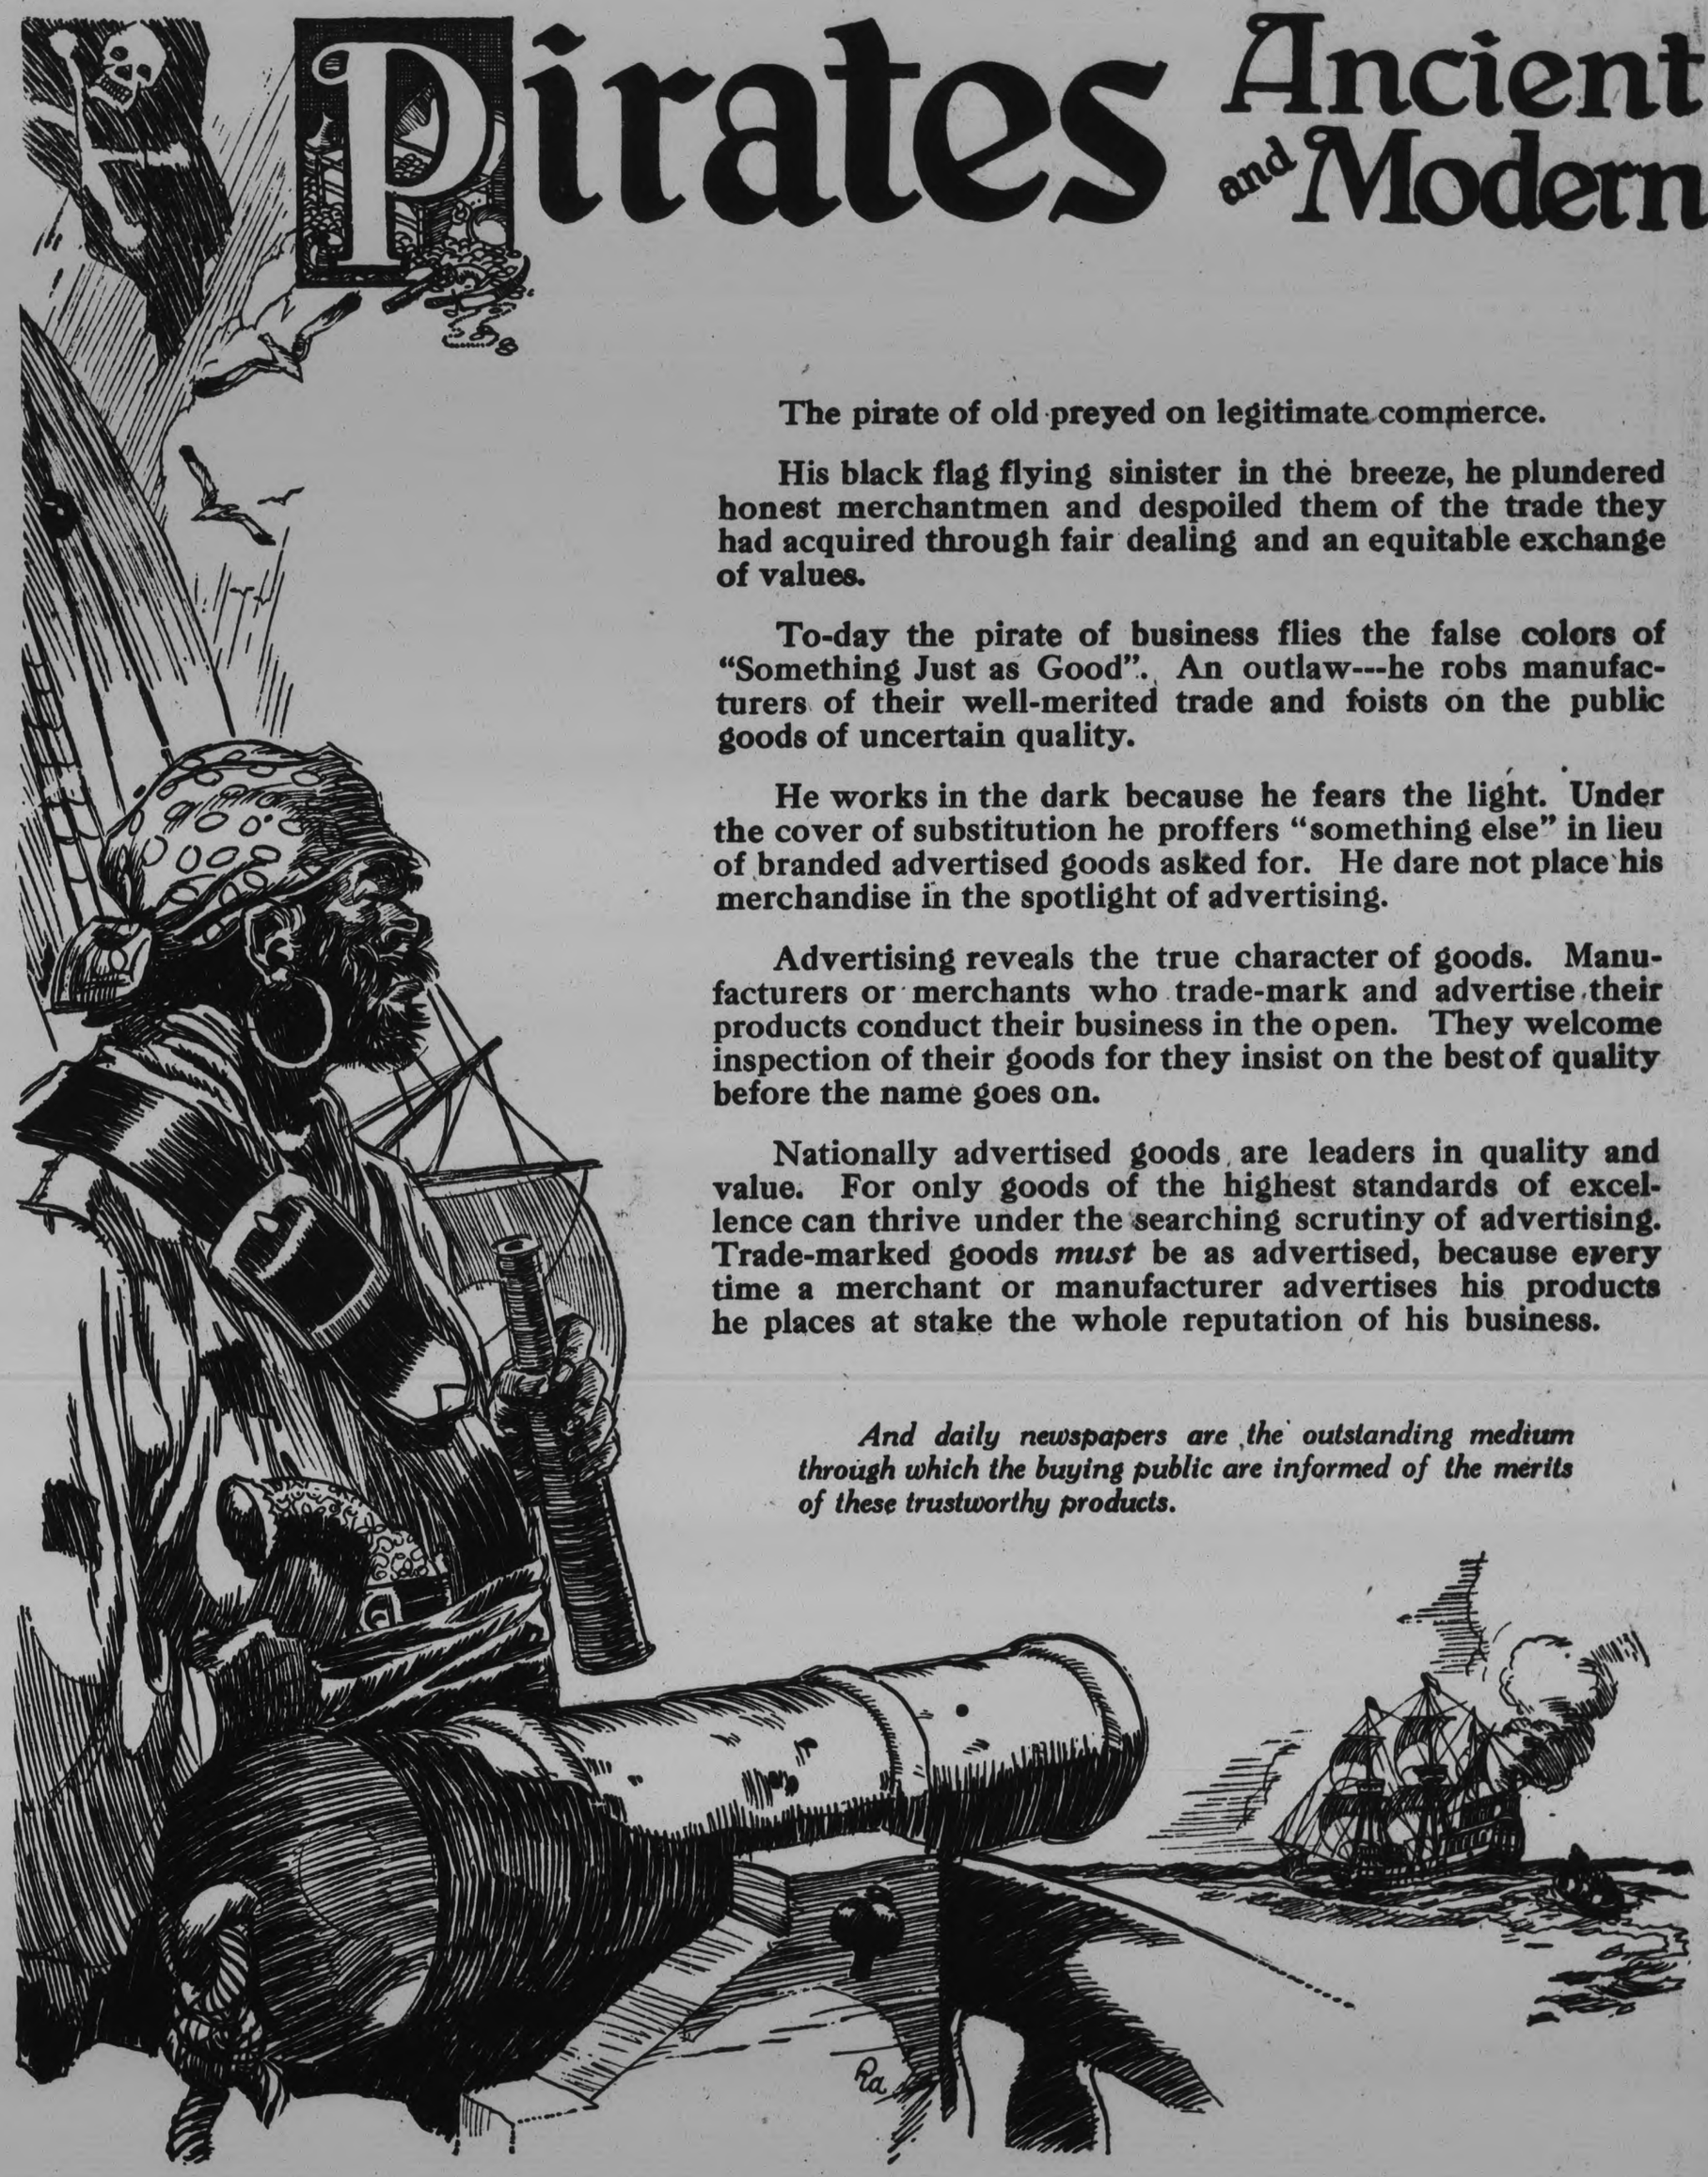
The issue of this election is therefore quite clear. It is Empire or "Nationalist" independence. The long-expected hour has come for Canadians to decide.

Make no mistake; there is a large vote for Independence. Don't fool with politics. Play the game.

GOD SAVE THE EMPIRE.

(Empire-Publicity League, per Mr. J. H. Burnham.)

Pirates Ancient and Modern



The pirate of old preyed on legitimate commerce.

His black flag flying sinister in the breeze, he plundered honest merchantmen and despoiled them of the trade they had acquired through fair dealing and an equitable exchange of values.

To-day the pirate of business flies the false colors of "Something Just as Good". An outlaw---he robs manufacturers of their well-merited trade and foists on the public goods of uncertain quality.

He works in the dark because he fears the light. Under the cover of substitution he proffers "something else" in lieu of branded advertised goods asked for. He dare not place his merchandise in the spotlight of advertising.

Advertising reveals the true character of goods. Manufacturers or merchants who trade-mark and advertise their products conduct their business in the open. They welcome inspection of their goods for they insist on the best of quality before the name goes on.

Nationally advertised goods are leaders in quality and value. For only goods of the highest standards of excellence can thrive under the searching scrutiny of advertising. Trade-marked goods must be as advertised, because every time a merchant or manufacturer advertises his products he places at stake the whole reputation of his business.

And daily newspapers are the outstanding medium through which the buying public are informed of the merits of these trustworthy products.

RICHARD DARLING

(Examiner Correspondence)

The funeral of the late Richard Darling took place on Friday afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J. Reid on Reid street, and was attended by a very large number of friends and relatives. Rev. S. A. Kemp of the Regent Street United Church was in charge, assisted by Rev. F. G. Robinson and Rev. J. B. McCormack.

Rev. S. A. Kemp took his text from part of the 11th and 12th verses of the 21st chapter of the Book of the Prophet Isaiah: "Watchman, what of the night; the watchman said, 'The morning cometh'"

On a dark night with a high wind presaging a storm, one often wonders who is the Spirit behind the tempest and darkness and out of the darkness comes back to the hopeless heart this answer, "Earth hath no sorrow which Heaven cannot heal." When death raps on the door of the home, he disturbs none of the furnishings but he presses the button and turns off the light, and in leaving takes with him a life.

Our lives are crossed at times with shadows, but beyond all is the glorious day. To the Israelites of old Egypt was the land of darkness which had no hope or promise; their hope was Canaan, the promised land where there they could sing the songs of Zion in the land they loved. As the Jews found eventually a homeland in Canaan, we too will find a homeland beyond the shadow of death. Beyond the darkness of night is the bright morning which brings the promise of hope beyond the gloom. Every voice, every prophet, every fingerboard of truth points to the morning beyond the night, where all the fears, sufferings, trials and temptations are taken away. Mr. Kemp quoted Tennyson's beautiful poem, "Crossing the Bar," so appropriate to an occasion of this sort. In closing, he paid a personal tribute to the late Mr. Darling, who was the oldest resident of the village, and remarkably active. He was a regular attendant at church and will be much missed both there and on the street. For him the night has passed into the glorious morning. Two hymns were sung, "Nearer My Got to Thee," and "Lead, Kindly Light," both very appropriate to the character of the service.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. D. Nixon, G. Drain, Alvin Drain, David Drain, David Little and Frank Darling. Interment was made in the Lakefield Cemetery.

Another of the Old Guard passes; a pioneer who really hewed his home from the forest. Very few people of his age were as active as Mr. Darling and until within a few days of his death he was going about as usual, he enjoyed seeing his friends and chatting with them and had a very wide circle who will miss his cheery presence and his frequent visits.

For many years of his remarkably long life he resided in North Dummer, knowing much of the struggle of the pioneer and hewing a home out of the forest. Though born in Prince Edward County, Mr. Darling spent most of his life in Peterborough County and much in Dummer, where he married his wife, Mary Drain, and reared a large family. For about twelve years he had lived in the village, making his home for much of the time with his daughters, Mrs. J. Reid and Mrs. J. R. Northey. Mr. Darling's friendly manner and pleasant greetings will be missed, for he was well known in the village and had a high place in the regard of the people. There was a good deal of pride in his remarkable activity which was most unusual in one of so great an age, and his passing is marked with real sorrow. On July 12th he would have celebrated his 93rd birthday and for some years the event was celebrated by a large family picnic enjoyed by all and by none more than the guest of honor. In the Regent Street United Church he leaves a vacant place as he was constant and regular in attendance and deeply interested. Mr. Darling is survived by four sons, Robert of Winnipeg; David, Albert and Percy of Lakefield and two daughters, Mrs. Jabez Reid and Mrs. J. R. Northey of Lakefield.

GEORGE JAMIESON

BETHANY, June 3.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late George Jamieson of Pontypool, whose death occurred on Thursday was held on Saturday.

The late Mr. Jamieson, who had resided with his brother Louis, had retired in his usual good health and not coming to breakfast as usual one of the members of the family went to his room to see if anything were the matter and found that Mr. Jamieson had been dead for some time.

He leaves to mourn his loss one son, his wife having predeceased him a short time ago. Mrs. Richard Johnson of Bethany, is a cousin of the deceased.

Wide Range of Styles and Material in Milady's Hats

Simplicity often supports a load of chic when the ingredients that go into it are of the proper choosing. The hat situation, however, is more complex. The fabrics that go into the making are legion, and they are crushed, twisted and manipulated into a myriad of interesting shapes. The two models shown in the Vogue sketch on the LEFT above were designed by Reboux. The lower one is of soft string-like paper straw, crocheted in black-and-white mixture, which replaces tweed for an informal beret. It is draped over a bandeau of burnt orange grosgrain ribbon. The little bow that lies against one cheek is typical of the new softer hats that all Paris is wearing. The second model is a youthful interpretation of a biconne. It is of wine red felt banded with a navy blue grosgain—an important factor in the new hats. The frock is of a cravat silk—one of the high notes of the season—in pin dot design and navy in color. A touch of freshness has been given by lingerie details, a white pique collar and a one-sided bow as a tie. On the right is a black and white fancy straw toque trimmed with a white flower at the side —Sketch by Vogue.

BOARD REFUSES RESIGNATION OF SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Trustee McLaughlin Submits His Resignation to Havelock Board.

NO ACTION TAKEN.

Members Decide to Advertise Foar Coal Tenders—Ac-

HAVELOCK, June 3 (Examiner Correspondence). — The regular May meeting of Havelock School Board was held on Thursday, May 29, instead of the usual third Wednesday.

Only four members were present—Anderson, Brewster, Evans, and Squires. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Inspector Lees' report was read, and on motion of Anderson and Brewster, was placed on file.

A letter was read from Trustee McLaughlin, in which he tendered his resignation as a member of the School Board. After some discussion, the Board decided not to accept this resignation, but to leave the matter over for the next meeting. Motion by Brewster and Anderson. Carried.

Moved by Trustees Anderson and Squires, that the Department of Education be instructed to forward the results and certificates of the forthcoming departmental examinations to Principal Coates at Brussels, Ontario, as soon as they are ready.

Two bills were received for experiments on the school well. One was from Grant & Thorpe for $50, and one from the De Laval for $42.

Trustee Squires suggested that the chairman, Mr. Evans, go to Peterborough and interview the two firms, and ascertain the cause of the excessive charge. When the Board decided to have a test made of the capacity of the well, they understood it would cost only $25.00. The bill from Grant & Thorpe states only $50 for experimental work. The De Laval account was itemized as follows: Pump $8.00, travelling expense $9.00, services of Mr. Rutter $25.00.

Moved by Anderson and Squires, that the secretary write Grant & Thorpe, asking for an explanation and an itemized account, as a bill has already been received from the De Laval Company. Carried.

Moved by Squires and Anderson, that all bills except the De Laval and Grant & Thorpe's be paid. Carried.

A tender for the winter's supply of coal was received from Mr. John Leask, in which he agreed to furnish the season's supply at the rate of $9.95 per ton. This for the same grade coal as the Board had been supplied for the winter just passed. Another tender was received from C. W. Coon, offering to place the winter supply for $7.30 per ton. Trustee Squires promptly moved that the contract be awarded to Mr. Coon. No seconder. Mr. Coon was present and assured the Board that the coal he would supply would be the same quality coal as that used in the school during the past winter. A. J. Peeling was present at the meeting with Mr. Leask, and explained the difference between the various grades of coal. The coal for which Mr. Leask had quoted prices was number 4 Pittsburgh. Moved by Anderson, seconded by Brewster, that the Board advertise for sealed tenders for the school coal supply. Carried.

Moved by Squires, seconded by Brewster, that the Board adjourn until the next regular meeting, or the call of the chairman. Carried.

Following is a list of accounts ordered paid: C. H. Brewster, expenses to Toronto, $15; A. C. Denike, $1.25; J. A. C. Allan, $3; P. Yuill, $6.66.

Mr. Roy Phillips and Mr. Clifford Evoy of Toronto were recent visitors with the latter's aunt, Mrs. Jay Bedford.

The regular meeting of Havelock Junior Institute will be held on Wednesday, June 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Longmuir, Trent River Road. The change in date of the meeting is due to the fact that the members are repeating their play, "Maggie Fixes It," in Stanwood on Wednesday, June 4.

Mr. Lawrence Fillion of Flint, Mich., is a visitor with his brother, Mr. Abe Fillion.

The many friends of Mr. H. P. McNichol, the popular Bank of Toronto manager, will regret to hear that he is moving to Milton during the next week. Mr. McNichol has been manager of the bank here for the past eighteen years, and has been very active in all community interests and church work. Of course the move is a step forward, and while his departure is deeply regretted, he will be followed by the best wishes of the entire community.

BOYS' WORK TOLD AT ROTARY CLUB

Impressions of District Convention Given at Weekly Luncheon at Campbellford.

MANY SPEAKERS HEARD

CAMPBELLFORD, June 3.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)—The weekly meeting of the Campbellford Rotary Club was held on Monday in the St. Lawrence Hall Hotel, when the club sat down to lunch under the presidency of Alex N. McColl.

The business session dealt with the impressions that had been received by the different members of the club, who had attended the District Convention, held at Niagara Falls last week.

Charles Nadoo, who was first called upon to speak, stated that he was much impressed with the work that Rotary was doing among the boys. This comprises not only the establishment of camps, but the care and training of the individuals. Of the clubs that have boys' camps, he quoted Peterborough and Toronto as examples, the latter being supervised by Fred Chapman, of that city. Of the good work that can be done among the individual boys, Mr. Nadoo spoke of the statement that had been made by Dr. Raymond of Bowmanville. The Rotary club at that point had handled 185 boys, and only 30 of them had proved unsatisfactory. These boys were all between the ages of eight and fifteen. Another example quoted by the speaker was that of a Mr. S. Adams, who had taken and trained five boys, who had proved successful in life. This man was childless, and concentrated his energy in this sphere of activity, with splendid results.

E. C. Dolman, giving his impressions stressed the social activities of the convention. He said that the spirit of friendliness that was shown was unbelievable unless experienced. Every effort was made on the part of the convenors to make the function one to be enjoyed socially.

Dr. Bruce Longmore also expressed his appreciation of the social end of the convention, but stated that it did not deter from the work on hand. The interest of the convention was chiefly the sessions that were held in regard to the work of Rotary, and these were all well attended. Of these meetings, Dr. Longmore said he was most impressed with those that dealt with Club welfare. It was brought out that a club must always be kept interesting, enthusiastic and progressive. This can be done in two ways. First, by giving every member of the club some work to do, and second, by seeing that the programs are in the hands of the members of the club. Of the latter way, he said that it was fallacy to think that outside speakers at the club meetings went to build up good organizations. It has been proved that the clubs that were most progressive were those that relied on their members for their speakers.

President McColl, in summing up the speaker's remarks, stressed the impressions that he had received in regard to the street fairs that are staged by Rotary, and gave many helpful hints for consideration.

Imperial Oil Issues Four Sheet Road Map

One of the outstanding publications this year of great interest to motorists and the public in general is to be found in a four-sheet Road Map of Canada and Northern United States, prepared for Imperial Oil, Limited, by Rolph-Clark-Stone, Ltd., Toronto, Canada.

These four maps are on a scale of 30 miles to 1 inch and embrace Canada from coast to coast. They also show U.S. territory as far south as Washington, D.C., in the East, and Salem, Ore., in the West. The territory covered is in excess of two million square miles.

Two classes of roads are shown and the main highways are featured by a bold red line. Mileage and highway numbers are conspicuously indicated, also in red. The size of type of place names is governed by the populations of the cities, towns, and villages.

On the backs of the maps are to be found plans of the principal cities and elaborate district maps of the principal summer playgrounds in Canada.

Copies may be procured on application to Imperial Oil Limited at any point in Canada.

ARROWROOT GOOD FOR YOUNGSTERS

Is Said To Be One of Nature's Finest Food for Children.

It is a well-known fact that pure Arrowroot is one of the most, if not the most nutritious of baby-foods. It's greatest value is as a flesh producer and it also assists bone formation. In England Arrowroot is accepted and indispensable in the Home. Delicious strengthening puddings blanc mange, sauces, etc., for the daily family menu, as well as the nursery and sick room are made with Arrowroot as their foundation. And so it follows that baby-food made frm pure Arrowroot Biscuits is also ideal for little babies. Christie's Arrowroot Biscuits are particularly acceptable because of their purity and high quality which are scrupulously maintained. If your baby is under-nourished try this for a few months.—Roll Christies Arrowroots fine, mix with sufficient boiling water to make a paste, then add a little sugar to taste and thin with milk. You may also give a Christie Arrowroot Biscuit morn ngs and afternoons, or as prescribed by your doctor. Some surprising gains in health and strength have been experienced in cases where this ha been tried.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

BEING DIFFERENT.

Because a child is different from his mates does not always signify that he is wrong. He may be that very precious person, the leader. Of course if he is a deficient child that aspect is out of the question. But a healthy, intelligent child who does things differently, who has strange tastes, who goes his way in spite of pressure—that child is to be studied and helped to express what good there is in him.

Now and then you find a young child, tall and heavy for his age, in a grade in advance of his friends of the same age. That child is a different child. He will not be developed evenly and therefore will have some very annoying traits. Some have one kind, some another. That is to be expected and provided for.

If the child is quick and nervous, guard him against over-fatigue if you can. It is not easy to keep a brake on a fast-thinking, fast-moving child. One has to go about it indirectly. Rest and quiet must be provided for such a child without his knowing anything of the matter. To tell him he needs rest is to invoke howls of protest. Set the stage for rest and let it happen naturally—IF you can.

Sometimes such a child stands aloof. He is kindly enough if the other children approach him, but he makes no effort to greet them, no effort to please them, no sign of friendliness goes out from him. Usually this is not because he prefers to be alone but because he does not understand the play, the pastimes and recreations of the other children. His is a more mature point of view. For him work, experiment, study, planning are recreation. Again one must be wary. Arrange for friendly association with other children but make no straight-forward attack. Let friendliness be a response to a situation, an inevitable response, or let the child alone.

Bright children are often given to moods. Some little quirk in their nervous organization brings on moods. All one can do is to wait for the mood to pass, work indirectly for its passing. Sometimes by watching the child we can find what brings on bad moods and so cure them by prevention. Fatigue is often the cause of black moods, of hysterical outbursts. Find why the child is fatigued beyond the breaking point and so adjust things as to prevent that fatigue. Always indirectly.

Don't expect to make this child, or any other child, over. The power of such creation is not in our hands. All we can do is to so modify the thought of the child as to lead him to the best way of perfecting his own growth with all its inherent differences intact. We cannot change that difference if we would. If we are wise we determine that we would not if we could.

Instead of trying to teach all children alike, to make them all behave alike, to make them all look alike, grow alike, and be alike, let us try to preserve their sacred differences instead of wiping them out and then civilization will leap forward a couple of centuries.

Number Of Tourists Augurs Big Season

American Visitors to Peterborough Take Special Note of Lift Lock.

The number of American tourists who are swarming into Canada this year long ahead of schedule, augurs well for the summer and holiday resort proprietors. It is commonly believed that the amount of American cars seen north of the International boundary on Friday last, Decoration Day in the States constituted a record for this time of year.

A group of twenty-two admiring American cousins, were viewing Peterborough's world-famed lift lock yesterday afternoon, and although no opinions were voiced in the presence of the natives of this district, their incredulous and admiring glances at the mass of concrete paid evidence more deep than words, of the admiration they held for the engineering science embodied in the construction of the Locks and the Trent Waterway as a whole.

IMPORTATION OF CANNED SOUP LARGE

More Than 10,000,000 Cans of Soup Are Imported Into Canada Annually.

A million and a quarter Canadian dollars go out of this country annually for the purchase of just one food article - canned soup - according to statistics recently issued in a circular by W. Clark, Limited, Montreal, makers of canned food products, including thirteen varieties of soups.

This money is sufficient to purchase more than 10,000,000 cans of soup - or over one can per person in the Dominion. If it were spent on Canadian products it would be sufficient to employ approximately 1,000 men, who, with their families, would represent the population of a fair-sized town. But, because Canadians import ten million cans of soups, there is just that much less money in circulation here, the pamphlet points ont.

It states further that the importation of such great quantities of a commodity which is also produced within the Dominion is to a great extent a thoughtless habit frequently based on the erroneous impression that foreign standards of manufacture are higher than Canadian, whereas the truth is that all Canadian canned foods must measure up to a high and rigid standard set by Federal Government, and all that contain meat must be inspected in detail throughout the processes of manufacture by a Government inspector - a procedure which assures the consumer absolute purity and wholesomeness.

SUMMER WEATHER TRYING ON BABIES

Eagle Brand Condensed Milk Highly Recommended as Food for Infants.

Hot summer weather is very trying on babies and the food question is a serious one every mother must solve correctly if her infant is to avoid ailments common in this period. Breast feeding is obviously best for baby, but it happens in so many cases that this is impractical. Rather than experiment with all sorts of foods it is wise to use one that is known for its value as an infant food. Eagle Brand Condensed Milk has been used continously since 1857 and is highly recommended by leading physicians as a safe, pure, easily digested food for bottle-fed babies. It is simply pure milk and pure granulated sugar. Feedings are easily made up according to directions on the can. Eagle Brand is especially satisfactory in difficult feeding cases. Frequently it agrees perfectly with babies who cannot assimilate any other food. Mothers who would appreciate a very helpful booklet on the care and feeding of baby may obtain a copy of "Baby's Welfare" from the Borden Co. Limited, Montreal, free, if they mention this paper when writing.

FASHION FANCIES

A Winged Victory for the Decolletage

The decolletage achieves a winged victory with consummate grace and is making an early Spring flight over the world of evening fashions. The soft zephyrs of the night glance over white shoulders from which a fragile bit of lace may flutter to a line slightly below the normal waistline. Again a deep cut decollete may divide two slender wings of the same material as the frock, as illustrated in the gown above.

The prevalence of the pink evening gowns indicates that femininity has become conscious of the flattering effects of this shade. Here a delicate pink flat crepe has been chosen for the gown with its alluring winged decollete. The draped skirt is knotted at the back, below the hips, where it is divided to hang in folds on either side over a full skirt of even length.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

THREE

One found his days were hard, and so
He laughed at want, he laughed at woe,
He laughed at being's ebb and flow.
"It shall not conquer me," he vowed,
As wildly and with head unbowed,
At life itself he laughed aloud.
Another, when loss fell to him,
When Hatred showed its features grim,
And Grief came, shadowy and dim,
Crept to his corner, crouching there
Like stricken beast within its lair,
And gave himself to dark despair.

But of the three, one man was wise,
And bravely to the sullen skies
He lifted clear, undaunted eyes.
"By pain," said he, "we all are taught,
By sorrow we are led to thought;
Without its struggles, life is naught!"

Fashions

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

PASTELS BRAVE AN ENTRY IN TOWN FASHIONS

NEW YORK, June 3. — (U.P.) — Pastel costumes in cloth and silk, the darlings of the southern resort season, are extending their scope and making their appearance as high style types in town fashions of the "little" season. So far, the approved shades include turquoise and aquatone, pale water green, and a light gray. That colors as delicate and impractical as these shou'd be adopted for town wear, indicates another phase of the elaborate styling of spring, 1930, and also gives an additional opportunity to suit the taste and complexion of diverse types. They also reiterate the importance of Riveria Palm Beach and California fashions as a forerunner of those to come. The wearing of these light colors is by no means general but has not been restricted to the younger set, although they have been among the important sponsors of it. Both coats with matching dresses and suits with matching or contrasting blouses are observed. The coats are fashioned of monotone tweeds, luxuriously trimmed with large collars of natural lynx, or else with softly self-fabric collars.

In silhouette they are similar to the costumes in the approved bright navy or black, an occasional exception being found in the cap sleeves of a crepe dress or blouse.

CHILD DIES FROM BURNS

SWANSEA, Ont., June 2. (C.P.)—John Main, aged four years, died in hospital yesterday as the result of burns received when he set fire to the straw in a dog kennel. "Tampty Ten", thoroughbred police dog, the child's playmate and guardian, was in the kennel and for a time prevented James O'Brien from rescuing the child.

ARCHBISHOP IS STILL WEAK

LONDON, June 3—Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, will not be strong enough in health to preach at the re-opening of Saint Paul's Cathedral on June 25, it was announced at the London diocesan conference today. Right Rev. Arthur Foey, Winnington Ingram, Bishop of London will take the Archbishop's place in the pulpit.

OTTAWA DIFFERS ON DIVORCE BILL

Shaw Amendment Passed in 1925 Gives Women Equal Rights.

BASED ON ENGLISH LAW.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 3 (C.P.)—Those in close touch with the drafting of the Ontario divorce court bill take definite issue with the "eminent legal authority" quoted in a Toronto despatch who referred to the measure as "a shocking retrogression that would be repugnant to the best sense of the people of Canada." The authority quoted in the Toronto despatch assails the Divorce Court Bill on two grounds. He states the new law by its very looseness and general nature will result in a discrimination against women seeking to secure a divorce. While the man will be required to prove merely adultery in order to be divorced from his wife. The women, according to this authority, will be forced to prove not only adultery but cruelty as well.

Amendment Passed In 1925

The view of those who had a great deal to do with preparing the legislation is entirely opposed to this. While agreeing the law of England of 1870 forms the basis of the new bill, they assert the Shaw amendment passed by the parliament of Canada in 1925, which grants to women the right to secure divorce on the same grounds as men, applies to any province of Canada which establishes a divorce court. This amendment is now incorporated in the statutes of Canada as section four of the revised statutes.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WHY PNEUMONIA DEVELOPS.

One of the things you do not understand is to learn that one of your friends who has entered hospital with appendicitis, rheumatism, typhoid fever or other ailment has developed pneumonia.

In fact he may go safely through a severe ailment such as any of those mentioned above, and then when the pneumonia attacks him he becomes seriously ill or may die.

Now why does pneumonia so often attack patients in hospital?

Because the organisms of pneumonia are always present in the body, but when you are in fair or good health your resistance is so strong that they can do no damage. But when you are in a 'run down' condition and your resistance is weak, these organisms then get the upper hand and pneumonia results.

Years ago it was found that many individuals whose death was due to some other cause showed evidences of having had tuberculosis at some time.

A little later the statement was made that fully 50 per cent of all persons reaching adult life showed evidences of tuberculosis.

And now our lung specialists tell us that every one of us actually has tuberculosis but that as our resistance is good it develops only in a limited number of people.

Now there is no question but that some ailments are more likely to attack some individuals than they are others, even although those attacked are careful, in fact more careful of their health than those not attacked. It would seem that some ailments seek out some individuals and give them a hard battle for their lives.

What is the explanation of this?

One explanation is that an ancestor or ancestors of one had such a severe attack of some ailment that his tissues developed great strength in fighting off that particular ailment and that type of tissue has been handed down, thus enabling him to resist that particular ailment.

However, in penumonia it would appear that this does not get handed down. In fact an attack of pneumonia often predisposes the individual to more attacks.

What is my thought?

That if pneumonia organisms are always in you that the only thing that will enable you to give pneumonia a real fight is a strong heart. Trying to pump blood through congested lungs is a severe task on the heart, and if you can continue to do it until the crisis is past, your chance for recovery is excellent.

And as you know the only way your heart can be kept strong is by a daily walk or other form of exercise. Nothing else can strengthen the heart.

Air pageants are London's latest.

Mrs. J. H. Dudgeon of St. James' Parsonage was the guest of honor at a farewell banquet given by the King's Own Bible Class and held in Wesley Hall last night. The class was well represented by more than thirty-five members and honorary members. The arrangement of the tables and dainty color scheme of coral and mauve made a charming and attractive interior. Fluted crepe streamers in the two colors over the snowy table foundation were supplemented by silver baskets of mauve lilacs and lilies of the valley. Community singing was the prelude to a very enjoyable musical program, over which Mrs. A. Davis, the president, presided. "The Garden of Roses" was sung with fine effect by Mrs. G. Bert Cutmore and little Miss Margaret Pitchford delighted everyone with her two humorous readings, "A Small Boy at the Dime Museum," and "Ma, Pa, and the Babe," giving as encores, "The Radio" and "Vespers." A pleasing vocal number by Miss Jennie Smart was "The Tumble-down Shack in Athlone," while a piano solo by Miss Edith McLaren was also well received. The feature of the program was the presentation of a lovely silver basket filled with rose tulips and mauve lilacs, to the guest of honor, Mrs. Dudgeon, by the King's Own Class, of which Mrs. Dudgeon has been the efficient and popular teacher. The gift was presented by Mrs. A. Davis, while the address was read by Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Dudgeon graciously responded, unselfishly disclaiming much of the credit accorded her by the class in this expression of their devotion. While the address was being autographed by the class members, all joined in singing "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." The evening also marked the close of a membership campaign and a "copper" contest, both of which had proved very successful to the King's Own. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered all who had assisted in making the evening such a happy success.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

JUST BETWEEN ...

NOW THAT white kid gloves are being worn at all of our important engagements, the matter of keeping them clean adds another problem to our daily worries!

• • • • • • •

Both time and money can be saved by home cleaning, and all that is necessary for the operation is a bottle of some preferred cleaning fluid, a large lambswool powder puff and some French chalk.

• • • • • • •

If the gloves are marked with perspiration a very little liquid white shoe cleaning fluid may be used as well.

• • • • • • •

Put the gloves on, one at a time, so that one hand is free to work over the gloved hand. Pour a little of the cleaning fluid on to the large puff, and rub the glove until the dirt is gone—of course, I don't mean to rub too vigorously.

• • • • • • •

The pressure of the puff on the glove surface brings the fluid to the surface, and it does not evaporate as it would if it were not held by the wool.

• • • • • • •

Next dip the puff into a saucer of French chalk. The slight moisture of the puff will make the chalk adhere well. Rub the chalked puff over the glove, renewing the chalk on it whenever it brushes off while it cleanses the glove and gives it that fine finish gloves have when they come from an expert cleanser's.

• • • • • • •

If there are perspiration marks, touch them lightly with a cloth moistened with the white shoe cleaning fluid. Be sure to shake the bottle well before moistening the cloth with the shoe polish, and do not put the fluid on any but the actual perspiration marks. The polish coats the marks, leaving them white. It does not do anything but whiten them, however.

• • • • • • •

The perspiration has already ruined the gloss of the gloves wherever it has left its marks, so no harm is done there. But this shows why the shoe polish should not be applied to places other than the perspiration marks. The rest of the gloves themselves will be restored to their accustomed whiteness and retain the desirable gloss.

• • • • • • •

This method is, of course, if the gloves are soiled very much. If on returning from some event where the white gloves have been worn, the gloves are gently wiped off with some one of the many agents that has proven satisfactory, it will be found a great help.

• • • • • • •

After the soiled parts have been wiped, lay the gloves in a box dusted with powdered chalk. Sprinkle a little of the chalk over the gloves. The combination of the cleaning and the chalk will make the kid like new when the gloves are again taken out to be worn. They should, of course, be shaken well before wearing.

WEDDING BELLS

ROBINSON—CHAMBERS

Helen Irene, only daughter of Mrs Eva Chambers and the late Mr. Edwin Chambers, was married quietly at one o'clock to-day at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, to Stanley Robinson, of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Robinson of Hamilton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. Allan. The organ gallery was arranged with spring flowers and ferns and Mr. M. B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Verne Chambers of Windsor, wore an exquisite frock of gleaming eggshell satin, made in sleeveless style, with long lines and flaring skirt draperies that were longer in back. She wore a matching hat of lace and mohair, long white kid gloves and slippers of eggshell crepe with matching hose. Her only ornament was a rope of pearls and her bouquet was of red Templar roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Nellie Francis, was in blue georgette with hat, shoes and hose to match. She carried a bouquet of yellow Coolidge roses.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the future home of the bride, "Cozy Cot" on the Monaghan Road, where decorations were carried out with bouquets of tulips and iris, and a buffet luncheon was served.

McCONKEY—FEELEY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at eight o'clock this morning by the Rev. P. Costello, in the sanctuary of St. Peter's Cathedral, when Almeara Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Feeley of Park street, became the bride of Norman Walter McConkey of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. McConkey of Roscommon, Michigan.

The wedding music was played by Miss Lillian Hurley, and Mrs. J. Dwyer sang during the progress of the Nuptial Mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white crepe romain, made in princess style, with long sleeves and rounded neckline and applied floral motifs of white satin on back and front. Her large hat was of white mohair trimmed with velvet ribbon. She wore short white silk gloves, white kid slippers and white silk hose and the gift of the bridegroom, a necklace of pearls and white sapphires. Her bouquet was a shower of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley.

The bridesmaid, Miss Clara Weisher of New York City, was in a frock of French chiffon in pale orchid shade, with large hat of lavender mohair trimmed with velvet ribbon, and slippers, hose and gloves in eggshell tint. She wore the gift of the bridegroom, a brilliant-studded bracelet, and carried a bouquet of red Premier roses.

Mr. Fred O'Brien acted as best man and ushers were Mr. Alphonse Feeley and Mr. Robert Armitage.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, where decorations were carried out with streamers and bells of pink and white over a table centred by the bride's cake and arranged with tall pink candles in silver holders and vases of bridal wreath and bleeding hearts.

This afternoon, Mr. McConkey and his bride left by motor for a trip to Toronto and Detroit, to reside in Peterborough on their return. The bride travelled in an ensemble of rose henna flat crepe with eggshell vestee, hat of eggshell straw trimmed with ribbon, and matching accessories. She wore a cinnamon fox fur scarf.

The young bride received a large number of beautiful gifts, including a shower of handsome things from the Alumnae of St. Joseph's Hospital, of which she was a member.

Scotland has started a campaign against fakirs who promise positions to applicants on payments of a small fee, and make no effort to fulfill the promise.

Cogs Blank Bethany 2 to 0 In Fast Fixture

SINGLE HIT BY CORBETT INTO CENTRE FIELD WITH TWO MEN ON WINS VICTORY FOR COGS

NIP AND TUCK AFFAIR.

Fielding Errors at Critical Moments Smother Chances For Victory.

A clean hard hit single into centre field by Corbett with two men on bases in the fifth innings of last night's duel between Bethany and the Cognawagas gave the latter a 2-0 victory over Doc Hamilton's stalwarts from the mountain village.

The game was a nip and tuck struggle from start to finish and until the fifth innings was anybody's battle, due mostly to the much improved brand of ball dished up by Ralph, the Bethany hurler, who, together with his team-mates, made valiant efforts to redeem themselves in the eyes of fandom for the lopsided defeat handed them by the Cogs on Victoria Day. Fielding errors however, coming at a critical period smothered their chances of victory, while Billingsley, left handed ace for the Cogs, kept the hits well scattered and his teammates backed him up with superb fielding to further reduce their chances.

Effective in Pinches

Billingsley was very effective in the pinches, twice retiring the third man by the strike-out route with the bases loaded and in the sixth innings only pitched three balls to retire the side, the runners being thrown out at first after connecting with the first ball thrown.

Murdock, who played shortstop for Bethany making his debut in the East Peterborough League, turned in a great game, securing a two bagger and executing two spectacular catches, chief of which came in the first innings when he gathered in Cuthbertson's high fly while running backwards.

Smith in left field for the losers was also very effective and handled every hit cleanly.

The Play

Murdock, lead off man for Bethany, planted a long fly in centre field for two bases but died there when his team-mates went out in order. McGill filed to Cripps. Philips rolled to Billingsley and Ryley fanned.

Cogs—Williams was safe when Murdock fumbled his grounder; Billingsley sacrificed, Phelps to Dawe; Murdock made a sensational catch of Cuthbertson's high fly and also picked off Rooke's line drive.

2nd Innings

Dawe was out on a roller to Billingsley. Rooke dropped the throw from Cuthbertson on Smith's grounder and the runner was safe but was caught stealing second. Ralph was thrown out by Williams.

Starr was out, Cuthbertson to Rooke. Vinette's Texas Leaguer was good for one base. Murdock filed to Cripps. McGill hit through short but Cripps' clean throw from left field to the plate caught Vinette cold and the side was out.

Cogs—Baker walked. Smith made a nice running catch of Williams' high drive. Billingsley sacrificed and Cuthbertson whiffed.

Fourth Innings

Bethany had a good chance to score in this innings when, with one out, Ryley placed a hit into left and Dawe and Smith were passed, to load the bases. Billingsley came through without much trouble however, by fanning Ralph and Starr popped to Rooke.

Cogs—Rooke filed to Smith and Corbett whiffed. Wilson doubled into centre, going to third when Philips fumbled Cripps' roller. Grant walked, putting three on but Baker struck out.

Fifth Innings

Vinette was safe when Williams fumbled his grounder. Murdock sacrificed. McGill hit into centre. Corbett took Philips' grounder and threw Vinette out at the plate. Ryley walked loading the bases. Dawe struck out.

Cogs—Williams was out on a short hit to Ralph. Billingsley was thrown out by Ryley. Cuthbertson was hit. Rooke grounded to Philips, but was safe when Dawe dropped the ball. Corbett singled in centre, scoring Cuthbertson and Rooke. Wilson walked. Cripps was safe when threw slow to Dawe but Corbett was out coming home.

Sixth Innings

Cogs—Grant hit into centre. Baker fanned. Philips took Williams' grounder and caught Grant at second. Billingsley was passed but Cuthberson fanned.

Seventh Innings

Vinette rolled to Corbett. Murdock fanned and McGill was also thrown out by Corbett.

Above is a layout showing Sir Thomas, his pride, Shamrock V.; the famous silver jug he covets so much; and the United States yacht which first took away the trophy from Britain many years ago.

FOUR TIE FOR MEDAL HONORS IN WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT

MRS. BENNETT COPS PRIZE.

OSHAWA, Ont., June 3. — Players representing Toronto clubs secured most of the honors of the eighteen-hole qualifying round of the twenty-first annual Provincial ladies' golf tourney over the course of the local club yesterday when 114 entrants, representing clubs from Sarnia and Windsor in the West, Port Hope in the East, and Barrie in the North, competed.

Almost half the competitors were from Toronto, including three former winners of the title. Miss Ada Mackenzie of the Ladies' Club, Miss Cecil Smith and Mrs. E. W. Wittington, both of the Toronto Golf Club. The 1929 champion, Miss Maude Smith, was prevented from appearing in defence of her title through illness.

Miss Mackenzie took the place of Miss Maude Smith as a partner to Mrs. Bennett in the qualifying round, although she notified the committee before starting that she did not intend to compete during the remainder of the week, and she was not seeking the honors of the qualifying round. She and Mrs. Bennett, who was defeated by Miss Mackenzie in the final for the Canadian ladies' close title last September, were the first pair to finish and they handed in cards of 86 which were equalled soon afterwards by Mrs. Wittington and Mrs. T. J. Agar of Mississauga.

These four scores withstood all attacks, the closest threat being an 89 by Miss Winnifred Robinson of St. Catharines. Later in the day the four players played off the tie over the 18-hole route and Miss Mackenzie by means of a 36 coming home had the best score with an 85, a total for the 36 holes of 171. Mrs. Bennett was second with 88, Mrs. Whittington had a 90, and Mrs. Agar a 92, Mrs. Bennett winning the gross score prize and Mrs. Whittington taking second prize.

CANTRELL TO START AGAINST RED WINGS

Rochester Meets Toronto in Double-header on Latter's Grounds To-day.

TORONTO, June 3. — Both the Rochester and Toronto teams arrived in the city yesterday morning via boat and most of the players spent the afternoon at Thorncliffe watching the jockeys "boot 'em in." This afternoon at the Stadium the Leafs and Red Wings will engage in a double header. It will be Rochester's first appearance of the season here. The Wings come back again for a two-game series next Monday and Tuesday.

Hoping to get off to a good start in this afternoon's bill, Manager O'Neill will pitch Guy Cantrell in the first game. The Toronto pilot hasn't decided just who will pitch the second game. The Toronto pitching staff has been bumped hard and often during the past week, particularly the men counted upon to turn in an effective performance. Cantrell, Graham and Prudhomme have been beaten in recent starts and it may be that Fisher or Harrison will be called upon to face the champions in the second game of to-day's double-header.

Clancy Says Montreal Rumor Is Incorrect

OTTAWA, June 3.—King Clancy today branded as incorrect published reports that he had been in conference with Dunc Munro, manager of the Montreal Maroons. He was in Montreal over the week-end on a purely pleasure trip, Clancy said.

William Foran, President of the Ottawa Hockey Association, told the Citizen this afternoon that a deal involving Clancy had not even been discussed with the officials of the Maroon hockey team.

Herman on the Top; Big Six Bats Silent

TORONTO, June 3. — The bats of the Big Six of the major leagues were silent yesterday as an off day on the schedule left only one game in the two circuits. Frank O'Doul was the only one of the sextette to see a ball game, and he sat on the bench, nursing minor injuries, as the Phillies defeated the Cardinals 9 to 6. As the result, Babe Herman maintained his position at the top of the percentage column with a .417 average.

BIRDS LEADING THE LEAGUE BY TWO FULL GAMES

Baltimore Club Has Won Twelve of Their Last Fifteen Games.

HERD IN SECOND PLACE.

Bunch Hits Off Pomorski to Take 5-4 Decision From Royals

Slowly but surely the Baltimore Orioles are forging into a safe lead in the International League.

While their four leading rivals have been cutting each other down, the Orioles, playing the teams in the lower end of the standing, have won 12 of their last 15 games and now lead the race by two full games. All of these games have been with Newark, Jersey City and Reading, who occupy the three last positions in the standing.

Jersey City was the Orioles' victim again yesterday, 15 to 4. The leaders jumped on George Grant for five runs in the first inning and, with the game apparently lost, Grant was left in the box until the finish. All told he was pounded for 20 hits, including doubles by Stroner, Stewart, Sand, McGowan and Hauser, a triple by Sand and a home run by Gill. Grant struck out eight men but those he didn't fan, it seemed, got hits. Richmond pitched steady ball for the Orioles, granting only eight hits.

Buffalo regained second place with a 5—4 victory over Montreal, who fell into third place. The Bisons bunched hits off Pomorski for two runs in the first inning and three more in the fifth, while Mangum was effective all the way. The Royals rallied for two runs in the ninth, but Mangum applied the brakes before the tying run could score.

Keys Beat Newark

In the only other league game of the day, Reading beat Newark, 19 to 14, in one of the wildest hitting bees of the season. Each club made 20 hits and seven pitchers were pounded all over the lot. Reading's hit collection included four doubles, a triple and two home runs against Newark's six doubles, a triple and a home run.

Reading led 14 to 8 at the end of seven innings, but scored the winning runs in the eighth when five tallies crossed the plate. Newark came back in the ninth with six runs but that served only to make the final score a little more respectable than it might otherwise have been. Jones, Reading third baseman, took away most of the hitting honors with two doubles, a triple and two singles in six trips to the plate.

SLIPPING CARDS FALL TO PHILS

9-6 Victory Lifts Philadelphia Club Half Game Closer to Seventh Place.

OFF-DAY IN MAJORS.

(By Herbert W. Barker)

The lowly Phils, battling to get out of the cellar, have turned back the first western assault in the National League this season.

While all other major league clubs rested yesterday in preparation for general east-west engagements, the Phils outslugged the St. Louis Cardinals at Philadelphia 9-6, in a preliminary skirmish of intersectional warfare.

The victory lifted the Phils a half game closer to seventh place, while the Cards, league leaders not long ago, now hold a lead of only one game over the fourth place Pittsburg Pirates and trail the second place Cubs by one full game.

The Cardinals apparently had yesterday's battle won as early as the first inning when Chick Haffey hit Collins for a home run with two on, bringing the total count for the inning to four runs. The Cards touched Collins for two more runs in the fifth but could do nothing at all with Ace Elliott who relieved him in the seventh. Billy Hallahan, the Cards' speedball ace, sailed along smoothly for three innings but the Phils reached him for pairs of runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

Entering the seventh, the Cards held a two-run lead but Hallahan was driven out of the box in the last half of that frame as the Phils rushed into the lead with three runs.

Bell pitched the rest of the game and was nicked for two more runs in the eighth. Whitney was the batting star of the day with two doubles and two singles.

The American league scored two victories over the national in exhibition games. The New York Yankees defeated Cincinnati, 8-5, and the Philadelphia Athletics conquered Pittsburg.

HIGH-CLASS PACERS IN BELLEVILLE RACE

Bud Grattan, Record Maker at Dufferin Park Last Year, Will Race.

BELLEVILLE, June 3.—One of the best field of pacers ever to face a starter in Eastern Ontario is in Belleville today for the meet that will be held under the auspices of the Belleville Agricultural Society on the King's birthday. Clifford Chapman of Penetang is here with Gentry Todd, Bud Grattan, the sensational pacer, which brought $2,500 last fall at the Dufferin. R. Neely of Sarnia has shipped in with these three, also R. E. Scott, who recently owned those two pacers, Lady Helen and Jerry the Tramp, who will campaign over the big time this season. Mr. Scott has a couple of sisters of Lady Helen in his string, as well as the good sidewheeler, Princess Audrey. Eddie Jones, the noted teamster, of Peterborough, is on hand with Jack Abbe and Eleanor May, the latter of Grattan Royal descent. The track is in the finest condition, and the track record of 2.09¼ will likely be broken. Alderman George O. Tice will officiate as started. Most of the horses here will ship to Quebec and the Maritimes for the summer's racing. Many of them are entered in the fast stakes in that district.

When the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra recently made its first appearance in London in 24 years it was heard by an audience of 6,000.

KIWANIS EASILY BEAT EAST CITY

FINAL COUNT 13-4.

A barrage of hits, many errors and wild running on the bases accounted for the Kiwanis' 13-4 victory over the East City Holy Name Juniors in the second fixture of the City Baseball League at James Stevenson Park last night. Collecting five runs in the first, one each in the second, third and fourth, two in the fifth and three in the sixth, the clubmen had no difficulty in copping the decision.

The winners showed superiority in nearly every department, and for the most part played a close checking game, while their opponents were wide open. Foley, Hall, Huggins and Sproats scored two runs respectively for the winners, while Saunders, Mesley and Hillier brought in one each.

Spectacular catches of the game were made by McGillen and Kay for the East City juniors, McGillen topping off a long drive by Sproats into centre field in the first of the sixth, while "Big Boy" Kay caught more than one off first base by timely work.

Craig scored the first run of the losers in the second frame when on gaining first on a walk, later advancing he slid on Burke's long drive to centre field. Craig again tallied the second counter in two base hit over the second baseman's head he gained third and home on two passed balls. He also scored the third run. Kay brought in the last tally after gaining first on a short drive into centre field; he stole second and third, later to romp home on a passed ball.

FRANKIE GENARO IN GOOD FORM

TITLE BOUT TUESDAY.

TORONTO, June 3.—Frankie Genaro of New York, who is recognized by the N.B.A. as the holder of the world's flyweight title, will complete his training in New York on Wednesday and will arrive here on Friday morning to taper off his preparations for the championship bout against Frenchy Belanger at the Coliseum a week from to-night. On Thursday Genaro will visit the training camp of Max Schmeling, the German contender for the world's heavyweight title, who is also managed by Joe Jacobs, who holds Genaro's contract. New York advices are that Genaro is in the best of shape but he will have to be as Belanger has trained for this bout as he has never trained before, and it has not been a last minute preparation. The local boy has been working steadily for the last three months and Ben Stockley who runs the gym where the local boxers train, states that he has never seen a boxer train as well and as faithfully as has Belanger. Stockley, like a number of other critics, thinks that the local boy has a good chance to regain the world's title which he lost to Genaro.

Softball Notes.

To-night's softball bill at Central School grounds should provide the fans with a great bill. Harrisons and Westclox will be the opposing teams, and will have their best lineups out.

Harrisons need to-night's game to get in the league running, while a win for Westclox will put them on top of the heap, tied with the C.G.E. Manager Beckerman will likely send Darling, his big left-handed speed ball artist in to pitch in an attempt to win the argument, or he may give Curry at try at it. Manager Harrison will send Carruthers to the mound for his aggregation, with Montgomery in reserve.

The game will start at 6.15 sharp and should draw a bumper crowd.

One Wednesday night Brintons and Sugar Bowl will be the opposing teams at the school grounds.

EPSOM DERBY ODDS

AFFILIATION IS DISCUSSED

Soccer Executive Is Unanimous in Decision That They Should Join O.F.A.

DELEGATES APPOINTED.

The foremost question before the local soccer fans at present is: Shall the Peterborough and District Association become affiliated with the parent body, Ontario Football Association? After many interesting debates between the executive members and the clubs representaties, they came to the unanimous verdict that they will never get anywhere in the scientific code unless they are affiliated.

One member explained that he had a conversation with the President of the Oshawa Nationals in reference to a game in Peterborough. Mr. Miller, President of the Nationals was very anxious that they have a game in this city but he was informed by the Ontario members present at the formal meeting that they were not affiliated, therefore could not play the suggested game.

Many other revelations in the methods that had been adopted to foster the code always found the affiliation question the barrier to progress. Some members were anxious to get affiliated right away while others preferred that it be left to the annual meeting.

The club representatives were instructed to inform their clubs and report back at the next meeting whether they were in favor of joining or not.

Peterborough will be entitled to a member on the executive of the Ontario council. He would have power to vote on all questions and he would receive all expenses incurred in attending the said board.

Delegates Appointed

Dressing accommodation at King Edward Park proved to be the vital topic of interest amongst the executive members. It was decided that the association send two delegates to the City Council along with the delegate from the Horseshoe Executive. Fred Sutcliffe and Alex. McKinley being appointed to meet Dan Campbell of the Horseshoe body and attend the meeting of the council so as to get proper sanitary accommodation to offset the nuisance at the playing field. They will endeavour to get the council to give them facilities that they have not at present.

Game Saturday

The Canadian General and the Canadian Packing meet in an important league game on Saturday afternoon on King Edward Park at three o'clock. Referee, James Hawthorne. All referees must hand in their official reports.

Players Registered

Alex. Robertson and W. E. Boon were registered as players for the Brinton Athletic. Two very valuable members of the Canadian General return again to the old colors, namely Jack McMaster, who has just returned from England, and Joseph Bolton who occupied the position of goal-keeper two seasons ago.

Buried To Neck Man Is Fed While Police Dig Him Out

Boiler Explosion Wrecks Building And Buries Aged Engineer

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 3. (C.P.) Buried to his neck in the wreckage of a building demolished by a boiler explosion, John Terczski, 65, a stationary engineer, was fed restoratives for more than two hours today while police and fire emergency squads dug him out.

During the two hours and a half required to dig him out, an ambulance surgeon administered stimulants to keep up his strength. At Queensboro Hospital he was found to be suffering from a fracture of the skull and a broken leg.

Because of the number of fatal accidents near Handcross, England, on the London-Brighton road, plans are being made to build a mortuary there.

C.G.E. LEADING SOFTBALL LOOP

RETAIN EARLY LEAD.

The C.G.E. softball team having recovered from their encounter with Westclox last week, beat Brinton Carpet 'nine' in a 6-4 game at the latter's sports field last evening.

Last night's win puts the C.G.E. in first place in the league standing.

Fast ball was played throughout, there being consistent form displayed by both teams.

Twirling for the 'Generals' Nicholls gave a nice exhibition of pitching, and was probably wholly responsible for the fact that the Brintons were unable to score more heavily. He had four strikeouts during the progress of the tussle and kept the opposing team in a state of expectancy, not knowing what kind of ball he intended pitching next.

Sturgeon, occupying the mound against the C.G.E., made three strikeouts and walked one man to first.

The 'Generals' made four runs in the first innings as against Brintons one run, while at the seventh frame the score stood at 6-2. Two men died on the paths in the Brinton's half of the eighth, after which they made a desperate attempt in the last moments of the game to even up the score and succeeded in making their other two runs. A splendid catch by McDonagh at centre field, robbed the Brintons of another possible run and put out C. Shaughnessy on first base, as well as the batsman.

The line up:

Brintons—Creighton, 3b; Corbett, 1b; Maudsley, lf; C. Shaughnessy, 2b; Dundas, rf; S. Shaughnessy, ss; Rose, cf; Jones, c; Sturgeon, p.

C.G.E.—Webb, ss; Wilson, 3b; Ashmore, c; Calladine, 1b; Miller, lg; Routley, rf; O'Toole, 3b; McDonagh, cf; Nicholls, p.

Score by innings:

Brintons	100001002—4
C.G.E.	400000200—6

Umpire-in-chief, Ted Lebarr; Ray Bennett on bases.

PREMIER MACDONALD WELCOMES PRESS DELEGATES TO BRITAIN

"We Are Not Philosophers, We Are Nation of Action," He Says.

CO-OPERATION NECESSARY.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 3.—Individuality and co-operation—Premier Ramsay MacDonald urged them today as the guiding stars of the British Commonwealth of Nations. On behalf of the British government Mr. Macdonald was bidding the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference welcome. To philosophers, said Mr. Macdonald, the two words, individuality and co-operation, represented separate conceptions but "we are not philosophers; we are men of action".

"And in our commonwealth of nations", Mr. Macdonald proceeded, "our strife and striving to be nations must not allow us to overlook the equally important thing and strive to be and to maintain ourselves as a community. The imperial conference is going to meet again and these problems will come before us; how to merge national freedom with commonwealth spirit of rule into the commonwealth and as an empire and yet hold out the hand of family helpfulness to the rest of the world.

"That is our problem. If you and I can succeed in helping our generation to solve that problem—you in your way and I in mine—if we can conspire to effect the solution of that problem we shall have done something great to make the name and fame of our commonwealth good in the eyes of the world."

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S TOOTH TRICK.

Uncle Wiggily reached the Hollow Stump Bungalow just as all the animal boys and girls ran out to play at recess, so none of them saw the rabbit gentleman hop in and make a low and polite bow to the Lady Mouse Teacher.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! How nice of you to come and visit us!" squeaked Miss Mouse, who was just going to nibble a bit of cheese as her recess luncheon.

"I didn't come to visit," spoke the old rabbit gentleman, taking care not to get in front of a window, where the children, playing in the school yard, might see him.

"No? You didn't come for a visit? Then why did you come?" asked Miss Mouse.

"I came to pull a tooth or to ask you the best way to take out a loose one," explained Mr. Longears.

"Dear me!" exclaimed the Lady Mouse putting her tiny paw over her little mouth. "I hope you aren't going to pull one of my teeth."

"Oh, no," Uncle Wiggily said with a laugh.

"Perhaps it is your own tooth, then?"

"No, I haven't any loose teeth, thank you," went on Mr. Longears. "It's my little boy Tootsie. He has a loose tooth that needs pulling, but, as always happens, he makes such a fuss about letting me take it out that I don't know what to do. I didn't want to hold him down and take it out that way, for he would scream and cry and that is unpleasant. So I thought you, knowing so much about children, could help me play a little tooth trick on Tootie."

"Perhaps I can," said the Lady Mouse with a smile as she ate the last of her cheese. "Let me think." After a while she said.

"I think this trick will work. As you say, Tootie has a loose tooth, and it's one of his front ones, easy to see and reach. For the last few days I have noticed that Tootie wouldn't take apple bites when the other children offered them to him."

"He was afraid of swallowing his tooth!" chuckled Mr. Longears.

"Yes, I suppose so," squeaked Miss Mouse. "Well, now the children will soon be in from recess, and if you don't want them to see you perhaps you had better hop out."

"I will," agreed Mr. Longears. "For if Tootie saw me in school he would guess that I came here about his tooth and he might run home."

"Go hide back of the school in the grove of pine trees," went on the Lady Mouse, as she got ready to ring the bell to end recess. "When I call you come in and bring with you some sticky gm from one of the pine trees."

"Sticky pine gum, what for?" asked the rabbit.

"Why should I put sticky pine tree gum on the end of the blackboard pointer?" asked Mr. Longears.

"So you can pull out Tootie's loose tooth," was the answer. "I have just thought of a cute, little trick." Then the Lady Mouse whispered in Uncle Wiggily's ear and he didn't mind in the least that she tickled him. In fact he rather liked it.

Then the rabbit gentleman hopped out the back door of the school, hiding in the pine tree grove while the animal boys and girls hopped to their seats. Soom the Lady Mouse teacher said:

"Now, children, I am going to give you a letter lesson on the blackboard. I am going to print some letters on the board. Then I am going to ask a visitor to point them out with the long stick and I will see who of you best knows his letters. Step up here to the board, all those in the letter class."

Tootie was one of these and he was in the front row. Then Miss Mouse called to Uncle Wiggily who came in carrying the long pointer with some sticky pine gum on the end of it. Tootie and all the others were surprised to see Uncle Wigily in school, but it was too late, then for Tootie to do anything about it. Miss Mouse winked one eye to Mr. Longears and Uncle Wiggily pointed to a big letter O.

"What is that letter, Tootie!" he asked his little boy.

"That is O!" said Tootie, opening his mouth very wide as he had to in order to say the letter's name properly. And no sooner was Tootie's mouth open than Uncle Wiggily gently thrust in the pointer. He stuck the gum end on the little rabbit boy's loose tooth and in a second he had lifted it out.

"There you are, Tootie!" cried his father. "There's your tooth!"

"Oh, how glad I am!" cried the bunny boy jumping for joy. And all the other children laughed and clapped their paws or their wings.

So that was the trick of the Lady Mouse.

Before Her Baby Came

"I have used several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find it helps me wonderfully, especially before childbirth. I have five lovely children. After my last baby came I had a miserable pain in my right side so I bought another bottle of the Compound and I feel fine now. I work outside during the fruit season in addition to my housework." — Mrs. Charles Slingerland, R.R. #4, St. Catherines, Ontario.

ALL SAINTS NEW HOLDERS OF THE A.Y.P.A. TROPHY

Silver Cup Competed For Annually By Anglican Young People's Associations of District.

IN DRAMATIC CONTEST.

Many People Attend Play-off Held in St. Paul's Church Parish Hall, Lindsay.

All Saints' A.Y.P.A. won the silver cup competed for annually by the Anglican Young People's Associations of the district, at the play-off in St. Paul's Anglican Church parish hall in Lindsay, last evening. They took the cup from St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. winners of last year's contest, by a narrow margin of five points. The judges were Miss Cathleen McCarthy for St. Luke's; J. H. Primeau for All Saints, and E. V. Morphet, neutral judge. Mr. Morphet announced the decision and Miss McCarthy presented the cup to Miss Dorothy Worboy, director of all Saints' play, "Say It With Taffy." The one-act play presented by St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. was entitled "The Cure All".

There was a large attendance of Lindsay and Peterborough people at the play-off, which is always watched with much interest by the Anglican church members of the city and district. Instituted four years ago, the cup see-sawed annually ever since between St. Luke's and All Saints' A.Y.P.A., each capturing it for the second time, in turn.

The program opened with a few appropriate words by Canon Marsh of St. Paul's Church, Lindsay, and several entertaining piano duetts played by Miss Stella Graham and Miss Edith Holmes of Lindsay. The announcements were made by Miss Queenie Hope, chairman of the Dramatic committee. At the conclusion of the plays, the ladies of the Lindsay church served dainty refreshments to their visitors. Prior to this a half hour was spent in a District A.Y.P.A. meeting conducted by the president, Miss Dorothy Worboy, when various matters of business were discussed. Thanks to all taking part in the contests, to the various branches which had entertained the contestants and to the judges, were also voiced at this meeting.

Members of the cast of St. Luke's play were as follows: Mrs. Floyd Curtis, Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, Miss Annie Simmons, Messrs. Ray Pammett, Herb. Lee and Tom Montgomery, with Cecil Hope as director.

The cast for All Saints' play included: Miss Dorothy Worby, Miss Ena Young, Jim Morley, W. Hope and Jack Hope. Miss Worboy directed the play.

The appointment of James Fordyce Strickland, member of the Ontario Legislature for Peterborough city, to the King's Counsel for Ontario was announced last night in a King's birthday honor list by Attorney-General William H. Price at Toronto. The list comprised of twenty-one names.

With Mr. Strickland's appointment, there are now six King's Counsellors resident in this city. The others are: F. D. Kerr, R. R. Hall, Hon. G. N. Gordon, E. H. D. Hall and S. T. Medd. The late G. W. Hatton, who died last year, was a King's Counsellor.

Mr. Strickland is one of two on the present list of appointees who are members of the Ontario Legislature. The other is Alexander Laurence Shaver, member for North Wentworth.

Two Crown attorneys, Messrs. Anderson and Dyre, are included in the honored list, and two police magistrates, Messrs. Lawlor and Watt. Mr. Redden is a member of the English firm of solicitors, Messrs. Blake and Redden, and is agent for the Province in most of its cases before the Privy Council. Mr. Plaxton is one of a family of six lawyers. His father, also a K.C., died last year. Two of the new appointees, Messrs. Lee and McCullough, can point as far back as 1886 to their graduation in law.

There are approximately 225 King's Counsel in Ontario at the present time who were appointed prior to 1926, and 190 who have been appointed since that time. There were three more appointments on the 1929 list than on this year's Attorney-General Price stated yesterday that according to policy the list had to be kept down and the department guided to a considerable extent by the losses suffered by the law profession each preceding year.

As far as it could be ascertained, he said, the King's Counsel who had died since June 1, 1929, were: J. M. Clarke, Toronto; P. H. Drayton, Toronto; David Fasken, Toronto; Sir John Gibson, Hamilton; J. A. Macdonnell, Alexandria; R. R. McKessock, Sudbury; G. W. Hatton, Peterborough; Alex Mills, Toronto; Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, Toronto; M. J. O'Reilly, Hamilton; C. W. Plaxton, Toronto; E. Guss Porter, Belleville; F. W. Thistlethwaite, L'Original; R. I. Towers, Toronto; H. S. White, Toronto, and John A. Patterson, Toronto.

Mr. Strickland was born at Fordyce Corners, Quebec, son of James and Lilliam Helen Strickland, both of Cornwall, Ontario. He was educated in the public and high schools of Cornwall and studied at Osgoode Hall in the class of the year 1915. He read law with Pringle and Smith of Cornwall. Before opening his own practice in Peterborough which he still continues, he was associated with Bennett and Goodwill of this city.

In 1917 Mr. Strickland went to England with the 236th Battalion and was later identified with the 3rd Reserve Battalion. He saw active service in France with the 4th Battalion.

ROLLINS FAMILY HOLDS RE-UNION

Several Hundred Descendants of Mr. and Mrs. George Rollins Meet in Tweed.

IN CANADA SINCE 1848.

TWEED, June 3—The fifth annual reunion of the Rollins family, prominent in Hastings County for more than three-quarters of a century, was held here to-day.

Several hundred descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Rollins, even to the fourth generation, assembled in Tweed's fine new park on Lake Stoco, commemorating under ideal picnic conditions the lives of a pioneer family whose contribution to this district and country has steadily expanded in numbers and service with the passing years.

The original George Rollins came to Canada from Ireland and settled at Ivanhoe in 1848. Representatives of that family of eighty years ago were present to-day from many sections of Hastings County, Madoc, Tweed, Stirling, Frankford, Queensboro, Holloway, Belleville, Ivanhoe; also Toronto, Orillia and remoter cities including Schnectady.

The reunion dinner in the park pavilion was a feature of to-day's picnic, and was followed in the afternoon by a program of games and races.

S. B. Rollins of Tweed has been treasurer of the family association during the last year.

SEEK CHANGE IN HOSPITAL TRUST

Nicholls Hospital By-law May Soon Be Put to Protestant Ratepayers.

AGREEMENT REACHED.

In regard to the proposed $300,000 addition and improvements to the Nicholls Hospital, the Hospital Board and the City Council appear to have reached an understanding. It was agreed that if the Council submits a by-law to provide the sum of $300,000 for the hospital addition to the Protestant ratepayers, then the Hospital Board will apply to the Provincial Legislature to amend the Act of Incorporation of the Nicholls Hospital Trust. This change is sought to permit the Council to appoint the Mayor and several aldermen as representatives on the Hospital Board.

The following letter from the Hospital Board, explaining the agreement, was read at the Council meeting last night, and was referred to the Finance Committee without discussion:—

"Pursuant to the meeting, held on Wednesday, May 3, last between the Mayor and members of the City Council and the Nicholls Hospital Board, the Board desires to confirm the understanding mutually agreed upon at that meeting, viz.: That upon the City Council agreeing to submit, and the Protestant Ratepayers ratifying a by-law to provide the sum of $300,000 or more, for additions and betterments to the Nicholls Hospital, the Hospital Board will apply to the Provincial Legislature for an amendment to the existing act of incorporation of the Nicholls Hospital Trust to permit the City Council to appoint to the Hospital Board, in addition to the Mayor, three or four representatives of the City Council (three preferred as more nearly conforming to the three-year period now enjoyed by the Board) and that, for the purpose of securing a favorable consideration of such amendment by the Legislature, the City Council and Hospital Board will confer as to details of method of appointment of such additional members to the Board.

"We would respectfully request the City Council to pass such resolution as may be necessary to give effect to the matters stated above.

PREPARE TO RETURN.

IGNACE, Ont., June 3 (Canadian Press). — Refugees from fire-harassed points along the Canadian Pacific Railway in North-west Ontario today prepared to return to their homes. A heavy pall of black clouds hung over the forest-fire zone, unmoved in the still calm which came suddenly in the wake of terrific winds during the last few days.

Women and children who fled from Dyment, 50 miles west of Ignace, were ready to move back to where the men-folks have been battling the flames for days at Dinorwic and Dryden, points a few miles west of Dyment, conditions have been proportionally less threatening. Residents south of Dinorwic have fled the flames, but neither town has been yet damaged.

SAYS INDIA LOYAL

Rev. J. W. R. Netram Now in Canada as Guest of Mission Board.

Rev. J. W. Richards Netram, writer of the following article, is a native-born son of India, who at present is in Canada as a guest of the board of foreign missions of the United Church. For the past four years he has been editor of the Hindi Village Teachers' Journal and clerk of the Synod of Gujart, Rajputana and Central India of the United Church of Northern India. He has travelled extensively throughout India as Dr. Stanley Jones' Indian colleague in addressing mass meetings, particularly of the educated classes.

REV. J. W. RICHARDS NETRAM.

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1930)

TORONTO, June 3.—As I travel through Canada I encounter considerable misunderstanding about the state of affairs in India.

In reading the news one should recall that a little friction in a city like Bombay, which is one and one-half times as large as Montreal, does not affect the country at all. It takes a great deal to move a country the size of India with its population of 320,000,000.

It is almost impossible to talk of India in general terms. For example, in the month of May I can move to the freezing climate of the Himalayas or to the torrid parts of south India. One can, therefore, correctly say that in the month of May in India one freezes as well as sweats. India is a land of contradictions.

Knows Ghandi Personally

At this point I should perhaps present my own credentials by mentioning that I know Mahatma Gandhi personally, having been his guest at his institution and home at Sabarmati in Gujarat, and having followed his movement from its beginning. I have also met Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru, the president of the National Congress who is now in jail, and other leaders of India. In fact my work is primarily among the intelligentsia of India and, therefore, I happen to be in touch with the national movement and aspirations of India.

There are at the present time two great political parties in India and a number of smaller parties.

There is on the one hand Mahatma Gandhi and his party, called the Extremists. They have no use for the British government in India and are, therefore, asking for complete severance from the Empire. Opposing salt tax has been, for the present, chosen as the political plan for their propaganda, which, of course, is simply a matter of defying authority.

On the other hand there are the Liberals, who are all for Dominion status—some such form of government as Canada has—within the empire.

Then there are upwards of 600 native states ruled by Indian chiefs. Every one of them is loyal to the British government, largely because it offers them protection from outside invasions according to the terms of a treaty made with them when Great Britain took over the reins of Indian government in 1858. Of the people of India 72,000,000 live in these native states, which is about 4 per cent. of the area of India.

The 70,000,000 Mohammedans of India have not joined Mahatma Gandhi in his present movement since they fear that if India got the kind of home rule that Mahatma Gandhi is advocating they would be swamped by a Hindu majority. The religious principles of the Hindus and the Mohammedans are opposed to each other, and this makes it hard for the two parties to unite, especially since there is little that is common between the two.

Necessary For Merchant.

Then again there are the merchant classes of India. The business man knows that he cannot carry on successfully under chaotic conditions and since the British Government has proved so efficient in maintaining peace and order in the country, he is loyal to it. India holds the jute market of the world; she also sends a large amount of raw cotton to Manchester and has business in hardware with Birmingham, etc. The United States of America and Australia also have dealings with India.

Add to these various sections the masses settled on the soil, the illiterate farmers and the 50,000,000 "untouchables" of India, who have learned from experience that they can always get better justice and more fair play from a British law court than they can ever hope to obtain in the court of a native ruler. Naturally they are loyal to the British government.

From this analysis it may be seen what portion of the people of India is left for Mahatma Gandhi to work upon—mostly the student class. It is these young students who have followed Gandhi and who, together with the hooligans, come in conflict with police. There is, of course, in every country, a hooligan element. If there is a riot or scrap somewhere, it at once seizes that opportunity and makes capital of it.

Of course, I realize that there are among the followers of Mahatma Gandhi a number of fine and influential people, but the number is almost negligible.

I therefore conclude that there is no danger of a widespread rebellion or uprising in India. The British government has things well in hand. The fact that it allowed Mahatma Gandhi to go on with his propaganda for so many weeks unhampered is an indication of the confidence which the British Government has in itself.

Dominion status is the only reasonable form of government for India, and I think I am safe in saying that the large majority of India's people have no intention of going outside the British Empire. This form of government has been promised to us by the crown; it is simply a question of time.

As I study the situation in India I find that it will have to be a matter of devolution—a process of gradual withdrawal by the British government and gradual stepping in by the Indian government. This will take time.

But as India becomes ready for self-government it will automatically come to us. I have faith enough in the integrity of the British government to take their promises at their face value.

Fires Wipe Out Whole Settlements

MANY HOMELESS IN FIRE SWEPT NORTHERN BUSH

Pass Lake Settlement is Completely Wiped Out By Forest Fires.

RAIN IN SOME DISTRICTS.

Homesteaders Lose All They Have—Families Have Narrow Escapes.

(By Elmer Dulmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

POROT ARTHUR, Ont., June 4.—Destruction that raised property loss from bush fires in Ontario's Northwest thousands of dollars left more than a dozen families of Pass Lake 25 miles east of Port Arthur, homeless yesterday.

Meagre reports of a roaring blaze that suddenly burst upon the little settlement late in the afternoon and burned out farm houses homesteads and farm structures before it could be checked, were received here today.

Several families were being taken care of by neighbors previous to the fire yesterday, conflagrations earlier in the week having taken toll of homes.

Homesteads Are Lost

Homesteads of William Bay, Paul Dahl and Andrew Miller were lost before half a hundred volunteer fire fighters could steer the fires course away from the group of buildings that comprises the settlement.

They had only one pump and were without telephone or telegraph communication with the lake head. Pass lake is in an isolated position.

Not more than 30 miles distant from Hurkett where heavy rains fell last night Bass Lake is believed to have shared in the fall and Forestry Department heads were confident that the town is not threatened further today.

Ontario's Forestry Department was ready today to push its battle of forest flames into new ground.

$140,179 TOTAL SUM SUBSCRIBED IN 'Y' CAMPAIGN

W. R. Blackwell Is Asked to Prepare the Final Plans For Building.

JORDAN PRAISES CITY.

A total of $140,179 was reported to the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. at a special meeting last night as the net result of last week's building fund drive to date by Thomas R. Jordan, international secretary of the Y.M.C.A., under whose supervision the campaign was staged. Several subscriptions received since the close of the drive last Thursday night were included in the sum.

With the hearing of Mr. Jordan's report the campaign was officially wound up. The directors passed a motion authorizing W. R. Blackwell, the architect who drew up the original plans for the addition, to go ahead as fast as possible with the final plans so that the first tenders may be called for at an early date. An endeavour will be made to have the work on the addition far enough advanced by the winter so that it may be closed in and the construction work continued.

Praise for Peterborough as a city and its peoples was voiced by Mr. Jordan speaking to the directors. "When I came to your city I was greatly impressed by its beautiful homes, its churches and its public buildings. It was an indication to me that there was money here. When I met some of the business men of the city I sensed a spirit of progressiveness in the city and felt that like all progressive cities it would be ready to meet its needs and would respond to the campaign.

"I think you have one of the nicest and cleanest of cities and I hope that you men appreciate it. Certainly a fine spirit was shown by the general public in their response to our enterprise."

Co-operation.

In his report Mr. Jordan urged that the local association co-operate as closely as possible with the national organization of the Y.M.C.A., saying that through such co-operation mistakes that have been made in other fields can be avoided here.

Referring to the campaign organization, he said: "If I were to mention all deserving of special mention I would have to include everyone who had a hand in this campaign.

"I want to record my very favourable impression of the splendid work which the local association has done and is doing even with limited facilities under the direction of your very efficient general secretary and staff," he continued.

"Having seen the boys and young men of your city I am greatly impressed with the fine opportunity afforded the Peterborough association to render a very practical and permanent service which will mean much to the future citizenship of Peterborough."

He told the directors that the campaign organization with which he worked on the drive was as fine a one as he has encountered in his work, and expressed gratitude for their support.

To Give Best Value.

In moving that Mr. Jordan's report be accepted, Joseph Wearing lauded Mr. Jordan for his efficiency and industry in supervising the campaign. With reference to the sum raised, he said: "We are going to handle this money so as to give the subscribers the very best value for

FIRST INTEREST OF CANADIANS IS SAFEGUARDING PRODUCERS

2,500,000 DEPENDENT.

TORONTO, Ont., June 4 (C.P.).—When proper safeguarding of the interests of Canadian producers, whether industrial or agricultural, is assured, every practical plan to increase trade among British countries should be supported, declares the official statement on British Empire trade, adopted by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the annual meeting here this afternoon. The statement was read by John T. Stirrett, general secretary of the Association, and adopted by standing vote on motion of S. R. Parsons of Toronto and Elmer Davis of Kingston, Ont.

The statement said it must be remembered 2,500,000 people, the industrial employees of Canada and their families, were directly dependent on the payroll of Canadian factories. Their wages and standards of living, as well as the property of Canadian investors, were at stake.

"While we have naturally dealt with the industrial side of the question," the statement proceeds, "it is evident that the same principles apply to agriculturists and other producers, whose products might be in danger of displacement in the domestic market."

Confident of Conference.

The Canadian Manufacturers' statement of Empire trade policy declared the Association looked forward to the Imperial Economic Conference in London next September in a confident spirit, and with a keen desire to extend cordial co-operation in every manner.

"We respectfully suggest," said the statement: "that the Government should consult carefully with representatives of the great departments of Canadian production, and, further, that business men and others with special knowledge should be invited to attend the Imperial Economic Conference in the capacity of advisors to the representatives of the Government. Such consultations would produce practical and beneficial trade results. We believe it is possible and desirable to expand largely Canadian trade with those British countries, which are prepared to negotiate with us, and, at the same time, to safeguard Canadian interests."

NAVAL DESERTER ELUDED POLICE IN FEMALE DRESS

Mounties Raid 'Blind Pig' and Find Owner Dressed as Woman is Deserter.

ONCE TOURED CANADA.

Elusive George Tillman, of Halifax, Gave Authorities a Merry Chase.

(Special to The Examiner)

HALIFAX, N.S., June 4. — For months George Tillman, deserter from the H.M.C.S. Champlagne, sought for by the mounties and by the naval authorities has walked Halifax streets secure from arrest, wearing the latest thing in silhouette dresses, tight fitting hats and high heeled shoes. George has deceived not only the police but prominent bootleggers whose stock it is said he was handling. These alert gentlemen had no idea that Gertie, proprietress of the house, 88 Cornwallis street, was a man. They did not know that George a few years ago toured Canada with various theatrical companies as a female impersonator. He was for a time with the Carroll Company and his stage name was Adele Demont.

Home Raided

Last night the morality squad rolled up in the patrol to 88 Cornwallis street and Gertie opened the door. When the patrol went back to the station its passengers included six women and five men and Gertie. Gertie had accidentally dropped a bottle of rum from beneath her long, clinging skirt and a charge under the N.S.T.A was lodged against her, and then it developed that Gertie was George Tillman and that George was very much wanted by the navy. George shopped and had tea in afternoon cafes, walked in the park and drove a car and no one except the lady who always accompanied him knew him to be a man. Frequently, he says, he wheeled a pram or carried a neighbor's baby and many times met jolly tars off the Champlagne who never suspected Gertie to be the elusive and much wanted George Tillman. Now both the Mounties and the Temperance forces are clamoring for George's presence at their own particular case.

CHATHAM CHURCH BADLY PILLAGED

Boys Blamed For Worst Case of Vandalism in City's History.

DAMAGE IS $500.

CHATHAM, Ont., June 4 (Canadian Press). — Boys are blamed by the police for the worst case of vandalism in the annals of local crime, represented in the destruction carried out in Christ Church some time yesterday. The damage is estimated at more than $500.

In the church the miscreants upset pews, and used electroliers as targets during the hurling of hymn books. Most of the electric light fixtures were smashed, as well as two broadcasting microphones.

They spared the rich draperies of the altar but damaged the covers. In the adjacent parish hall, clergy and choir vestments were dragged from lockers, strewn about the place, and trampled upon, furniture overturned, and damaged, electric light fixtures smashed, chinaware taken from cupboards and hurled about the place.

Police as yet have no clues as to the identity of the vandals, but an energetic investigation is proceeding.

ENGLISH DAILIES APPLAUD CHANGE IN LABOR CABINET

Appointment of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas is Well Received in Great Britain.

TORY PRESS OPPOSED.

Minister Will Preside at Economic Conference in the Autumn.

LONDON, June 4. (By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent). — The appointment of the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas as Secretary of State for the Dominions announced by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in the House of Commons yesterday, khen he made known the separation of the dominion and colonial departments, receives the approval for the most part of their press.

The Daily Mail describes Mr. Thomas as not one of the 'Little Englander' type but a man popular overseas and trusted in England. It will be a matter of great satisfaction, adds The Daily Mail that he will preside at the Imperial Economic Conference in the autumn.

The Express, Lord Beaverbrook's paper, remarks on Mr. Thomas' possession of the quality of direct practicality and of a wide knowledge of the Empire. "Everything depends" says The Express, "upon the way in which Mr. Thomas handles the one live imperial issue—Empire Free Trade. He knows the depth of the feeling favoring it both here and in the Dominions. Empire free traders ask no more than that Mr. Thomas examine their policy without blinkers."

The regular Conservative press is not so enthusiastic. The Yorkshire Post professes to see a change in the Socialist's policy—a change a little for the better. The (London) Morning Post makes an acidulated tabulation of the changed cabinet and remarks Mr. Thomas "has been made a scapegoat for the sins of his people but has not been sent into the wilderness. On the contrary, a place has been prepared for him in the Dominion's office and he, of all His Majesty's ministers, is best fitted to occupy this place.

The Daily Telegraph also welcomes the change.

Iliad Runs Second and Diolite Third 17 Horses Entered

KING GEORGE, QUEEN MARY AND PRINCE OF WALES WITH OTHER MEMBERS OF ROYAL FAMILY SEE THE RACE

Winner's Time Was Two Minutes Thirty-eight and One-fifth Seconds and Was a Comparatively Dark Horse Carrying an Eighteen to One Shot.

EPSOM, England, June 4.—(C.P.)—Coming up through the pack in the final stages and racing the favorites into the ground, the Aga Khan's brown colt, Blenheim, a "dark horse", at 18 to 1, galloped to glory in the 151st running of England's classic derby today.

After considerable delay caused by Silver Flare lashing out repeatedly, the horses got away and at the first half-mile, Rustom Pasha, bearing the colors of the Aga Khan, was leading with Diolite and Lord Astor's Trews close up.

The Scout II, drawn well in No. 7 place, was behind and unable to get through and at the critical turn—"Tattenham Corner"—Rustom Pasha and Diolite were still leading.

Thereafter Blenheim came through and challenged by Iliad, finished a length ahead with the favorite, Diolite, in third place.

Goes to Royal Box

After the race the Aga Khan went to the Royal box and received the King's congratulations

Smiling broadly, the Aga Khan remarked on the showing of his two horses in the race—Blenheim and Rustom Pasha.

"We had never tried them over the same course" he said. "They did not have the same companionships. I had give strict orders that they were to run as if they belonged to different stables and that is the result.

He added that he had not backed Blenheim. "I did not have a single shilling on it" he declared smiling.

Pre-race opinions on the merits of the racers meant little in that wild gallop over the sloping turf, around dangerous Tattenham Corner and up the killing grade to the finish.

Silver Flare was fourth; Trews, fifth; Seer, sixth; Noble Star, seventh; Ballyferris, eighth; Dick Swiveller, ninth; The Sponger, tenth, and Rustom Pasha Bargany, Grand Salute, Tetragem, The Scout II, Sea Rover and Parthon brought up the rear.

Blenheim's time of 2.38 1/5 was 2 1/5 seconds slower than that turned in last year by Trigo. The record for the distance of one mile and a half is 2.34 2/5 set by Call Boy in 1927 and equalled by Felstead in 1928.

BARSTAPLE, England, June 4. — (C.P.).—The holder of one of the Blenheim tickets in the Calcutta Sweepstakes—and joint winner of one of three first prizes worth half a million dollars each—is understood to be Percy Hogg, southern railway engineer.

CRIMEA VETERAN 108 YEARS OF AGE PREFERS OLD WAR

Attributes His Long Life to Hard Work and Temperance.

FOUGHT WITH RUSSIANS.

Condemns Modern War Methods, Especially Trench Fighting.

NORTH BAY, Ont., June 4.—Today John Birch, Nipissing Junction, five miles south of this city, celebrates his 108th birthday enjoying good health and doing light chores on his farm which is now operated by his sons, Adam and John. He migrated from Russia in 1866 and settled in Renfrew County, near Pembroke. At the age of sixty eight he moved his family and chattels northward to break virgin soil in the district in which he still resides. He cannot recall of having suffered serious illness or infirmity and attributes his long span to hard work and temperance in all things. He fought with the Russian forces in the Crimean War and vividly recalls incidents in that devastating period, one being the bayoneting of a brother while they lay wounded side by side. He condemns the present-day method of warfare with the warriors taking shelter in ditches and killing being done by long range shooting and overhead and underwater bombing, prefering the old method of face to face musketry and bayonet fighting.

The Weather

Yesterday's highest temperature was 87 degrees in the shade—equal to the high point of this Summer. Perhaps I should say "Spring," as Summer does not begin until June 21. The lowest last night was 58 degrees, but by six o'clock this morning it had risen to 70 degrees.—W.P.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence) — The regular meeting of the Seymour Township Council was held on Monday afternoon in the Council Chamber, with all members present, Reeve F VanVolkenburg in the chair.

A by-law presented by Councillor H. T. Rutherford was read, accepting the resignation of J. W. Johnstone, and repealing the former by-law in reference to his appointment, and appointing John S. Wallace a member of and insector for the local Board of Health.

A claim for an additional premium on the Indemnity Globe policy for 1927 was presented by J. P. Archer. This claim amounted to $48.13, and was put on file by the Council.

On motion of Councillor W. S. Milne, seconded by Councillor W. J. Duncan, it was decided that the township engage Chief G. C. Bromley as the township constable, on a monthly salary for the current year.

After some discussion, this motion carried, and the clerk was instructed to prepare a by-law to engage Chief Bromley as a constable under Section 121 of the L. C. A., 1927.

The school report was presented by George Anderson and filed.

The pay sheet, amounting to $2,031.75, was presented and passed. Of this sum, $1,377.13 has been spent on road work in the township.

On motion, the Council adjourned until Saturday evening.

SEYMOUR COURT OF REVISION CONVENED

Two Appeals For Reduction of Assessment Heard—Only One Sustained.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Little business marked the Court of Revision for the Township of Seymour for the year 1930, held on Monday in the Public Library, Campbellford.

The Court consisted of Reeve F. VanVolkenburg, chairman, Deputy Reeve W. Innis, and Councillors W. J. Duncan, W. S. Milne, and H. T. Rutherford.

Only two appeals figured at the session. William Stowbury made claim for the reduction of his assessment, which was granted. This was from $1,800 to $1,500. Francis Barten also claimed reduction, but the Court did not allow the claim to stand.

Other business was the request from John Meier that his name be changed to T. J. Horkins, and a similar request from Ernest Fitzgerald, that his name be changed to George Miller. Both these requests were granted.

The clerk of the Court was also given authority to change all assessments that had been placed in the wrong school districts.

On motion, the Court adjourned.

TRADE MARK REG. ASPIRIN

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, June 4.—There were 108 cattle, 1,324 calves, 392 hogs and 56 sheep and lambs for sale on the two Montreal live stock markets yesterday.

Cattle were steady. One load of good steers, averaging close to 1,250 lbs., brought $11.15. Two loads of mixed cattle were offered and were not sold early today. Good to choice cows topped $9. Common to medium cows sold from $7 to $8.

Calves were stronger and trade was active. The bulk of the calves were plain light veal drinkers. One load of fair to medium good quality brought $9.25 and common light veal and drinkers were sold for $7 to $8.

Sheep were sold between $5.50 and $7. A few spring lambs were sold for $18 per cwt. Light spring lambs are not wanted.

The bulk of the hogs were delivered, under former contracts. A few fresh sales were made at $12.50 to $12.75 for butchers and bacons. On one market, where only 60 hogs were offered, sales were made in small lots to butchers at $13 to $13.25. Sows were sold for $9.50 to $10.

BUTTER AND EGGS.

TORONTO, June 4.—Dealers on the local butter market were finding it difficult to move supplies yesterday as buyers seemed to have "closed up" to some extent and were not particularly anxious to take on any large commitments. Prices were practically the same as on Monday, with No. 1 Ontario at 28½c and No. 2 27½c. The market could have been called steady, as there was about as much trading as on Monday. The price to retailers were unchanged at 33c for No. 1 creamery and 31c for No. 2.

Cream

Churning cream held to the price in effect at the end of last week, and country shippers were quoted 30c to 31c for specials, 29c to 30c for No. 1, and 26c to 27c for No. 2, f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

The cheese market has been steady for some time and yesterday there was very little change. Shippers were offered 17c for new, large, paraffined, 17¼c for twins and 17½c for triplets. The prices to retailers were 18½c for new large, 18 3-4 for new twins and 19c for new triplets. For old cheese the prices to retailers were 27c to 28c for large and 28c to 29c for twins.

Eggs

Egg prices were again steady. The demand was fairly good, and shippers were quoted 28c for extras, 26c for firsts, 23c to 24c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. Dealers were also quoting unchanged prices for graded eggs, free cases, though buyers were advising that requirements for the Shriners' convention were about satisfied. Quotations were 30½c for extras, 28½c for firsts, and 26c for seconds, in less than carlots, and 31c and 29c for carlots. Retailers were offered supplies at 35c for extras in cartons, and 33c for extras, loose; 31c for firsts, loose, 28c for seconds, loose.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 4.—Trading on the Montreal dairy and produce markets was practically at a standstill yesterday in observance of the King's Birthday.

The butter market was quoted at 26½c to 26¾c per pound for Eastern Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery, with buyers trying to get quotations fractionally below the top figure. The undertone was weak. Tomorrow, at Halifax, 30,000 boxes of New Zealand butter are due on the S. S. Port Hobert, the first of a series of summer shipments. It was estimated today that 200,000 boxes would be received in Eastern Canada, and as much as 100,000 boxes in Western Canada prior to Oct. 12, when the duty will become 4 cents per pound, compared with the present rate of 1 cent. Prices to retailers today were unchanged, following yesterday's decline. Receipts were 4,249 boxes.

The cheese market was generally quoted unchanged with a slightly easier undertone. Receipts were 6,374 boxes.

Egg prices to retailers were not changed, but it was reported some shading was being done by wholesale houses. Receipts were 4,249 cases. The potato market held steady.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, June 4.—Ominous crop conditions both north and south of the Canadian boundary, together with shrinkage of the world's wheat available supply lifted wheat values yesterday.

High winds and duststorms were reported as again damaging, spring wheat over wide areas, and the crop condition in Saskatchewan was figured as having been reduced 5 per cent. within the last week. World stocks of wheat were announced as down to but little more than 3,000,000 bushels over the total at this time last year.

In contrast with early declines yesterday, wheat closed firm at virtually the top level, ½c to 1c a bushel higher than yeasterday's finish. Corn closed ¼c to 5-8c advance; oats ½c to ¾c up, and provisions varying from 35c setback to a rise of 30c.

BUTTER FLOODING MARKET.

REGINA, June 4 (Canadian Press). —Prices of butter in Canadian domestic markets are being depressed by a flood of New Zealand butter, and this countrry will have enough butter from this source in store to keep the price of Canadian butter at low levels all winter, according to J. A. Caulder, president of the Dairy Corporation of Canada, Limited.

The funeral service will be held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from his late residence, on the eighth concession of Haldimand township, to Bethany (Macklin) Cemetery.

RONALD A. McKEE

Ronald A. McKee of 546 Gilmour street, passed away on Tuesday afternoon at Nicholls Hospital, in his 45th year, following a short illness. The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKee, he was born in this city and had lived here all his life. He was educated in Peterborough Schools and was accountant at The Farm and Dairy for some years before branching out in business in partnership with M. G. Hardill and trading under the name of the Merchants Press.

News of his death will come as something of a shock to his many friends and acquaintances, both in the commercial and social spheres.

The late Mr. McKee was an ardent churchman and attended St. Luke's Anglican Church and held the office of warden some years ago.

He leaves besides his sorrowing wife, one son Alfred and daughter Ruth, both residing at home.

The funeral will be held on Thursday from the family residence and thence to St. Luke's Church for service at 2 p.m. Rev. G. J. Bousfield will officiate, after which interment will be made at Little Lake cemetery.

NAVAL ADDRESSES FAIL TO COINCIDE

Premier Mussolini and Dino Grandi Outlines Two Different Naval Policies.

Grandi, speaking in defense of the Italian naval program at the conclusion of a Budget speech yesterday said:

"The Italian Government is disposed to postpone laying down its program for naval construction in 1930 provided the French Government does the same for the program of 1930. Considering the relative strength of the two fleets such a concession would have a greater effect on the Italian navy than on the French."

Premier Mussolini, in a speech at Florence a few days ago, declared:—

"There has been some doubt abroad that Italy would carry out her naval program, but it will be constructed ton for ton with mathematical precision to the pride of the Italian people."

HOME TOWNERS

Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous CAMPBELLFORD

Celebrating the King's birthday, the streets of the town were beflaged on Tuesday. Although the stores did not observe the holiday, the town had the appearance of a deserted city.

Dr. H. A. Hay was a visitor to Belleville on Tuesday.

Mr. Mel. Shadgett and Mr. Ben. Smith, both of Peterborough, were the guests of Chief and Mrs. G. C. Bromley, over the week end. The former is a cousin of Chief Bromley.

Mr. J. R. Battisby, was a visitor to Belleville, on Tuesday.

Word has been received here of the death of Fred Deacon at Rochester N.Y. The deceased is a brother of Mrs. Anna O'Donohue, of town.

Mr. H. N. Carr, was a business visitor to Peterborough, on Monday.

With the election in sight, politicians are getting busy. We notice that Major Belfort was in town again on Monday.

By a report of the local merchants, the Buy-at-Home Campaign, sponsored by the Campbellford Herald, is bearing fruit. The specials that are being run by the merchants are proving a great attraction to the local buyers.

Many residents of the town were in Belleville on Tuesday, attending the horse races. It is to be hoped that their "flutters", were no vain attempts to fly.

It is expected that Mr. Jabez McCullough, who has been a patient in the Toronto Hospital, will be home in the course of a few days. His condition is all that can be desired, and his wound is healing fast.

DISTRICT CHURCHES

AT MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK, June 4. (Examiner Correspondence).—Service in Saint Andrew' United Church was withdrawn on Sunday evening, the pastor, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., taking charge of morning worship and returning to the Conference session at Cobourg on Sunday night.

In the morning Rev. Mr. Jones gave a brief summary of interesting items from the Conference, taking as his text, "The Spirit of the Lord clothed Himself with Gideon" and pointing out that the Spirit is clothing Himself with the church, particularly in the person of some of its splendid leaders, as well as the humblest members, to-day.

The very warm welcome extended to the Conference by Rev. Stanford Boyle, rector of Saint Peter's cathedral, and president of the South Durham Ministerial Association was specially mentioned by the speaker, who quoted his words: "I congratulate you, from the depths of my heart, on the success you have achieved in accomplishing the Union of three great religious bodies of the Dominion".

It was somewhat unusual to have the Conference president elected on the first ballot, but this honor was accorded this year to Rev. J. S. I. Wilson, of Napanee. Three years ago Mr. Wilson accompanied Sherwood Eddy to Europe to study the effects of war on the religious life of the people, and the attitude of mind of those within the churches toward war, and last year Mr. Wilson was again in Europe on this same mission. "He is a man of wide mental vision, and of a great depth of sympathy and love."

The spiritual vision and growth felt by ministers and laymen alike during the 'Quiet Hour' each day when Rev. Dr. McLeod talks on "Pentecost", was referred to with gratitude by Mr. Jones; this great Christian leader is a missionary in Formosa, and has been loaned to the Presbyterian church of England for service on that mission field; he stands strongly for union, and gives many instances of the way God answers prayer in his own life. Rev. Dr. McLeod's daughter is attending the University of Toronto, and has volunteered for service in India as a missionary.

The helpful address of Mrs. Smythe, of Perth, president of the Conference W.M.S. and the beautiful language in which it was touched with no use of notes, was spoken of with appreciation, as were also the addresses of a number of others on the Conference program. "The Holy Spirit is glad to have these men and women for His clothing" was the thought left with the congregation in closing.

MADOC UNITED CHURCH

MADOC, June 4.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The morning service at Trinity church, Madoc, was taken by the members of the W.M.S. on Sunday morning in the absence of Rev. Mr. Rivers at conference. On the platform with the president, Mrs. S. S. Ashley, were Mrs. G. W. Rivers, Mrs. McMechan, and Mrs. George Harris. The choir was composed of members of the Missionary Society of Madoc, Mesdames L. Ashley, S. Fox, Lowrie, Maybee, Fair, Bristol, Huffman, Dafoe, G. Maybee, Rutherford, Thompson, and Fox.

Mrs. S. S. Ashley presided, and after the singing of "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations," Psalm 96 was read responsively. Mrs. McMechan read the scripture lesson, and Mrs. Rivers led in prayer, the anthem given by the choir was followed by a contribution by the children of the Mission Band, "Little Fishermen of the World Are We," by Misses Helen Wellman, Phyllis Stockloss, Kathleen Phillips, Reta Smith and Jospehine Belsher.

Mrs. G. Harris then gave a very interesting address, telling something of the Presbyterial lately held in Bowmanville, which she had been able to attend.

The Bowmanville Presbyterial was the fifth convention held since the union of the churches. The Methodist W.M.S. Watchword has been "Not by might, not by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts", and the Presbyterian Watchword, "Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it"—and this convention seemed to exemplify the two mottoes, and to carry out the spirit of both. Mrs. Harris spoke of the leaders of the convention and their wonderful ability and energy. There are, she explained, seven Presbyterials represented of which Belleville Presbyterial is the largest, leading both in giving and in numbers, having 304 spcieties, and nearly 35,000 members.

A responsive service was used in opening the session, after which separate conferences were held for the various groups. A wonderful memorial service was held, at which about forty-five departed members were remembered. A visit to the Boys' Industrial School was one to be remembered, at which one was given some idea of the work for the underprivileged boys of the surrounding country, and a plea was made that the Women's Missionary Societies might undertake to assist this work in some way. A suggestion that each boy might be presented with a Bible and Hymn Book 'met with a ready response later, and arrangements were made that this might be done by the visiting delegates.

Value of Mission Work

A brief reference was given to the various speakers, particularly Mrs. Jessie McIntyre, Social Service worker, and missionaries from South Africa and South America. The value to Missionary Society Workers of the Missionary Monthly was stressed, and the value of the church news it contains. Often, said the speaker, five dollars is spent for news of all the murders and accidents, while thirty-five cents is begrudged for news of church and missionary work.

Mrs. Harris also spoke of the splendid question drawer conducted, and the value of the thoughtful and prayerful answers given to these questions. Special attention was given to the Home Missions of Western Canada, and the glowing instances proving the Home and Foreign Missions are well worth while, and reminding us that we belong to the army of workers from coast to coast, 200,000 strong. "Ready to go, ready to wait, ready for service, small or great."

A beautiful quartette was given by Mesdames Maybee, Fair, Bristol, and Huffman, "Hark the Voice of Jesus Calling, 'Follow Me, Follow Me'."

The hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers" and the Mizpah Benediction closed the service. The evening service was withdrawn on account of the absence of the pastor.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 4, 1930

THE SPEED MENACE.

Discussion in the Council as to the necessity of a closer check upon speeding and the suggestion that the time is near at hand when a traffic office equipped with a motorcycle will be required are justified by the conditions existing on the paved streets of the city, most of which are developing into speedways.

The Examiner believes that there is plenty of work for a special traffic officer, and that the menace of speeding drivers will not be removed until such an official is turned loose with orders to make an example of the most glaring offenders.

Those who live on main arteries of traffic know that far too many motorists consistently drive at a dangerous rate of speed.

Water street is an example—a street that has to be crossed by hundreds of school children who attend Central School.

There are Motor League signs warning drivers that they are in a school area and to drive slowly.

And yet at noon when the children are released from school they have to run the gauntlet of a procession of racing motor cars driven by people who seem to have no regard either for the speed limit or the safety of the little folks.

The conditions are similar on other streets, and apparently until the most reckless of the speedsters are convinced that fast driving on city streets is an expensive pastime there will be no slowing up.

AN INTERESTING QUESTION.

An interesting question has arisen out of the new system of preparing the voters' lists now being used in the present election campaign.

Are the enumerators in the urban division, appointed by the two political parties, to be regarded as civil servants in honor bound to make no use of information they may pick up in the carrying out of their duties?

Or so long as they are honest and accurate in compiling their lists and do not make any effort to discover how the people they call on are going to vote, are they entitled to make a note of any data in this regard that may be volunteered for use afterward in the campaign?

The question comes to the fore as the result of a complaint from a Liberal candidate in the Windsor district that his opponent has instructed the enumerators appointed by him to make use of any information that may be proffered during their canvass.

On the other hand, a Liberal organizer in Toronto advised enumerators to do exactly what is being complained about in Windsor.

Most certainly the officials who are preparing the lists have not the shadow of a right to ask any person as how he proposes to vote; but if those canvassed volunteer the information there does not seem any reason why the enumerators should be barred from acting upon what they have learned, especially as they work in pairs and the information is available to both parties.

NOT A CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

The Examiner regrets to note that already campaign speakers are endeavoring to make political capital out of the new provisions for a better deal for Canada's ex-service men passed during the session just closed.

As this paper pointed out in a recent article, this matter of justice for the returned soldiers should not be used as campaign material, and this for more than one reason.

In the first place, we believe that the majority of the people of this country would resent the problems of the veterans being made a campaign issue.

In the second place, the new policy unanimously adopted by the Commons and passed without amendment by the Senate was prepared and passed on an absolutely non-partizan basis, and without any attempt on the part of the members of the committee or of the House to play politics.

And thirdly, the politicians should be decidedly chary about attempting to gain credit for what is after all a belated move to meet conditions that have existed for years, conditions against which the veterans' organizations and the newspapers of Canada have long been protesting.

If there are any laurels to be given out for the bringing about of an improvement in the status of Canada's ex-service men, they belong primarily to the Canadian Legion and to the press for fighting the battle of the veterans in season and out until Parliament was at last forced to grapple with the situation.

There are plenty of issues available for use in the present fight without dragging in the veteran.

A CLOSER CHECK ON PERMITS.

Eighty-nine times last year were gates protecting Canadian National Railway crossings in the Toronto area smashed into by automobiles.

The same story can be heard from other parts of the country, and the question naturally arises as to the fitness of drivers who when railway gates are plainly visible in the daytime or when the warning lights are in full view after dark steer their cars into the bars placed there to protect the public.

Off hand, it is safe to say that motorists guilty of such glaring negligence have by their actions shown themselves to be unfit to be entrusted with the responsibility of handling a motor car and their privilege of driving should be taken away from them.

If the operator's license system were used as effectively as it could be when properly enforced the menace of drivers careless enough to crash into railway gates would be removed from the highways.

There seems to be a lack of a systematic checking up of driving licenses.

Apparently so long as a driver is lucky enough to keep out of accidents it is not likely to be discovered whether or not he has a permit.

A local case in point developed a few days ago when a truck driver who figured in a collision at an intersection was found to be without either an operator's permit or a chauffeur's license.

Here was a man earning his living as a driver who simply took a chance and got away with it for months.

He'd still be going on his permitless way if he had not happened to hit a street corner at the same time as another driver steered his machine into the identical spot.

GOLD AND BASE METALS.

Despite the continued slackness of the Canadian Mining Stock Market, actual developments in the mining industry throughout this country are of a most encouraging character. The well established gold mining industry is experiencing a fresh boom and it is predicted that the next twelve months will show a fifty per cent. increase in production over last year, from about forty million dollars to sixty-one million dollars. This production is from old established mines like the McIntyre, the Hollinger and the Kirkland Lake properties and new properties, including one in Red Lake, are coming into the picture. The Howey is already yielding yellow metal at the rate of about one million dollars a year. In addition to these factors, we have to consider the considerable contributions of gold from such base metal properties as the International Nickel at Sudbury, the Noranda, and the base metal properties of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. There will next year be a considerable gold production as by-products from the Hudson Bay and Sherrit Gordon Mines in Northern Manitoba. The outlook is indeed that Canada will this year displace the United States as the world's second largest producer of gold, the Rand in South Africa being, of course, an easy first. Indeed, it is probably true, as the Northern Miner says, that—"Gold mining is to-day the most flourishing branch of Canadian industry. It was never so lush in profits. The public so obsessed with the worries of other phases of business appears to have paid little attention to what the gold mines are doing and to the remarkable change that has taken place."

It is also worth bearing in mind that the great base metal mining industry of Canada is probably experiencing its worst trials at the present time. But the very fact that world prices for base metals are at an extremely low level is a reason for confidence that the situation will improve before long. The whole history of these metals is that the markets do not remain at a low point for long at a time, the reason being that surplus stocks are shortly absorbed so that competition for available supplies is renewed. One of the most encouraging features of the present mining situation in the Dominion is that the Canadian manufacturers have manifested in no uncertain manner their willingness and their ability to keep pace with the growing demands for mining machinery. The chances are that the mining industry of this country may become second only in importance to the primary industry of agriculture.—Ottawa Journal.

A TIMELY WORD.

The Ottawa Journal delivers a timely word as to the early training for his own good and development which the average newspaper carrier boy receives from his work. That paper says that the boy who delivers the daily paper has become so familiar a part of complicated machinery of modern life that we take him for granted, much as we do running water and electric light. His amazing regularity in bad weather as in fine, in winter storms and summer rains, is accepted as a natural condition and without comment. It is not until an error is made and the paper is missed—and even grown-up business people have been known to make blunders—that we realize how important a part the newspaper boy has come to play in the daily routine of the average home.

It is quite obvious, when one comes to think it over, that the carrier boy is a vital part of the modern newspaper. Nothing grows old quite so quickly as news, and the paper must be delivered hot from the presses if it is to serve the purpose of the world-wide organization which it represents. Thus the newspaper boy is as essentially a part of the newspaper as those who gather the news or set it in type or sit at desks in the offices—and this heavy responsibility rests largely upon bright and eager lads of eleven, twelve and a little older.

Like most people who work, these carrier boys are intent primarily upon earning money, but after all tht financial return is only a small part of the benefit which is theirs. At an impressionable age they receive an invaluable preliminary education in business principles, in punctuality and regularity, in courtesy and honesty. They are taught to be thrifty and industrious and to meet the public on terms of mutual respect. The newspaper boy is receiving the first lessons in salesmanship as he renders an honest and useful service for a fair price. He learns tact, he acquires self-reliance, and as he rushes from school to the office, the fact quickly dawns upon him that dimes and quarters do not grow upon trees. He is using his leisure hours in a gainful occupation which at the same time gets him into the healthful open air; and it is not merely a coincidence that official records show practically no cases of delinquency among boys of this class.

Many a successful career has been based upon the broad and simple principles of sound business which are encouraged and developed in every newspaper boy. These brave and sturdy youngsters, many of them not yet out of the public school, may be our merchant princes of tomorrow, our captains of industry and leaders in the professions. Whatever their destiny they will be the better for this early training in the fundamtntals of the well-rounded life.—St. Catharines Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Hon. E. C. Drury is again to be a federal candidate, but not on this occasion, it should not be necessary to explain, as a free trader.

There is no gallantry about the old political parties. Miss Agnes MacPhail is likely to be opposed by both Liberal and Conservative nominees.

"The partisan who would vote for a yellow dog with the right tag is disappearing," says the Globe. Surely there art not that many Government jobs?

Amy Johnston, the plucky British girl who made a solo flight from England to Australia, has been made a commander of the British Empire, an honor richly earned.

With the R-100 due to arrive in Canada in the midst of a hot election, the commander of the British dirigible will have trouble keeping his craft out of air pockets.

Several women candidates are mentioned as possibilities in some of the Toronto ridings. They'll figure as decidedly long shots in the betting.

A Thought

ASSOCIATION

Everyone knows the power of association. All have experienced this truth, that a perfume, a flower, a strain of music, some less thing even than these, may have power to awaken a crowd of images whose connection with the trifle that has called them up can be understood by him only in whose mind they are thus reawakened. How natural and touching then, to attach a thought of heaven to that hour when daylight is at once glowing and dying—that hour of twilight which brings labor's close and gives leisure for long, sweet, perhaps dangerous reveries! Who can wonder that the evening prayer becomes a safeguard?

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If June 4th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:30 a.m. to 8 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 10:30 a.m. to 11:45 a.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight.

A time of intense interest and activity is augured for this date—travel and change. The influences will instil one with self courage and importance, and opportunities will be met more than half way.

The child born on this June 4th will have a jolly, happy and contented nature. It may well be hopeful as it has an interesting life ahead of it. It will take a keen interest in games and sports, will be a fair student, and a great lover of nature.

The world has its givers and its takers, and you are one of the latter. It is not difficult for you to pass the buck, when you are confronted with things which you do not like to do. It is easy for you to claim incompetence and to be a "I can't-er," when up against distasteful pulls. You have a certain amount of charm and a convincing nature, and there are usually plenty of voluntary slaves ready to ease your way. You are not ungrateful, but you do many times take things too much for granted.

You admire frankness and sincerity, but you do not always have the courage to stand up to your convictions. You dislike arguing, and on small things you would rather give in than to fight. You are stubborn rather than strong willed. You will probably fall into a well defined rut before you attain a great age, and will be content to remain there. You do not have too critical a nature, and in many respects you are easily satisfied. If you can travel the road of least resistance, you do not kick.

You have some musical ability, and will always enjoy and appreciate good music, even if you do not execute it yourself. You easily lose yourself in a book, and often neglect other things for this pleasure. Happiness and prosperity is predicted through marriage.

WOMAN GETS 10 YEARS.

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., June 4.—(C.P.)— Miss A. E. Penner, 24 of Winnipeg, was convicted on a charge of throwing acid into the face of an immigration officer who sought to arrest her on March last, and was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment in Federal Court here.

APRIL ESCAPADES

CHAPTER XXVI.

The city looked grimy and weary, workers were streaming home in every direction. The dreadful sense of being a child that must return to inevitable punishment—a sense that had shadowed her all day, returned to Mary Kate, and by the time she had reached her own doorway she was almost sick with emotion and excitement.

The children were all out upon her like a flash, Pat and Regina and Tess, and big Tom, who kissed her with a warm, unshaven cheek against hers, and brought up the procession with her bag. Mother was in the kitchen, and Aunt Julia was here.

Mary Kate had never felt an impulse of affection toward Aunt Julia before. But she fairly loved the dreary monologist who was in the rocker this afternoon, Aunt Julia was so notoriously disagreeable and so scathingly critical that the O'Hara's never had time for anything, during her visits, but a feverish concentration upon her conversation. Afterwards they pieced it all together, and laughed about it until they had to lay their heads down upon their supper plates.

At the sink, broad, capable, mistress of all she surveyed, was Ma. And when Mary Kate saw her mother she forgot that the separation between them was a matter of hours rather than weeks or months, and ran toward her confidante, her friend, her nurse and teacher, judge and advocate, the court of last appeal for all the difficulties and woes her twenty years had known. Her arms were about her mother's neck, her cheek was pressed against the soft, shapeless cheek, her tears were wet upon her mother's face.

"Mary Kate, between us and al harm!" Mrs. O'Hara said. "I did not tell you, Aunt Julia," she explained to the collar, in a somewhat strangled voice, "that Mary Kate went up to Sacramento, all by herself, and stayed at a hotel there!"

"Oh, Mother, I'm so glad to be back!"

"Well, don't cry about it, dear-r-r!" the mother remonstrated, her own smile coming through tears. "You'd think it was a year, and she away!" she said, half-scornfully, half-proudly, to the visitor.

"Why, what's come to you, dear?" she asked quickly.

"She's the picture of death," observed Aunt Julia Deane, pleasantly, as she watched the pair.

"I'm tired, Mother." The girl clung to her as if she could never let go, drooping her weary head upon the broad breast tightening her slender arms about the older woman's shoulders, laughing and crying.

"But darlin', you look sick!"

"I think—" She had arranged this with Chris, for just this emergency. It came to her now as an inspiration. "I think maybe I had a touch of ptomaine, Mother."

"You'd get worse than that, drinking the water in them trains," Mrs. Deane suggested.

"Go get into your bed," the mother directed. But Mary Kate made no move to obey.

"I'm honestly all right, Mother, but the train was hot—"

"Did you have any lunch?"

"Yes'm, but not much. And I'm dying for tea, and some hot toast—"

"I'll make it!" Tess shrilled, rushing into action.

"Oh, will you, darling? And will you take my hat and coat upstairs, Regina, or hang them over the banister, anyway. Oh, it's delicious to get home," sighed Mary Kate, sitting down at the table, and dragging Pat into her lap. She sat kissing the top of his head, and looking respectfully at Aunt Julia, while the reviving currents of home love and home atmosphere poured through her parched being in a heavenly wave.

"You wouldn't be better off in bed, dear?"

"Oh, no Mother." She wouldn't be alone. "Truly—truly, this is all I need!"

"She takes after Martin, don't she, Teresa?"

"Well—? And in a way she favors my own good mother, too."

"Oh, Pat, I'm so glad to be home!"

"What's Sacramento like, Mary Kate?"

"Well, in a way it's wonderful. We'll all go up there some day, and have a look at it—I didn't hear you, Tom."

"An elephant couldn't hear in this din!" Tom muttered. "I asked if you saw an oil well?"

"Is it a sort of a—a hole in the ground, with a—a sort of a fence 'round it?"

"No!" he shouted. "It's not. You get the chance to go up there, through Port Costa and everything, and that's all you see! I suppose you were goggling at the Governor—"

"Tom, don't talk to your sister that way—stop it, now."

"Oh, lord!!" growled Tom, in his half-and-half, raw, pathetic voice. He laid his arms on the table and dropped his big untidy black head upon them.

"How's Uncle Robert, Aunt Julia?"

"He's bad. And now you've asked for him, and done your duty, and you can forget him again," Mrs. Deane answered rapidly.

"Oh, that's too bad."

"You'd wonder the Lord wouldn't remove him," Mrs. O'Hara said, with a sympathetic cluck-clucking of teeth.

"Where's your boy, Martin, Teresa?"

"Mart, God bless him! Oh, I forgot to tell you, Mary Kate, that that Doctor van Antwerp is havin' Mart drive him up to Portland, Oregon," Mrs. O'Hara explained, animatedly. "He went up to give a lecture or whatever, in the vacation, and Mart's drivin' him."

"Oh, Mother!" And with the pleasure and relief of it the first natural color, the first natural manner she had displayed since her return transformed Mary Kate. "Oh, what fun for Mart!" she said immediately. And secondarily, and deep in her soul, unexpressed, she thought, "I'll have time to think about it, to decide what to do, whether to tell them or not! When did he go?"

"After dinner last night. And they'll be off the whole week."

"And he'll be paid for all that extra time, Mother! Tess," said Mary Kate in a fervent aside, "I have never in my life tasted such tea and such toast. The toast is—simply—delicious!"

"She drew it so weak on you, you would think it would taste of nothing but the kettle."

"I love it weak, Aunt Julia."

"I'd as soon drink hot water and do my stomach some good."

"This is doing my stomach, and every other bit of me, all the good that ever was!" Mary Kate rejoiced.

"The old feller at the Fair, in the old country," Mrs. Deane recalled with a sudden laugh. "He says 'Pigs and swill goes together!'"

The O'Hara eyes everywhere—Mary Kate's from the table, Tess's from the stove, where she was toasting bread for herself, Mrs. O'Hara's from the sink, met in solemn, pregnant silence. For the next three years there would be hysterical laughter among them when they remembered this gem from Aunt Julia.

Then Cass was suddenly there, leaning over from behind her to kiss her quite simply, before them all, infinitely heartening and happy and affectionate, "darling," as the little girls said later with cranky old Aunt Julia.

Aunt Julia, declining a second cup of tea scornfully, went off in her dingy weeds to minister to cripple Uncle Robert, to be a miracle of tenderness and consideration, and even of gayety, to the helpless old man. Then the O'Haras had supper.

Mary Kate did not eat much, but she say next to Cass, her slim fingers often in his, her fond, proud eyes on his tense, handsome face, with its forceful impression of gray eyes and firm jaw, hard brown cheeks, and quick, authoritative voice. He was so slever, and so sure of himself, and so fine!

Her color came back, and her spirits, and the past twenty-four hours were relegated to the world of nightmares, there was no Spanish house, with a parrot and a fountain, there was no ivory satin dress and quilted wrap richly furred, there had been no dinner, no burglar, no police investigation. It had all been a dream!

She begged off from going to the movies, and helped Ma with the dishes, and was so sweet and gentle and helpfully considerate that she seemed ten years older, in her watchful mother's eyes at least, than the girl of yesterday.

"It's love has done it to her!" Mrs. O'Hara thought, going off with the little girls and Pat for their regular Saturday night's entertainment. Tom, lumbering and superfluous, and not invited to share anyone's plans, had disappeared, so that Mary Kate and Cass had the kitchen to themselves.

For awhile they sat close, at the table, his arm about her, her shoulder turned against his breast, her elbows on the table, so that when she twisted her face to speak to him, or look into his eyes, her bright silky hair brushed his cheek, her thick long lashes were but a few inches from his own. Fragrant, slim, crushed like a soft cool rose in his hard embrace, newly gentle and weary tonight—that was Cass's girl, that was Mary Kate.

"My cousin Mamie Terry was talking about you yesterday, Mary Kate. She said you were the loveliest girl she knew. She said you always reminded her of a little girl."

"She doesn' know me!"

"Oh, doesn't she?"

"You know her husband's two sisters and her brother and his wife, and their husbands, and all the children, always come and have dinner with Mamie on Tuesday nights. And she wants you to come Tuesday."

"You told her?"

"I gave her a pretty strong hint." He looked concernedly down at the bright crushed hair that dropped suddenly on his shoulder. "Why? Mad?"

"Oh, no, dear. Only—I don't know, sometimes, that I'm good enough to be anybody's wife!"

"Joke over?" Cass said, with a joyous, explosive laugh.

She sighed in infinite content and weariness, resting against him, without answering. And presently she dismissed him, and went upstairs, to light the gas, and unpack her bag, and put away brushes and powder and the peach-colored night dress that had figured in last night's horror and fright.

Then she got into a fresh gown, brushed her hair, washed her face thoroughly, and knelt down, with her soap-fragrant hands hooped over her face, to say her prayers. She turned down the little girl's bed neatly—and was reminded of Mrs. Peters, putting the guest room in order last night, and falling heavily into sleep the minute she got into bed.

Suddenly Mary Kate visualized Chris. A pang, sharp and piercing and completely unexpected, went through her heart. She would never see him again.

His tall, lean figure in the comfortable tweeds, his long, lean hand holding a cigarette, his bronzed face that yet somehow remained fair under all its burning, and the loose wave of his fair hair very bright against the Indian forehead, all these were suddenly before her eyes.

Oh, Chris—Chris! Oh, loose tweeds and brown hands and leisurely, casual voice so full of sureness and authority!

Trembling, hardly knowing what she did, Mary Kate lowered the light to a bead, and lighted the special, green-hooded jet that hung above her couch. She flung a book on the bed, stepped out of her slippers, established herself comfortably on her pillows.

It was no use. She could not read. Frenzy shook her. She must hear his voice, she must see him—talk to him again.

She threw the book aside, and put out the light. Only the tiny bead over by the bureau burned on, to guide Tess and Regina, when they came upstairs. And from the big cigarette sign on Geary Street long streamers of light came into the shabby upstairs bedroom, swelled on the wall, stood still, were gone, and swelled again.

Mary Kate's heart was beating and her mouth was dry, her veins pulsed with insufferable longing and despair. She lay awake, in the crowded, shabby darkness of the bedroom, writhing, breathing deep, forcing herself to quiet, smitten with recurrent misery, and covering her face once more with her hands.

FAINT, DIZZY SPELLS Had To Sleep Propped Up In Bed

Mrs. Norman Bishop, Salisbury, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with faint and dizzy spells and when I would lie down I would suffer terribly with smothering spells. I got so bad I had to sleep propped up in bed.

"My doctor said it was my heart and nerves, and that I needed a good heart tonic.

"I was advised to take and I had not taken one box when I could lie down and sleep like a child."

Several Canadian Issues Suffer Slight Reverses

BEARS RETIRE, MARKET FIRM AND STEEL UP

Trade Reviews Paint a More Hopeful Picture of Future.

SUGAR PRICES CUT.

Commodity Situation Checked Any Return of Speculative Activity.

NEW YORK, N.Y. June 4 (C.P.)—Indications of a lightening of Steel prices appearing to-day quickly checked the bear drive in the Stock Market which was inspired yesterday by the report of a sharp curtailment of production by U.S. Steel. Selling continued.

During the first few minutes of trading, but the Market soon turned firm, and gains of a point or two were common among important shares by afternoon A few specialties made wider gains.

The weekly Steel and Iron Trade Reviews, while indications that increasing quiet may be expected until about August, were distinctly more cheerful than they were a week ago.

The commodity situation remained unsettled and confusing, however, and tended to check any marked revival of speculative activity. Several sugar refiners cut their price 1-5 of a cent for the second time in a fortnight, bringing the price down to 4½ cents a pound, the lowest in 10 years.

Oils developed notable strength, reflecting the American Petroleum Institute's figures showing a substantial decline in stocks of gasoline last week, and rumors of impending increases in gasoline prices.

McKeesport again penetrated new 1930 high ground reflecting unofficial estimates of 1930 openings of about $10 a share. Case jumped more than 10 points in short covering and air reduction, National Cash Register, and Foster Wheeler made substantial gains. Shares gaining a point or two included U.S. Steel Standard of N.J., American Can, General Electric, General Motors, Chrysler, Fox Loews, Sinclair, Free Port Texas and Eastman.

ILIAD RUNS SECOND

at the last minute they had been prevailed upon to accept $15,000 for a half interest in their ticket.

COVENTRY, England, June 4. — Two machinists employed in a local motor works drew one of the three Bienheim tickets in the Calcutta Sweepstakes. It is worth half a million dollars, but they sold half their share in the ticket before the race for $13,000.

Jail Breakers Back Behind High Walls

GUELPH, Ont., June 4 (C.P.)—Captured in Brampton this morning by Provincial Police, Percy Grist, John Verduin and Jean Maurice, who escaped from the Ontario Reformatory on Monday, were brought back to the institution by guards to-day. They had walked from here to Brampton, and were arrested by officers on the report of a citizen who became suspicious.

LOUIS TIMMINS DIES SUDDENLY

Veteran Prospector Pioneer in Mining Industry of Northern Ontario.

AMULET ORE SUPPLY.

TORONTO, June 4. (Special to Examiner.)—Owing to the prevailing low price for zinc in Europe and the fact previous reports stated the company was storing zinc concentrates at the rate of 60 to 75 tons a day was something of a surprise. Net profit at the property from zinc alone is said to be approximately $1.25 per ton of ore mined. Assuming the average ore being treated at the Amulet mill runs in the neighborhood of 10 per cent zinc, 200 pounds to the ton. The rate of profit at $1.25 would be about 5-8 cents per pound. It is understood difficulty is experienced in stock piling zinc concentrates too long as oxidization interferes with the ultimate treatment. President Connell is still in the north and will probably have som definite word regarding operations on his return gossip around the street had it that Nordon Corporation Stock was to be called for trading on the New York curb to-morrow. In cirlces close to the company, however, this is thought unlikely as formal application for listing could not be made until after the meeting late last week and the committee of the exchange will probably take a week or ten days to give the matter full consideration. About the end of next week is believed to be a more likely time. The stock is now being dealt in, it is understood, on the unlisted section of the curb.

Prospector Dies.

The death of Louis Henry Timmins, removes one who, in conjunction with his brother, Noah Timmins, will long be remembered as a pioneer in the mining industry of Northern Ontario and Quebec. Although Mr. Timmins, during the last few years, had eased up a little in his mining activities, he retained an active interest in the operation of the Hollinger to the end. His career covered a per cent of thirty years which saw the rise and decline of Cobalt, and the birth of the other important camps.

Interlisted Issues Suffer in the Break

TORONTO, Ont., June 4. (C.P.)—The market worried along rather quietly this morning with price readjustments to meet occurrences in Wall Street while the Toronto Stock Exchange was closed Tuesday, furnishing the only break in prices.

Inter-listed issues were most affected. Brazilian, Nickel, Ford of Canada, Massey-Harris, C.P.R. came out lower and either remained stationary or slipped off further. Brazilian, Nickel, Massey lost a point, C.P.R. old a couple of points and Ford approximately ½ point.

City Dairy, feature last week and again Monday, recorded a heavy turnover, but at a steady price within a small fraction of the close Monday. At midday the stock was unchanged at 65¾.

Oils were firm and lightly traded Walkers, while off slightly, was not soft.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 4. (Foreign exchange irregular; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents); Great Britain 4.85 11-16; France, 3.92 1-8; Italy, 5.23½; Germany, 23.85. Canadian dollars at 1-16 per cent discount.

New Ginger Ale.

Canada Dry Ginger Ales announced the marketing of a new sparkling soda water, claimed by the company to have merits superior to any water on the market. Some time ago negotiations were carried on between Canada Dry and the White Rock Company with a view to merging but the two interests could not agree and the plan was dropped.

LOWER TONE IS PROMINENT

Gains and Losses About Evenly Divided at Mid-day on Toronto Exchange.

OILS STILL ACTIVE.

TORONTO, Ont., June 4. (C.P.)—Volume of turnover fell slightly following a brisk opening on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, and prices displayed an irregularly lower tendency at mid-day. Underlying firmness marked the list, however, and gains and losses were about evenly divided when taken at noon.

Oils were still the active spot on the board, Nordon securing a lot of attention at $2.30, 5 above last Monday's close. Reports on the street had it the stock was to be listed on the New York curb to-morrow but it is understood this will not take place until some time next week at the earliest. Chemical Research was under accumulation, climbing to 7.90 for a gain of $1. Calmont advanced 3, but Ajax Oil and Dalhousie were slightly easier.

A new high for Teck Hughes was the chief point of interest in a rather mixed group of golds, the stock selling at $7.30 for a gain of 15. Hollinger and Wright-Hargreaves also displayed advances, but Howey cased 4 to 93 and Lake Shore a quarter to $22.50. Siscoe was up a point and Columario 12 higher at 70.

Nickel was under some pressure, dropping over a point to $31.75. Noranda eased 10 to $29.80. Lower-priced base metals were also softer, Waite-Ackerman falling 10 to $2.40, and Base Metals and Pend Oreille 5 each. Lindsleys were firmer, Sudbury Basin gaining 7 to $2.67, Ventured 2 to $1.82 and Sherritt Gordon a point to $2.08.

BROKER GETS TWO YEARS FOR FRAUD

All sentences, the Court ruled, are to run concurrently.

Mr. Bole was arrested on May 14, four months after his company was suspended from trading on the Winnipeg market. He was released on bail of $50,000 the following day.

According to an official statement from the Winnipeg Grain Exchange in February, creditors of the Electric Elevator Company, successor to the Bole Grain Company on the Exchange were to suffer a loss of about $2,000,000.

Charges against Mr. Bole alleged that on or about January 16, 1930, he made a false written statement with the intention of inducing the Bank of Montreal to advance $85,000 to his company; that between December 5, 1929, and January 17, 1930, he made a false statement regarding his company's financial condition in order to secure $85,000 loan or credit from the bank.

Grain Undergoes Drop On the Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Ills., June 4. (C.P.)—Rains over spring wheat sections both in Canada and south of the International boundary, had an early bearish effect on wheat values to-day. Reports that many Winter wheat fields in Oklahoma and Kansas are turning white as a result of rot failed to act as a counterbalance. Opening unchanged to 3-8 cents off, wheat later underwent setbacks all round. Corn, oats and provisions were relatively steady, with corn starting at a shade to 3-8 cents gain, but subsequently sagging somewhat.

TOBACCO IS BLAMED FOR MOUTH CANCER

Protracted Use of Tobacco and Ragged, Dirty Teeth Given As Cause.

HARRISBURG, Penn., June 4 (C.P.) — Protracted use of tobacco was called the principal though remote cause of mouth cancer at a meeting to-day of the Dauphin County Medical Society.

"There is no question," said Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins, "that the most common cause of cancer of the mouth to-day is the long continued use of tobacco. The second is ragged, dirty teeth. Cancer of the mouth must have been very rare before the discovery of tobacco in America.

"It is since the discovery of tobacco that we have learned that some barbarous tribes in Africa have cancer of the mouth following the chewing of betel nuts. It was the smoking of the short pipe in Ireland that first called attention to cancer of the mouth and lip. We have no evidence, now that we have our recent experience, that it makes much difference whether it is pipe, cigarette, cigars, chewing tobacco or snuff, or betel nut. Apparently it is the irritation that is the chief cause.

CALLED A "DRY SNOOPER" WOMAN WANTS $2,000

MUNCIE, Ind., June 4 (C.P.)—Mrs. Clara E. Hutson of Muncie wants $2,000 damages as proof she is not a "dry snooper."

Alleging that Dewey Kennedy, workman, circulated reports that she caused police to raid the home of a neighbor, where home brew was found, Mrs. Hutson has filed suit against Kennedy charging slander. The complaint sets out that she is "being laughed at, scorned, talked about, ridiculed and abused as a "dry

PORT HOPE FIRM SELLS INTEREST

Minority Shareholders Offered Same Price and Conditions as Majority Shareholders.

FOR THIRTY DAY PERIOD.

TORONTO, Ont., June 4. (Special to Examiner.)—Official announcement of the sale of the controlling interest in Port Hope Sanitary Manufacturing Company, Ltd., is contained in a letter from President J. A. Kilpatrick, to shareholders of the company. Mr. Kilpatrick in stating that himself and associates had disposed of the controlling interest states that their acceptance of the offer provided that the minority shareholders should, if they desire, receive the same price and conditions as the majority interests had received and accepted. The offer holds good for a period of 30 days from May 24th and minority stockholders, who wish to sell their shares on this basis, are advised to send their certificates to the manager of the Bank of Montreal, 14 King Street West, Toronto.

According to the financial statement of Port Hope Sanitary for the year ending December 31, 1929, there were outstanding 38,123 ordinary shares of no par value which at $44 a share would be equal to $1,677,412. Total assets were valued at $1,650,861 and current assets $528,259. Current liabilities amounted to only $48,776, leaving net working capital of $479,483. Profit from all sources in 1929, amounted to $377,025 and after all charges there was earned $4.62 a shares on the outstanding stock of no par value. Port Hope Sanitary was incorporated in August, 1916, to acquire the entire property and assets of the Standard Ideal Company of Port Hope. The company is engaged in the manufacture of enamel ware of all kinds, particularly in the nature of bathroom and similar fittings with the factory located at Port Hope, Ont.

About five years ago J. A. Kilpatrick and his associates took over control and since that time the old common shares of $100 par have been split four for one and the preferred issue retired in May, 1928, through an offer of $100 cash or as an alternative 3 shares of common stock. While the identity of the purchasing party is not disclosed in the official letter the street understands that Crane, Limited, are the owners.

ARTICLE XXXVIII.

Q.—What are the chief points to be considered in the selection of Commercial Paper?

A.—Commercial paper demands the exercise of much caution from the standpoint of the small investor. This is largely because the banks get the first choice and the small investor must take what is left. Moreover, short term notes usually only represent equities of certain companies and there may be several bond issues outstanding with prior liens. And it is at times of business depression when interest rates are high and short term notes offer their greatest appeal, that business failures are most prevalent. At such times it is often better to have one's money in the bank at a loss of interest than in the short term notes of doubtful securities.

Although high money rates must be considered as a reason for the higher yields of short term notes, there are often other reasons for this. It often means decreased safety due to the corporation being hard pressed for money.

It is desirable that the commercial paper should merely be tiding the manufacturer over a busy season. Most firms have their busy and slack periods, and additional money is justly required at certain times. This commercial paper should know that an actual transaction has taken place and that the borrower is merely getting an advance payment for goods that have actually been shipped out. The money borrowed should not be required for the purchase of land, buildings or machinery.

The financial and moral standing of the issuing company is very important. It is desirable that the financial standing of the firm be well known and highly regarded. The firm should have been in operation over a period of years.

The financial statement of the firm should be a favorable one. The current liabilities should be well covered by the current assets, and if there is any doubt as to this ratio, the value of the company's stock on hand should be exercised to see that the stock on hand is not too great for that particular time of year. Companies often fail because they carry heavy inventories at the wrong time, when prices and sales are due to recede. Cash and accounts receivable should be as large as possible, and bills receivable should not form a prominent part of current assets. A company should have sufficient current assets to cancel its current liabilities and enough in merchandise to cover the current liabilities again. If notes and accounts payable are not offset by cash and receivables, current assets should be considerably over twice the amount of the debt.

One must always buy through reliable brokers especially when the borrower is not a local one.

"Two-name" notes should be selected if possible as this gives the purchaser a double security for the note. These names should be well known and well rated by Dunn and Bradstreet.

An investor must examine the financial position of the issuing company in the same way as he would were he buying its bonds or stock. But he must exercise most care in purchasing its commercial paper.

After 62 years of waiting the congregation of St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Helensburg, Scotland, have just decided to complete the erection of the uncompleted church tower.

Visits Speakeasy, Takes One Drink, Then Found Blind; Lands in Clink

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 4.—(C.P.)—Frank Irwin, 30, of Cleveland, Ohio clean-cut and neatly groomed, was a pathetic figure when arraigned in City Court yesterday after having been picked up in the street, blind and unable to find his way about. Irwin told the Court he had stopped in an Elmira speakeasy on his way to Buffalo and had taken just one drink. When he reached Buffalo he was unable to distinguish light from darkness. He has no relatives or friends with whom he can communicate, he said.

The Court as an act of charity imposed a 30-day penitentiary sentence after doctors from the Buffalo City Hospital reported they could no nothing for the man.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Carrying its welfare work for employees a step further, the Canadian Westinghouse Company, Limited, has instituted a scheme of group life insurance whereby only about one half of the cost of the insurance is paid by the employe, the company taking care of the remainder. The individual policies are for $1,000 each and as Canadian Westinghouse, at its Hamilton plants and its offices and repair shops across the Dominion has over 4,000 employees, the total of this insurance will run over $4,000,000 the insurance has been placed with the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

Wall Streets influence over the local market was demonstrated with the resumption of trading to-day. While Toronto Stock Exchange was in recess Tuesday, New York remained open. Prices declined in the American centre with the result that a number of Canadian stocks listed there left off last night below where they had closed locally Monday, thus, as was to be expected, stocks affected came out llower this morning and loses averaging around a point occurred in Brazilian. Nickel, Massey Harris and losses of lesser extent in several other issues.

Revival Still a Hope.

The 1930 industrial revival is still mainly a matter of hope and promise, says a current survey of Standard Statistics Company, of New York, speaking of conditions in the United States. Aggregate volume of production has followed a mainly upward course since strking bottom last December, but the recover to date has been off less than the usual seasonal proportions, in every month thus far this year, composite industrial activiy has declned sharply below not only the record, 1929, levels but also the Standard Statistics estimated normal trend. Sentiment among many important corporation executives is, however, becoming more cheerful. That the next real turn in the situation will be upward is the concensus, with only the precise time in question. The predomination opinion is that late summer or early fall will bring renewed signs of revival, which should become increasingly pronounced as the year draws to a close.

It is rather difficult to make new comment about the market as it has been stagnant for weeks and developments out of the ordinary are lacking. Prices are moving around in a circle and maintaining practically the same level day after day with an odd issue now and again coming in for increased attention.

Italy expects its 1930 rush of tourists to be the largest ever entertained.

PAPER TAKEN TO COURT MUST PAY $150,000 SUIT

Based On Article Claiming Misappropriation of Anti-Saloon Funds.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 4. — A verdict for $150,000 damages has been returned by a Superior Court jury here in the suit of Edwin C. Dinwiddie against the Los Angeles Examiner.

Dinwiddie in 1914 was superintendent of the National Temperance Bureau, Legislative Bureau of the Anti-saloon League in Washington. The suit was based upon an article which said Dinwiddie had misappropriated a $10,000 fund voted by Congress for preparation for an International Congress against Alcoholism. Attorneys for the newspaper announced an appeal would be taken, after the verdict was announced yesterday.

BEAUTIFUL FRENCH VALLEY IS RAVAGED BY FLOOD

CHEVREUSE, France, June 4. — (C.P.)— Flood waters have ravaged the beautiful valley of the Chevreuse where thousands of tourists journey to dine at scores of country hostelries thereabout.

Torrential rains Monday night swept the steep hill-sides gathering dirt and stones that battered down garden walls and wrecked a number of houses, floating the furniture on the ground floor rooms, and blocked dozens of roads.

There were no casualties despite heavy damage to gardens, and poultry farms. The beauty of the landscape was spoiled over an area of several miles.

CROCODILE REWARDED

BERLIN, (U.P.)—A captive balloon that had been floating over the Berlin zoo to advertise the arrival of 1,000 crocodiles broke away in a heavy wind, being found later near Leipsic. The winner was given a money reward by the zoo administration and also presented with one of the crocodiles.

TWO CONTESTING BIG CONVENTION

FOR NORTHUMBERLAND.

WARKWORTH, June 4. — (By Staff Correspondent)—Major J. F. Belford and Milton Maybee are this afternoon contesting the Liberal-Conservative for the riding of Northumberland. Major Belford is an ex-member of the provincial legislature while Mr. Maybee has served two terms in the Federal house.

FIND 100 STICKS OF DYNAMITE.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 4.—(C.P.) — Detectives under Chief Investigator Patrick Roche raided a garage on the west side and found 100 sticks of dynamite in the ashes of a furnace. Two men were captured. The officers were looking for a gangster's crematory, existence of which is suspected because of the recent hoodlum habit of spiriting away the bodies of their victims.

OLD ENGINE EXHIBIT

COLOGNE, (U.P.)—What is said to be the first gas engine ever to have been put to practical use will be exhibited at the 50th anniversary meeting of the Society of German Engineers here this summer. The motor, built in Cologne in 1864, will be kept here as a monument.

PRODUCTION DROPS

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 4. (C.P.) Ingot production of Thehu. S. Steel Corp., declined 5 percent during the past week to 75 percent. of capacity according to Dow, Jones & Co. This is the sharpest reduction recorded in some time. At the start of June last year the corporation was operating in excess of theoretical capacity.

Prospects for Bonds

Most authorities are of the opinion that the future will see an appreciation in the average of general bond prices. The downward trend of interest rates and commodity prices, together with the abundance of investment funds, affords ample basis for higher bond prices.

Our June offering list suggests, therefore, that the present time is opportune for commitment in high-grade bonds. It recommends that before the vacation your investments be scrutinized and adjusted so as to best benefit from any improvement in the bond market.

In addition, it indicates representative bonds which, in our opinion, are now attractive. We would be glad to furnish a copy of this bulletin upon request.

HAVELOCK ANGLERS RESTOCK OAK LAKE

Fifty-six Thousand Lake Trout Provided by Government Hatchery at Southampton.

HAVELOCK, June 3 (Examiner Correspondence).—On Friday evening last 56,000 lake trout arrived in Havelock. In one hour there was not a fish to be seen here. These speckled beauties were met at the station by half a dozen of the local anglers, who had undertaken to convey them to Oak Lake on the north and Belmont to the east of here. They had been forwarded from the Government hatchery at Southampton, where the water was becoming too warm for them. A. E. Mouck had charge of the consignment, and he and Russell Green declare that they were in first class condition. Not a single fish was dead. The fish were shipped on very short notice, as word had been received only Friday morning to be ready to receive them. Mr. Green undertook to look after the distribution, and enlisted the services of Horace King of Belmont and Bruce Curtis of Havelock, who assisted in placing them in Belmont and Oak Lakes respectively. The fry was shipped to Havelock in sixteen cans, each containing 3,500 fish. Eight cans were put in Belmont Lake by Horace King and eight were placed in Oak Lake by Mr. Green. All the waters hereabout are now well stocked with trout and bass fry. Some one hundred and fifty thousand have been placed this season. There are sure to be plenty of good fish stories, in the not distant future.

INVITE HOOVER TO FRONTIER DAY

U. S. President Urged to Attend Annual Wild West Celebration.

AT CHEYENNE.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 4 (U.P.)—President Hoover may be one of the 100,000 persons expected here during the latter part of July to view the famed Frontier Days Celebration.

An invitation which has the support of Gov. Frank C. Emerson and the Wyoming delegation in Congress has been issued to the chief executive by the local chamber of commerce.

The invitation suggests that Mr. Hoover arrange his tour of western nation parks so that he can spend at least one day here during the "wild west" festival which will be held July 22-27.

Frontier Days celebrations have been held annually for 33 years. The festival is to the West what the annual Mardi Gras is to the South.

Local hotels report that many reservations already have been made for the five days of the celebration. Large sections of the grandstands also have been reserved, chiefly by easterners.

Evening entertainment again will be provided this year by "Frontier Nights," a feature inaugurated last year. A "street" of the pioneer period, with such landmarks as McDaniels Theatre, the Gold Room, Pat's and other noted resorts, is to be reproduced at a cost of more than $30,000.

COUNCIL AGREES TO AID NEW PARK

D. E. Bell is Elected President of the Marmora Booster Club.

PLAN CARD PARTY.

MARMORA, June 4.—The second meeting convened for the reorganization of the Marmora Booster Club was held in the Council chambers on Monday evening, under the presidency of D. E. Bell. The meeting was well attended and keen discussion marked the deliberations. The committee appointed on the previous Wednesday to interview the Marmora Township Council with regards to its support of the project reported a good response. The council agreed to make a grant on the understanding that it be applied against the debt on the property and that Marmora village council duplicate same.

The members said they were willing to assist in every possible way. The committee in reporting the response from the township council also made the suggestion that Rawdon township and Deloro village councils be also approached in a similar manner. The matter of the name by which the property should be continued to be known caused a certain amount of lively discussion. Some felt it should be known as a tourist park while others favored the designation of a municipal park. Finally the motion carried that it be known as the Booster Club park and that it be considered a free park. There was little delay in the election of officers which followed. The officers elected were:

Membership tickets at one dollar each were next decided upon. The offer of T. E. Potts of the Royal Hotel to loan his dining room for a card party in aid of the Booster Club funds was accepted and a euchre and bridge party was arranged for Monday, June 9. A bee to clean up the grounds and effect other minor improvements was called for the afternoon of June 11.

Other matters of a vital interest to the community will be taken up at a later date. Owing to the lateness of the evening, the discussion regarding the organization of sports for the summer is also deferred until that meeting.

PONTYPOOL SHAKEN UP BY ODDFELLOWS' SPREE

Lodgemen Hold Street Parade and Electricity Lights Streets For First Time.

PONTYPOOL, June 4.—The Oddfellows were out in full force at Pontypool on Friday night, May 16, when the Pontypool Lodge, No. 296, I.O.O.F. held a "first degree" night. Visitors were in attendance from many outside points.

Perhaps the tid-bit of the evening was when over 150 Oddfellows lined up in "company" formation at the southern extremity of the village and headed by a negro "mammy" wielding a corn broom and leading a billy goat, marched down the main street to the martial strains of "Highland Laddie" played by the Cobourg Oddfellows' Band.

About 200 Oddfellows found seats in the lodge room and witnessed a most marvellous conferring of the "First degree", by the Bowmanville team while the Cobourg Oddfellows Orchestra provided appropriate music.

Coincident with the visiting Oddfellows was the fact that the Hydro-Electric street lights were switched on for the first time in Pontypool's history.

It was a big night and the village is still recovering from it.

Nine Young Ladies Graduate From St. Joseph's Hospital

ARCHBISHOP O'BRIEN ADDRESSES GRADUATING CLASS OF NURSES, DR. HEWETT PRESENTS DIPLOMAS

Miss Anastasia Heffernan Wins Prize For General Efficiency.

DECORATIONS BEAUTIFUL.

The auditorium at St. Alphonsus Lyceum was packed last evening with the friends and relatives of the Graduating class, at the annual Commencement Exercises of the Training School for Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Nine young ladies graduated last evening: Miss Elizabeth Helen Carter of Brighton, Valedictorian of the evening and winner of the first prize for General Proficiency, given by His Grace, Rt. Rev. Archbishop O'Brien of Kingston and Peterborough; Miss Anastasia Heffernan of Peterborough, who won the prize for General Proficiency, given by Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield; Miss Lillian Winifred Abel of Peterborough, winner of the prize for Bandaging, presentd by the Medical Staff of the Hospital; Miss Francis Teresa Hynes of Peterborough, winner of the second prize for Bandaging, also presented by the Medical staff; Miss Margaret Mary Grady of Claraday, winner of the prize presented for Neatness; Miss Catherine Houlihan of Downeville, winner of the prize for Praictical Work, presented by the Alumnae of St. Joseph's Hospital; Miss Blanche Helen Kelley of Muskoka; Miss Loretta Fitzgerald of Otonabee, and Miss Agnes Teresa Gainey, of Peterborough.

The arrangement of the stage, in charge of the Sisters of St. Joseph and the ladies of the Catholic Women's League, under whose auspices the reception which followed, was held was lovely. The back was hung with curtains of French blue and bronze velvet and the canopy of the stage was arranged with triangular white trellises wreathed with red and yellow roses. There were tall palms and ferns and a profusion of beautiful roses, in red, pink and yellow. The graduates in their spotless white uniforms and caps sat on the stage, making a pretty picture with their arms filled with pink roses tied with gold tulle. A large number of the pupil nurses in blue uniforms, were present in the front rows. Clergymen from the city and district were well represented at the Exercises.

Archbishop O'Brien Present

The affair was honored by the presence of Archbishop O'Brien, who came up from Kingston especially for the occasion. He gave the address to the graduates, a short speech delivered in the pleasant friendly manner that has endeared His Grace to his people of Peterborough.

Referring to the short time yet remaining until he will be superseded by Bishop-elect O'Connor, the Archbishop congratulated the graduates and thanked the staff doctors for their generous co-operation in assisting with the task of preparing the nurses for their life work.

The Archbishop said that the desire of the hospital, one that was felt by everyone who labored there, from the man who kept the furnaces going to the nurses and physicians, was to help sick people to become better.

"But no matter what else you have in a hospital, if you have not a soul and efficiency and promptness as well as knowledge, then the patient won't be properly cared for.

"We cannot stress too much the work of the nurse in assisting to bring the patient back to health. The doctor may be the best in the world, but if his instructions are not conscientiously lived up to and his remedies applied properly, there is no good in his treatment."

His Grace asked the nurses to hold up before themselves always the high ideals which had been instilled into their minds during their years of training. He asked them also to think of the task of bringing the patient back to health than of the money they would get for the work.

"You have your unions and rightly so, but don't work for salary alone. Work first for the honor and glory of God and for the doing of those corporal works of mercy involved in bringing back to health the father or mother of a family or a little child."

Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., occupying the chair, spoke briefly to the nurses, congratulating them on the attainment of the hoped-for goal in their life work.

Presented Diplomas

The presentation of diplomas, tied with ribbons of white and gold, and accompanying medals, to the graduates, was made by Dr. C. D. Hewett.

Dr. G. S. Comeron presented the prizes, and also congratulated the young ladies on having "navigated a somewhat troubled sea of education." Elaborating on this idea of education, he said that he would like to impress upon the public mind the idea that nursing is not simply just a piece of work to which women are apprenticed for a certain length of time, but that it is a profession in which they may become more proficient as the years go by. And to this end, he advised all who cared for the work to refuse to be satisfied with the ordinary two years of schooling in preparation for their training, but to seek a higher standard of education, which would be an important asset later to them in following out their chosen lifework.

The Valedictory read by Miss Elizabeth Carter of Brighton was a composition of eloquent and graceful words. Miss Carter said, in part:

"We stand tonight on the threshold of a newer and broader existence. Hitherto we have been laying the cornerstone of the foundation of our life work. How our paths diverge and we gaze hopefully toward that gate for which graduation is the golden key.

"Sometimes the way has been rugged. We have had tired feet and aching hearts. Our burdens have been often hard to bear. But there have always been willing hands and kind counsel to help us. Now these things seem infinitesimal in our hour of rejoicing.

These parchments that we have received to-night mean that we are enrolled in one of the most glorious professions open to women. The eminence of the nursing profession is because of the value of human life and its sacredness before God. We have chosen to labor in the richest field of service. To alleviate the sorrows of others and to bring sunshine to a dark and desolate heart is a God-like act.

"The nurse is the helper of that glorious medical profession whose members have for centuries been lavish in their service to mankind."

Miss Carter concluded with a sincere appreciation from the class of the assistance given the graduates by His Grace, the Archbishop, by the spiritual director of the class, the Rev. J. J. O'Brien, by the chaplain, the Rev. Father Corkery, by the Rev. Mother Superior and the Nurses' Superintendent at the Hospital and the Sisters and doctors of the staff.

A musical program formed part of the evening's entertainment, and was much enjoyed. It included a violin and piano duett by Joe Nolan and Miss Berenice Flynn, a piano duett by the Misses Mary Reynolds and Veronica Scollard, a vocal solo by Miss Geraldine Collins, with accompaniment played by Miss Mary Reynolds, a violin duett by the Misses Marion Best and Kathryn Corkery, accompanied by Miss Berenice Flynn and a final selection by the orchestra of St. Peter's High School, with Miss Mary Reynolds at the piano.

At the conclusion of the Exercises refreshments were served in the upper room by the members of the Catholic Women's League and a dance was held in the auditorium, when excellent music was provided by Jack Marshall's orchestra.

The photos above show Lieut. M. F. Slaght, who leapt from his U. S. army biplane and landed safely near Kitchener, June 2nd. The wing of the machine buckled when he hit an air pocket. Man Married Fifty Years is in Jail Charged With Attacking His Aged Wife HONAKER, Va., June 4 (Canadian Press). — Davy Walls, 81, was in jail here to-day charged with attacking and seriously wounding his 83-year-ld wife with an axe and knife. They had been married 50 years.

Neighbors reported to county authorities that Walls, after wounding his aged spouse, held off her rescuers two hours with a gun, before two men rushed him from the rear and overpowered him.

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Field, Mrs. Walls was said by physicians to be in extremely serious condition. She suffered a fractured arm and leg and was cut on the throat and head. She told officers her husband attacked her with an axe, and Dr. E. F. White, who attended her, said there also were evidences that a knife had been used.

Officers reported finding blood on a poker in the Walls home.

MOSLEMS URGED TO ADD STRENGTH TO NATIONALISTS

Appear to Have Sympathy With Civil Disobedience Movement.

MILE LONG PARADE.

Religious Differences Formerly the Barrier That Prevented Forces Joining.

BOMBAY, India, June 4.—(A.P.)—Nationalist leaders today foresaw increasing co-operation of Moslem elements with them in the Civil Disobedience campaign by which they expect to win Independence and Swaraj (home rule) from Great Britain.

A mile long procession of Moslems last night paraded the streets to demonstrate Mohammedan sympathy for the movement. Later they assembled on the Maidan Esplanada and unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the program inaugurated by the All-India National Congress entrusted to the leadership of Mahatma Gandhi.

The resolution appealed to all Moslems to participate in the Satyagraha or Civil Disobedience movement and to boycott British goods. It was declared also that as long as the congress and the Moslem Council did not support the proposed London Round Table Conference no Moslem should attend it as a representative of his people.

Since the start of the Civil Disobedience campaign Moslem participation has been much mooted. The Moslems represent a large Indian majority but with a racial and religious gulf between them and the Hindus sometimes termed unbridgeable. Their leaders have maligned the Nationalist cause, with which they joined in 1924, and have asserted that a Nationalist Government would be predominately Hindu, submerging Moslem rights.

Disquieting Factors

ALLAHABAD, June 4. (C.P.)—Dr. Shafat Ahmen Kahn, prominent Moslem leader and member of the Legislative Council, who returned today from a tour of the various districts of the United Provinces expressed the opinion that the campaign of civil disobedience was fizzling out in this section.

Khan said, however, that he had observed several disquieting factors, as for instance that in the rural districts of Etah and Bulandshar strenuous efforts were being made to induce the peasants not to pay rents. To meet this peril he urged that land-owners be organized effectively and kept on the alert.

GRAF NEARS EUROPE.

HORTA, Fayal, Azores, June 4. — (C.P.). — The Graf Zeppelin, bound from Lakehurst to Sevile, Spain, passed over the Island of Flores, Azores, at 6.00 a.m., E.S.T. All seemed well aboard.

SUPPORT GANDHI MOVEMENT

BOMBAY, June 4. (C.P.)—A mile-long procession of Moslems paraded the streets here last night to demonstrate sympathy of the Mohammedans toward the civil resistance movement of Mahatma Gandhi.

The graders assembled and unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the program inaugurated by the All-India National Congress under the guidance of Gandhi.

THIRSTY MANITOBA FROTHBLOWERS REBEL AT NEW BOTTLED BEER TAX

Treasury Expected Income of $100,000—May Now Lose $50,000.

NEW TYPE OF MUTINY

(Copyright, 1930)

WINNIPEG, June 4.—(Special to The Examiner).—With hot weather coming on Premier Bracken faces a new type of mutiny against "unjust taxation." Until this spring the thirsty frothblowers of Winnipeg could buy good bottled beer at 20 cents.

This spring the Premier, as Provincial Treasurer, decided to apply just one more turn to the screws and jack the price up to 25 cents. Not an unreasonable price, some say.

Not so Mr. Beer Drinker, who, ten chances to one, is an obstinate Englishman or a justice-loving German. He has forsaken almost altogether the bottled brand of frothy goods and is now quaffing draft ale.

A serious situation faces Mr. Premier Bracken in consequence. He expected to raise an additional $100,000 revenue from bottled beer increased sales. As it is he bids fair to lost $50,000. Yes, you can lead a frothblower to the bottled goods, but you cannot make him drink.

Three Persons Injured In Accident at Lindsay

LINDSAY, June 4 (Special to The Examiner).—A rather serious auto accident occurred in Lindsay Monday, when Mrs. Edward Burgess, of Dunsford, had her arm broken, her husband had his knee-cap fractured and Mrs. John Shier, also of Dunsford, was shaken up. The Burgess car was struck by another car driven by Albert Downey, of Lindsay. Before the two cars collided Mr. Burgess swerved his car, which hit a post. Mrs. Burgess is in the Ross Hospital.

LARGE FIRE IN DELHI.

DELHI, India, June 4 (Canadian Press). — Damage of over £112,000 (About $560,000) was inflicted during the night by a blaze in the Chadni Chowk, busiest trading centre in the city. The National Bank of India building and several adjoining shops were destroyed. The shops belonged to dealers in hosiery, clocks, watches, and spectacles. The cause of the fire was not determined.

MUSICAL EVENING STAGED IN CAVAN

Duncan Cowan, Miss Clemmens and Miss Helen Staples Put on Fine Program.

UNDER W. I. AUSPICES.

CAVAN, June 4. (Examiner Correspondence).—A splendid and varied program was given in Cavan Community Hall on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Cavan Women's Institute, when Duncan Cowan ,entertainer of Toronto and his accompanist, Miss Helen Staples, of Springville, delighted a large audience with their selections.

R. S. Staples capably filled the position of chairman and opened the program by asking Miss Clemmens for an instrumental selection. She responded with an encore. Mr. Cowan's first selection was "All The Girls Are Lovely By The Seaside" followed by "A Laughing Chorus" and as an encore, "An Apple A Day Keeps the Doctor Away."

Miss Staples contributed "Sunflower Time" by Jean Blewett with "Wee Hughie" as an encore. Following this Mr. Cowan appeared in a Highland costume and sang several Scotch numbers in fine voice, responding to each encore with a humorous Scotch joke. An especially fine number entitled "The Piper's Tune was given by him, while Miss Clemmens played very softly an accompaniment on the piano. By special request, Miss Clemmens played a Minuet by Paderewski followed by a Russian dance as an encore.

Appearing in typical Irish costume Mr. Cowan sang several Irish songs and told Irish stories followed by Miss Staples who gave a very humorous reading, "Nora and the Twins" responding with "The Courtship of Larry O'Dee."

Mr. Cowan again appeared, this time in the costume of an English gentleman with cane and monocle and sang "If You Can't Sing the Words, Whistle the Tune." He very ably impersonated an English costermonger talking to his baby, followed by some jokes on Englishmen. Miss Clemmens contributed "Danny Boy" followed by Miss Staples who gave "The Cattle Thief" by Pauline Johnson and an encore, "The Passing of the Kings" a tribute to King George.

Mr. Cowan sang "Sunny Dixies" and "Show Me The Way to Go Home" playing his accompaniment on a guitar and Miss Clemmens playing the piano.

Mr. Cowan's last appearance was with an accordion on which he played several selections, one number being a medley which had numbers appealing to the English. Irish, Scotch and finishing with The Maple Leaf Forever.

The artists were all on the platform—Mr. Cowan with the accordion and Miss Clemmens at the piano—when the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

The entertainers were very generous in responding to the persistent applause which followed each number.

An elephant with a passing menagerie stopped and pushed a motor truck loaded with bricks out of the mud in which it was stuck at Worcester Park, England, recently.

COMBINED SOCIETIES HEAR INTERESTING INSTITUTE TALK

Miss Aletta Smith Addresses Members of Lakefield and Young's Point Branches.

DIVIDES SUBJECT

LAKEFIELD, June 4.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Miss Lietta Smith of Glanford Station, Wentworth County, gave a very interesting and inspiring address to a combined meeting of Lakefield Senior and Junior Institutes and the Young's Point Woman's Institute on Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance which was gratifying to all concerned. Miss Smith is a young lady of pleasing personality and made a favorable impression on this, her first visit to Lakefield. Her subject was "The Four Square Institute", taking as headings: (1) Head, (2) Heart, (3) Hand, (4) Health.

(1) The head, under this section, Miss Smith spoke especially of program planning, which should be so well balanced that each member shall gain something. We should too try to draw every member of the community into the work. Study the talents and needs of your community, for instance the schools, gifts of pictures would be acceptable, first aid kits or playground equipment. In some places the Woman's Institute has sponsored a leader for the rural school playgrounds and made it with the co-operation of the teacher, an honorary position. Where there is a horticultural society in the community the Institute can co-operate with it. Health lectures by a doctor are good, and also lectures by a lawyer on laws relating to women and girls. A lawyer addressing an Institute in Wentworth County said: "But what you want, let no one sell you anything." Then historical research is a splendid thing, travelogues of the various provinces, Canadian women of note, Canadian industries. Let us keep the Canadian dollar in Canada. The speaker had samples of Canadian made linen, cotton, wool supplied by the department to show the excellence of Canadian textiles. Sociability of yesterday and to-day makes a good subject for debate; training a husband is an original topic, each member telling the history of their home.

Teaching the boys and girls ways of making pocket money and short courses are good. The Young's Point ladies have done a great deal in their sewing class for girls who are at school.

Laura Rose Stephens said she was ashamed of the dump heaps and rubbish piles of Ontario and urged a clean up campaign. Knowledge is power and as we know we grow; it is the biggest task in the world to get a man to think and we have so few leaders and so many followers. A hard time party and a mother and daughter banquet are suggestions for socials.

Roll Call Suggestions

Then Miss Smith gave some roll call suggestions such as: "Quotations on mothers, Irish joke, favorite poem, book and writer, name for house or farm, use for old papers and stockings, what to do with $1000, country I wish to visit most and why, Canadian authors, recipe for a hot supper dish, home made labor saver, cleaning hints, various ways of doing eggs, act of resting, wild and perennial flowers, number of meetings attended and a contest on the first photos of members.

The second heading was the health. As we develop personality let us be careful of our thoughts for as we think we act, and we live inside out. We must have high ideals. No one is too young or too old to set a higher standard of ideals. In the letters of a bald-headed father to his flapper daughter, the father urges the girl never to make important discussions when under the influence of odors, moonlight, food or scenery. Make important decisions out in the wide open sunlight. It was said of Dr. Drummond that when he entered a room the trend of conversation went up, which was in itself a tribute to a fine personality. A noted physchologist says that every stroke of virtue or vice leaves a scar. There are three big things to remember, love, work and a smile.

Under the third heading, the Hand, Miss Smith stressed the value of demonstrations and the more the merrier, table setting is good, a demonstration of table centres, too, is good. Then there is a wide scope in hand craft which can be profitably demonstrated.

Under the fourth heading, Health, the speaker gave six essentials: air, water, sunshine, food, exercise and rest. God gave us free air, water, and sunshine and meant us to use them. Keep your eyes guiding, your chest leading and your feet sustaining. The speaker urged the ladies to spend money on their beds to make them comfortable for one-third of our time is spent in bed.

She also gave several accident don'ts: Take your time, obey danger signals, obey conscience, don't save medicine, watch what you stand on.

In closing, Miss Smith urged co-operation in the branches. Don't leave all the work to the president, every one take their share and give of their talent for the common benefit.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Miss Smith for her talk which was endorsed by the ladies with a resounding clap.

Mrs. Elmer Johnston of Young's Point sang very sweetly "Smiling Through" accompanied by Miss Dorothy Young of Peterborough. Miss Marjorie Frankish also contributed a delightful piano solo.

After a brief business session a few necessary items of business were taken up. The Woman's Institute and Junior Institute arranged to give a wreath for the cenotaph which was unveiled on Sunday. Arrangements were also made for transportation to Young's Point on Tuesday to the picnic given by the branch there. Also it was decided to postpone Grandmother's Day till June 18.

The visitors were guests of the Lakefield Woman's Institute for tea after the meeting was over and a social half hour followed.

MANUFACTURERS AGREE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

TORONTO, Ont., June 4.—(C.P.)—An agreement on the policy to be adopted by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association regarding unemployment, inter-Empire trade, tariffs and preferences, was reported to have been reached by all delegates at a meeting held behind closed doors here last night.

Although the Association had approved the report of its Industrial Relations committee which expressed disapproval of unemployment insurance, a definite effort to solve unemployment was intimated in a resolution introduced by T. A. Russel, Toronto, and unanimously passed by the delegates. It calls for appointment of a committee by the Industrial Relations Committee to make a special investigation of labor conditions.

PARISIAN FOIBLES

Madame Jenny has designed this simple dance frock of black crepe de chine, with full flounces of tulle and the interesting decolletage, for the young girl.

SIMPLE BLACK CREPE DE CHINE FROCK FOR THE YOUNG MISS.

Frocks which make compromises between long skirts and short ones by the use of a transparent material for their lower section are unusually popular with the young. This simple black frock of crepe de chine, with full flounces of tulle has just that note of sophistication that the young girl likes for her dancing dress. The decolletage is interesting.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THE use of coffee as a beverage dates back many centuries in the Far East. It is a very popular beverage and one which many Peterborough housewives often serve.

• • • • • • •

Coffee was of such importance in Europe and England in the 17th Century that coffee houses were very popular. These were first started in Constantinople and Venice, and in 1652 one was opened in Cornhill, England, thirty-two years after the pilgrims landed in Plymouth.

• • • • • • •

As the beverage was known in Europe and England when the Massachusetts Bay Colony was formed, many of the voyagers to this continent no doubt delighted in its flavor.

• • • • • • •

It gradually found its way here, and to-day it is an every-day beverage in practically all homes. Nor is this all, for coffee is now used in a great many ways besides a drink.

• • • • • • •

Of course, you know that the coffee bean is a seed contained in a berry grown on coffee plants of a number of varieties. The kind of plant and where it is grown then influence the flavor.

• • • • • • •

We are told that to this day Mocha coffee is by reputation unsurpassed. Many persons, however, choose Mocha and Java combined, or other kinds. The manner in which the fruit is treated after it is taken from the tree changes the taste.

• • • • • • •

The manner of roasting the bean in France, for instance, ruins the beverage for Americans, who like the beans roasted rather than scorched. To the French, American roasted coffee lacks zest. Tastes, like opinions, vary!

• • • • • • •

If one is inclined to be seasick, coffee may prove beneficial. In some cases it is efficacious, but it does not always prevent nausea.

• • • • • • •

It is well to try taking a small cupful of very strong coffee an hour before sailing, if one is inclined to be seasick. Often, if a person can tide over the first few hours of a voyage, the tendency to seasickness is averted.

• • • • • • •

By that time the system may get accustomed to the rolling and tossing of the ship. When that period comes, the rest of the trip can be enjoyed without discomfort.

• • • • • • •

The slightly exhilerating effect of coffee is appreciated, especially in the morning for breakfast. After drinking one, or even two cups, at breakfast, it seems much easier to tackle the day's work.

• • • • • • •

It should be remembered that coffee, like tea, is a beverage for adults. Milk should be served to children.

• • • • • • •

These drinks should be in addition to water and not taken as substitutes. The system requires plenty of water. The appetite enjoys the other beverages in addition, not in place of pure sparkling water.

Words of welcome were given by Miss Galbraithe and greetings from the sister societies were extended by Mrs. Sinclair, St. John's Anglican Church; Mrs. Gillespie, St. Paul's United, and Mrs. Tole, Trinity United.

President's Address.

Mrs. D. Ewart, who has been president of the Presbyterial for the past ten years said: "Our backward look is only a memory, but our forward glance is one of hope." During her tenure of office, Mrs. Ewart said she felt sure of the strong support she had behind her in the good work of all the officers and workers in the W.M.S., and that it had been a long term of perfect harmony with all whom she had come in contact.

The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. W. N. McDougall, of Lakeport, and the financial secretary's report by Mrs. G. F. Clark, of Brighton. Seventeen auxiliaries went over the top of their allocation and twenty-two contributed more than in 1928. Allocation for the Peterborough Presbyterial was raised $150. The contribution for 1929 was $5,102.

A beautiful solo, entitled "A Stranger in Galilee," preceded the dedicatory prayer by Mrs. C. Head, of Colborne, and the report of the Mission Band work given by Mrs. Learmouth, of Hastings. There are 25 Mission Bands in the Presbyterial. The Bowmanville Mission Band, under the direction of Mrs. Henry, delighted the audience by reciting and singing some little pieces which suited the occasion.

Mrs. Vanston, of Toronto, provincial Mission Band secretary, spoke to the children, asking them to deny themselves one ice cream cone during the holidays for a missionary collection. She asked them to spell the word "joy" and to remember her by it—"J" was for Jesus, first; "O" for others, next, and "Y," yourself, last.

Membership of 1,025.

Miss Gertrude Harvey, of Cobourg, stated during the Presbyterial report that there were 43 organizations and a total membership of 1,025. She reported a new W.M.S. in Warsaw with a membership of 19 and stressed the fact that each auxiliary should have a press secretary.

An interesting report of the Summer School was given by Miss Pittuck before the closing of the afternoon session.

Evening Session.

The scriptural reading for the opening of the evening session was taken by Mrs. G. F. Clark, of Brighton, and was followed by prayer by the Rev. R. J. Shires, of St. John's Anglican Church.

The address for the evening was given by the Rev. Dr. Inkster, of Knox Church, Toronto. The description of his visit to Palestine and the customs of the people described in his excellent manner gave the audience great pleasure, and a hearty vote of thanks was given him which showed their appreciation of his visit among them.

Musical contribution to the program were an anthem by the choir and a duet by Mrs. Stutt and Mr. Logan.

Officers Elected

Mrs. C. C. Armstrong of Warkworth was elected president during the session on Friday morning. Other officers include: Mrs. Robert Hall, Peterborough, honorary president; Mrs. D. Ewart, Cobourg, past president; Mrs. C. C. Armstrong, Warkworth, president; Mrs. C. Head, Colborne, first vice-president; Mrs. F. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. J. W. Rork of Norwood and the Provincial report was given by Mrs. J. R. Eakins of Millbrook.

A self denial week was proposed, to be held before the thankoffering meeting. The Peterborough Auxiliaries were asked to help the smaller Auxiliaries by sending speakers, etc.

Presentations

Mrs. D. Ewart was presented with a purse and a bouquet of roses by the executive committee, and Mrs. W. N. McDougall, who has been treasurer for thirteen years was presented with a W.M.S. pin and a bouquet of roses. The presentations were made by Mrs. G. Dickson, Mrs. C. C. Armstrong and Miss G. Henry.

A telegram was sent to the Honorary President, Mrs. Robert Hall of Peterborough who was unable to attend the sessions owing to illness.

The convenor of the Resolution Committee, Mrs. G. F. Clark, expressed the appreciation of the delegates to all those who had in any way made the sessions a success, and Mrs. Ewart in her closing words thanked all who had encouraged and helped her during her tenure as president. She told how she had been a worker in the society since she was eleven years old.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Alice Michaelis

BECAUSE OF HER

Because of her a sad old man
Gained strength to face life's empty span
And found a measure of content
Down ways where once in grief he went;
Again he felt hope's wings soft stir,
Because of her.

Because of her a girl grew strong
To turn her steps away from wrong.
And through much strife at last to learn
How brightly fires of honor burn.
What peace pure living can confer;
Because of her.

Because of her an unloved child
Grew glad and childlike, played and smiled.
All these there were, and many more
Who blessed her as they passed her door,
Each proud and free, a conqueror,
Because of her!

Royals Beat Bisons To Clinch Second Place

GUY CANTRELL HURLS VICTORY IN FIRST GAME

O'Neill Clan Breaks Even in Double Bill With Rochester Red Wings.

TWIN WIN FOR ROYALS.

Hauser Drives in Eight Runs as Orioles Beat Keystones 18-2.

The International League's pennant race of 1930 gives promise of being one of the most exciting in the circuit's history with the probability that five clubs will fight it out for the championship right down through the closing weeks of the campaign.

Scarcely a day goes by without at least one shift in the four clubs battling for second place behind Baltimore's league-leading Orioles.

Yesterday, for instance, the Montreal Royals jumped into second place with a double win over the Buffalo Bisons. The Royals now trail the Orioles by two games with Rochester and Buffalo, deadlocked for third place another game and a half to the rear. A half game behind these two are the fifth place Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Royals came from behind in each game to beat Buffalo, 11-7 and 5-3. They scored four runs in the eighth inning of the opening game after the Bisons had tied the score at seven-all in the first half of the same frame. In the second game the Canadians scored twice in the seventh and last inning to win. Buckalew, acting as relief pitcher in each game, got credit for both Montreal victories.

Reading Keys Suffer.

Led by "Unser Joe" Hauser, the Baltimore Orioles maintained their winning stride at the expense of Reading, 18 to 2. Hauser drove out a double and his 13th and 14th homers of the season, personally accounting for eight Oriole runs. Stewart Bolen held the Keys to five hits and struck out nine. Bell and Herrmann were pounded for 18 hits and six Reading errors were a distinct aid to the winners.

Leafs Split Even.

Toronto and Rochester broke even in a double bill, the Leafs winning the first game 9-5, but losing the second 10-2. In the opener Guy Cantrell was touched for five runs in the first three innings, but settled down, blanked the Redwings the rest of the way and saw his teammates pound Foreman, Irvin and Littlejohn for 12 hits and 9 runs. In the nightcap, Bob McGraw scored his fifth victory of the season, outpitching Fischer and Prudhomme of the Leafs by a wide margin. He gave up nine scattered hits while the Redwings were slapping out an even dozen good for 10 runs.

The Newark Bears battered Jersey City 9 to 3, behind Parmelee's steady pitching. Jordan led the Newark attack with four singles.

Players Aroused Over Awrey Appointment

WINDSOR, Ont., June 4.—(C.P.)—Appointment of George Awrey, who gained fame as a football coach by assembling the great machine that won Inter-Collegiate pennants for Queen's University, as coach of the Windsor Rugby Football Club for 1930, has aroused considerable criticism among the club players.

Some 18 players of last year's team held an indignation meeting at which the club executives action regarding Awrey was termed "high-handed tactics." The players believe Pat Ouellette, mentor of the Ontario Football Union team that made such a good showing last year, should be re-appointed. It is pointed out that as the club was "in the red," Ouellette received only a portion of the salary promised him last fall. Importation of Awrey would mean additional expense, the players claim, and they also demand representation on the club executive.

WESTCLOX RALLY TO WIN OUT 7-6

Long Homer By Cooper Saves Clockmakers In City League Softball Tangle.

DEFEAT HARRISONS.

A long homer by Cooper after Dorrington had got on by an error of Montgomery's and White's double on which he scored while Goodson and Kitchen were being thrown out, gave the Westclox three runs in the ninth and a 7-6 victory over Harrison's. Harrison's were leading 5-4 going into the ninth but that last inning rally by the Clockmakers gave them a well-earned victory over last year's champs.

Great pitching by Darling and fast fielding the rest of the squad were big features in the Westclox win. Darling had a barrel of speed and a nice curve and six Harrison men were vanquished via the strike-out route. His slants were handled in excellent style by Catcher White.

Carruthers was Manager Harrison's choice for the pitching duties. He twirled good ball, showing a lot of speed and retired five men by strikeouts. Had Carruthers been given better support by his teammates he would undoubtedly have turned in a win.

Harrison's counted first, getting three runs in the third on a walk to Smith, a triple by Crary, a single by Vinette and a bunt by Carruthers.

Westclox came right back in the fourth and tied it up. White led off with a single and Goodson walked. Kitchen cut one through short and White registered. Fowler walked as did Foley, filling the bases. Maniece hit to Carruthers and Goodson was out at the plate. Darling walked, forcing in Kitchen. Dorrington hit one to short and beat it out, Fowler scoring. Cooper flieg to Jones.

The Clockmakers forged ahead in the sixth, when Foley doubled and was brought home by Dorrington's single.

Harrison's got that one and another in their half of the sixth, when Playford tripled and scored on Smith's single. Smith scored on two outs and a passed ball.

The Western Clock's ninth inning rally is found above. Harrison's made a gallant attempt to tie it up when Jones walked and scored on Crary's double.

The score by innings:

Westclox	000301003—7
Harrison's	003002001—6

The line ups:

Westclox—Dorrington, 3b; Cooper, cf; White, c; Goodson, ss; Kitchen, 1b; Fowler, 2b; Foley, lf; Maniece, rf; Darling, p.

Harrison's—F. Jones, cf; Crary, 3b; Calladine, 2b; Montgomery, rf; Dobson, c; Vinette, lf; Playford, ss; Carruthers, p; Smith, 1b.

ROBINS BEAT PIRATES.

Cardinals Snap Eight-Game Losing Streak at Expense of Phillies.

(By Fullerton Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The current baseball campaign has turned out to be a rather tough one for the pitchers despite the fact that a good many fine hurling performances have cropped up. The mere fact that a dozen or more hits in a game is nothing unusual for almost any team makes it all the more notable when such a hurler as young Whitlow Wyatt of Detroit can pile up a record of consistently good pitching.

Wyatt, a big Georgian whom the Tigers acquired from the Evansville club of the Three Eye League, has turned out to be one of the season's best finishers. Although he has but two complete games, both of them won, and two defeats to show for the 12 times he has appeared on the mound, Wyatt has probably done more good pitching than any other Detroiter. Time and again he has saved the Tigers from imminent defeat or has kept games already lost from becoming routs.

The Senators had attacked Whitehill and Sullivan for seven runs in the second inning before Wyatt appeared but he stopped them with three hits and a single counter in the next seven innings.

Ray Kolp of the Cincinnati Reds turned in almost the duplicate of Wyatt's performance to join him on the short list of outstanding pitchers on a day of hard hitting. Kolp came to the rescue of Harry Benton from the brutal assaults of his former teammates, the New York Giants, and stopped them, as Wyat did the Senators, with two hits. The Giants pounded Benton for ten hits and eight runs in less than three innings and won the game 9 to 1.

Another rookie, Art Teachout of the Chicago Cubs, led the way among the few pitchers who completed the games they started. He held the Boston Braves to seven hits while his mates attacked Grimes and Cooney for 17 clouts and a 15 to 2 victory.

Robins Keep Lead

Bill Clark had to hit as well as pitch to keep the Brooklyn Robins three games ahead of the Cubs. Brooklyn errors offset his holding the Pirates to eight hits, and Clark finally took matters in his own hands by hitting a double in the ninth inning and scoring the run that brought Brooklyn 6 to 5 victory.

For sheer slugging, the 11 to 10 triumph of the St. Louis Cardinals over the Phillies took the prize for a day that saw 196 hits made in eight games. The Phillies got the biggest total of them all, 23 safe hits, but St. Louis inserted seven doubles and a triple in its total of 16 to get the decision.

The New York Yankees, featuring Babe Ruth's 17th home run of the year, led the American League slugging parade by getting 19 hits and a 13 to 7 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The Cleveland Indians had the benefit of Wes Ferrell's good pitching as well as 17 hits and had no trouble beating the Boston Red Sox 8 to 3. Ferrell held the Sox to eight hits.

The Philadelphia Athletics, climbing to a one-game lead over Washington, engaged in the only real mound duel of the day with the St. Louis Browns as their opponents. Lefty Grove and Dick Coffman battled for six innings before the game suddenly blew up under them. With St. Louis leading 1 to 0 in the seventh, Jimmy Foxx and Bing Miller hit successive home runs and the Athletics moved on to a 4 to 1 triumph.

Keen Competition In Keene Field Day Bill

Keen contests featured the various events held in connection with the King's birthday sports day program held at Keene yesterday. WINIFRED ROBINSON IN SECOND ROUND

Last Year's Girl Champion and Seven Toronto Players Playing To-day.

OSHAWA, June 4 (C.P.) — Miss Winfred Robinson of St. Catharines, winner last year of the Ontario girls' golf title, and seven women golfers from Toronto, will contest the second play round of the Ontario ladies' golf championships to-day.

The first round of match play yesterday saw the elimination of three of the four entrants from outside Toronto, and five of the 12 Torontonians.

Mrs. Stuart G. Bennett of the Lambton club, runner-up in the Canadian closed title last fall, defeated Mrs. Donald Ross of Rosedale, 5 and 4, in a game that was poorly played as far as medal scores were concerned. Practically every one of the twelve holes of the match was decided by the errors of the player that lost the hole. Mrs. Ross won the first hole, but Mrs. Bennett came through with five successive wins, and after the seventh and eighth had been halved Mrs. Ross won the ninth to make the turn 3 down. The tenth was halved and the Rosedale player won the eleventh, but Mrs. Bennett won the next three to end the match.

HOMER FOR DALLIN.

Three McCarthy Brothers Are Stellar Lights on the Opposing Nine.

O. McCarthy's long drive into right field with the bases full, that scored M. Robinson and D. McCarthy to tie the count at 6-all was one of the big features of the Kiwanis Juniors-Keene tangle held in connection with King's birthday sports day program in the Otonabee town yesterday.

The game was a fast affair from start to finish although the locals had gained a lead in the three frames the homesters were on their toes all the way and with the beginning of the rally in the last half of the sixth the Keene nine steadily piled up their end of the count.

Foley, Huggins, Dallin and Sproats were again the heavy hitters of the fray, Dallin connecting for a homer in the first half of the third while Foley drove a neat ball far back of the centre fielder. Foley also covered himself with glory in the first half of the fourth by nipping two flies from the bats of A. Fletcher and M. McCarthy which, with Robinson's pop into Sprots' waiting glove, retired the side.

Hillier Good.

Hillier, on the mound for the locals, in the first frames pitched steady ball, having three strikeouts to his credit and allowed no one to pass the initial sack while Cuthbertson although he had a total of eight strikeouts to his credit was more easy to hit at times and the homesters garnered in the six runs necessary to tie the game. McCarthy at times was fast and his wicked curves, with plenty of speed, did much to hold down the batting jamboree which started with the beginning of the game.

Plays Spectacular Game

Sproats, who is filling in Murray Hartley's place of last in the shorstop position played a great game making many spectacular catches and connecting for a long drive into centre field in the last frame. Morrocco, this season's backstop, also did well, keeping a cool head in the critical stages of the last frame and doing much to hold the homesters in check.

SPEARHEAD WINS IN CLOSE FINISH

Tetrarchal and Gowan Second and Third in Thorncliffe Feature.

TORONTO, June 4.— Just half a length ahead of Tetrarchal, which in turn led Gowan in by a neck, Spearhead, carrying the white and red colors of the Tedlu Stable, dashed across the finish line at Thorncliffe Park yesterday afternoon to win the second running of the Prince of Wales Plate, feature event on closing day. It was one of the most sensational races staged in Toronto this season and Spearhead just did get up there in the final furlong to head off the speeding Tetrarchal, which had led the way from the quarter mile pole.

The horses were at the post only two minutes before the barrier was sprung and then in that first mad lurch Aymond, winner of the King's Plate, was caught flat-footed and was left to trail the field throughout the entire journey of one mile and a furlong. Henry Little was in the saddle, but he must have sensed that Aymond could not overtake the flying three setters, so Aymond galloped leisurely in, many lengths behind the winner.

Tetrarchal, which was coupled with Gowan in the Howe Stable entry, had a five-length advantage at the half-mile pole and appeared to be headed for certain victory. At that stage Star Crest, carrying more weight than usual, was in second place and Spearhead in third, but the latter moved up gradually, and when Tetrarchal entered the home stretch amid wild acclaim from the large crowd he was just a neck in front of the oncoming Spearhead.

Harwood Nine Defeats Roseneath Team 10-7

ROSENEATH, June 4. (Examiner Correspondence).—In a stirling battle that featured many close plays and smart teamwork the Harwood intermediates defeated Roseneath 10-7 in an East Northumberland league fixture played here yesterday. McLean clouted a home run for the winners, bringing in three runs which accounted for the Summer Vacation town team copping the win.

OVER HUNDRED ATHLETES TAKE PART IN MEET

Relay Team Nosed Out of Second Place in Last Ten Yards of 880 Race.

DISTRICT REPRESENTED.

King, Young and Bennett Were Each Successful in Winning Bronze Medals.

OSHAWA, Ont., June 4 (Special to The Examiner).—The Peterborough Collegiate Institute's Athletes made a very creditable showing in the annual track and field meet for District No. 5, which was held at Alexandra Park yesterday afternoon, under the supervision of J. L. Murray, organizing secretary for the Ontario Athletic Commission.

The meet was one of the most successful ever to be held in this district. More than one hundred and fifty athletes were on hand to compete in the different events and color wearers of the Peterborough Collegiate were all well up near the top.

Relay Team Does Well

The P. C. I. relay team made a particular fine effort in the intermediate 880 yards relay race but the squad was nosed out of first place in the last ten yards of the race, when Hiley, the Scarboro anchor man, made a sprint finish to take first place. Kingdon, Young and Bennett were each successful in winning a bronze medal, for placing second in the events in which they were entered. This is the first time that Peterborough has been represented and their showing was ver commendable.

Cobourg athletes coralled the majority of the honors for the day, having ten firsts and nine seconds, led by Arthur Ravensdale, the versatile athlete did exceptionally well. Scarboro High School run them a close second while Whitby and Bowmanville also managed to take a fair share of the glory.

Public School Awards

The public school awards nearly all went to Oshawa, who turned out athletes having surprising ability, Arthur Ravensdale of Cobourg made the only record of the day, clipping two fifths of a second of his own mark for the senior high hurdles. Ravensdale holds the Dominion interscholastic record for this event, his mark being 16.1, which he bettered yesterday by winning the event in 15.4.

Prize Winners

The following is the list of the events and the winners of the silver and bronze medals. Winners received silver medals and if they qualified with the standard set by the O. A. C., they will have all their expenses paid to the Provincial track and field meet, which will be held in Hamilton this year, late in August, during the British Empire Games. The runners up in each event received bronze medals. Each member of a relay team received a medal.

Pitcher Foster Edwards Sent To Birds By Yanks

CHICAGO, June 4. — The New York Yankees yesterday released Foster Edwards, right-handed pitcher, to the Baltimore club of the International League. Edwards, who started his career at Dartmouth and later pitched for the Boston Braves, has been of little use to the Yankees this season, having taken part in only a few games, without winning or losing a decision.

Takes Up Golf.

Frenchy Belanger, Canadian flyweight champion, has taken up golf as part of his training preparation for his title bout with Frankie Genaro. He will probably never attain the same prominence on the links that he has in the ring, but if practice makes perfect, as it is said, some day he may make his mark in the old pastime.

CANADIAN MINISTER HOST AT BANQUET

Official Banquet on King's Birthday at Washington Held in Canadian Legation.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 4 (C.P.)—His Majesty's health was drunk last night at the Canadian Legation by members of the British official family in Washington and high officials of the United States Government.

The traditional King's dinner was held at the Legation this year, rather than at the British Embassy, because Sir Ronald Lindsay and his staff are engaged in removing from the old Embassy at Connecticut Avenue to the new one on Massachusetts Avenue.

The Canadian Minister, Hon. Vincent Massey, as host, proposed the toasts to the King and to the President of the United States on the occasion of His Majesty's 65th birthday.

PARTNERS SLAIN

HAMBURG, (U.P.)—Some months ago a jeweler by the name of Neuner was shot to death in a holdup in his store. His partner, Erwin Teller, decided to carry on the business. A few days ago Teller was also shot to death in a holdup in the store.

west will be extended to a new 60 mile front as quickly as the Department can place fire fighters at strategical points. Despite mist so thick that flying was almost impossible, a scout aeroplane plied this morning over territory west of here where scores of serious bush blazes were in progress last night.

With the pilot's report in hand, government officials here will send out nearly 200 equipped men to carry on the war against fires.

Gods of the weather definitely threw in their lot with the smoke begrimed fighters today.

Rainfall During Night

Cool balmy weather prevailed over the fire-ridden areas and rain during the night in some sections helped to lessen the hazard described as "one of the most serious in years".

Hurkett, center on Monday's worst fires where several families had narrow escapes from death, was drenched with rain that cloudy skies had promised to supply all day yesterday.

Fires that earlier in the week were roaring infernos, were reduced to smouldering embers that another rain would kill completely.

For the time being Hurkett a few miles east of Port Arthur, has found relief.

Rain was believed to also have fallen over other sections of country to the east. Hymers continued to fight its prevalent battles with fires that had grown far less menacing overnight.

Still the most serious situation prevailed west of the lake head near Larson and Upsala, most of the government's available fighters now waiting here, will probably be sent there. Fires, while making little progress, seriously menaced valuable spruce stands.

Other Major Fires

Other major fires, the Forestry Branch reported, were at Cedar Lake Mack, Kelly, Horn, Dogiake and Flett.

These, the department said, were the most dangerous. A score or more of smaller conflagrations existed in the same territory, north and west of here.

Larson today is a blackened ruins the little railway hamlet about two miles west of the Lakehead on the Canadian National Railways fell prey to flames, Monday and its few residents fled to neighboring towns.

Two or three dwellings and railway buildings all frame, were completely wiped out.

Frame homes at isolated points in the Larson region were destroyed, bringing the total loss in personal property close to $100,000.

When Albert E. Swains' mink farm was totally demolished and the animals lost, damaged was estimated at $50,000.

Today's rains brought a better outlook to the situation throughout the northwest.

"Many of the smaller fires will be completely killed by the rains east of Port Arthur", said a forestry official.

DINORWIC, Ont., June 4.—(C.P.)—Nine miles away to the flame-razed east, the little town of Dyment is silent and forlorn to-day. A few women and children move about among piles of blankets and provisions in smoke-filled streets. Their sons and fathers are laboring to protect the settlement from forest fires one mile south, moving slowly eastward.

Settlers Are Destitute.

A host of settlers at Dyment are destitute, and scores of persons will readily accept the aid proffered by Red Cross officials. At noon to-day, five women and 16 children returned to the town from Ignace, outside the danger area, where they had been lodged at the community hall during the height of the fire threat. Half a dozen had come back yesterday to aid in preparing food and supplies for laboring men folk.

At Ignace, two women and six children refugees from Dyment are still being cared for. One of the women is a mother with a new-born babe. She was brought from Dyment Monday on a stretcher through the smoke-filled town to the waiting train. In all five families have been burned out completely at Dyment, while a number of other homes are still in great danger.

MOCK THE KING.

LONDON, June 4 (C.P.). — The London Daily Mail to-day carried an undated account of a demonstration at Poona by 3,000 men who marched through the streets openly abusing the Government and carrying a portrait of the King, who is Emperor of India, garlanded with old shoes.

The authorities did not interfere in any manner, and the writer commented that the populace was left to draw its own conclusions. He saw in the incident an abdication of authority by the Government.

GOB SAYS GENE "DUCKED" TITLE BATTLE IN 1928

Sharkey Claims Tunney Deliberately Sidetracked Him to Get Fight With Heeney.

SAYS "AFRAID OF HIM."

Boston Sailor Pitches His Voice at Former World's Champion.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Citizen Jack Sharkey is willing to take over the presidency of this heavyweight situation, but he is not particularly interested in the goodwill part of the business.

Citizen Sharkey discussed the matter freely at his Orangeburgh camp yesterday afternoon, and somehow one gathered the impression that the Great American is quite indifferent to the attitude of Gene Tunney, the former head of the concern.

The Great American is not particularly concerned whether Mons. Tunney wishes him well or wishes him ill. The Great American said he does not care for Mons. Tunney. He indicted the former titleholder on two counts:

Tunney "Ducked" Him

First, Tunney "ducked" him in 1926, before Gene became champion.

Secondly, Tunney deliberately deprived him of a chance at the title in 1928, forcing the late Tex Rickard to name Tom Heeney as his opponent.

"I knew the fellow was going to retire six months before he quit, and I knew he had made up his mind that Jack Sharkey wouldn't be his farewell opponent if he could do anything to prevent it," said Sharkey.

"A bad decision in one fight and bad handling in another gave him his out. I got a draw in my fight with Tom Heeney, and I will always think I won that fight. I lost to Risko, and I could have won that fight like breaking an egg.

"Jimmy Johnston was handling my corner that night, and he kept telling me to take it easy, and that I was away ahead. I took his word, and it wasn't worth taking. I finally woke up in the last round and I punched Johnny all over the ring, but they gave the decision against me. I still don't think I lost.

Rickard wanted Tunney to fight me, in spite of the Risko defeat. But Tunney had his excuse, and he made the best of it. He never would have fought me, and he wouldn't even fight Risko.

"He made up his mind about me long before 1928. He was signed to fight me in 1926, before I beat Godfrey and Wills. Rickard had a contract for the match, and it was to take place at Madison Square Garden.

"It happened that Eddie Mead had seen me beat Jack Renault and a few others at Boston, and Mead made a special trip to New York to warn Tunney and Billy Gibson. He told them I would be a lot tougher than they thought. They took his word. They were angling for the first Dempsey match then, and they were taking no chances."

Softball Notes.

Great softball is being provided the fans by the leagues this year. On Tuesday night C.G.E. just nosed out the Brintons in a game that was completed in 50 minutes and last night Westclox managed to defeat last year's champs by the odd run Tonght Sugar Bowl and Brinto will do battle and there should be plenty of fireworks. Both teams are playing great ball and will be right on their toes tonight for a win. A win for either team will put them in a tie for first place with the C.G.E. and Westclox.

Forsythe will likely twirl for the Sugar Papas with Dormer in reserve while Ira Dundas or Sturgeon will be on the mound for the Brintons.

The game is called for 6.15 sharp at Central School grounds.

Thursday night will bring Harrison's and the C.G.E. together and another good bill is looked for.

Baseball Gossip.

C.G.E. Intermediates will practice at the Exhibition Park to-morrow night at 6 o'clock sharp.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CAT-DOG.

Once upon a time there was a dog who chased pussy cats so much that he came to be called a cat-dog. Of course he wasn't really a cat, for he had hair instead of fur, and his toe-nails were always sticking out instead of being drawn up inside his paws as a cat's are unless she wants to scratch.

Then, too, this dog barked instead of mewed. But, for all that, he was called the cat-dog and he made a great deal of trouble. For this cat-dog wasn't good and jolly like Kackie and Peetie Bow Wow. You would never see Jackie or Peetie chasing Kittie Kat or her brothers, Joe and Tommie. But as for this other dog, my goodness! Every time he saw Joie, Tommie or Kittie Kat he would make a dash for them and bark so loudly that there was nothing for the pussies to do except climb a tree, which they did. They also fluffed up their tails until they looked like bologna sausages and their backs were arched like a Chinese bridge.

"Uncle Wiggily, can't you please do something about it?" asked Kittie Kat one day.

"About what, my dear?" the rabbit gentleman inquired.

"This cat-dog that is always chasing us," mewed Kittie. "Oh, here he comes now!" she cried, and up a tree she dashed with her tail as big as she could make it, thinking this might scare the bad bow wow away. But it didn't. At the tree he rushed, barking furiously, but, luckily, he couldn't climb up. His toe-nails weren't sharp enough.

"See here, cat-dog, what's the idea?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Why do you chase Kitty?"

"Oh, ha! ha! Just for fun!" answered the mischievous bow wow.

"Do you mean fun for you or fun for Kittie?" inquired the rabbit.

"Well, it surely is fun for me!" barked the cat-dog—leaping around the bottom of the tree making believe he was going to climb up, which caused poor Kittie's tail to fluff more than ever.

"Well, it isn't any fun for me!" she mewed down. "And I wish you would stop it!"

"Yes, you must!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Ha! Ha! Ho— Ho! You can't stop me!" barked the cat-dog.

"I'll see about that!" spoke Mr. Long-ears.

Then, when Kittie didn't come down for a long time, the cat-dog grew tired of waiting and ran away to bark at automobiles.

"Can't you do something to make him stop chasing me?" sadly mewed Kittie as she climbed down out of the tree.

"I shall try to think of a way," promised Uncle Wiggily as he started to hop over the fields and through the woods.

After a while as he hopped beneath the trees, the rabbit gentleman, all of a sudden, heard a voice saying:

"Mew! Mew! Mew!"

"Oh, is that you, Kittie?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking around. "Did you follow me here to the woods to see if I had thought of a way to stop the cat-dog from chasing you? Did you, Kittie?"

"I'm not Kittie!" said the voice.

"Who are you, then?" asked the rabbit.

"I am the cat-bird," was the answer. "Mew! Mew! Mew!"

"Why, you sound just like a cat!" exclaimed the rabbit.

"That's why they call me the cat-bird," said the feathered creature.

"Ha! Then I know how I can cure that dog from chasing Kittie!" said the rabbit. "Look here, cat-bird, will you play a trick on a bad cat-dog who is always chasing a friend of mine up a tree, will you?"

"Surely I will!" sang the cat-bird, mewing again.

"Then come with me," invited the rabbit. Uncle Wiggily showed the cat-bird where the cat-dog lived and the bird, perching upon a bush, began loudly to cry:

"Mew! Mew! Mew!"

"Ha! That's a cat for me to chase up a tree!" barked the dog. Out he rushed, but he saw neither Tommie, Joie, or Kittie Kat, for they were in their house. "Where's that cat?" barked the dog.

"Mew! Mew! Mew!" sang the bird just like a pussy.

And that dog was so excited, running up and down, trying to find the cat which wasn't there that he didn't know what to do. And then, all of a sudden, the bird flew out of the bush calling: "Mew! Mew! Mew!"

"Ha! Ha! Who got fooled!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and that dog was so ashamed of himself that never again did he chase any cats up a tree.

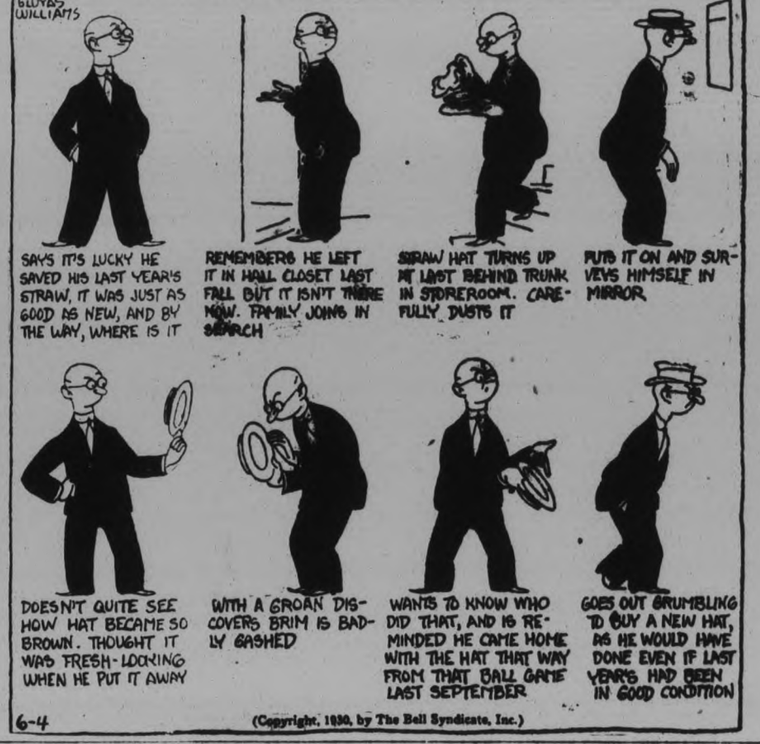
THE WORLD AT ITS WORST—LAST YEAR'S STRAW By GLUYAS WILLIAMS



(Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

IN POLICE COURT

After the court holiday on the King's Birthday, a long list of cases awaited the attention of Magistrate Langley in police court this morning. Several adjournments were effected.

A jail sentence of 10 days was meted out to Howard Lee, an 18-year-old farm boy, for stealing $5 worth of groceries from a car in Asphodel on May 9. He had on a former occasion appeared before the magistrate.

For speeding on the Lindsay highway with four in the front seat of his car, Ray Williamson of this city was fined $20 and costs and forbidden to drive other than in connection with his work until September 1. The charge was reckless driving.

Driving a car on the Chemong road at a speed allegedly over 50 miles per hour on May 28 cost H. B. Mills $20 and $8.25 costs. Arnold Allan failed to stop when entering the Lindsay road and paid $5 and costs this morning. For offenses of a similar nature in the city, Joseph Johnston and Jack Richardson were fined $5.

Ray Medd lost his license for one month for speeding on the Port Hope highway and paid $15 and costs. William Lesurf was fined $10 and costs for speeding on the Lindsay highway. A plea of guilty was entered by Jack Richardson for driving without lights at night and a fine of $2 and costs levied.

CHOOSING A WIFE, TO THIS MAN, LIKE THE BUYING OF A NEW HORSE

Wealthy Widow Dies Leaving Coachman $125,000 in Her Will.

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1930)

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 3—Wives and horses are very much alike, if you accept the testimony of Samuel J. Cutler, of Bathurst, N.B.

For 18 years, Cutler was coachman for Mrs. Melissa Mason, of Bennington, Vt., a widow. Mrs. Mason died recently and bequeathed Cutler $125,000.

He has returned to his native town of Bathurst to spend the balance of his life. At the age of 47, he wishes to forsake bachelorhood for matrimony, but he insists on the following qualifications for aspirants to his hand:

She must not be older than twittering twenty-one.

Must Be a Blonde

Gentlemen prefer blondes and Sammy admits being a gentleman. She simply must be a blonde, but not a peroxide one.

She must not be fat. He abhors fat femmes.

She must be a good cook.

She must not be a gadder.

The lucky gal can be tall or short, and need not be a ravishing beauty, condescends Sammy. He will also permit her to wear her skirts and dresses either to her knees or to her toes, this depending on her own whims in the matter of attire.

Said the sage Samuel, in discussing the candidates, while the line formed: "You know, a wife is somthin' like a horse, and I know horses from A to Z. During my life, I have also picked up a little knowledge about women. Before you pick a horse, you want to know somethin' about its past history, an' how it has bin performin'. Well, it's the same way when you're lookin' fer a wife. I want to know a woman's record an' somethin' of her pedigree!"

He is planning on living the life of Riley, back home in Bathurst, where he was a fisherman before going to Bennington to become a coachman. The popularity of the motor car did not cause Sammy to lose his job, as his aged employer liked horses, too.

4,895 DEGREES ARE CONFERRED

NAIVE COQUETRY FOR THE SUMMER GIRL.

The dreams of the summer girl are coming true this year. It seems as though Dame Fashion is playing the part of Cupid, for there is an aura of romance about this season's debutante that makes her positively irresistible. Droopy picture hats of transparent straws and lacy fabrics, frocks of crisp organdy, batiste voile and chiffon, all daintily flowered and ruffled, are fatal to the masculine heart.

The naive coquetry of the typical warm weather frock for afternoons spent on a cool verandah, or evenings in a starlit garden, is shown in the model sketched above. It is of pink organdy patterned all over with tiny embroidered flowers. Quaint ruffles edge the cap sleeves and the hem of the very full skirt. The hat, with its wide, uneven brim, is of pink horsehair straw in a slightly deeper shade.

GIFT OF MILLIONS INSPIRED BY BOY

Father Finds Lost Son in Museum and Now He Builds One.

INITIAL COST $8,000,000.

CHICAGO, Ills., June 4. — As the reconstructed Fine Arts Building the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry, soon to be housed in the reconstructed Fine Arts Building at an initial cost of $8,000,000.

This was revealed yesterday by Lulius Rosenwald, father of the boy. Mr. Rosenwald has endowed the Museum with $3,000,000. He told how it all came about at a luncheon of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

When Rr. Rosenwald and his family were in Munich 20 years ago, his son, then eight, disappeared. There was great consternation and the police searched the city until young Rosenwald was found at the Deutsche Museum, gazing wide-eyed and enraptured at an early type of locomotive that was puffing, steaming and snorting with all the animation of its earlier days.

"I became just as interested as my son in the museum and went time and again to it," related Mr. Rosenwald. "It was then I decided that if I ever had the chance I would try to give Chicago something similar."

Increased Activity Over Lindsay Route

LINDSAY, June 4 (Special to The Examiner). — C.N.R. Railway employees, who have experienced slack conditions during the past several months, are to-day welcoming the movement in wheat over this division from the lake ports. Some days ago a shipment of one million bushels of grain from the C.P.R. elevator at Port McNicoll was handled by the C.N.R., its destination being Sorel, Quebec. Since then the grain movement has increased, and railway officials anticipate a busy season.

Your correspondent was informed by a C.N.R. official that in his opinion the completion of the terminal at Prescott would have little effect on Western grain shipments over the C.N.R. from Midland. It was felt in some circles that the opening of the new Welland Canal and the construction of the big elevators at Prescott would divert considerable grain via the water route, and that very little would find its way east via the C.N.R. through Lindsay, Peterborough, and Belleville. There was nothing, the official declared, to justify this assumption.

The British Wark Office has announced that the total strength of the Territorial Army, exclusive of the permanent staff, is now 6,658 officers and 17,157 of other ranks

RUM RUNNERS UNDER ARREST

Barge is Seized in Lake St. Clair Attempting to Break New Law.

SPEED BOATS USED.

LONDON, Ont., June 4.—(C.P.)—Two arrests and the seizure of $5,000 worth of beer off Long Point last night from an unnamed barge, anchored off shore in Lake St. Clair, nipped in the bud the latest effort of America rum-runners to evade Canada's new law, which prohibits clearance of liquor to the United States. Provincial Constable Frank Kelly, of Tilbury, and County Constable Ditter, of Comber, discovered the barge, which was disguised as a concrete work boat. They arrested its crew, "Red" Rockey and "Weever" McNab, both of whom gave Detroit addresses. Charges of having liquor illegally are to be answered by them in Sandwich police court.

The alleged runners told police that they were building a breakwater along the shore, near long point when the officers first came aboard, when the beer was found, they refused to tell how it was procured. They had no clearance papers and police believe that the cargo had been cleared before the new law went into effect. Speed boats from the American side were apparently loading up at the anchored barge and running across the line with it in small lots, it is believed.

MACHINE GUN DRILL.

Lewis gun drill occupied the major part of last evening's training for members of the Peterborough Rangers Regiment. A large crowd of spectators were on hand to watch the drill, which was performed on Confederation Square, under Lieut.-Colonel M. H. Park, V.D. The drum and bugle band was also practising, the sharp roll of the drums reverberating around the square providing a typical military atmosphere.

EAGER INQUIRIES.

Tourist enquiries from various parts of the United States, which commenced to invade the local office of the Chamber of Commerce unusually early this season are still continuing to flock in by mail.

All enquiries are immediately given a prompt and comprehensive reply, the use of up-to-date filing systems in use in the Chamber's offices greatly facilitating this work.

Among the most frequent requests are those for summer cottage accommodation and the best localities for hunting and fishing.

CANAL TRAFFIC HELD UP.

Traffic on the Trent Canal between Peterborough and Lakefield was held up to-day while repairs to the Canal were being made. It was found necessary by the Canal officials to drain the water from a section.

One of three craft moored at Lakefield awaiting the opportunity to move down the Canal is a patrol boat being delivered to Government officials at Montreal by Herbert Ditchburn from the Ditchburn plant on Lake Simcoe.

60 AMENDMENTS MADE TO BILL

House of Lords Sends Coal Bill Back to Commons Greatly Amended.

DEFEAT PROBABLE.

LONDON, June 4. (C.P.)—An exciting division of sentiment in the House of Commons, with the possibility of sentiment defeated by no means remote, was expected to-night when the House was to consider 60 amendments made by the House of Lords to the coal bill.

The Liberal party has decided to support the MacDonald administration in any resistance it may make to these amendments except in one instance.

As originally introduced, the bill provided a central levy to subside coal exports.

The Conservatives and Liberals combined to defeat that provision. The government then succeeded in inserting a district levy with the same object.

The House of Lords has deleted the district levy and if, as anticipated, the government moves to reinsert it, the Conservatives and Liberals will combine to resist the proposal as they did before.

It was upon this point that defeat of the government was regarded as within the possibilities. But it was Derby Day and the size of the opposition attendance was uncertain.

Government defeat would not, in this case, necessarily mean dissolution of parliament.

LADY LUCK BOWS TO CARPENTER

Couldn't Argue, So Bought Derby Ticket and Wins Fortune.

TROUBLES OVER NOW.

HULL, Que., June 4 (C.P.).—A mild mannered carpenter of Hull to-day finds himself lifted from the life of a $22 a week craftsman to that of wealth and ease because "he isn't such a good hand in an argument." Wilfrid Leblanc, holder of a lottery ticket which won him $149,000 through the victory of Blenheim in the Epsom Derby, after being told of his good fortune, had considerable difficulty regaining sufficient composure to be able to detail for newspapermen how he happened to purchase the lucky ticket.

He was having refreshment along with a group of friends in a Hull tavern, Leblanc related, when one of the group asked him to buy a Derby ticket in the Quebec Army and Navy Veterans' Charity Sweepstake. "Although I had been fairly lucky in baseball pools run in the same manner, I had never tried in a horse race sweepstake and refused," he went on. "My dollars were pretty hard earned and I didn't feel like risking one. But this friend argued me into it—and there you are."

Leblanc is 56 years old, a bachelor—he says he isn't in the market for a wife—and has worked hard ever since he was old enough to leave school. At present he is employed as a carpenter by a contractor of Westboro, Ont., and finds "it pretty hard getting along on 22 dollars a week."

QUESTION DELAY OF R-100 FLIGHT

Suggested Wait Due to Mooring Mast in Canada Not Being Suitable.

AIR MINISTER EXPLAINS.

LONDON, June 4.—C.P.) — The projected flight of the dirigible R-100 to Canada was the subject of several questions in the House of Commons to-day, when Hon. F. Montague, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Air Ministry, said the airship would be ready to make the flight towards the end of June or at the beginning of July.

L. W. Smith, Conservative, Hallam, asked whether delay in the departure of the R-100 was in any way due to the mooring mast at St. Hubert flying field, Montreal, not being suitable for the purpose for which it was intended, and whether the nose of the airship was being altered as a consequence of this discovery.

After replying in the negative to both questions, Mr. Montague added: "The postponement of the flight to Canada is entirely due to the failure of the fairing piece."

E. MajoriBanks, Conservative, Eastbourne:: "Will the R-100 take the Lord Privy Seal to Canada?" Laughter greeted this allusion to the appointment of the former Lord Privy Seal, Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, as Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs.

WARKWORTH CHURCH HOLDS ANNIVERSARY

Rev. A. S. Reid, of Montreal, is Special Preacher for the Occasion.

WARKWORTH, June 4 (Examiner Correspondence). — Anniversary services were held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday, June 1. Rev. A. S. Reid, M.A., B.D., of Montreal, was the special preacher and delivered excellent, interesting and instructive sermons both morning and evening. Special music was rendered by the choir, which was thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the large congregations.

In the evening Mr. Reid chose for his text the first clause of the 18th verse of the 1st chapter of Colossians, "And he is the head of the body, the Church." The speaker stated that if the question were asked, "What is the church?" there would in all probability be given a variety of answers and definitions according to the different beliefs. A Christian's answer would be, "The Church consists of all true believers in the Lord Jesus Christ." The church is a living vital organ with Christ as a living body of the church. It is the instrumentality of which does Christ's work. If Christ is no longer the head of the Church, the Church is dead. The first consideration of organization is increase of itself, growth, power of life. So it is with the Church with Christ as the power of life, it is developing and spreading out and is now the most powerful institution the world has ever known in the past or present. The Church is a great fact which every thoughtful person should consider. The work of the Church has gone forward with irresistible power. The persecution under Saul of Tarsus was a failure so far as the Church was concerned. So it was with Nero and also with the intellectual outsiders who tried to outmine the church in the early days. They failed in trying to prove the Church was a failure. Years have passed, but the Church of Christ has not passed out of existence or been forgotten, nor has the printing or circulation of the Bible. Christ, Who is the head, through power of life, has converted men and women and assimilates and makes them in His likeness to do His work. He works through individuals, and in th's way makes the world better. There are advantages of the Church, and one is that through Christianity woman has been allowed to take her place. This has been accomplished socially through the Gospel of Christ. The Church of Christ is not fully developed. There is constant growth in influence and power not because of organization, but because of the power of Him. This growth will continue until nations shall acknowledge Him as King of Kings.

At the conclusion of the sermon, Mr. Duncan, pastor of the church, tendered thanks to Rev. A. S. Reid, to Rev. F. H. Howard who assisted by offering prayer, to the choir, and to those from outside points who attended the services.

Authoress Claims Wells Stole Idea

TORONTO, Ont., June 4 (C.P.) Fighting through piles of manuscripts, books and exhibits that are necessary to the hearing of the $500,000 suit brought by Florence A. Deeks, authoress, against H. G. Wells, internationally known English author, for alleged infringement of copyright, non-jury Assize Court to-day heard witnesses for the plaintiff.

Miss Deeks contends that ideas in her book, "The Web," were used in Wells' "Outline of history," and that they were taken from her manuscript while in the hands of the Macmillans Co., of Canada Ltd. Wells' publishers are the Macmillans in London, New York, Toronto, and George Newnes, London.

MASON - McINTYRE

Purple and white lilacs, palms and ferns, decorating the organ loft of George Street United Church, with sprigs of lilac and bands of white ribbon marking off the guest pews, formed the setting this afternoon for a lovely June wedding solemnized there at half-past four o'clock, when Violet May, younger daughter of Alderman M. McIntyre of Park Hill Road, became the bride of Herbert Garbutt Mason, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mason, Water street.

The ceremony was solmnized by the pastor, the Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, assisted by the Rev. W. Allan of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Wedding March, played by a former organist of the church, Mr. J. H. Renwick of Oshawa.

She wore an exquisite gown, ankle length in front, almost touching the floor in the back, of shell-pink crepe-faced satin. It was made in princess fashion, with a circular diagonal skirt draping that brought the fullness to one side and moulded it to the figure on the opposite side. Tiny cap sleeves fell over the shoulders and a brilliant ornament caught the fullness at the left bodice. A Jacqueline wrap, waist length, of pale pink velvet, with bell sleeves, was worn, with a large picture hat of shell pink velvet ribbon circling the crown and hanging down the back of the frock.

Slippers were of pale pink brocaded satin and crepe, with narrow bands of silver over the instep and heel and tiny brilliant buckles. Atmosphere hose and long white kid gloves completed the costume.

The bride's bouquet was a large shower of cream sunburst roses, blue forget-me-nots and lily of the valley, the long narrow white ribbon streamers ending in floral knots.

The bride's sister attended her, Miss Elva McIntyre, wearing a lovely frock of whirlpool blue taffeta shot with silver, made with tight bodice and full skirt. Its narrow hem and tiny puff sleeves were of blue net, with a huge chou of net at the left waistline, the streamers depending to the hem of the gown. With this was worn a sleeveless wrap of blue and silver taffeta, and a large picture hat of blue mohair, its flanges developed in pastel shades of mauve, yellow, pink and blue, and its trimming a large flat bow of blue velvet ribbon. The bridesmaid's attire was completed with slippers of blue brocade, atmosphere hose and long white kid gloves. She carried a bouquet of pink Premier roses and maidenhair fern.

Mr. Noel Rishor acted as best man. Ushers were Jock Renwick and Harold Huff, of Toronto.

During the signing of the register, Miss Helen Lamb sang very sweetly, "Beloved, It is Morn." Miss Lamb was in a dress of blue, rose and and white flowered chiffon with a large white hat trimmed with bands of blue and rose velvet ribbon and blue slippers and matching hose. Her flowers were a nosegay of forget-me-nots, sweet peas and roses.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, where the rooms were arranged with a profusion of lilacs, roses and bridal wreath. Buffet refreshments were served from a table done with a cloth of Italian cutwork and filet lace, white candles in low silver candlesticks tied with white ribbon bows, and a silver basket filled with sweetheart roses.

The bridal party received the guests, assisted by Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. Mason, the former wearing a gown of flowered pussy-willow crepe in black, green and rose combination shades, with a green hat of straw and organdie trimmed with a large black bow, green shoes and matching hose and corsage bouquet of sweet peas. Mrs. Mason was in an ensemble of jade green lace with matching hat, shoes and hose, and corsage of red pierson roses. Miss Claire Mason wore an ensemble of beige lace with matching hat, shoes and hose.

Mr. Mason and his bride left later by motor for a trip through Quebec and the Maritime Provinces to Halifax. On their return, they will live at 561 Aylmer Street.

The bride went away in a blue outfit. Her frock was of French blue imported flamingo, with an invisible black check. She wore a small hat of picot Lucille straw in marine blue, trimmed with little French bows of grey crepe, and a coat of French blue covert cloth. Her shoes were of grey snakeskin with matching hose and accessories in a flat kid purse and French kid gauntlet gloves, also developed in grey.

Guests at the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McIntyre of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Frank McIntyre of Toronto; Mrs. Effie Andrews and Miss Delta Andrews of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Renwick of Oshawa; Mr and Mrs Jock Renwick of Toronto; Mrs Ellen Howson and Miss Dorothy Howson of Keene; Mrs Ellen Fowler of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Howson of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howson and Billy and Helen of Peterborough; Miss Myrtle Jackson of Toronto; Miss Marguerite Patullo of Toronto; Miss Audrey Thomas of Toronto; the Rev. and Mrs. J. Avoid All Argument

THE tired and peevish housewife can frequently be excused for a burst of violent temper. You too would fly off the handle if confined to a scorching hot kitchen many hours every day, year after year. Such treatment is enough to ruin the sweetest of dispositions.

Put an end to this by installing gas and a gas range. This happy combination gives the housewife a quick, cool, economic and efficient culinary process which makes cooking a pleasure. Just think of it! A modern gas range will cook a meal automatically without any attention whatever. Come in and see one, and bring the wife along.

Cobourg Jury Asks For More Evidence

ONLY SURVIVOR OF CROSSING CRASH COLLAPSES WHILE GIVING EVIDENCE 15 WITNESSES CALLED AT INQUEST

Inquiry is Held in Cobourg Into Fatal Crossing Crash.

INQUEST ADJOURNED.

Robert Johnston Not Considered to be in Fit Condition to Give Evidence.

COBOURG, June 4 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Collapsing on reaching the witness box, where he had been carried by Police Chief Ruse and Provincial Constable William Carey, Robert Johnston, aged 21, only survivor of the fatality at Kingston Crossing on the C.N.R. which occurred on the morning of May 26, in which six members of his family had their lives snuffed out, bravely rallied and told the coroner's court what he knew concerning the fatality. He had just been brought direct from the hospital, looking pale and wan and the ordeal proving too much for him, he was, after questioning, carried from the courtroom in a state of collapse, while a murmur of sympathy echoed around the white-panelled room.

The inquest, conducted by Coroner Dr. T. C. Lapp, with Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, K.C., acting as Crown investigator, was adjourned till Friday, June 20, at 8 p.m. (E.S.T.), the jury, under Foreman R. Booth, deciding that they did not feel that the witness, Robert Johnston, had been in a fit condition to give evidence, and that they desired further information concerning the delay on the part of the C.N.R. officials in having the Kingston Crossing gates repaired.

In all fifteen witnesses were called, including the engineer and fireman of the light engine into which the car crashed, and the watchman on the crossing, also the surviving relatives of the victims, who were in the leading car.

The Engineer.

George Adam, taking the stand, said that he lived in Belleville and was the engineer of the light engine, which was travelling at a speed of about thirty miles per hour. He left Belleville at 2.40 (E.S.T.), he said, and reached Kingston Crossing at about 3.50 a.m., a distance of approximately 40 miles. On approaching the Kingston Crossing he was leaning from the right side cabin window and could see the watchman's lantern on the left hand side of the track when on the curve and about a mile from the crossing. He said he could see both a red and a white light moving.

Crown Attorney Kerr: How could the light be shining your way?

Witness: There is an angle in the tracks.

Continuing, he said that he afterwards sat on his seat and blew the whistle for the second crossing, and then noticed the car practically stop-

PLANS READY FOR NEW BRIDGE

C. N. R. Prepares to Build New Bridge on Bethune Street.

NEW STRUCTURE HIGHER.

Plans and specifications having been prepared by the Canadian National Railway Company's bridge engineer, C. P. Disney, for the replacement of the timber and steel bridge at Bethune Street, between Stewart and Aylmer Streets, on the Lakefield sub-division, tenders will be called for locally as soon as the remaining few details are completed.

The proposed steel and concrete bridge will be considerably higher than the old bridge, and coupled with the fact that the city had the creek dredged at this spot last summer, there should be no future trouble with ice at the time of the spring freshets.

The existing structure of timber pile bents and steel I beams is to be removed complete, and replaced by one 39 feet 10 inches o to o T.P.G. span, carried on two new concrete wing abutments. There will be a driveway on each side of the track, which will be maintained by the city, while the approach to the bridge will be flanked with steel wire guards.

It is expected that the work will commence very shortly.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 5—(C.P.) —Winnipeg's Committee on Unemployment is to hold a special session today—because 400 jobless men crowded about the city hall last night and clamored for "Action". While the idlers milled about the civic building an emergency meeting of the City Council was called. It was decided that a committee session today would consider the city's treatment of unemployed single men.

Heavy Rains Quench Fire-Swept Areas And Fire Threat is Definitely Erased

PORT ARTHUR, June 5.—(C.P.)—Heavy rains poured down today in the area in northwest Ontario where forest firest have been threatening settlements along the Canadian National Railways. Shortly after dawn today, the flame-marred area between Sioux Lookout and Savant Lake felt its first showers in more than a week. Three hours later, with rain still falling, fire threat seemed definitely erased.

"It's a regular soaker", was the phone message from the Fire Ranger in charge of operations at Wycliff, about forty miles east of Sioux Lookout, where fire fighting forces were concentrated for the last twenty-four hours. "During the night, the situation was quiet, and all blazes in this area seemed to have been put out of commission by the rain, but we are still on guard."

According to Canadian National Railways officials, shipments of combustible materials such as gasoline, and matches were brought through the fire area. Cars of inflammable goods have been held up for several days due to the proximity of fires to the railway right of way.

F. W. BOWEN IS NOMINATED IN DURHAM RIDING

Conservatives Hold Big Convention at Orono—Former M.P. Unanimous Choice.

ENTERS FOURTH CONTEST.

Tariff Tinkering is Charged Against King Government By Several Speakers.

MILLBROOK, June 5 (Examiner Correspondence).—F. W. Bowen, who has represented Durham riding in the Dominion House since 1921, was the unanimous choice as the Conservative standard-bearer in the present campaign at a largely attended and enthusiastic convention, under the auspices of the Durham Liberal-Conservative Association, held in the Town Hall, Orono, yesterday. Mr. Bowen's mover and seconder were Mr. Youngman, a member of the Manvers Township Council, and James Nokes, of Bowmanville, and amid prolonged applause, the chairman, Dr. G. C. Bonnycastle, of Bowmanville, said he had much pleasure in calling upon Mr. Bowen to accept the nomination of the riding.

The list of speakers for the convention included Earl Lawson of West York, treasurer of the Provincial Conservative Association; David Spence, of Parkdale; Duncan Sinclair, of North Wellington; E. A. Peck, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Howard Fallis, first vice-president of the Ontario Conservative Association. With these upon the platform were the officers of the Durham organization: Jas. H. Paul, Cavan; W. F. McMahon, Port Hope; Mrs. F. Sculthorpe, Port Hope; Mrs. F. W. Bowen, A. J. Fallis, ex-M.P.P.; Jonas Thornton, ex-M.P.; J. J. Preston, ex-M.P.P.; Alan Campbell, secrteary, and others.

Fourth Consecutive Contest.

The candidate was the first speaker, Mr. Bowen expressing his appreciation of the honor which had been conferred upon him now for the fourth consecutive time; his obligation he felt was to maintain the record already established in his Parliamentary career, and he was keenly conscious of the responsibility. He was assured that his seat would be at the right of the Speaker at the next session of Parliament, and he urged undivided support of the Honorable R. B. Bennett, lauding his leadership in the House, in policy and in party throughout the Dominion of Canada.

That the people are looking for a change, Mr. Bowen was convinced, declaring it could not come too soon, and was certain after July 28. Reference was made to the ""tariff tinkering" of the King Government, and the flooding of the country with im-

J. H. Burnham Will Not Be Candidate in the Election

J. H. Burnham informed The Examiner to-day that in spite of the persistent rumors to the effect that he intended to stand as an independent candidate in the Federal election, he had no intention whatever of doing so. "The issue," declared Mr. Burnham, "between the parties is quite clear now, and it should not be spoiled by a third candidate. Mr. King stands for Empire preference and for the Empire as recommended at the Empire Conference held in London in 1926, and presided over by His Majesty. His policy means an Empire which from every point of view, especially the economic, is of priceless value. Mr. Bennett on the other has declared against Empire preference, and therefore for a separationist policy which would be economically disastrous and would result in Canada's separation from the Empire, hence I cannot support Mr. Bennett."

FORBES FACES MURDER CHARGE

Coroner's Jury Blames Allan Forbes For Death of His Chum in Montreal.

CLAIMS DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

MONTREAL, Que., June 5 (Canadian Press). — The dismembered body found on a small island in the St. Lawrence River below Montreal last month was that of Louis Philippe Lafontaine, 18, and to-day a coroner's jury charged Allan Forbes, 35, Lafontaine's room mate, with murder.

Forbes on the witness stand declared that Lafontaine had threatened Forbes' life with a revolver. During the ensuing struggle Lafontaine's revolver had discharged and the youth was killed, the bullet entering his head.

"Is it not right that after you were certain that your room mate was dead that you cut his body up into many pieces?" asked the coroner.

Forbes replied that he did not remember doing anything of the kind. "When I last saw him he was lying on the bed covered with blood," the witness declared.

The coroner then asked if he had any recollection of purchasing a valise, and Forbes stated he had. He had taken the valise to his mother's home at Pointe aux Trembles and then stated, "because of the bad odor of the contents of what was in the bag I left it in a field near home."

"Then you do remember bringing a valise along with you on a visit to your mother's home, and you remember leaving it in an adjacent field," the coroner asked. The witness replied in the affirmative.

Forbes also stated Lafontaine and he had lived together for 18 months. He himself had paid all expenses, including his chum's clothing, he said. Previously to the night Lafontaine was shot the youth had made another attack upon Forbes, rushing at him with a knife. "Only because I was older and stronger did I manage to ward off his attack."

Dr. Wilfrid Derome, medico-legal expert of the Coroner's Court. The body, he declared, had been cut into even proportions and the backbone had been sawed precisely in the centre from end to end. It was evident that a carpenter's saw had been used.

In his examinations of the materials found in Forbes 'apartment, he found bloodstains on two pillows, curtains, bed covers, brooms, davenport and bed spring, the doctor stated.

The jury held Forbes criminally responsible without leaving their seats.

Opposing attorneys in a case at Southwark, England, recently were B. Mackay Cloutman and E. Paul Bennett, both of whom had won the Victoria Cross in the World war and met for the first time in the court room.

20 WORKERS ON WARREN PAYROLL FOUND TO BE RESIDENTS OF CITY REMAINING FIVE WITH COMPANY

C. E. Rice, Construction Superintendent, Aids Examiner in Check-up.

CLAUSE IN CONTRACT.

Gutters to Last For Next Five Years Must Be Re-laid.

Twenty of twenty-five men on the payroll of the Warren Bituminous Paving Company in this city can be considered residents of Peterborough, The Examiner learned on making a check-up this morning. The remaining five were brought to the city by the Warren Company to carry out special duties for which common laborers are not fitted, two being foremen, two being asphalt rakers and the fifth being a cement finisher.

"If anyone will point out to me a laborer in our employ who is not a local man I will discharge him immediately," C. E. Rice, construction superintendent, told The Examiner, commenting on the discussion at the City Council meeting in which it was claimed that some of the laborers at present on the Warren payroll are not local men. "I can not swear that all our men are local, however, for when we hire a man we only have his word that he is a local man." Mr. Rice gave The Examiner a list of the names and addresses of all men in the employ of the Warren Company this morning and from this the check was made. It was learned that one labourer was discharged today as he lives on Leahy's Lane, a few feet outside the city limits.

Clause in Contract.

It was ascertained further that there is a clause in the contract which the Warren Paving Company has with the city by which it is agreed that local teams and trucks and local labour will be used as far as possible in the re-paving job.

Two trucks hired in Peterborough and driven by local men are on the job, Mr. Rice said. A third truck, which the division of the company always carries with it, is also being used, but is the only vehicle that has been brought to town for the work. It is driven by a local man.

Questioned with regard to the necessity of re-laying the gutters as well as the street surfaces, Mr. Rice pointed out that the gutters as originally laid consist of a two-inch top on a five-inch concrete base. The base was laid first and then the top put on some days later after the base had hardened, and thus the two failed to unite. Mr. Rice pointed out to the reporter many portions of gutter in which the two-inch top has become cracked and broken. The repaving job is to be guaranteed for five years, he said, and if the gutters are to last they must be re-laid.

The gutters now being put in are of seven inches of solid concrete. These will last as long as the pavement, Mr. Rice said.

NEW AIR FIELD BEING SURVEYED

Survey is Being Carried Out in Accordance With Gov't Requirements.

At the present time Mr. Wilkins, C.E., and his staff are engaged in surveying the Peterborough air harbor, some three-and-a-half miles out on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway. It is an undertaking requiring considerable skill. When the map or plan is finished it will be in relief, like a military map, and will enable a flyer possessing a copy of the map, to find, alight and skid or taxi upon the ground without risk.

The survey is being carried out in accordance with Government requirements. First of all, the exact location of the air port must be stated, its latitude and longitude, and altitude above the sea and surrounding country.

When a flyer finally sights the name Peterborough, he will also sight the large wind cone or wind sock, as it is called, and will immediately know what sort of conditions to expect on landing.

Making a military and flying map requires that the elevation of the surface every two feet be recorded. The runways must face or follow the prevailing wind at the right angle, and if the flyer has to re-fuel, the fueling station is right there. It is understood that the Imperial Company is to erect a filling station at the field.

Family War Looms Over Derby Split

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 5. — (C.P.).—The Dougherty family is split into warring camps because one of its members won $140,000 in the Quebec Army and Navy Veterans' Charity Sweepstakes on the Derby.

The question is the ownership of the winning ticket. It was held in the name of Edward P. Dougherty, 19-year-old $20 a week stock clerk in a brokerage house.

He stated, following a hurried return from a vacation trip, that a half interest belonged to his 24-year-old brother Daniel, Jr., but his father, Daniel D., Sr., a doorman at an apartment hotel, says his son sold him the ticket for a dollar.

WELLS DENIES STEALING IDEA

Just Used Same Authorities, But Authoress Claims He Copied Manuscript.

SUIT FOR $500,000.

TORONTO, Ont., June 5 (C.P.).—Mr. Wells says they had "the same common, obvious idea," and used "the same authorities," and Miss Deeks says "he used my unpublished manuscript." Such was the contradictory evidence that came before Mr. Justice Raney in Non-Jury Assizes Court today, in continuation of the $500,000 suit brought by Florence A. Deeks, authoress, against H. G. Wells, internationally known English author, for alleged infringement of copyright.

Reading from the evidence of H. G. Wells taken on commission in London, England, was given for the court records. Ernest Barker was responsible for the history criticism, Sir Roy Lankester for the early Palaeological part, and Philip Guedalla for certain historical parts of "The Outline of History," Mr. Wells said, and the idea of the work had always been with him. "The draft history of mankind" had been a student dream. "If there are resemblances to other works it must be due to a common obvious idea and the use of common sources."

WAGE DISPUTE BEEN SETTLED

Paper Industry Owner and Employees Reach an Agreement.

2,000 MEN EFFECTED.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 5.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Word was received to-day by Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, that a wage dispute between employees and employers in the paper industry at the head of the Lakes, had been settled. About two thousand men in Fort William, Fort Francis, Kenora and International Falls were affected.

When the dispute broke out the Minister of Labor secured the consent of all parties to have the difficulties smoothed out through arbitration. M. S. Campbell, chief conciliation officer of the Department, then was sent to the head of the Lakes and guided the negotiations.

REQUEST FOR PAVING IS ANSWERED BY COMMISSION

In reply to the request of the Peterborough City Council that the Suburban Area Commission consider paving one mile on the Lakefield Road this year, the following letter has been received by S. R. Armstrong, city clerk, from Morley Smithson, chairman of the Commission:

"I have your letter of the 6th inst. with copy of resolution passed by the City Council on May 5th re one mile of permanent road one mile north of city on Lakefield Road on Suburban Area system.

"In answer I would say that if the city is in earnest and deems such necessary, I would refer to Section 37 and subsequent clauses, particularly sub-section 3, Chapter 54, R.S.O.

"If the city should conform to subsection 3, then the Commission would present such action of the City Council to the County Council for their consideration."

Mai. Belford Beaten At Tory Convention for Northumberland

Milton Maybee, M.P. For the County of Northumberland for the Past Nine Years Was Again Chosen by the Liberal Conservative Party as its Standard Bearer in Coming Election.

EX-M.P.P. PUT UP A STIFF FIGHT AT CONVENTION AND IS BEATEN OUT BY ONLY 21 VOTES IN BIG POLL

Both Men Are Prominent in the Conservative Circles in the County—Dr. M. J. Maloney and Dr. T. E. Kaiser Were the Special Speakers at the Meeting in Warkworth.

WARKWORTH, June 5 (By Staff Reporter). — Milton E. Maybee still holds the hearts and the franchises of the Conservatives of Northumberland County.

At the party's convention here on Wednesday afternoon he was nominated for the fourth time in nine years to carry the Conservative banner in a Federal campaign. Yesterday he encountered surprisingly strong opposition from Major J. F. B. Belford, ex-M.P.P., whom he defeated by a majority of 21 votes. The poll of the convention delegates gave Maybee 127 votes and Belford 106.

Sweltering midsummer heat provided an uncomfortable atmosphere for the crowd that packed the Town Hall to the fire escapes, but the ascending thermometer had only a physical dampening effect. Political enthusiasm seemed to rise with the mercury, and although some of the delegates sought the breezes outdoors as soon as the choice of the convention was decided, most of the audience remained to the last cheers for the Hon. R. B. Bennett and Mr. Maybee.

Both Men Prominent.

The convention brought into clash the aspirations of two of the outstanding personalities among the Conservatives of the County. Milton Maybee has been three times elected to the House of Commons, and on his way up to this high honor he had established his reputation in the Council of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham.

Major the Rev. J. F. B. Belford made his mark in the Ontario Legislature as the representative from Northumberland, and for a time was more or less mentioned as a possibility for promotion to the Cabinet. A disagreement with Premier G. H. Ferguson over the liquor control question four years ago developed into an obstacle to his candidature, and although he has been out of the political spotlight in the riding since then he apparently has retained a strong following.

Pre-convention rumors had mentioned the possibility of his contesting Mr. Maybee's claims for the renewal of the party's nomination, but they were accompanied by doubts which evidently underestimated the number of Major Belford's admirers.

George VanVolkenburg, Reeve of Seymour Township, and president of the Conservative Association in Northumberland, was chairman yesterday afternoon, and the special speakers were Dr. M. J. Maloney, M.P., South Renfrew, and Dr. T. E. Kaiser, M.P. for Ontario County.

Following the election of officers for the coming year, five minutes were allotted for nominations, and only the two names were proposed.

Mr. Maybee was proposed by E. A. Hircock of Cobourg, with W.W. Porte of Brighton as seconder; and Major Belford was proposed by W. Armstrong of Campbellford.

Mr. Maybee's Appeal

In his address to the delegates Mr. Maybee said: "I have been before you nine years. In 1921, when the DRYDEN, Ont., June 5.—(C.P.)—Rain clouds to-day hung over the fire-charred timber lands along the Canadian Pacific Railway in Northwest Ontario, but no showers had fallen shortly before noon. In the district from Dryden east to Dyment, however, all forest blazes were under control and danger was not expected to be renewed unless new winds spring up.

At Dyment, where greatest damage has been suffered by villagers, efforts were being made to-day to remedy the first work. Virtually all women and children, who had been forced to flee to the divisional point at Ignace, had returned to the settlement. JUDGE QUESTIONS THE RIGHT TO FIX PLACE OF BURIAL

After a Lifetime as Anglican Man Alleged Ordered Catholic Burial.

DOUBTS STATE OF MIND.

Kept a Lot in Protestant Cemetery and Gave Son Order to Bury There.

TORONTO, Ont., June 5 (C.P. — Has a man any right to determine where he will be buried, was the question put by Justice McEvoy at Osgood Hall yesterday when Gideon Grant, K.C., opposed the contention of A. B. Cunningham, K.C., that William J. Hunter had the right to look after the burial of his father, Robert Hunter.

The facts as outlined by Mr. Cunningham were that allegations were made that Robert Hunter, who died last month in his eighty-first year, after a lifetime as a member of the Anglican Church just prior to his death had embraced the Roman Catholic faith.

Mr. Cunningham relied entirely upon the facts that the father had kept a lot in Sandhill Cemetery, had appointed the son, William J. Hunter, executor, had asked him to bury him in Sandhill Cemetery, and had asked Rev. Northcote Burke, the Anglican clergyman, to look after his burial.

From all this, Mr. Cunningham contended it is clear the father's intention was that he should be buried as a member of the Church of England. The law was clear that the executor had the right to determine the question of burial.

Wife a Catholic

Mr. Grant, for the other members of the family, said the desire to be buried beside his wife in the Roman Catholic faith was expressed years after the man had asked his son to bury him at Sandhill Cemetery, and must now be presumed to be competent when he changed his mind.

There were six witnesses who said he wished to be buried beside his wife as a Catholic.

"That might be a good reason to say he was not in his right mind," said Justice McEvoy. "A man who had been a member of the Church of England all his life suddenly wants to be a Ramon Catholic because he wants to be buried beside his wife. The inference might be that it overbore his judgment."

Judgment was reserved.

To-day honored as the winner of the special prize for highest standing in general proficiency in the graduating nurse classes of the nine Ontario hospitals.

This is the record of Hilda, and Mrs. A. Kamstra, of Port Arthur, who was showered with awards at the graduation of nurses at the Ontario Hospital, Whitby, last night. In addition to winning the provincial honors, Miss Kamstra also won first prize for general proficiency in the hospital, first prize in dietetics, first prize obstetrics, and first prize in practical nursing.

NEED MORE DATA BEFORE SETTING BAY INSURANCE

Absence of Facts Makes Impossible to Fix Marine Rates.

HUDSON BAY ROUTE

Effect of Ice-breakers and Wireless Stations Must Be Studied.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 5.—(C.P.)—Until actual navigation has been under way for some time and until the effect of ice-breakers and direction-finding wireless stations has been determined, it will be impossible to fix special Marine Insurance rates for the Hudson Bay route. The Imperial Shipping Committee has reported to the Canadian Government.

The whole subject of the fixing of new insurance rates for the Bay Route was referred to the Shipping Committee in August 1928, by the Government. Since then all the available information and facts dealing with ice conditions and the duration of navigation have been considered. Because of the absence of clear cut facts on the mean navigation season for a number of years and especially the actual opening and closing dates, the committee has been unable to come to any conclusion. The effect also of ice-breakers and what influence the direction-finding wireless stations will have in preventing wrecks were practically unknown factors.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways and Canals, when approached regarding the report, said it would be at least 14 or 15 months before European traffic via the Bay Route to any extent. Until that time the question of rates is relatively unimportant. When asked if the Government would take over the insurance of shipping until the new rates are struck Mr. Crerar said no consideration had been given to that phase of the question.

In the meantime all additional facts on weather and ice conditions in the Straits will be submitted to the Shipping Committee. The report submitted to-day will be the forerunners to annual statements which will include all additional information gathered.

Most of the facts laid before the committee were gathered by the Hudson Bay Expedition of 1927 when ice conditions in the Straits were determined by the aid of aircraft. The report admits there seems little danger of the Port of Churchill being ice-bound before November but added that there was a noticeable lack of information, extending over a period of years concerning ice conditions in the Straits. Such information was considered the keynote to the whole subject.

The Weather

Yesterday's highest temperature was 89 degrees—the highest to date. Last night's lowest was 57 degrees, but there is much less humidity in the air to-day which makes the heat less noticeable. It is the combination of heat and humidity that causes oppressiveness.—W.P.

GARDENER KILLS BIG MILK SNAKES

Havelock Man Kills Two Snakes; Both Are Three Feet Long.

FOUND IN GARDEN.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, June 5.—Wednesday afternoon about four o'clock, as Mr. and Mrs. L. Breen were working about their garden, Mr. Breen's attention was drawn to a moving object in the grass near the end of the lot, adjjoining the creek. He went over armed with the garden hoe, and on closer examination discovered it to be a huge milk snake, which he promptly dispatched with the hoe. A short time afterwards, as Mrs. Breen looked from the back door, she saw a snake gliding after the kitten, and called to Mr. Breen that the snake was not dead at all, but was chasing the kitten. The snake, apparently alarmed by her cry, turned back towards the creek, but was pursued by Mr. Breen, who once again used the hoe to good advantage. He could not believe however that he had not been successful in the first instance, and on investigation, discovered that there were two dead snakes. One of these snakes measures thirty-six and the other, thirty-seven inches.

The milk snake or house snake as it is commonly called is a harmless snake, common in North America, east of the Rocky mountains. It gets its name from its fondness for visiting the places where milk is kept. It is believed by some that it drinks milk, although this is disputed. The milk snake commonly lives upon mice which it finds in granaries and barns, and is far less harmful than the rodents which it destroys. It sometimes grows to be four feet in length, and is dark grey above and yellowish beneath. Along the sides and back, are black spots. It moves quickly and crawls very easily.

HOMES BURNED IN JANETVILLE

At Times Fire Threatened to Wipe Out Entire Village in Manvers.

LINDSAY BRIGADE HELPS.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LINDSAY, Ont, June 5.—The village of Janetville, in Manvers township, 13 miles south of Lindsay, was seriously threatened by fire this afternoon, when two frame residences were totally destroyed, with contents. Other dwellings were in danger, including the United church parsonage.

Murvin Armstrongs home was first to go, fire originating from an overheated stove pipe. At the time Mrs. Armstrong was retiring up stairs and was awakened by the yells of the people outside. For a time she was almost frantic when she thought that her three-year-old son Billy might be inside the burning house. The baby was found playing nearby.

The frame home of Percy Crawford a short distance away was next to go, and inside of an hour both dwellings were levelled to the ground. Very little furniture was saved in the Crawford home, and everything was lost in the Armstrong house.

Falls From Roof

William Sarrel a 15-year-old farm boy fell off a nearby roof, a distance of 25 feet and for a time was thought to be seriously hurt, but when the doctor arrived Sarrel was not in sight. He was stunned for a time.

A hundred farmers responded to the frantic telephone calls, and the new $15,000 pumper from Lindsay was also sent for when it was feared that the entire business and residential section of the village might be caught in the flames and wind.

The nearby stables and roofs of dwellings were thickly dotted with hard working men, while the bucket brigade worked strenuously for an entire hour pumping from three wells in the vicinity. Only their efforts saved the church and parsonage, which caught fire several times. At times the heat from the fire was so intense that men working the well pumps had to be protected with coats and hats.

MAJOR BELFORD IS BEATEN OUT BY CLOSE VOTE AT WARKWORTH

fortunes of the Conservative party were at a low ebb and no one wished to take the responsibility of running as a candidate, I accepted that duty and we won. We also won in 1925 and 1926. In all those nine years I unfortunately sat in the shades of opposition. It looks now that whomever you send to Ottawa will have the honor of sitting on the Government side.

I am in your hands. I don't know the delegates to this convention. I never sought a candidature, but when you chose me I undertook to do the best I could. I am prepared to undertake the candidature again. If you select some one else it will be all right with me. I'll support the nominee of this convention."

In his reference to the Mackenzie King government, Mr. Maybee said failed to retain the foreign markets and had allowed the home market to be exploited. Our trade balance fell off $244,000,000 in the last fiscal year and our export's are $103,000,000 lower. Our exports to the United States were in round numbers, $500,000,000 and our imports from the United States $700,000,000.

Heavy Imports of Butter

Mr. Maybee stated that 42,000,000 pounds of butter had been imported from New Zealand last year in competition with Canada's dairy interests, and only a few weeks ago a shipload of 20,000,000 pounds had been received in Canada. It was true that the New Zealand trade agreement had been abrogated but its cancellation did not take effect until October, consequently the dairy production of this country for another season would be affected by the imports from New Zealand.

Mr. Maybee also asserted that the King government had failed in regard to immigration and unemployment. Its new tariff policy was a made-in-Washington tariff measure.

"Now they have got out the old flag cry" Mr. Maybee remarked. "The Mackenzie King government has not been known to raise the flag for a long time. And while they propose a measure of British preference, the fact is that we have all along a United States preference rather than a British preference.

Competition with the cheap colored labor of the West Indies will be just as bad for us as competition with the United States. If the King government had gone to Great Britain and said 'let us make a trade arrangement whereby we can exchange the things which we produce for those which we need from you, possibly the wheat that has remained so long on our farmers' hands would have gone out before this.

The fact this Government is up a tree. It is trying to ride two trade horses and we see a free trader like Mr Dunning expressing the belief that we need some protection. A gracious Providence has made the Liberal government hollow so they could their principles swallow."

Major Belford

"If you select me, I shall be proud and happy," declared Major Belford, "but if you do not I shall support the man you do."

He spoke in highest terms of his fellow nominee, Mr. Maybee, but he thought that people have the impression that a change should be made.

He did not intend to give but a passing thought to politics on this occasion, adding that he would speak politics during the next two months.

Speaking briefly of the King Government, the speaker said, when one sees the smiling countenance of Hon. E. C. Drury—when you see him allying himself to the King Government, one might well say he is the man who saw the writing on the wall. "I have had Liberal after Liberal say, 'I will support you if you run,'" remarked Major Belford. "As far as the coming election is concerned, I want you to keep in mind," the speaker urged, "just one idea. That is, to mark your ballot in a way that is going to ensure victory for the Conservatives on July 28th.

"That assembly of heterogenous unities—the Prime Minister and his Cabinet—are saying one thing to-day and another tomorrow. They have no settled plan of action and no campaign program."

He spoke of the low price of milk which he alleged was due to Mackenzie King's mismanagement, and said, "When the farmer is hit, the storekeeper is also hit. He thought that this argument is all that is needed to win the election.

After the Balloting

The result of the ballot was announced by Peter Ewing. Frank Field, K.C., of Cobourg, acted as scrutineer for Mr. Maybee, while N. Alec MacColl discharged a similar office for Major Belford.

The candidate was greeted with a wild outburst of applause from the large gathering, and the Major, in rising to thank his supporters, was accorded a no less enthusiastic tribute. "It is a pity you fellows do not vote the way you cheer," he jokingly exclaimed, adding, "We are going to have a hard fight and I am going to do my part and hope you voters will do yours."

Mr. Maybee also voiced his appreciation for the confidence shown in him. "Had the Major been nominated I was prepared to get out and assist him as he has promised to assist me," he declared. He asked the supporters to rally round the Conservative banner, remarking that "this riding is being closely watched all over the Dominion, as our opponents have been circulating a report that there was a division in this riding. As far as I am concerned there never was and there never will be. It matters not whether Belford or I carry the banner so long as we put the Hon. R. B. Bennett in power."

Dr. T. E. Kaiser, M.P.

"I am here as an ex-M.P." declared Dr. T. E. Kaiser, addressing the meeting.

He said that he was glad they had selected Mr. Maybee as their candidate. He had been a close friend of his for the past five years, and he possessed one of the best assets a public man could possess—a universal trust. He is faithful to his interests, faithful to your cause and country, and I only hope he will again be returned to Parliament and that I shall have the companionship of him again in the next Parliament."

The speaker alleged that the Liberals have failed in their trust. For the last fifty years the Conservative Party have told the people that the best principle upon which this country should be governed is the principle of Protection. He said that during the last four years the Conservatives have been asking the people to believe in that principle, but with very little success. The gospel of Protection has been preached for so many years now and the only failing with the Conservatives is that they have failed to bring home the basic thought to the people.

He briefly dwelt on the question of imported eggs, saying that they should not be allowed in this country to the detriment of the poultry raisers. He touched on the sheep industry also and the troubles of the small farmer and market gardener who is handicapped by indiscriminate Free Trade. Particularly is this noticeable in the Okanagan Valley, B.C., where the sons of Canada who have developed small farms against great irrigation difficulties, had turned the desert places into gardens by their Canadian skill. "Canada for Canadians is our mooto and such men as I speak of should have protection."

Criticizing the Mackenzie King Government, he said they have a slogan, "Power at any price." "They stripped the Tory clothes line," he said, "but they did leave a few clothes on it," in alleging that the Liberal Party has abandoned and bankrupted all its ideas and has in the last few moments trampled on the only principle they ever enumerated or ever stood up for. Should such a Government who has denounced all its principles even think of asking for the confidence of the people of Canada?" he asked. The budget of Protection is an adopted child in their arms. Not their own product. What is a child that all the neighbors dispute about and don't know who is its father?"

In conclusion, he said, "remember that the Conservative Party has at its head one of the brightest minds, one of the clearest heads, a man who is loyal to Canada and the British Empire."

Dr. M. J. Maloney

Dr. Maloney introduced his address with a neat tribute to Mr. Maybee, who, he said, had the esteem and confidence of all the Conservatives in the Commons.

"The question that will be decided in this election" said Dr. Maloney, "will be whether Canada will continue going down or whether she will arise. In the last nine years the King government has done more to wreck Canada than any administration that preceded it. They all but wrecked our farmers, our industries, and even our forests and mines. They will try to make you believe that Canada is prosperous, and while they show that we have a surplus each year, they are tieing us up in the railway situation to the extent of millions and millions that will remain unpaid until the people of this country pays it."

The government in 1928 "picked up" $430,000,000 in taxes and in the present year they are "taking out of the people pickets $447,000,000 in taxes.

"And yet they say they are the party of economy and lowered taxes" Dr. Maloney remarked. "In 1928 the King government spent $363,000,000 and for 1930 they are spending $402,000,000. Their increased expenditure was $40,000,000 more than in 1928."

Legations' Expenses

As to the details of this expenditure Dr. Maloney pointed out the Canadian legation that had been established by the King government had cost this country more than $2,000,000.

"And what benefits have we received from it?" he asked. "Has the United States treated us any better? Are we making more out of the United States? We are also spending several hundred thousands on Mr. Marler in Japan. We proposed to Mackenzie King that this money should be spent at home for technical education facilities for the youth of our country."

Dr. Maloney dwelt upon the necessity of helping the provinces by aiding technical schools, but Mackenzie King had not listened to this idea.

"He said 'no, I'll give it to my old Pal Vincent Massey to have a high old time down in Washington'," Dr. Maloney said.

He also accused the government of wasting money in the present scheme for the beautification of Ottawa. Dr. Maloney ascribed this program to a desire by Mr. King to make Confederation Square in Ottawa a fine monument to himself. He also said that Canada had lost 1,240,000 people since the King government had come into power. Some of them were returning from the United States, but the great bulk of them would remain there.

Dr. Maloney described the government's countervailing duties as "the greatest fake ever perpetrated. It means that when the United States duties go up ours will also go up, and if theirs come down ours will come down also. Suppose the Tariff Board in the United States cuts off the duty on eggs altogether, then under the countervailing system we would remove our important duty on eggs too and that would kill the production of eggs in Canada more effectively than it is now."

Dr. Maloney concluded his address with an exposition of the Conservative party's policy of protecting Canadian industry and preserving our market for ourselves.

"You have now for the first time since 1911 the opportunity of electing a government that will be for Canadians, first, last and all the time."

Fred J. McArthur, M.P.P.

Fred J. McArthur, M.P.P. of Cobourg who was called upon to speak while the ballots were being counted, said he had a vision that on July 28th there would be a rejoicing for the Conservative Party—a gathering in of the sheaves.

He thought MacKenzie King had been considerate in bringing on the election in time to allow Hon R. B. Bennett to go to the Imperial Conference as Canada's representative, although he thought the date might possibly interfere with many holidays. He was confident that all Tories would return to their locations to vote—they will all look upon the matter from a national standpoint.

In speaking of Mr. Fraser who is regarded as the most likely opponent he said "he has been a wonderful man for the town of Trenton and had an airport established there.

"What has he done for this riding while he had the patronage" he asked, adding that he had done nothing whatever, having centred his interests on Trenton and naturally so.

Touching briefly on Provincial politics Mr. McArthur said "We have been twitted about this road (the Brighton road). The Conservative party have promised it, and it will be completed."

In conclusion Mr. McArthur expressed his willingness to get out every day during the next two months and at night also in the interests of the Conservative Party.

F. W. BOWEN IS NOMINATED IN DURHAM RIDING

had a good government we would be a prosperous country." (Applause).

Dairy Industry Hit Hard

Speaking appreciatively of the support and advice given him by Mr Bowen during the five years he has been in the Federal House, Mr. Sinclair went on to mention the ill effects on the dairying and farming industry through the Australian Treaty, and the same privileges accorded New Zealand by on Order-in-Council in 1925. Other matters dealt with in detail were the amount spent on immigration; the shortage of 114,000 cattle in Canada between 1921 and 1929; the $21,000,000 spent for tractors "and not one nut or bolt made in Canada"; and the one billion dollars Canadians spent for manufactured goods from the United States last year.

Asserting that the Conservative party forced Mackenzie King to appeal to the country, Mr. Sinclair closed with a strong appeal to the electors to get behind Mr. Bowen and give him a sweeping majority on July 28. (Applause).

David Spence, North Parkdale, was also making his initial visit to Orono, and was delighted at the unanimous support of the convention for Mr. Bowen. He noted that fifty per cent. of the large gathering was ladies, and particularly urged their help in electing the candidate. Some time was spent in pointing out the faults and blunders of the King administration, and a very warm tribute was paid the leadership of R. B. Bennett—"there is not his equal in Canada."

The unemployment prevalent in the country was mentioned as one outcome of the present government's maladministration, and the exodus to the States as another of its disastrous results. "I sometimes think Canada has been nothing more than an incubator for the people to the South of us. We are spending large sums educating our people to go over there, when all the time we need them here to build up our own nation."

Tariff Tinkering

Tariff tinkering was charged against the King government, and the drop in exports, the decrease in land values, and in the number of cattle and hogs in the country, were laid at the door of its mismanagement. In closing, the message was: "Roll up a big majority for my friend, Fred Bowen, on the election day."

Mrs. Howard Fallis was received with warm applause, mentioning in her opening remarks the feeling of victory for the Conservative party she felt was in the air, "and certainly I am conscious of its presence here this afternoon." (Applause). If the King Government took credit for the prosperity of a few years ago, it must also shoulder the responsibility of the present hard times, Mrs. Fallis insisted, and went on to refer to the Premier's "five-cent" speech, with Premier Ferguson's taking up of the challenge, and the statement, reported in The Globe of May 30, given the press by Mackenzie King: "No statement of mine made in the House of Commons could be so construed." "But Hansard of April 3 carries the exact words, and Hansard always tells the truth."

To offset the effects of this speech on the public mind, Mrs. Fallis said, the Government is pointing to the $140,000,000 contributed in grants and subsidies since 1922, of which $32,000,000 came to Ontario; "but $21,000,000 of the latter amount is from subsidies under the British North America Act, and the credit for the remaining $10,000,000 in grants to agriculture, technical and vocational schools, highways and unemployment goes to the Conservative Government under Sir Robert Borden, who placed these on the statute books. They have all now expired, and none have been renewed; not one dollar of voluntary grant is being given by the King Government to Ontario."

Insisting that the Conservative party has always stood for protection, and that the Liberals have stolen a few planks from their platform "and are hoping to float back into power on these," Mrs. Fallis, in closing, scored Honorable Charles Dunning for his "so-called protection budget," his change of face from the time when he was a free trade Premier of Saskatchewan, and declared "Conservatism always says Empire goods before any other, but not if this is going to close the doors of our factories, and send Canadian women and children asking for bread."

The former member from West York, Earl Lawson, was the final speaker, who extended congratulations to the candidate and the electors, declaring that Mr. Bowen made a real contribution to the Conservative Opposition at Ottawa, and that we would have a better, greater, and finer Canada in which to dwell. "If the people of Canada are given a change of government and an opportunity to develop that which they have."

Picturing a big portion of Canada's wealth being piped over in pulp mash from a town in New Brunswick to an opposite town in Maine, where it "helps to provide wages, and prosperity for Americans as it is made into paper in the mill in which thirty-seven million dollars are invested, while we have our big problem of unemployment" the speaker went on to insist that it is lack of vision, and of fitness for leadership on the part of Mackenzie King that is responsible for a train of evils from which the Dominion is suffering at the present time.

Some ridicule was thrown on the Dunning budget, and the claim strongly made that the Conservative party has the real protectionist policy, the credit for this going back to the time of Sir. John A. Macdonald: "We believe in a domestic market preserved inviolate for home produce ,and then if there is any surplus, finding a market for this abroad. This clap-trap government has ruined the domestic market, and the New Zealand Order-in-Council has had a great deal to do with bringing about this disastrous result."

Urging that voting is not enough but that each elector should be a missionary for Canada by taking up the Conservative policy, and bringing out the vote in full strength on July 28, Mr. Lawson concluded: "I believe here is a rising tide of public opinion against the King government, and it will be buried with ballots and replaced by a better, 'Not a five cent piece' being engraved on its tombstone" (Laughter and applause).

The gathering was dismissed with the National Anthem.

ONLY SURVIVOR OF CROSSING CRASH

ped on the tracks. It moved forward slightly and then stopped dead.

Asked by the Crown Attorney what he saw after the impact, witness said he could not look at the wreck afterwards.

Foreman of the Jury: You are positive you saw the watchman at the gate?

Witness: Yes, sir.

Walter J. Tucktie, representing the firm of Bell & Yeates, of Hamilton, acting for the relatives of the deceased persons: Was it because you saw a red light that you knew the watchman was at the crossing.

Witness: Yes, I knew the crossing was protected. I did not notice the car until ten feet from the crossing.

A juryman: You spoke of drawing back into the cab and sitting upright. How close to the crossing were you before you looked out of the cab again?

Witness: I did not look out of the cab again. I could see through the window.

Witness further stated that he travelled about 200 yards before he was able to stop, after hitting the car. He considered that he made a good stop.

The Fireman

Herbert Diamond also of Belleville fireman on the engine said he was on the left hand side of the cab and remembers approaching the crossing. He did not see the accident as it happened as he was firing at the time. After the train stopped he went back to "flag" number 7. He met the flagman as he ran up the track towards the crossing. The flagman had a red and a white lantern. He took the watchman's red light and gave the watchman his light then proceed to flag number 7 which was about due.

The Superintendent

George Stokes, superintendent of Belleville division, C.N.R. asked who was responsible for repairing the crossing gates said that the supervisor of signals was.

Crown Attorney Kerr: Can you tell me why the gates were not repaired from May 13th until after the accident on the 23rd.

Witness: The break was reported to the agent on May 14th who notified the maintainer Mr. Rye. The latter went to the crossing and fohnd the south gates on the C. N. R. tracks broken. He repaired the woodwork but found that the base casting was beyond repair. He wired Drew at Belleville. Drew was away at the time but on his return on the night of the 14th of May he was given the message and came to Cobourg next morning. After inspecting the break he sent to Leaside shops for a new casting, which on arrival proved to be unsuitable. We wired Drew again on May 17th. Sunday intervened and on May 19th a new casting was ordered from Leaside which was supplied on May 27th the day following the fatality.

The Crown Attorney: Was it hurried because of the accident.

Witness: No.

Crown Attorney: Why should there not be proper castings ready.

Witness: The castings are not always broken.

Crown Attorney: But they are liable to be. Why was an imperfect casting shipped in the first place.

Witness: Leaside shipped the wrong casting.

Crown Attorney: Where was the flagman's proper position.

A juryman: You consider the watchman filled his duty.

Witness: Yes. He was in proper position to properly protect both tracks.

Following further questioning by the Crown Attorney in which repeatedly taxed the witness for some explanation as to the reason for the delay in the repairs to the gates, he spoke of the Quebec law which requires all motorists to stop dead at all unprotected crossings.

R. E. Laidlaw, C. N. R. counsel of Toronto agreed with the wisdom of such legislation Referring to the question of the adequacy of the light shown by the watchman, he said if the gates had been down the only warning showing would have been a red light at the same height, in the same place and of the same intensity as that shown by the watchman. He thought that the watchman is a better protection than any mechanical device of crossing gates.

The Watchman

David Swan, railway watchman, said he had held that position seven years.

Mr. Kerr—How often were the gates broken last year?

"Nine or ten times."

"When were they last broken?"

"May 13, at 7 p.m."

"When were they replaced?"

"Tuesday, the day after the accident. The base of the gate was broken."

When did you report the gates broken?"

May 14, at 9 a.m., to the station agent. I went on duty at 12 o'clock midnight."

"Did you see the light engine coming up?"

"Yes. But I couldn't tell whether it was a train or just an engine. You can see a mile down the track. I was in the watch tower. When I saw traffic I got my lanterns and went down on the road.

Witness said he saw one car come from the east about the time of the accident. Quite a few cars had gone by earlier in the night.

"What was your method of warning traffic?"

"I had written orders to stand on the west side of the tracks when I had to warn traffic coming from the east."

Mr. Kerr—Why shouldn't you stand on the east side?

Mr. Swan stated that in this instance he got down from the watch tower and stood in the centre of the road waving his red light.

"I was on the road two or three minutes before the crash occurred. I saw this car when it was about half a mile down the road. It came up and stopped dead on the railway. About 150 feet east of the crossing the car began to slow down. It had been travelling about 35 miles an hour and slowed down to about 20.

"The car stopped dead on the track and almost in the same second the locomotive engine hit the car. I had flagged other cars during the night and they stopped.."

Mr. Swan said he did not see the Cully car cross the railways. He had no recollection of it.

Robert Johnston.

Robert Johnston, 21, son of James H. Johnston, Sr., said he had driven the car from Montreal to Kingston.

"Then my dad drove to the crossing near Cobourg. He was a careful driver. I could see the rear light of the Culley car as we drove along. Mother and dad were on the front seat. I was on the right side of the back seat. My brother was on the other side, and my sister-in-law in the middle. They had the two children on their knees. When we came near the crossing my mother noticed the warning sign at the side of the road (300 feet from the railway). She mentioned it as we passed.

I saw no one at the crossing to flag us. There was no light; no one swinging a lantern. The engine was too far on top of us when we first saw it for us to avoid being hit. It was just breaking daylight.

Mr. Kerr: Did your car stall?

"No, the car was still in motion."

What happened then?

I suddenly saw the headlight of the train and that is the last I remember. I walked over to a farm house close by.

Johnston said both front windows of the car were down and one at the rear.

Mr. Kerr: Where was your car when you first noticed the railway crossing?

About 75 feet.

Did you notice the gates?

I don't think I noticed that there were any.

R. C. Cully.

R. C. Cully, Hamilton, son-in-law of the late James H. Johnston, Sr., was the driver of the first of the two home-bound cars early on Monday morning, May 26. They had arrived at Kingston from Montreal at 12 o'clock midnight, and at Cobourg as the clock was striking 4 a.m.

"After a few minutes' wait in Cobourg my brother-in-law and myself decided to go back and see what had happened. We thought they had tire trouble or were out of gas.

The first thing I saw was the car all smashed up the track. When I reached the track and went up a piece to where the engine was stopped I came across the body of my mother-in-law, dead. A little further on I found the body of the baby, 15 months old. I wasn't sure whether he was dead or not. I was so upset. Then I found my sister-in-law's body. She was also dead. Up a little ways farther I saw my brother-in-law, also dead. And then my father-in-law. He was also dead.

The engineer and another man asked me if I knew them. The railway men were as much upset as I was.

Dressed in deep mourning, Mrs. R. C. Culley said she was sitting in the rear seat of the leading car. She did not notice where her father's car was, as she had the baby on her knee. She remembered passing the railway crossing. It was just breaking dawn. They arrived in Cobourg and stopped for about ten minutes before going back to the crossing to look for the other car.

George Slinn, of 72 Sherman Avenue, Hamilton, also a passenger in the leading car, was sitting bes de the driver. He last saw the car with his father-in-law and family at Colborne. The Culley car was travelling at a moderate speed, about 30 to 35 miles per hour. The witness said that the late Mr. Johnston was a very careful driver and had been driving for the past ten or eleven years.

Mrs Louise Slinn, wife of the previous witness, gave corroborative evidence, adding that she saw the lights of the Johnston car following behind them, but missed the lights after the Culley car had passed over the tracks. They had their lights on till they reached Cobourg. Wondering what had detained the Johnston car they then went back.

Dr. Haydn of Cobourg said he was called to the scene of the accident, and reached there just ahead of Dr. Ferris. It would be about 4 a.m. He spoke to the watchman, who said the car stalled on the tracks.

Deeply Moved.

While the doctor was describing the injuries of the three-year-old child, James Johnston, the two previous women witnesses were deeply moved.

Doctor Ferris in part said that he was informed of the accident by the operator. He told the operator to notify the coroner and to secure ambulances. When he arrived at the crossing a few minutes later he went to May's house and found Robert Johnston and the small child Jimmie. After attending to them he went to the north side of the track on the west crossing and found Norman, wife of Mr. Johnston, and the little child. He turned the child over and found it was dead. He found the bodies of the woman's daughter-in-law, son-in-law, and father-in-law, and concelude that they were all dead.

The coroner said that he also examined the small child and found evidence of life. But there was no chance of saving the child's life.

Other witnesses were George Armour, civil engineer, who produced plans of the railway crossing, with measurements, etc., also Provincial Police Constable William Carey and Provincial Constable Kidd.

The inquiry, which commenced at eight o'clock, was adjourned after a session lasting almost three hours.

Their superior quality is evident before the bottle is opened!

HELP ROTARY'S WORK.

The double opportunity of assisting a most worthy cause and at the same time of taking advantage of a possible chance to win a splendid automobile is leading to a steady demand for estimate tickets for the Rotary car, which is to be awarded to the person most closely estimating the mileage the machine will have travelled by June 18th, the date of Rotary's big street fair.

The tickets, which sell at 25 cents, can be obtained from any member of the Rotary Club and at street fair headquarters, Charlotte and George Streets, and the public is urged to make liberal purchases, increasing their own chances to win and ensuring much-needed funds for the splendid activities carried on by the Rotary Club.

The Boys' Camp at Clear Lake and the great work done for crippled children are projects in which the people of Peterborough should be intensely interested and which they should be eager to help.

The mileage estimating contest is only one of many features of the street fair which promises to attract a huge crowd, including many visitors from all over the district.

A DESERVED HONOR.

Few appointments to the Senate have given such universal satisfaction as will be expressed at the elevation to the Upper Chamber of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, the revered speaker of the last Parliament.

Thirty-four years of his life has Mr. Lemieux given to the services of Canada as a member of the House of Commons, and he has richly earned the honor now paid to him.

As a private member of Parliament, as Solicitor-General and Postmaster-General in the Cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and a Speaker in the House of Commons, the distinguished representative of Gaspe has been a shining light on the political stage, and the appreciation of the fairness, impartiality and dignity with which he invested the office of Speaker, voiced just before the dissolution of Parliament the other day by Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Opposition leader, echoed the sentiments of the whole country.

Mr. Lemieux brought to Parliament the best characteristics of his race, and at the end of thirty-four years of service his popularity remains undiminished.

The Senate gains an illustrious member in his appointment; the loss of the Lower House is correspondingly great.

A STAR PITCHER PASSES.

Some of the color has passed out of baseball, so far at least as older fans are concerned, with the departure from the major league stage of that picturesque old-timer, Grover Cleveland Alexander, one of the greatest pitchers the game has ever seen.

Alexander was a link with the past, one of the old guard who thought training rules were only something to be broken, who never could see the sense of some of the things expected of the players of to-day.

And yet his cunning and skill have enabled him until recently to hold his own with the best of the new crop of pitchers.

It seems only yesterday, instead of four years ago, that the lion-hearted Alexander, after beating the formidable Yankees twice, was called upon to save the seventh game of the world's series, and with his team leading by a run and the opposition crowding the bases, with two out, ended the struggle by striking out Lazzeri, a mean batsman to face in a pinch.

That was probably the greatest hour in the crowded life of the colorful hurler, and yet when his teammates crowded round in wild excitement to congratulate him, "Big Alex's" first words were characteristic.

They were merely, "Gimme a chew."

A great pitcher, Alexander is sure of a permanent place in baseball's hall of fame.

A BUSINESSLIKE PLAN.

The oft-heard suggestion of the necessity of a central registration system in the matter of dispensing relief to families in distress is once more brought forward in St. Thomas as the result of a survey of the situation in that city, conducted by a social service expert at the expense of the St. Thomas post of the Canadian Legion.

Usually the proposal is not advanced until preparations for dispensing Christmas cheer concentrate attention upon the need of some system that will prevent overlapping and ensure that no deserving case will be neglected.

St. Thomas has, however, gone about the thing in a businesslike way, and after thoroughly investigating family relief and community resources, a meeting of all organizations actively engaged in relief and social service work will be called to discuss the launching of the central registration plan.

The idea appeals to The Examiner as sound.

The impression will not down that under our present system of dispensing relief there is an obvious danger that the impostor may get too much and the deserving too little.

An agency through which all the organizations would co-operate would undoubtedly prove an effective way of preventing such a development.

Local social service workers should keep their eyes upon the St. Thomas plan.

"NO. 1 CANADIAN HARD."

(From the Globe)

How a magic handful of wheat obtained from Scotland about 1840 by a Peterborough County farmer grew into a crop which gilded unthinkable stretches of the Western plains has been told in one of the most important chapters of Canada's economic history. There will be general satisfaction over the assurance from Ottawa that the memory of this pioneer farmer is to be perpetuated with a suitable memorial. For David Fife of Otonabee Township served Canada as have few others; even in monetary terms the value of his service is beyond computation.

"Red Fife" seed, the produce of the original handful, found its way to the West in the early eighties. Vigorous in growth and easily milled, it soon claimed its honored place in the world's markets as "No. 1 Canadian Hard." For decades before the development of the renowned "Marquis" it admirably met Canada's needs, and brought to the Dominion fame and wealth.

In Ottawa the members of the Fife memorial committee, a few days since, were accorded a sympathetic reception by Hon. Dr. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, and Senator W. H. McQuire, the latter a son of a Peterborough County family who also were pioneers of the district in which David Fife lived and worked. The definite assurance given to the deputation that a memorial is to be provided will be received with gratification in both Old Ontario and the West. The honor is long overdue.

A NEW SYSTEM.

Canadians will watch with interest the working of the new system which will be inaugurated this year for making up voters' lists for the Dominion elections. By an amendment to the Election Act, the Government will assume the responsibility, heretofore belonging to the electors themselves, of seeing that everyone qualified is placed on the list.

As the plan is outlined, it seems certain that good results will be achieved. Care is to be taken to see that no party will be in a position to charge any partisan practice, by the simple expedient of choosing enumerators from both parties, and setting them to check each other. Payment of these employees at a rate of so much per name also should assume conscientious tabulation, and the overlooking of as few as possible.

For those who may be accidentally missed, there will, of course, be revising officers, and a final appeal to a county judge. All in all, the system seems well designed to assure the placing on the lists of the name of every qualified voter.

The object of the amendment is one which should appeal to every public-spirited citizen. The aim is primarily to induce a heavier and more representative vote, by placing the franchise within the reach of every person entitled to it. There is little doubt that, in past years, many have failed to vote, simply because they were too apathetic to register.

The claim may be made, of course, that the person who will not bestir himself to this extent will not turn out to cast his ballot on election day. It may be, however, that the new system will show that those who have failed to exercise their rights, because of the inconvenience of the registration plan, will be glad to do so, now that they are sought out and placed on the list. It is at least to be hoped that this will be the result.—Border Cities Star.

IN GREAT OUTDOORS.

Some time ago following the holocaust at the Ohio State prison in Columbus, attention was called to an interesting experiment that was being made. By official admission, the existing federal prisons of the United States were crowded to about twice their capacity and it was decided that it would be safer to place convicts in internment camps for the summer than to continue the indoor congestion during the sweltering season. The experiment has been successful, we are told. The first batch of men to be sent from penitentiaries to army camps numbered about 1,000. More will follow as facilities for handling the prisoners are extended and further arrangements are made between the justice and war departments. Early reports are that every one is happy about the innovation. The superintendent of federal prisons, who is credited with the idea, is relieved at the prospect of putting an end to congestion, if only temporarily. The war department doesn't mind getting free labor, either, for improvements on its property. And the prisoners themselves are said to be happier working outdoors than cooped up in narrow, crowded cells as they were. The policy of the prisons superintendent is to send picked men into the camps. They must be strong, adapted for outdoor work and reasonably trustworthy. They are well guarded, as a matter of course, but the idea is to make them regard camp work as a privilege and to establish compulsory return to the cells as a penalty in case they do not behave themselves. In return for free labor, the army provides living quarters, medical treatment and hospitalization. The prisoners are entirely separated from the military units. Federal prison officials are reported to be studying the new law, authorizing them to contract with local authorities where suitable accommodations for federal prisoners are available. Existing Government property will be adapted for jail purposes wherever that is feasible, but the Government will continue to use local institutions when reasonable rates can be obtained. It is significant of the part that enforcement of the 18th amendment is playing in the problem of prison congestion that the federal penitentiaries along the Canadian and Mexican borders are the most crowded. There are supporters of the internment camp scheme so enthusiastic as to predict that eventually all prisoners, except killers and lifetermers, will be quartered out of doors in the summer months, and in those States of moderate climate permitted to serve out their whole terms in the "back-to-nature" fashion.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If the election campaign gets as hot as the weather it will be a memorable battle.

Judging by the roars of cheering that came over the radio yesterday, the English Derby is still the world's greatest sporting event.

St. Catharines officials object to their city being called St. Kitts. But there does not seem to be very much they can do about it save complain.

A local garbage collector was asked to cart away an old piano yesterday. We can tell him where he can get a few radio sets.

Italian Senator says war is an inevitable evil, which sounds like a good way of keeping the war spirit alive.

An American radio manufacturer is keeping his new style machines a secret. Perhaps he has hit upon a design that will make Rudy Vallee sound like a singer.

One of the surprises in the day's news is that there are enough horse shoers left in Ontario to hold a convention.

Less than 3,000,000 persons, or about 7 per cent. of all those who are gainfully employed in the United States, have annual incomes of more than $2,000.—Montreal Star.

Those who speak of the ninth planet as a member of the Solar System only show their ignorance. It has not been confirmed by the United States Senate.—New Yorker.

HOLLERING HELLO!

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir:

Why is it that so many Peterborough children holler "Hello!" at every stranger passing? Of course it is because they don't know any better. In Ireland where children have the advantage of the grace and courtesy of the teaching sisters, no matter how little the children on the highway going to or returning from school have inside or how much less outside, they are always polite.

TRAVELLER.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If June 5th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., from noon to 1:30 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 5 a.m. to 6-30 a.m., and from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

From astrological indications, it is not probably that pre-arranged plans for this date will be carried out. Hindrances and disappointments are indicated. The day will not be without its fat, however, and some seeds will be planted which will mean a splendid harvest for the future.

The children born on this June 5th will be amiable and easy to bring up in the ways they should go. They will not be spineless, but they will listen to reason, and will be gifted with an unusual amount of common sense. They will be affectionate, demonstrative, and somewhat emotional.

Your nervous energy is dashing you through the world at a pace which is dangerous to both your physical and mental beings. You seem to think in rapiddots and dashes, which is embarrassing to a less efficient person who is trying to keep up with you. There are few people who have such powers of concentration as you have. You have many interests, but you do not have fluffy and disjointed thoughts. You clear your mental chambers before new materials are brought in. Your mind, however, is never a blank, it seems never to rest—it is keen, brilliant and vital. It is seldom that you stop in contemplation, or that you rest on your oars to really enjoy the wonders which your mental processes take in.

You are not overly sociable, and are an unwilling talker, unless your interest is aroused, and you have a very good listener. People do not interest you as much as facts and things. You are inclined to be a free thinker, and you are not easily influenced by any one. You are hardly human enough to be sympathetic, but you are wise enough to be tolerant. You are too indifferent to be suspicious, envious or jealous. You are rather keen on sports, and you enter into them, as with all things, with your heart and soul. Marriage is not necessary for your happiness— you do not desire constant companionship.

APRIL ESCAPADES

CHAPTER XXVII.

Sunday was a long nightmare to Nary Kate. She went through the usual routine of rushing to early Mass, returning to leisurely breakfast, a minute inspection of the voluminous morning paper, and a comfortable, luxurious, formal toilet, like a wogan under a spell.

In the first place, there was the horror of fear lest her name be connected with the story of the Steynes burglary. The evening papers had had mere outlines of the story. This morning's, to her infinite relief, had little more. A young house-breaker had been shot, in the Bersinger hacienda at Burlingame, by Christopher Steynes, of New York, who had rented it for two months. Mr. Steynes was not held, the thief, one Tony Moody, was in the City and County Hospital, not expected to live. He was supposedly one of a gang that had been ravaging the Peninsula homes during the past three months. Steynes, whose original plan had been to sail on the Maru on the eleventh, might be delayed until a later steamer. That was all.

In another part of the paper Mary Kate found a social item. Countess Katya Yarnowska, and her daughter, Countess Marka, were leaving for New York and Paris today. The two Russian noblewomen, distant cousins of the late Tsar, had been much entertained during their short stay in San Francisco.

She asked Tom, when he came home from "ten," to bring her the other morning paper. In it she found practically the same account, and the sick fear in her heart abated a little. But in this second paper was a picture of Chris, in polo regalia, with a pony's head looking over his shoulder, and the agony of her feeling for him, her jealousy, her longing, her hunger to see him and hear him, rushed over her in a deluge. A trembling restlessness seized her, not to leave her for the entire day.

Cass came, and was wonderful, and they walked in spring sunshine again, and again looked at empty apartments. Mary Kate heard and saw nothing, except the echoes in her own heart. The tones of a spoiled quick arrogant voice were ringing there, the memory of a sunburned face under fair hair, of a long brown hand with brisk, aristocratic fingers, was always before her eyes.

Sometimes she wanted to hurry Cass along. They ought to get home, someone might telephone. At other times she lagged languidly beside him, hoping that every man whose figure came into view, up or down some quiet vista of Sunday streets, might be Chris. Oh, to meet him—

"Do you like it, darling?"

"It's lovely."

"And you can see yourself in a kitchen apron, giving your old man his coffee, in this little breakfast alcove?"

She looked, unseeing, from a window in the empty kitchen that smelled of pipes. The street below—persons walking there—an angle of the Marina, and the bay. And beyond the bay, the green outlines of the Sausalito hills, and the benign heights of Mount Tamalpais.

"Imagine looking out at a bay from your kitchen window?"

"You like this, then?"

Cass was eager, happy. Mary Kate thought that it was already four o'clock, they would surely be home at five. And when they arrived there Mother might say that someone had telephoned: "It was a man, Mary Kate." Or Chris would come to-morrow morning into Gordon Rountree's office, where they had first met.

Supper was a dream, the evening only vague shadows. But during another long night Mary Kate was wide awake, tossed and tortured by a pouring river of thoughts, half finished, half assimilated, crossing and recrossing each other like thoughts in delirium.

She could not touch her breakfast, the morning in the office was long expectation. Chris did not come in.

Gordon Rountree did, that afternoon, at about two o'clock.

"Everything all right?" he asked, ignoring the senior Delaney, who was painstakingly making entries in a ledger.

"Oh, yes, thank you!" Mary Kate answere, in a subdued voice. Her face had flushed a deep red.

"Mr. Steynes hasn't heard anything more of the affair," her employer said, significantly. "Won't, probably. He sails next Sunday.

Next Sunday. Six days. The whole world went black. Her heart began to hammer painfully. Chris would be gone forever in six little days, and she was powerless to hold him.

She looked at the telephone. Where could she find him, at half-past two o'clock on a sunshiny Monday afternoon? He might be playing polo or golf, or he might be driving somewhere in the spectacular Serano with the four-noted horn. He was rich, he was popular, filled with plans in which she had not, and never could have, any part.

When four o'clock came, and five o'clock, Mary Kate thought she would die of sheer loneliness and heart-sickness.

She dragged home. Dinner was ashes, plaster of Paris and sawdust, again. Voices were vague in her ears. Her heart beat hard, her senses hummed, she was restless, impatient, wanting to break her cup frantically, instead of placing it gently in the saucer, wanting to get up and scream, instead of answering the family questions in her usual tone. After dinner she stepped out into the backyard, and looked up at the early stars. Her two hands she pressed frantic ally against her heart.

"This is awful!" Mary Kate said panting. She thought of the telephone, inside the house behind her. What number should she call, to get Christopher Steynes? The need of his voice tore at her, the hunger for his presence made her feel sick and weak.

She imagined herself at the telephone. "Hellow. Is Mr. Steynes there?"

"This is he, speaking."

"Oh. Chris, this is Mary."

He called her "Mary." It sounded like a new name, different from any other name, as he said it, Mary. It was a beautiful name.

Then what would he say? What else could he say except, "Did you want to see me?"

And what else could she say but "No?" It would be dangerous to see him Mother, Mart, Cass would all be puzzled by her following up any such friendship.

She quivered from head to foot. She put her hands over her face, and bowed her body backward and forward under the soft spring night sky, her breath whistling as it came and went. Her mouth was dry, and her hands cold.

"I can't stand this!" said Mary Kate. She had a longing to tell her big brother to be "said by Mart," as the family always was.

But a telegram from Mart, received that day, had said "Having fine time, home Wednesday or Thursday." No hope there.

And Chris would sail on Saturday!

Cass came out, laughing, to find her among the empty barrels and clothes-lines, and put his arm about her.

"Hellos, sweet! Whatcha doing out here all alone?"

"I—I looking up at the stars, Cass. It's so lovely out."

Her heart was suffocating her. Not being Chris, he was nothing, he was nobody. His kiss meant nothing; she was out of his arms restlessly, before she was fairly in them.

The huge bulk of the apartment houses behind the O'Hara home was marked into rising tiers of lighted windows now; little blocks and angles of gold rose fairycastlewise in the young darkness. The air was sweet and languid and tired to-night; windows everywhere were open, and voices and snatches of laughter, and the whining of phonographs pierced the night.

Cass and Mary Kate followed the wooden path to the side fence and hung there, staring at the side street. The great cigarette sign loomed and flashed and faded, off to the north, and the footsteps and the chatter of passers-by were sharp in the mottled glare and shadow. Some were hurrying to church, for Lenten services, and some moving even faster toward the skating rinks and dance pavilions of Sutter Street. A movie theatre, a few blocks away, sent banners and darts of red light up into the dark, and at the drugstore corner a little serpent ran tirelessly about an illuminated pestle and mortar.

Mary Kate could remember leaning on this old fence ever since she could remember anything: tonight Cass put his arm about her. She stirred uneasily under his embrace.

"Something the matter to-night, dear?"

She was frantic. Suddenly everything fell to pieces; she could not help it, it had to come.

"Oh, Cass—I have to tell you. We can't—I don't want to be married, dear! Listen. I like you—terribly. But I don't want to get married—"

She spaced the last words, giving them emphasis. She had turned to face him now, and had put an imploring hand on his shoulder.

A Thought

INFLUENCE

He who can make a single person feel that there is a better method of life than that which he has been pursuing, and arouse his desire to enter upon it, has done more for the society of the world at large than if he had analyzed and exposed its faults and failings with the utmost penetration and ability. Real influence is exerted far more in vitalising new ideas or rather ideas that have lain dormant in the minds of men, than in any criticism.

GRANT BY COUNCIL TO RE-UNION FUND

Can't Use Community Building, But Mill Street to Be Roped for Dancing.

STIRLING, June 5.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A deelgation from the Old Boys' Re-union committee was heard at the regular meeting of the Council on Monday evening, regarding the engaging of the community building during the celebration. Mr. Pyear, the president, and Mr. O'Donnell, secretary, were the speakers for the Fair Board under whose auspices the, celebration is being held. The Council explained that under the arrangements made and conditions to which the Council had bound themselves, it was impossible to give this privilege to any organization. $100 was voted to the committee as a donation towards their funds. Permission was granted for the committee to have a portion of Mill street near the Memorial plot roped off for the purpose of street dancing during the celebration.

Mr. Levery spoke for the committee regarding a booth on the street. This was also granted.

W. S. Martin and Hiram Ackers were heard re the assessment of their property since the recent fire. They will get the usual consideration in such cases.

Taxes which were unpaid for 1929 were ordered collected at once.

A list of those drawing the Old Age Pension was presented and discussed. The corporation is liable to 20 per cent of the amount which will mean about two mills on the total assessment of the village.

COMMENT ON MORNING STOCK MARKETS OVER BIGGAR & CRAWFORD WIRE

Brisk buying activities went ahead in special issues in New York to-day on the opening which moved Houston Oil and the amusement stocks into higher ground. However, stocks became unsettled around noon, bringing outburst of selling in principal industrials. Special pressure was concentrated on Steel and Radio, copper shares were also in large supply and the market generally picked up activity on the down side. Prices drifted aimlessly on the Toronto market this morning with softer tendencies predominating. Nickel, Brazilian, Service Stations and Ford "A" showed fractional losses while City Dairy was off 3 points at $61. British American Oil was a bright spot and gained a half point under fair volume.

MOTOR INDUSTRY OPPOSES TARIFF

Big Reduction in Employees Expected Day U. S. Bill is Signed.

EXPORT IS RUINED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 5 (Canadian Press). — The United States motor industry registered an emphatic tariff protest to-day in a survey conducted by the New York Evening Word.

Telegrams were sent to the heads of twelve automobile manufacturing concerns, and all were asked for brief statements of their reasons for opposing the proposed tariff schedules.

President Gorrell, of the Stutz Motor Car Company, announced that the day the Tariff Bill is signed his company will lay off 40 per cent. of its employees.

"Already approximately thirty countries have instituted reprisals," says the telegram from the Stutz Company in part. "Remaining countries are now preparing to do likewise.

"Our export volume will be reduced by at least two-thirds due to the pending Tariff Bill if passed."

The general tone of replies is that the nation might need tariff legislation in a few industries that are undeveloped, but not on such a wholesale scale as prescribed in the Hawley-Smoot Bill. It is contended export volume will be considerably reduced as a result of the passage of the Bill.

CHICAGO WHEAT HOLDS STEADY

CHICAGO, Ill., June 5.—Wheat here showed unusual steadiness early in the day, influenced by relative strength of Liverpool quotations and dearth of moisture over night in spring wheat territory north west. Reduced estimates Italy's wheat crop were a bullish factor, opening at 3-8 cents off to a shade advance, Chicago's sagged a little further, and then averaged somewhat higher than yesterday's finish.

Corn, oats and provisions were also firm, with corn starting unchanged at ¼ to 3-8 cents up, but subsequently easing back.

SUGGEST FOUL PLAY AS CAUSE OF GIRL'S DEATH

Body of Girl With Bullet Hole Taken From River

WINDSOR, Ont., June 5. (C.P.)—The body of Miss Catherine McHugh, member of one of the leading families of the border, was found in the Detroit River this morning. The finding of what is considered a bullet hole in the lower jaw and a fracture of the right arm are taken by officers to indicate the possibility of foul play and an investigation is being opened up along these lines. Coroner Dr. C. V. Mills of Sandwich is in charge of the inquiry and autopsy.

Miss McHugh had been missing from her home since April 21 and an International search had been made for her.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Completing of the capital reorganization of the Barcelona Traction Light and Power Company, undertaken since the close of the last fiscal year, will simplify the earnings position of the one class of stock to be outstanding, according to the present structure dividends are fixed at the rate of 7 per cent on the preferred stock with the issue participating prorata in per cent in all dividends on the ordinary stock. In the year ended December 31, 1929, net earnings available for dividends amounted to $2,905,037, out of which $1,763,528 was required to meet the 7 per cent non cumulative dividends on the senior issue, leaving earnings of $1,141,499 for distribution under the participation clause attached to the preferred stock and on the common shares. The preferred shares are of $100 par value and the common shares $50 par, so that a distribution of 50 cents on the common means the payment of an additional dollar on the preferred. There are 231,934 preferred shares and 287,250 common shares and on this basis earnings after meeting the fixed dividend on the preferred, would allow a further distribution of $2.88 on the senior stock and $1.44 on the common. Shareholders have already approved of a proposal to exchange the preferred stock for six shares of a new issue of no par ordinary stock and the common share for share of the new issue on this basis Barcelona will have outstanding 1,798,854 shares of no par value on which there was earned in 1929 a sum of $2,905,037, equal to $1.61 a share on the capital.

Safe Over Barron Store

Official announcement of the acquisition of R. Barron, Limited, by Dominion Stores, is made to-day. R. Barron, Limited for years has operated a large store at 728 Yonge Street, Toronto, and it is this business that Dominion has taken over. The premises are to be leased and the building altered to the chain system of Dominion stores. The business is large and the establishment of a unit of such dimensions is a new departure for Dominion. R. Barron, Limited, carried on one of the largest retail grocery businesses in the city and developed a high class trade, in a densely populated area radiating from the corner of Bloor and Yonge Streets. Dominion stores will install a combination market retailing groceries provisions and fresh meats, along the lines already established in their other large units, but operations are to be on a much larger scale in this new store than in any other so far operated by the company. Alterations will be completed in about ten days time.

City Dairy Down.

City Dairy slipped off over three points in the forenoon session of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. There has been a good deal of guessing on the street lately as to whether the company will be sold, with Borden presumably the purchaser. One day the street is sure that a deal is on and the next not so sure this morning being one of the later days officials of City Dairy say there has been no change in the situation while street gossip hints at an attempt to purchase sufficient stock for control in the open market. The death of W. J. Northgrave, formerly president and managing director and the responsible for the outstanding position enjoyed by City Dairy, is being used as an argument favoring the sale of the business. Mr. Northgrave will be hard to replace, during his period of office he built up an organization that under capable management will prosper for years to come and no doubt the directors have prepared for such a contingency as the demise of this leading executive.

NEW GOLD FINDS ARE UNEARTHED

During Recent Earthquakes and Landslides in South Island of New Zealand.

W. H. Extension Opened.

TORONTO, June 5. (Special to Examiner.)—An amusing incident occurred towards the close of to-day's routine annual meeting of Central Patricia mines secured a good laugh from the rather sparse attendance. Due to the heat or his efforts to reach the gathering on time, a shareholder, apparently well known to the assembly arrived in a very moist condition to be greeted with a question from the chairman: "Will any one second the motion?" "I will," he stated, obligingly. "What was the motion?" he was slightly dumbfounded to learn it was a motion to adjourn.

People in search of a new place to go for the holidays might consider the James Bay district of northern Ontario, the Northern Miner suggests. It is now possible to drive by automobile to Cochrane, take the T. and N.O. railway extension to Coral Rapids, and from their travel to James Bay by power boat. A transportation service with guides has been organized, and it is believed the country would be well worth seeing.

It is reported from the north that station cutting on the 1500 level of Errington mine is getting under way. The cleft to the ore is about 500 feet, so that it will be around the first of August before definite results can be expected.

The company stated some time ago that if the ore on this level proved equal in importance to that on the 500 level they would go ahead immediately with the construction of a 2000 ton concentrator.

Recent eartquakes caused great landslides in the south island of New Zealand, leaving death and destruction in their wake but they had one redeeming feature, in that they appear to have unearthed valuable gold deposits. With momentary danger of being engulfed in vast masses of tottering earth and rock, only the most venturesome prospectors have sought the golden prizes. Precautions have been taken by the authorities to keep back foolhardy persons from risking their lives for the lure of the yellow metal.

Wright Harbreaves is said to have opened out the extension east of Lake Shores No. 2 vein for 210 feet on the 1750 level. It shows 6 feet wide and $14 to the ton. Where first encountered on the 160 level the ground was badly broken and faulted but this ceased on the lower level. It is the intention later to raise on the ore from the 1750 level.

Public notice is given in the Ontario Gazette, that supplementary letters patent have been issued to Telluride Gold Mines of Canada increasing the capital stock of the company from $2,000 to $3,000 by the creation of an additional mine shares of one dollar par value each.

PRICE MOVEMENTS REMAIN NARROW

Selling of City and B. A. Oil Buying Only Points of Interest.

TORONTO, Ont., June 5. (C.P.)—There were few points of interest on Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The opening was painfully slow.

The accepted leaders were left almost entirely to themselves. Price movements in Brazilian, Nickel, Ford were extremely narrow.

Selling of City Dairy and buying into B. A. oil provided the only points of trading interest on the board. City Dairy declined to 61 off between 3 and 4 points.

B. A. Oil continued strong this morning and although only rising ½ point was in good demand throughout.

FIRE? NO A WEDDING.

City firemen were the unwitting "guests" at a wedding yesterday afternoon, when at 4.20 they raced away to Box 27 at Water and McDennel Streets to answer what proved to be a false alarm. They were just in time, however, to see the happy couple emerge from the portals of the church, and to sound a greeting on their sirens.

ARTICLE XXXIX

Q.—What are the main headings of an ideal railroad income account and the proper position for the items "taxes" and "depreciation."

A.—(1) Operatin Revenues: Freight, $75,000,800, passenger, $25,000,000, mail, express etc., $8,000,000, total, $108,000,000.

(2) Operating Expenses maintenance of Structure): Repairs, $2,000,000, renewals, $10,000,000, depreciation, $3,000,000, total, $15,000,000. (Main-tenance of Equipment): Repairs, $2,000,000, renewsal, $10,000,000, depreciation, $3,000,000, total, $15,000,000.

Traffic, $2,000,000, t-ansportation, $20,000,000, general, $2,000,000, total operating expenses, $64,000,000.

(3) Net operating revenue, $44,000,000

(4) Taxes, $5,000,000.

(5) Operating income, $39,000,000.

(6 Other income (dividend income): $1,000,000. Income from bonds and stocks, $1,000,000, income from sinking fund, $1,000,000.

(7) Total net income (or gross corporate income), $42,000,000.

(8) Deductions from total net income: Lease of roads, $1,000,000, Int. for funded debt, $10,500,000, miscellaneous, $500,000, total, $12,000,000.

Dividends on preferred stock, $5,000,000, dividends on common stock, $5,000,000.

(10) Surplus, 120,000,000.

Taxes are deducted after operating expenses have been subtracted from operating revenues. They are really an operating expense but should be deducted separately. They are better not included in items such as "fixed charges" in such a way that the actual taxation is concealed and the operating efficiency hard to determine. Taxes must be deducted before interest is paid on any bonds that are outstanding. They are deducted in other words from the "net operating revenues" and the balance left is the "operating income."

Depreciation should be shown in a detailed income account under the heading "operating expenses." It should appear as a separate item or preferably as separate items of the various equipment in use. We should have in a detailed income account such items as depreciation on locomotives, depreciation on passenger cars, depreciation on freight cars, etc.

BANK DEPOSITS SHOW INCREASE

Demand Deposits in Canadian Banks Climb $28,299,084 in April.

SAVINGS DOWN.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 5. (C.P.)—An increase of $28,299,084 in the total amount of demand deposits held by Canadian Banks during the month of April is shown in the bank statement issued by the Department of Finance to-day. Demand deposits held by Canadian Banks on April 30 last, totalled $644,768,615 as compared with a total of $615,768,615.

Savings Deposits on the other hand, decreased during April. At the close of that month, the amount of savings deposits held by the banks was a $1,441,141,721, or $14,169,871 less than at the close of the preceding month.

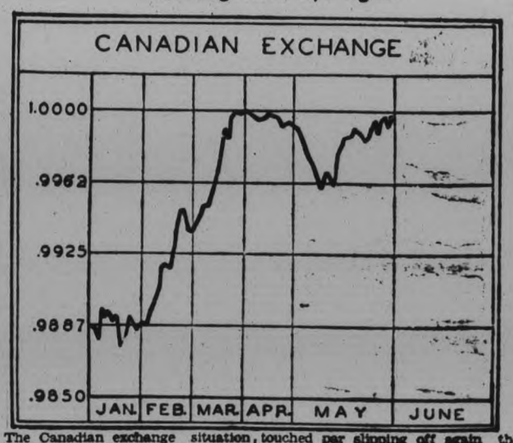
Current loans of Canadian banks outside Canada decreased by $22,984,559 during April.

Report of Manufacturers.

TORONTO, Ont., June 5.—(C.P.)—The reports of the five sectional divisions of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association were presented to the closing business session of the annual meeting this morning. Together they represented a comprehensive survey of conditions throughout the country.

The report of the Ontario Division made special reference to the great industrial development in the north, which was contributing greatly to the progress of the whole province. Tribute was paid to the work of the Ontario Research Foundation.

Exchange Near Par Again



The Canadian exchange situation has improved the latter part of this month with the dollar at present hovering just under par in terms of New York funds. After having been at a severe discount in January, the dollar rose steadily during February and March and for a brief spell the end of March and first of April touched par slipping off again the latter part of April and continuing downward the first week or ten days of May. An increasing export movement of grain lately and the heavy new financing the past couple of weeks a large part of which was placed in the United States, has resulted in the improvement in Canadian exchange.

LOSSES COMMON ON WALL STREET

Plenty of Credit and Expected Reduction in Federal Reserve Discount Blamed.

CORPORATE NEWS BAD.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 5. (C.P.)—Professional traders continued their experimental efforts to send prices one way or the other in to-day's stock market. Bear selling was in substantial volnme for a time, and losses of two poiuts or more were common among the pivotal shares.

Extraordinarily abundant credit, and the possibility of a reduction in the New York federal reserve rediscount rate, were factors in the market.

Bankers acceptance rates were cut to 2¼ 21; per cent for the shorter maturities, the lowest in six years. These rates are far out of line with the rediscount rate of 3 per cent, and would seem to suggest a downward revision. The Bank of England made no change in its 3 per cent rate. However, and a reduction of the New York rate to level lower than that of London would be a departure from recent policy.

Added to the rather unsettling changes in the money market, corporate news was none too pleasing. Goodyear cut its tire prices about 5 per cent, emphasizing the downward movement of commodity prices, and General Electric declared only the regular dividend, failing to order an extra as was done at this time in each of the three preceding years. Stocks were sold in occasional blocks on 5,000 to 10,000 shares, indicating large scale bear operations, but the market remained professional trader's affair.

Some of the high priced shares broke sharply such issues as Auburn, Case, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, Worthington and Columbian Carbon losing 5 to more than 10 points. U.S. steel sagged about 3 points to a new low for the movement, and such issues as radio, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Public Service of N.J., American Water Works, and Consolidated Gas lost 2 points or more. Glidden dropped to a new 1930 low, reflectiong writing off of inventory losses.

C. M. RUTTAN HEADS TORONTO COMPANY

Appointed By Board of Directors to Act as General Manager of City Dairy.

(Special to The Examiner)

TORONTO, Ont., June 5.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the City Dairy Company Ltd., C. M. Ruttan was appointed general manager of the company to fill the vacancy created through the death of W. J. Northgrave, formerly president and managing director. Mr. Ruttan has been with City Dairy and its subsidiary, the Dri-Milk Company, for the past seven years and some time ago was chosen by the late Mr. Northgrave to fill the post of assistant to the president. In his capacity of assistant the president, Mr. Ruttan, received the benefit of the wealth of experience of Mr. Northgrave.

S. J. Moore was elected president and will occupy the joint office of chairman of the board of directors and president as against chairman of the board and vice president in the past. A. E. Ames, head of the investment firm of A. E. Ames & Co., one of the original founders of the City Dairy company, was elected vice president to succeed Mr. Moore.

Directors also decide to insure the life of all employees and a plan was decided upon for a policy of from $1,000 to $5,000 according to the length of service for each employee. The policy will total in the neighborohood of $1,250,000.

The life of W. J. Northgrave was insured in favor of the City Dairy Company for $360,000 and of this total $300,000 was paid into the treasury to-day.

New South Wales expects to raise an unemployment fund of $15,000,000 from its proposed income tax.

LOWER TONE IN EVIDENCE

Price Movements Confined to Few Points in Dull Session Standard.

HUDSON BAY DOWN.

TORONTO, Ont., June 5. (C.P.)—Action on the standard, compared with Action on the Standard Exchange, compared with that of the past week or so was dull from the opening today, price movements being confined to a few points with an irregularly lower tone in evidence.

International Nickel, Hudson Bay and Noranda were all down about a quarter of a point. Reactionary tendency was noticeable among the golds, Vipond receding 4 to $1.32, Howey a couple to 92, Lake Shore 20 to $22.75 and Dome 5 to $9.10.

Kirkland Lake gold moved up a couple to 74 and Sylvanite, whose annual report is expected soon, gained a point to 53.

158 LARGE TROUT PLACED IN LAKES

Two Trucks Bring Fish From Hatchery to City.

20 INCHES LONG.

On Tuesday morning two Fish and Game Department trucks arrived in front of the Empress Hotel from the Normandale hatchery with 158 very large brook trout. A large number of people were to be seen climbing on the trucks to inspect the trout, which are the largest to ever be planted in Ontario waters. Some of the fish were 20 inches long and six inches deep with most beautiful color effects, especially the brilliant colored red spots and orange stomachs.

These fish were all males and were given to the local club for sport purposes only. They were placed in Clear and Stoney Lakes and not one fish was lost in the consignment despite the fact it was a very hot day and that they had travelled over 200 miles to reach this district. Messrs. Black, Roy and Gravestock accompanied the trucks to the lakes and helped to plant them in the lakes, which took several hours. Fred Roy availed himself of the opportunity to take some splendid movie pictures under perfect conditions and the resulting picture should be a tremendous asset in drawing even more tourists to this district. Within a few minutes of planting the fish some of them were to be seen feeding or playing on the surface of the lakes. They had been born and raised in the Normandale hatchery, from Nipigon spawn. It is hoped that anglers will catch their share of these fine fish this summer, but no person can use a boat in that district until July 1st. It is hoped also that successful anglers will notify the local club of any such catch for record purposes, and so that the Department can be encouraged to give this district an allotment of such fish annually.

Later on in the Fall the Department has promised Mr. Gravestock to send a consignment of yearling trout (7 inches) for further distribution in local trout streams. During the last month the association has received 100,000 trout fingerlings, and 500,000 pickerel fry, in addition to the large trout above mentioned, so local sportsmen are joining the Association in record numbers this year, and all of them are very pleased at the action of the Government in so liberally stocking local waters.

GREAT VALUE OF WOMEN'S EFFORT

Mrs. Forbes Allan Advises George Street Ladies' Aid of Women's Work.

HOME AND COMMUNITY.

The Ladies' Aid of George Street United Church held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the Board Room of the Sunday School Hall with a large attendance.

The room was prettily decorated with vases, cream lilies and tulips on the table, piano and mantel. The president, Mrs. W. P. Hetherington occupied the chair and the Devotional period was in charge of Mrs. E. E. Harvey. After a season of prayer the scripture lesson was read by Mrs. J. H. Rowe. A splendid report of the previous meetings was read by the secretary, Mrs. G. S. Staples and approved.

The corresponding secretary Miss Mary Elliott reported seven letters of sympathy written and read a number of letters of thanks from members for flowers and sympathy extended.

Miss E. Higgins also reported for the Look-out Committee.

Mrs. Hagerman gave the report for the sick and visiting committee, having made 71 calls during the past month.

Mrs. G. S. Staples gave the statement of the Flower committee, owing to the absence of Miss Morrow.

Welcome Singer

Mrs. M. Westington, nee (Daisy Murray) was warmly welcomed back to George Street Ladies' Aid and delighted all with her beautiful and appropriate solo "Lest we Forget". She was accompanied by Miss Musa Cox who also rendered a delightful piano solo.

Mrs. Forbes Allan gave a very interesting and inspiring address, taking as her theme "Women's efforts as an individual in the home and the community." She said "If we read the book of long ago we will recognize that there was no organized effort in social or benevolent work, but that the lady of the manor often tried to relieve distress among the tenants and workmen.

Best In Home

We all recognise that woman should be at her best in the home, and many old sayings are very true. "As the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world". Homes should be the background for all community effort where the children or young people are trained to be an honor to their community and country. We must admit that the young people of today are surrounded with many temptations, but they are more capable and self-reliant than ever before.

Those who have anything to do with the training of children should try to inculcate a love of reverence in them .A mother is the all important person in the home and she has a great privilege in teaching her children the love of God and reverence for all sacred things, rearing the family in the "Fear and admonition of the Lord".

Woman's interest should not be centered entirely within the four walls of her home. If she is to be broad-minded she must be able to see the world outside. Jesus was not content to do good only within his own home. We should follow his example trying to help others. One of women's first interests outside the home (and rightly so) is her church work. They can claim as one of their spiritual assets that women were last at the cross and first at the tomb.

Background of Church

Women's work has come to be recognized in the modern church as the very background of the church. Secondly a woman should do her bit for the community. Any woman who does not exercise her franchise, one way or another, does not do her duty to her country. It is a woman's duty to take an intelligent interest in the government of her country. Every woman would surely do so if they would only consider how the women of the old land suffered to gain this privilege.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Allan and Mrs. Westington. Mrs. C. E. Smith, convenor of the Christmas Fair committee reported that all departments were making satisfactory progress and asked for the continued co-operation of the members.

Sale of Cooking

Mrs. McHoull for the White Wear booth announced a tea and sale of home made cooking on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6 in the Primary room. They will also take orders for goods to be made. All being cordially invited.

Mrs. Kingdon, convenor for the rummage sale gave her report showing splendid results.

Mrs. Tinney and Mrs. Latimer were appointed as members of the committee to make arrangements for the Congregational picnic and the Social committee will make arrangements for entertaining the Cobourg choir on June 13, when they exchange with the choir of George Street United Church.

The meeting closed by singing a hymn and repeating the Mizpah benediction in unison.

Britain's Postmaster-General Outlines New Plan to Press Conference.

WORLD-WIDE ENTERPRISE.

LONDON, June 5. (C.P.)—Yesterday the House of Commons and the world heard from the under-secretary of the air ministry of the great expansion of the air routes and aerial development within the British Empire in the last few years and heard of the ambitious programme entertained for the next year or so.

To-day the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference heard from the Hon. H. B. Lees-Smith, Postmaster-General, of another form of Empire link: the wireless telephone. The great wireless station of the British Post Office at Rugby was already linked, reported the postmaster-general, with land-line telephone systems which centred in London and in New York. The New York link would permit of communication with practically all North America.

Service Already Opened

"The London-Australia service is already opened" stated the Hon. H. B. Lees-Smith, "paths have been plotted out for services to the other dominions and to India. When the Rugby system is completed we shall have from there what may truly be described as the world voice of Britain speaking, not only to the Dominions but to all the more important countries of the world."

The result of establishing a wireless telephone link between Rugby and New York was that a telephone subscriber in Vienna could speak to a subscriber in Montreal, provided the message passed through Rugby and a subscriber in San Francisco could speak to a subscriber in Stockholm, again provided the message went through Rugby.

"We have quietly and unostentatiously obtained for this country a most important position in the long distance telephone services of the world, and we have enabled a British telephone subscriber to communicate with 90 per cent of the telephone subscribers anywhere on earth."

The serious competition of American cable companies and their determined bid to establish a dominant position in world communication was emphasized in the speech of Sir Basil Blackett, chairman of the Imperial and International Communications Limited. This company is the cable and wireless merger which owns inter-Empire cables and leases the British beam stations.

Strong Competitors

Sir Basil mentioned especially the name of the International Telegraph and Telephone Company as a strong competitor.

"As one American pamphlet has said," continued Sir Basil, "I don't like metaphors which suggest that peaceful commerce is a form of international warfare but the nationalist sentiment behind much of this competition cannot be ignored. Serious competition is likely to increase. If our British company is to prosper this competition must be met and increased facilities must continually be provided."

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, June 5.—Jolted by news that Canadian wheat fields suffering from dust storms have received the best rain of the year, wheat prices yesterday plunged downgrade. The break was accompanied by big selling to stop losses on the part of holders of future delivery contracts. Timely moisture in the spring wheat belt south of the Canadian border also tended to topple the market.

Closing quotations on wheat were at about the day's bottom level, 2c to 2½c a bushel lower than Tuesday's finish. Corn closed ⅝c to 1¼c off; oats ⅛c to ⅜c down; and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

BUTTER AND EGGS

TORONTO, June 5.—The report of the expected arrival of 32,000,000 pounds of New Zealand butter in Montreal some time next month, and the fact that prices took a drop in Montreal Tuesday, were responsible for a very dull market yesterday. Trading was at a standstill and buyers were bluntly telling dealers that they were looking for lower-priced butter. Evidently many were waiting for the arrival on Thursday at Halifax of 30,000 cases of New Zealand butter—1,680,000 pounds—and one dealer stated that most of this shipment was on consignment. So there may be cheaper butter in Toronto soon, as the receipts of Ontario product are holding up well. Dealers were still asking 28½ cents yesterday for Ontario No. 1 pasteurized but they were not meeting with any success. They were offering No. 2 at 27 to 27½ cents.

This contract New Zealand shipment of 32,000,000 pounds, for July, is claimed to have been purchased for 28 cents, Montreal, and according to that information the shipment due in Halifax to-day, of 1,680,000 pounds, will be bought in at very low prices—all of which makes a bad market for Toronto storage holders and Ontario shippers. But the new tariff against the New Zealand product goes into effect early in the fall, and it stands to reason that our sister Dominion will endeavor to sell all she can before that date.

Cheese

There was no apparent change on the cheese market. Prices were firm at 17c for new large, 17¼c for new twins, and 17½c for new triplets. Prices to retailers were unchanged.

Eggs

The demand for eggs continued to be good and prices were unchanged. But dealers stated that the demand for extras was becoming weaker due to the slight difference in the two grades, extras and firsts, when the quality was the same. Extras at 24 ounces to the dozen, and firsts at 22½ ounces to the dozen, at a difference in price of 2c per dozen, means that restaurants, etc., would just as soon have the firsts when the quality was the same, and lately the only difference in these grades has been the size or weight of the eggs.

Country shippers were quoted 28c for extras, 26c for firsts, and 23c to 24c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned. The demand for seconds was also slowing up according to some dealers. Graded eggs, free cases, were offered at 30½c for extras, 28½c for firsts, and 26c for seconds, with an extra half cent or 31c, for extras, and 29c for firsts, storage packed, good cases. Retailers were quoted 35c for extras in cartons, 33c for extras loose, 31c for firsts loose and 28c for seconds loose.

Receipts of eggs have started to "drop off" and one shipper reported a decrease in supplies reaching him, of 30 per cent. with a greater decrease expected.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Livestock Receipts at Union Yards—Cattle, 1,042; Calves, 910; Hogs, 1,246, Sheep and lambs, 700.

Trade was dull at the Union Stock Yards yesterday, with only half the supply sold by 3 o'clock. Prices were 50c lower for the week on butcher cattle sold, while sows and bulls held fairly steady under a keen demand.

Closing trade was slow, and a holdover of 700 or 800 is expected. There were few butcher cattle at $10 or above, the bulk selling between $9 and $9.90. Odd lots of choice steers made $10 to $10.50, and a full load of outstanding heavies brought a top of $11. Butcher cows ranged from $6 to $9 a hundred. Bulls brought $8.50 to $9 for choice, with a few common below $7. Fed calves sold at $9.50 to $11, with a few at $12. Odd lots of store cattle unsold. Milkers and springers very dull, with prices lower.

Calves were steady, with a good export demand. Choice went at $11.25 to $11.50, and a few tops at $12. Plain from $6.50 to $11.

Hogs were generally 25c higher, at $11.75, f.o.b., for bacons, or $12.75 off cars.

Lambs were down 50c, at $17 for bulk of choice, with a few at $17.50. Culls and mediums went down from $10 to $15. Sheep were another 50c lower, at $6 for best ewes.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, June 5.—Wheat prices slipped down 1⅝c to 1⅞c on the Winnipeg grain market yesterday under pressure of late offerings. Early in the session buying from the East induced strength, but offerings became too generous toward the close for the market to hold. Over the holiday export business was reported very small.

Rains in Southern Saskatchewan and Alberta offset dearth of moisture reported in Central Saskatchewan, and crop news had no effect on the market. Liverpool closed weak after a strong start. Millers were in the market for cash wheat of high-grade, but otherwise business was dull. Coarse grains sold were on oats and barley only.

INSTITUTE HEARS MISS ALETTA SMITH

Speaker Advises Placing Libraries in Public Schools.

WARSAW, June 5.—(Examiner Correspondence)—Miss Aletta Smith, summer series delegate, was special speaker at the meeting of the Women's Institute held in the Institute room on Monday, with Mrs. Weller in the chair.

It was decided to loan the stage outfit for $3 with the understanding that it was to be returned in good condition, any damage whatever to be repaired. There will be a meeting of the Executive in the Institute room on Saturday eevning at 8 o'clock.

Miss Smith's subject was the Four Square Institute—head, heart, hand and health. Among her points were that as you live in your homes, so you affect the community. Learn the practical value of education and it will strengthen the community as well as ourselves. Make yourself a committee of one to help the Institute, along in numbers, and in every other way.

The speaker said she was glad to see the new school and the church because one could judge a community by such things.

Study the talents of each one and induce them to use them for their own benefit as well as for others. Music is coming to the fore and should be taught in every school; a piano is not a necessity.

Should Have Libraries.

Miss Smith said libraries should be in the schools and Institutes and homes. Women should understand the laws. She advised getting a lawyer to come and give a talk. She advised studying buying and while one should make her money go as far as possible one should find out about our own goods. The speaker had samples of Canadian made textiles and distributed pamphlets on them.

Make a study of Canadian authors and teach boys and girls to earn, spend, give and save. In dealing with children analyze your own past and act accordingly.

Study health. It is said by some who know that if the Institutes keep on with the health problem as they have, there will soon be little need for doctors. Destroy weeds on the farms and roadsides.

"Social times are necessary and important but they must be guided. Evil often comes simply from want of thought. Think good thoughts and the acts will be right. In our actions we show what we are, for we live inside out. Stand for great ideals, for ideals make life worth living." Girls should strive to be the girls Mother would wish them to be. Take care of personal health. The most plentiful things God has given up are air, water and sunshine. Use them to the full. Take exercise and rest. When doing household duties, keep the erect position.

More should be spent on our bedrooms. They are used for communication, prayer and rest and should be comfortably furnished for their uses. One-third of our lives is spent there. Take time to be careful.

Mrs. Herrington moved a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Smth for her very helpful talk. Mrs. Rufus Payne sang, "Lay My Head Beneath the Rose" accompanied by Mrs. George Taylor at the piano. Mrs. Herrington also extended an invitation to all to come and visit her in her new home in Orillia.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting and a social half hour enjoyed.

R-100 Links Two Great Craft Plants

What do people eat on an ocean voyage in the air? For the most part the same good things that provide enjoyment on the tables of average Canadian families. Proof is that the British Airmen who will pilot the giant R-100 on its flight to Canada have selected Kraft Cheese as one of the foods to be served them on their Trans-Atlantic journey.

The illustrations, from left to right show (1) the Kraft cheese plant at Hayes, Middlesex County, England, built in 1925 to care for the tremendous English demand for Kraft cheese previously cared for through export from Canada and the plant which made the Kraft cheese to be served on board the R-100. Since 1921 this factory has been the manufacturing and distributing headquarters for Canada and several other sections of the Empire.

REV. DR. F. BAIRD IS ELECTED HEAD OF THE ASSEMBLY

Presbyterian General Assembly is Opened in Hamilton—Moderator Chosen.

CONTEST IS KEEN.

Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson Loses Out to Maritime Claims.

HAMILTON, June 5 (C.P.)—Rev. Dr. Frank Baird of Pictou, N.S., was last night elected moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at the opening of its annual meeting.

The only other contestant for the moderatorship was Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson of Hamilton, pastor of Knox Church, in which the assembly is meeting. Although the election of the new moderator took only a few minutes of the opening session of the assembly, the contest was keen. Dr. Baird was nominated by Dr. D. G. McQueen of Edmonton and Dr. J. K. Fraser of Renfrew.

They said the Maritime provinces had not had a moderator since the disruption of the church at the time of church union, in 1925, and it was now time to fill the highest office in the church with a man from the east. Although other people claimed they "won the war" for the maintenance of the Presbyterian church as a separate entity, Dr. McQueen said it was Dr. Baird who started the fight and carried it through to a successful conclusion.

Happy Warrior

Dr. Nelson was described by his nominator, Dr. Robert Johnston, of St. Catharines, as a happy warrior who carried the battle into the foeman's camp and forgave his opponents as quickly as he vanquished them. No man, he said, had done more for the rights of self-determination and independence of the church than Dr. Nelson.

Since last year's meeting of the General Assembly the Moderator then elected Dr. David Perrie, of Wingham, Ont., has died. In the absence of a moderator the proceedings of the 56th assembly were opened with a sermon from Dr. John Buchanan of Toronto, a former moderator and missionary in India.

Taking as his topic the idea of sanctification through sacrifice he bluntly condemned the use of liquor by Christian people and declared the system of government control of the liquor traffic was bringing "many evils" to Canada. Government control, he said, enabled liquor to assume a sort of respectability which did not belong to it before and elevated it into the position of a public utility.

"Let us not save our dollars and damn our children," he pleaded, in referring to the large revenues derived from the government sale of intoxicants. If parents wished their children to refrain from alcohol, he said they should refrain from it themselves.

Urging more generous contributions to the Church he told of a mission in India of which he had had charge. There the native Christians made a practice of giving one-tenth of their incomes to the Church.

"That is not the practice in the Synod of Toronto or in the Synod of Hamilton," he said. "But it is a good practice and we thought it wise to start it when they had not much to give away."

Evil of Liquor.

A part of Dr. Buchanan's sermon was devoted to the evil effects of liquor. It was the duty of Christians to sanctify themselves, he said, and if they were to do this they had to put aside liquor.

'Fathers and mothers," he warned, "if you think you can glorify God by using tobacco and alcohol, then go on. But if you do not want your boys and girls to use alcohol, then let it be cut out of your own life."

From this warning to the faithful of the church the preacher turned to a brief comment on the present system of handling liquor in Canada. Government control had not proved what the people expected, he declared. They had voted to minimize the evils of liquor but in the end they had been increased.

"Liquor is doing so much harm here in Canada to-day," he said. "It has stolen a sort of respectability, being sold everywhere by the Government. It has been exalted almost into a public utility by the Government. Let us not listen to the arguments about great revenues and reduced taxation, let us not save our dollars and damn our children."

Spent 38 Years in the Yukon

Bishop Stringer and his wife, who have spent 38 years in the Yukon amongst the Eskimos, converting them to the Christian faith. Mr. Stringer entered the Yukon almost before any other missionary, and was not given a very warm welcome by the Eskimos, who expected him to bring them gifts. However, he persisted, and now the inhabitants worship him and his charming wife.

GERMAN STUDENTS BATTLE FOR JOY OF SEEING BLOOD

They Don't Play Football, But They Swing Wicked Blades.

RAISE CROP OF SCARS.

By GORDON A. SINCLAIR
(Special to The Examiner. Copyright, 1930)

BERLIN, June 5.—The undergrads of Berlin University have no "raw raw" yell; they have no stein song; they never form snake parades after winning a football game because they don't play football games—but how those boys can fight!

Give a Berlin Varsity man a sword or a pair of boxing gloves and he is happy. He prefers the sword, but is equally useful with the gloves. If anything he is a little more proud of being able to smack an opponent's cheek because boxing is rather new to him, while sword play is rather old stuff. Still it doesn't matter much. He'd rather fight than eat and that's saying plenty after you've seen some of these boys tackle a sirloin.

The clothes they wear to class are rather different, too. You might see one young fellow at a political economy lecture dressed up like a pall-bearer, while his next door neighbor is in a leather affair similar to what truck drivers wear, or perhaps a formal morning outfit.

The university is co-ed, but nobody seems to pay much attention to the girls. They are fat, and efficient, and uninteresting. They excel in certain studies such as cutting up bugs, but nobody seems to care much. They try to dress differently too, but no one gives them a second look, which rather takes away from the glory of the duels.

I had pictured in my mind two young braves at each other's throats with long snapping blades and a buxom blonde, like Marguerite in Faust, standing under a trysting tree ready to faint if the man who had insulted her honor won the duel.

But they don't fight under trysting trees as the first dull streaks of dawn color the east. That is not often. They fight in a secret room, within 200 yards of the ex-kaiser's palace. I know because I was there to-day and saw three duels. There was nothing personal about these fights. No one claimed to have been insulted. No one said his honor called out for someone else's blood. But of the six young men who fought, four of them will not be back at their lectures for a day or so, and one may be away for a fortnight.

Through an acquaintance I had en route from Canada, I found out about this secret dueling place.

The keeper was a man of ordinary build who had been sergeant of the Fourth Prussian Guards and had been looked on as one of the greatest blades in the kaiser's army, both before and during the war. However, he had not been permitted to sword-fight publicly because he was not an officer. Everyone knew he did it, as everyone knows these students do it. You would have to be blind not to know. But because of the "officers only" rule he never got a chance to be a champion.

At two I was admitted to a large high-ceilinged room. There were stained glass windows and a hand-carved oak balcony which gave the place the appearance of a church. I was put in the balcony and told to keep out of sight.

"If these boys see you I will lose my job or have to fight them one by one—I don't like to hurt them so do be careful," he grinned immodestly.

Expected Some Butchering

Just before three about a dozen young men arrived. They were an ordinary looking crowd, except that each one of the group was scarred. Some had deep grooves straight across their faces; some were cut about the mouth, others across the forehead.

They wasted no time on preliminaries. The seconds arranged the swords as the young men stripped. They took off their trousers and fought in their underwear. They wore tennis shoes and white shirts which were open at the throat and rolled up in the sleeve. A surgeon was handy with needle and thread, various disinfectants and a few knives. The whole thing was most matter of fact. The old sergeant was referee. He spoke to the first pair for perhaps 30 seconds, held their blades just a moment, and away they went.

Painful Boils One After The Other Broke Out On Arms

Miss K. Rudd, 1100 Victoria Drive, Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"About a year ago I was troubled with boils. They broke out on my arms, and no sooner was one healed than another would come to take its place. I suffered great pain with them, and tried different medicines and ointments, but they did me no good.

"I was advised to take

and, my, what relief I got; soon my skin was as clear as before."

Those who were unable to gain admission, on account of the large crowd, were satisfied to remain on the outside of the hall and listen to the inspiring addresses of the various speakers and the sweet music furnished by the Crusaders and their friends.

It is believed by the Mission Workers, that this visit will create a desire among those who attended to hear more of the messages, from these ardent disciples of the Word of God. Those in charge of the work feel very grateful for the interest being taken in the mission, especially by the local clergymen, in the mid-week service, and the benefit received from their spiritual messages, which are always full of encouragement and inspiration.

FIFTY YEARS OF CONSTANT ENTERPRISE

HE SERVES YOU ON THE SEA

If you asked this man to name his work, he would hardly know what to say. He is a sailor. But he is also an oil man. And he likes both jobs.

He is one of the hard-muscled chaps who man Imperial Oil's ships. He spends his days at sea, but he is as much a part of Imperial Oil as the service station man who wipes your windshield.

Imperial Oil has a fleet of great ships, including the largest tank-ship in the world. It has them because, in South America it established dependable supplies of petroleum for Canadian use. Its ships bring this crude to Imperial refineries in Canada.

For the fifty years since it began, Imperial Oil has been meeting the changing needs of transportation and industry.

Because each new need has been met with new effort and perfection, Imperial has become a part of the country's progress—caches for Arctic airmen—supply depots for the mines—branches across the prairies—service stations in every city and town—nine thousand men in its refineries, on its ships, in its laboratories, at its wells.

Marvelube is Imperial's finest motor oil.

Which means that nothing finer can be put in your car.

BELL HOP JOB IS LUCRATIVE BUT FEW CAN MAKE $12,000

Conditions in Canada Don't Allow Detroit Wages.

CHASING "BREAKS"

(Copyright, 1930)

TORONTO, June 5. — (Special to The Examiner). — Hopping bells in Canada is not the $12,000 a year job it is depicted in news dispatches from Detroit, an investigation has revealed.

The job at its best here, say local bell boys, is worth $65 to $75 a week for three months in the summer, about $40 for another couple of months, and $15 to $20, with a break, the rest of the year.

"What do you make of this Detroit woman who says her husband, who is a bell boy, makes at least $12,000 a year?" the reporter asked a group in one of the hotels.

An old hand spoke up. "I'll tell you how he could make it if you like, but that stuff don't go here. This joint is strictly rooming, and no outside message and advice on entertainment."

Most bell boys travel back and forth to the United States following trade, and many of those in local hotels have worked in Detroit. They say that the job there is not worth more than $4,000 a year on an average.

"But what about this Detroit guy in the story here?" the reporter persisted.

"Must have been the head porter," suggested one.

"Eh?"

"Sure, the head porter over there makes plenty dough. He gets 50 cents for every railroad ticket sold in the hotel, and makes plenty on the boys. He gets so much for his staff and the less men he can manage on the more gravy for him."

"How about here?"

"Naw, nothing like that. Just straight tips and his salary for him."

The bell boys in Canadian hotels do not get much in salary. At the majority of the hotels the stipend is $15 a month.

At some of the smaller ones where tips are not plentiful the amount is $30 a month. At one they get $20 and meals. At a large hotel where tips are supposed to be plentiful, the boys just at present get no salary. When the hotel was opened they got $15 a month, later it was cut to $5, now it is at zero.

Not many very big tips have been given here it appears. If they have, the recipients have kept very quiet about it. The other day a bell boy was given $10 for carrying luggage for a guest, an English lady. Some weeks ago a page boy chalked up the official record when he received a $20 bill for paying a guest's hotel bill.

Quarter is Average.

The average tip for "rooming" a guest is 25 cents. The other most usual tips are a dime and a dollar bill.

"What keeps you boys so long at the racket?" the reporter asked.

"Well it's like this," said one. "You get looking for the big break. Don't know what it is, but you feel there's something big for you if you stick around. Couple of grand maybe. It never comes, but still you keep figuring it might. In the winter you go south, in the summer you come north. Following the sun and chasing the break, like."

Millbrook

Mr. and Mrs. Varcoe, Toronto, spent the week end with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Russell H. Smith.

Several car loads of local citizens motored to Warkworth on Sunday and attended service at the United church, hearing a former pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard, who moves to a new circuit this year. Among those going were: Mr. and Mrs. P. Stinson and family; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sayles, their sons, Walter and George, and daughter, Marjorie; Mr. and Mrs. W. O'Brian, and daughter, Marian; Mrs. (Dr.) Rae; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Argue, and family; Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Lang, Miss Bertha and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Williamson, and family; Misses Francis and Beatrice Jones, and others.

A reception service was conducted by the pastor of Saint Andrew's United church at morning worship on Sunday, when six candidates were received into full membership, the session, and representatives from the Committee of Stewards assisting Rev. Mr. Jones in welcoming the new members whose names were added to the church roll.

A duet, "Ever Near," by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston took the place of the usual anthem, and added much to the impressiveness of the special service. Rev. Mr. Jones preached from the subject: "What Jesus Means to Teach Us by Prayer" his text being from Matthew 7:7-8.

There was a large congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith, of Toronto, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Needham. Mr. Smith is manager of the General Steel Manufacturing Company with which Miss Needham is employed.

An up-to-date switch board has been installed at the local telephone office this week, and nearly all the telephones in the village and the party lines in the country, are now properly connected, the improved call system, which has done away with the necessity of ringing central, being much appreciated. There has been some confusion while change was being made, but it was reduced to a minimum by having extra help in the office all week, and by the promptness with which the efficient staff of workmen made the necessary alterations on the line outside. Simply taking down the receiver now brings a response from the operator at the switchboard; phone numbers have in some instances been changed, and a new directory will shortly be issued with corrections made.

Mrs. A. E. Ames, Mrs. George Ames, and Mrs. A. L. Davis, of Toronto, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Needham on Monday, Miss Needham accompanying them on the return trip to the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jewel of Lindsay, and Mrs. Brooks of Cannington were visitors in town on Wednesday evening calling upon their relatives, Mrs. (Dr.) E. L. Burnham, Mr. A. A. and Miss Etta Needler, during a comparatively brief stay.

Dr. A. Jemison, D.D.G.M., made an official visit to the Masonic Lodge at Keene on Friday evening in connection with the dedication of their new hall; Brothers C. Thorndyke and G. E. Burnham accompanied him for the event, and the Grand Master was also present and took the leading part in the ceremony.

WESTWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. George Scott and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Schwanz, Mrs. Burns and son, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Dickson of Syracuse, N.Y., returned on Sunday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. William Dickson and other friends here.

Miss Bessie Sargent spent Saturday in Toronto.

Mr. William Nevins of Chicago, is spending his vacation with his mother, Mrs. Robert Nevins.

HOUSEWIVES STUDY JOBS

Growing Interest is Being Taken in Seasonal Dietetics.

NO MORE BIG MEALS

Direct evidence that Canadian housewives are taking greater interest in seasonal dietetics is provided by researches made for sales purposes by the Canadian Shredded Wheat Company, Ltd., the results of which have just been completed.

While for business reasons, exact figures cannot be quoted, it is found that in the large majority of homes, there is a definite tendency to regulate family diet during the summer season and as cold weather comes later in the year. The results of the researches can best be told in the words of an official of the Shredded Wheat organization.

"Whether it is entirely due to the consistent advertising carried on by whole wheat food manufacturers or whether housewives are being largely advised by other means, we do not know for certain, but there is an undoubted trend for lighter, more digestible and better balanced family meals in Canadian homes as hot weather approaches," said the official of the Company. "Housewives are certainly paying more attention to the science of their jobs than they did a few years ago."

"Undoubtedly, such tendencies are all to the good. The eating of light, whole wheat foods presented in an appetizing and digestible form as in Shredded Wheat, is endorsed by the medical profession generally. Doctors are constantly explaining that there are certain elements needed for body building and that these are presented in whole wheat foods."

"The day of the big meal seems definitely to be passing. Whether in summer or winter, quality food value is being realized at its true worth as being more essential than bulk."

'GREENS' AS HEALTHY FOOD

Thirty - eight Varieties of "Greens" Eaten by People Sometime During Year.

ON LUNCHEON MENU

When the word "greens" is mentioned the thoughts of ninety-nine people out a hundred turn to spinach. This is because spinach has been given so much publicity. A well-known chemist commented recently that if a manufacturer should make the claims for his product that nutritionists have made for spinach, he would be reprimanded by the government.

Spinach is a healthful food but there are at least thirty-eight other varieties of fresh greens which are within the reach of most of us at some time of the year. This one class of foods gives a wide range of flavors—spicy, bitter, aromatic, sweet—either eaten raw or properly cooked. It is careless cooking which has given so many greens (literally) a black eye. The usual rule is quick, short cooking with little water. There are a few exceptions to this as for instance turnip tops, mustard greens and kale after they have passed their first stage of delicacy.

The cooking of greens begins with the washing. No one likes grit and since the cooking will not remove it, special care must be taken in the cleaning. Soak leafy greens in plenty of lukewarm water. An hour's soaking will free the leaves from sand and grit. Lift them out of the water and rinse in clear water. Draining only puts the sand back again into the greens.

Enough water will cling to the leaves of spinach and chard to make additional water unnecessary for cooking. Put the washed greens into a kettle, cover and cook slowly until enough liquid has formed to keep the greens from burning. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally until the leaves are tender. Cooked spinach or chard may be arranged in a casserole in layers alternating with cooked noodles or macaroni and white sauce. Sprinkle the top liberally with grated cheese and crumbs (rolled cornflakes are good) and brown in the oven.

Very young, tender turnip greens are commonly used in certain sections of the country. They may be cooked alone or in combination with beet greens, radish greens, kale or dandelion.

A special luncheon menu for this time of year has a main vegetable of buttered asparagus (whole stalks) or spinach garnished with egg; new potatoes with cream sauce; buttered new peas and baby carrots. Garnish the plate with parsley. Hot bran muffins are right to serve instead of bread and fresh strawberries or canned peaches furnish a pleasing dessert.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

I am enclosing a coupon for two of the helps. I won't try to write a letter even though Quo Vadis is so kind as to say to write anyway and let the neighbors be the judges. I never seem to get that bright cheery tone, nor even one of especial interest, so will be content to send a note.

At least I can enjoy the others' letters (when they write) which they haven't been doing lately. I have been busy with housecleaning then the yard and flower beds. Everything is spick and span now and the seeds have sprouted and my new lily has a tiny shoot today. It has great courage to come through in this weather, hasn't it? The roses and dahlias are coming on fine and I think my flowers will be nicer than ever despite these cold dark days which retards growth so. More luck to yourself and the neighbors.

A. M.

P.S.—I almost forgot to say that your articles are interesting and helpful. Many of them are out of my line but I like to read them. I've gotten many new ideas from them and learned several recipes, and it's such a convenient way to get new ideas if one had to read up on such subjects as you write about one might read a whole column and only learn the same thing. Whereas you have condensed it into a few short paragraphs—which I should have done with this letter, yes, it's got to the letter stage now. So will close.

A. M.

Thank you very much for all your encouragement. I don't think you need anything special to write about in your letters—I haven't read a letter yet for the page that wasn't interesting, and I enjoy the little notes that say, "I enjoy your page," just as much as I do those who take pages to tell me so.

Dear Anne:

You gave me such a nice welcome Anne that here I am back again. I would just like a word of cheer to those women who are struggling against odds and who think everyone is accomplishing something but themselves. Just remember there are too many Marthas amongst us and not enough Marys. You remember Martha was troubled about much serving. It is quite easy to make a god out of your house. So many women work until their nerves are frayed and everyone feels irritated just because Mrs. Smith or Jones has been in and recited all the work she did this spring. Never mind what she did, you do the best you can, and think of the article Anne wrote, which gave me an entirely new slant on things.

Anne said in part, "do each job without thinking of the next one". She also said that we are mentally tired before we begin which is all too true. I used to get up in the morning and think of all I had to do during the day and not being very strong of how tired I would be when I had finished, and believe, me, I was tired indeed before I began.

If I had clothes to clean which I particularly dislike doing, I had it in mind all the time. Now I'm following Anne's advice I'm not nearly so tired and I have more leisure. I do one job at a time and one day's work at a time and everything goes much easier.

So you see Anne the seeds you scatter fall on fertile ground. And now if one of my neighbors tells me how much work she did, I listen and then forget and I do not try to do as much as she did. Then again, how much of our work is entirely unnecessary. We are harder on ourselves than any employer would be. A farmer would not expect a driving horse (is that right?) to do the work of a heavy work horse, neither would be hitch a race horse to the plow. I may not be using the right expression Anne but then I'm no farmer. But in women's work the racers are supposed to do the same as the heavy workers. So in conclusion neighbors think for yourselves. Do the best you can. Do not neglect your appearance and you cannot look your best if you are haggard from over work.

Let the children do some of the work they help to upset the house and soil the dishes, let them help to clean it. Have some time for recreation. Just remember everything will go on just the same, if you put yourself into an early grave, through over work.

Remember what our Lord said, "Take no thought for tomorrow, for tomorrow will take care of things of itself." "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. Or the work thereof, or worry thereof."

Well, as Tennyson said of the brook "Men may come and men may go, but I go on forever."

I was glad to see Water-Lily say a word for Ad Nauseam. Elizabeth must have written a wonderful letter. Oh dear, oh dear, I must go and work. Love to you all and don't overwork.

Your friend,

Quo Vadis

What splendid advice for our neighbors, Quo Vadis. I know many of them need it right now. I used to be reprimanded for saying 'Let it go,' when some members of the family would say something HAD to be done no matter how tired one was. Health comes first always and it is only lately that many of our older neighbors are beginning to find this out.

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to cooked foods and is equally effective. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

WORDS.

There are words that shine and sing,
Words as gay as bird on wing
We hear, sometimes;
Words as sweet as any rose
Which upon the lips disclose
Their silvery chimes.

There are words like faith and trust
That can lift us from the dust,
Thrilling life anew;
There are brave words, hope and truth,
There are joyous words like youth,
Fresh as April dew.

There are words which all men prize,
Words whose magic never dies,
Love is one, and fame;
Some words ring with melody,
But the sweetest word to me
Is just...your name!

SERUM PROVES FATAL.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"PAT MALLOY."

(Contributed by Beatrice)

At sixteen years of age I was my mother's fair-haired boy,
She kept a little huxtor shop, her name it was Malloy;
"I've fourteen children, Pat," says she, "which heav'n to me has sent,
But childer ain't like pigs, you know, that cannot pay the rent."
he gave me every shilling there was in the till,
And kissed me fifty times or more, as if she'd never get her fill—
"Oh, heav'n bless you, Pat," said she, "and don't forget, my boy,
That ould Ireland is your country, and your name is Pat Malloy."

Oh, England is a purty place, of goold there is no lack;
I trudged from York to London with my scythe upon my back;
The English girls are beautiful, their love I don't decline,
The eating and the drinking, too, is beautiful and fine;
But in a corner of my heart which nobody can see,
Two eyes of Irish blue are always peeping out at me.
"Oh, Molly darlin', never fear, I'm still your own dear boy, Ould Ireland is my country, and my name is Pat Malloy."

From Ireland to America across the seas I roam,
And every shilling that I got, ah shure I sint it home;
Me mother couldn't write, but one there came from Father Boyce,
"Oh, heav'n bless you, Pat," says she, "I hear my mother's voice."
But now I'm going home again, as poor as I began,
To make a happy girl of Moll, and shure I think I can;
Me pockets are empty, but my whole heart is filled with joy,
For ould Ireland is me country, and me name is Pat Malloy."

WEDDING BELLS

TEASEL—ABAR.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 5.— (By Examiner Staff Corespondent.)— A very pretty wedding was solemnized at high noon on Wednesday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McArthur, Sebastopol street, when Lucille Abar, daughter of Mr. D. and the late Mrs. S. Abar of Campbellford, became the bride of Samuel Earle Teasel, of Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Teasel, of that town. The Rev. R. C. Tait, pastor of St. John's United church, performed the ceremony and Miss Isabel Bygott played the wedding march.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. H. McArthur, was attired in a pretty gown of cream georgette, with silver shoes, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley. Acting as her maid of honor, Miss Kathleen Bygott was robed in a dress of flower blue georgette with gold shoes, and carried a bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. A. E. Purdy, of Belleville, supported the bridegroom.

The ceremony, which was performed in the drawing room, took place under an arch of flowers, which harmonised with the gown of the bride.

After the service, a dainty wedding breakfast was served to about twenty of the relatives and near friends. The dining room was decorated in a color scheme of white and pink, the table being centered with a three tier wedding cake, which was cut by the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Teasel left in the afternoon on a motor trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and points south, prior to settling at the home of the groom at Trenton.

Mrs. Abar acted as maid of honor for the occasion.

MacMINN—FAIRMAN.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 5. —(By Examiner Staff Correspondent.) —A pretty wedding was held on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Nelson Fairman, Percy township, when their daughter, Clara Luella, became the bride of William Gordon MacMinn, of Oshawa, Ont. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. J. Mark, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Campbellford.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a dress of blue georgette, with shoes to match. She was attended by Miss Mary Fairman, of Campbellford, who looked very pretty in a gown of pink georgette. Mr. Lorne Donaldson supported the groom.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding luncheon was served, when the bride cut the beautiful wedding cake in traditional manner.

Mr. and Mrs. MacMinn left this afternoon for a short trip to Ottawa, from whence they will proceed to their new home at Oshawa, Ont.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

AMY GOT HER NEW DRESSES!

"I must get around Jack to buy me those two lovely dresses I saw today," thought Amy, "and I know the way to get them." Let's see what she did.

That evening she put some bacon on to fry. Then she put some Clark's Pork and Beans into a dish and, after pouring some bacon fat over them, popped the dish into the oven.

In about ten minutes she took out the dish of beans which by now were a tempting, rich, nut-brown color . . . then she spread the bacon in fancy array over the beans.

"Mmmm!" chuckled Amy, as she looked at the appetizing dish of beans, "When Jack sees this for supper . . . well, he never could resist Clark's Pork and Beans." (P.S.—She got the dresses.)

We are so confident that you will find Clark's Pork and Beans really delicious that you may buy them with the guarantee that if you are not fully satisfied with them, your grocer will refund you your money without question. . . . they MUST be good!

A YACHTING COSTUME COMBINED WITH A BATHING SUIT.

The young person who goes yachting frequently changes her mind and decides to go swimming. With this costume she is prepared for either. A red bathing suit is worn under a skirt of red and white, which buttons easily around the waist and is slit at one side, and there is a loose short-sleeved jacket of the same red as the bathing suit. The collar of the jacket buttons over in the same amusing fashion as the skirt.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

THERE are certain courtesies of motorists toward pedestrians and pedestrians toward motorists which exist but for which there are no actual rules of etiquette.

• • • • • • •

Caution and precaution are the safeguards distinguishing the courtesies.

• • • • • • •

The pedestrian should beware of attempting to cross a street when this would seriously inconvenience a motorist.

• • • • • • •

This is hitherto unformulated but excellent first courtesy or rule for pedestrians, many of whom seem to believe that it is the motorist alone who should exercise care.

• • • • • • •

It is more easy for you to get out of the way of a motorist than it is for the motorist to get out of your way so the second courtesy is one which every motorist appreciates—speed. The hastening of pedestrians when they are crossing a street. This may permit the driver to continue without changing the speed or gears.

• • • • • • •

It does seem hard that many children have only the sidewalk and street on which to play—endangering themselves as well as motorists.

• • • • • • •

Children should be instructed never to cross a street or road until autos have passed and then to hurry as fast as they can to reach the other side before another car comes.

• • • • • • •

When a child is heedless of these things it is apt to be in part the parent's fault for not impressing the importance upon the child, and accidents are more than likely to occur.

• • • • • • •

The motorist who slows down when he sees a person starting to cross the street, and motions the pedestrian to proceed, extends a courtesy to the pedestrian that is thoroughly appreciated.

• • • • • • •

The question of a safe passage to the other side of the street is assured, and I think it is a gracious thing for the pedestrian to acknowledge such a courtesy by a slight bow, without, of course, decreasing the speed of the step.

• • • • • • •

The person who, in the midst of rapid transit that is governed by signals, presumes to hold up his hand to stop traffic and so safeguard his crossing the street, is a menace to the life of others. We don't see this, however, very much in Peterborough.

• • • • • • •

Vehicles have the right of way. They try to move as rapidly as possible. If suddenly halted, the motors behind the first one have to stop suddenly, and somewhere down the line of traffic a driver may not be quick enough to prevent his car from bumping into the one in front of him.

• • • • • • •

The pedestrian is at fault here, although he may be far in advance and have reached the opposite side of the street in safety to himself.

• • • • • • •

The dangers which arise from lack of courtesies between pedestrians and motorists are many. Reckless drivers fail to consider their value even more than do reckless pedestrians.

• • • • • • •

The average person, however, is not reckless!

• • • • • • •

It is a sorry state of affairs that exists where life is lost and property is destroyed through thoughtlessness. One way to avoid such calamities is through heeding the courtesies of the road.

OUR CHILDREN

TRYING CHILDREN.

The best trained child is likely to rise up some morning and make us wonder if he has not been changed in the night. Gone is the amiable child of our love and in its stead is a whining, irritable, selfish child who demands our entire time and attention and is not satisfied with even that. What is the matter?

We are mistaken when we think the change arrived in the night. If stole over the child slowly as a shadow creeps over the grass. All of a sudden it is there and because we had not noted its coming we think it a revolutionary change. It is really a matter of growth.

Perhaps it is a physical growth gone wrong. Sometimes a child's teeth will give great pain and uneasiness and the child, scarce knowing what is wrong, complains and clings. Or it may be that the diet is wrong. Any number of things may be going wrong and the best thing to do is to ask a child specialist to look the troublesome child over and try to find what ails him.

It may be that the home training has been inadequate. You see a little child changes rapidly as his body grows. Every day sees a little advance over its yesterday. We, so busy with our thousand and one cares, have not noticed, have not kept step with the child's growth. We are still treating the child as a six-months baby when he is a twelve-months' child. That is a source of trouble.

Diet, health habits, self help, self reliance, outside interests, all must be fostered in the little child according to his growth. If we overlook the phase of growth and do not supply it with what it needs to stimulate and guide mental growth and consequent power of body and mind, we make a mistake and rue it when it comes to us in the form of the trying, troublesome child.

There is a time to teach a child to play by itself, to use its own toys, to help itself. If we keep on helping the child long after it is able to help itself, if we thwart its efforts to help itself because we are too impatient, because we think we have not time to wait, we are going to be sorry because when the child is older he will still be thinking he is an infant. His thought of himself is set by what he knows of himself.

If he is allowed to believe that he is helpless, dependent, a baby, he is not to blame if, when he is four and five years old, ready by time standard and physical standards for school, he is but the two year old baby dependent upon his mother. Begin early to let the child grow by personal experiences.

Little children must have other children to play with or they will make their mothers' lives unbearable. Grown-up people cannot be satisfying companions for little children. That is another cause for troublesome children. Training, companionship, outdoor play, good diet, long sleep, healthy letting alone—and the troublesome child will not belong to you.

That Body of Yours

GETTING MOST OUT OF YOUR VACATION

You may, at this time, be thinking seriously about your summer vacation about how to get the most out of it.

Naturally, I think about it from a health standpoint, but that doesn't necessarily mean living by rule-up at a certain hour; exercise of a certain kind for a certain length of time at a certain period daily, sleep for a certain period, and foods of a certain kind.

That kind of life is only for some individual who is not well. One who has some stomach or other ailment that necessitates a certain regularity as to sleep, food and exercise.

But for the average individual vacation should be a mind vacation, one in which the brain, the emotions,—joy, gladness, freedom from care—are the controlling factors.

The first thought then is to try and get your summer vacations at a time when yo can best leave business behind. If it is the very busy season and you are going to take business with you, then it will not be a real vacation.

Relaxation, freedom from worry, is the biggest factor in getting the most out of a vacation. So get away from the telephone and telegraph and try to think of yourself as a youngster again.

Get up early and get the tang and freshness of the early morning, sleep during the day for an hour or two if you feel like it. Eat a soda cracker and drink glass of cold water, and go for a walk before breakfast. You'll come back ready and eager for breakfast.

Sit around after breakfast for half an hour, then get at your fishing, golfing, walking, boating or whatever your like best for a couple of hours, and then rest for a time before lunch or dinner. A rest after the noon meal, dozing in a chair, not lying down, and then some outdoors before the evening meal.

Your vacation may not mean a vacation without tobacco, but the temptation to over indulgence is strong when outdoors and should be avoided.

The prescription is simple—outdoors, plenty of food, plenty of exercise, plenty of sleep. Live as a youngster, or other young animal and do just what you want to do for your vacation time.

ORANGE LODGES HONOR FOUNDER AT BROCKVILLE

Lieut.-Col. Ogle Robert Cowan First Grand Master of Orange Association of British America.

TEMPLE DEDICATED.

Portrait and Plaque of Founder Unveiled Within Doors of Building.

BROCKVILLE, June 5.—Orangemen all the way from Newfoundland to Vancouver Island assembled here yesterday to celebrate the century of Orangeism in Canada and to honor the memory of Lieut.-Col. Ogle Robert Gowan, M.P., father, founder and first grand master of the Orange Association of British America.

Functions yesterday took place on the same ground that saw the birth of the institution in Canada 100 years ago.

At 10 a.m. the lodge session opened in the courthouse, which occupies the very site of an earlier building in which 51 delegates met in January 1830, to frame the constitution of the Canadian association. Yesterday afternoon a new lodge temple for Leeds County, located just across the road from the courthouse, was dedicated to Lieut-Col. Gowan.

During the dedication service a portrait painting of the first grand master of the association, executed by Kenneth Forbes, A.R.C.A. and a plaque within the doors of the new temple were unveiled by Mrs. Ferguson Burke of Toronto, granddaughter of Lieut.-Col. Cowan. The inscription on the plaque reads: "Home of the Loyal Lodge No. 1. This temple stands as a memorial of the late Ogle R. Cowan, M.P., father, founder and first grand master of the Orange Association of British America."

The dedication ceremony took place under the trees outside the entrance to the new temple. While several hundred men stood hat in hand, in a large circle, John Easton of Winnipeg, grand master of the Grand Lodge, read the dedication ritual.

The text of the dedication address by Mrs. Ferguson-Burke follows:—"Most Worshipful Grand Master and Sovereign and Members of the Loyal Orange Institution. I deem it a high honor to be present to-day on the occasion of the dedication of this temple to the memory and in honor of my revered grandfather, Lieut.-Col. Ogle Robert Gowan.

"On this spot, 100 years ago in a small way, the Orange Order of Canada had its birth. Twenty-three years later—in 1853—upon his revisiting Brockville, Ogle R. Gowan was presented with an address by the brethren of Lodge No. 1. In that address we find the following words which must have their echo in every heart to-day:

Gowan Eulogized

"'Knowing you to be the father and founder of our glorious institution in America, and having witnessed the exertions you made, and the time, the ability, the money you spent in its support, we are happy at being offered the opportunity of again acknowledging you as our head; of being instructed by your counsel, guided by your precepts and encouraged by your example of perseverance and fidelity. Here in the capital of Leeds and Grenville was the fountain first opened from which issued the waters of Orangeism that have since irrigated the land, and in no spot can the head that planned and the hand that raised, and the heart that watched by that fountain, be more appropriately welcomed. Welcome then, Right Worshipful Sir, thrice welcome you to our midst to-day—your name and service will ever be dear to us and the heart of a Leeds Protestant must be cold indeed when it ceases to move with emotion in the presence of Ogle R. Gowan.

"'Done in open lodge at Brockville in the County of Leeds, this tenth day of September, 1853.'

"While honored in recalling the high and beneficent service of my grandfather, I cannot but feel that I am speaking as well for the great majority of Orange members, both male and female, here assembled, when I refer to this most notable occasion as our forefather's day'. In so doing, it is with full assurance that your thoughts, as well as my own, are reverting to-day in grateful consciousness to the revered memories of our fathers and grandfathers who, through times of storm and stress, upheld with a lofty and unfailing enthusiasm the banner of Protesantism in our well-beloved country. Truly it may be said of the Orange lily that it is an immortelle."

PAID LAST CENT FOR LUCKY TRY

Farmer Down to Rock Botton When Learns of His Good Fortune.

FIRST REAL LUCK.

REGINA, June 5.—A Saskatchewan farmer took a long chance to win fickle fortunes favor and now he is worth $37,500.

He is H. G. Perkins, 41-year-old farmer, who heard yesterday, while he was out in his barn preparing to reseed a blown out crop, that he had won the first prize in the Mutual Club Derby Sweepstake of Switzerland, netting him the sum of $7,500. It is the first real luck he has had since he came to the prairies, he declares, and the way in which it came to him sounds like a fairy story.

Last year he had no crop. Times were lean and he is a married man with two small girls and a son of 19. He forgets the day on which he made the gesture which turned fortune's wheel in his direction, but he does know that it was some time in January and that he was all but broke. He had three dollars in his pocket when, a man working in the freight sheds at The Pas, came along and casually offered him the chance of winning a fortune for what was his entire captal. He took the chance Blenheim did the rest.

STAGE IS ALL SET FOR RANGERS' PLAY

Aunt Lucia Will Be Presented in the Collegiate Auditorium To-night.

The cast of "Aunt Lucia" the play to be presented to-night and tomorrow night in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, under the auspices of the Peterborough Rangers has been having a screamingly funny time during rehearsals and the play promises to be a real knockout for the audiences also, if they enjoy it half as much as the principals and the chorus seem to do, when practising for it.

Last evening, the upper concert room of the Armories echoed with the laughter of the watchers as they saw the College Flappers go through their stunt, while the twin proposals by Jim Turnbull and Jack Primeau brought down the house. Norm Laign is as funny as a barrel of monkeys with his awkward black skirt and his intense interest in his portrayal of Aunt Lucia.

There are groups of very pretty girls who sing and dance; there is a big Baby Pageant to open the show; a series of special numbers and a College Glee Club.

But the interest lies in the funny situations and the comical dialogue with which Aunt Lucia and her tribe surround themselves.

The boys were asked to assemble at 7 p.m. next Friday. Regular proceedings start at 7.30 p.m.

What's the Matter With India?

Gandhi, the Hindu leader, has published "a letter to the world" upon the condition of "the dumb millions" of his countrymen and women. He says:

1—100 millions of Hindus, who made directly or indirectly a living out of spinning and weaving cotton, have been deprived of their very means of existence by the recent introduction of machines.

2—As a consequence the land-tax and salt-tax by which a revenue is raised to defray the expenses of Government, have become a terrible burden upon the poor Hindu. Therefore, Gandhi says, the only hope for the Hindu is to repudiate his debts and his taxes, which can only be done by seizing the country and turning out the British and all others, native and foreign, who administer government or carry on a manufacturing business of any kind. To use Gandhi's own words: "The destfuction of the central supplementary industry that of hand-spinning, has undermined their capacity for producing."

In our own West the introduction of machinery upon the land has wiped out all harvesters' excursions and cut down employment one-half. What is to become of the increasing world-army of the unemployed? Increase the facilities of world-trade. To bar it out in hope that home-development will save us is to tighten up the world against us and to prepare for war.

Hence to refuse preferences and trade agreements, as Mr. Bennett does because Mr. King does the opposite, is at one blow to ruin Canada and to ruin the Empire.

God Save the King.

CONFERENCE WILL NOT RELIEVE ANY INDIAN TROUBLES

Pledge Demanded That a Scheme For Self Government to be Framed.

CESSATION OF WORK.

Workers Strike and Mills Close in Mourning For Ghandi's Imprisonment.

LONDON, June 5.—(A.P.) — Dispatches from India to-day stressed seriousness of the political unrest there, where Nationalists are waging a campaign of "civil disobedience" to gain Indian independence.

The Bombay correspondent of the Daily Herald said the prospect of arranging the projected round table conference in London in October to settle affairs in India did not seem very hopeful as long as existing conditions obtained.

It was said that the Viceroy, Lord Irwin, had communicated during the past few days with leading moderate politicians, with a view of preparing the ground for the October Conference. One of these conferees described by the corerspondent as "a man with an Indian and European reputation for caution and honesty," f nkly informed the Viceroy that it was useless to discuss the conference in the present grave situation.

The un-named informant told the correspondent that not only the All-Indian National Congress but the people also would refuse to be represented at the conference unless the Government was prepared to give a pledge that the conference would frame—not merely discuss—a scheme for self government for India with safeguards for the transition periods.

ENGLISH MISSIONARY IS MURDERED IN CHINA

Stabbed in Back as Rode in Rickshaw Through Streets

SHANGHAI, June 5.—(A.P.)—The murder of an English missionary, Dr. Clifford Stubbs of the Society of Friends, was reported today from Chengtufu Szechwan. He was riding in a rickshaw when he was stabbed in the back and died later in a hospital.

Stubbs was a native of Newcastle-on-Tyne and had been in China since 1913. His assailant was described by the police as a Communist from Chungking.

EDITOR UPHOLDS SELECTIVE RIGHT

Resolution of Town Council Demanding Full Reports Fails.

GUARDS GOOD NAME.

ST. CATHARINES, June 5.—Thorold Town Council last night declined to consider a resolution censuring the Thorold newspaper, The Post, for not printing a report of a meeting of the Council some weeks ago when Mayor E. P. Foley and three Councillors walked out of the Council Chamber as a protest against the action of the Town Clerk, D. J. C. Munro, since dismissed. John H. Thompson, editor of The Post, former Mayor of Thorold, against whom the resolution was directed, answered that he had decided not to print the report in his newspaper as it was not a good advertisement for the town. He said that, as a newspaperman, he considered he had a right to report what he thought proper of what took place at the meetings of public bodies. The resolution was torn up. It was moved by Councillors Martin and Hutt, and was as follows: "That the Council views with disfavor the incomplete reports of the press, and would rather that complete and full reports of each meeting should reach the taxpayers; and, if any reporter feels that his personal feelings prevent him from dealing with the reports of the meetings, he be permitted to withdraw, and that in future no newspaper representatives shall be allowed to report Council meetings unless they agree to publish a full report."

FURTHER GAINS FOR "RED" ARMY

Japanese Advices Invaders Are Maintaining Order in Changsha.

LOOTING PROHIBITED.

SHANGHAI, June 5 (Canadian Press). — Despatches last night from foreign gunboats standing off Changsha said Kwangsi forces totalling 20,000 men, had occupied the city, and that more were coming in. The 10,000 Nationalist troops deflected from the Central China front north of Chengchow, Honan Province, retreated northward after making a feeble show of resistance, it was added.

All foreigners in Changsha had been concentrated on an island in the Siang River off the city, the despatches explained, where they were under the protection of the guns of the foreign gunboats. Japanese residents were said to be evacuating the city, moving to Hankow, Hueph Province, on the Yangtse River.

The declared objective of the Red Army is Hankow itself and its sister cities, Wuchang and Hanyang.

A decided contrast to most rebel victories, the Red Army was reported in Japanese advices to be maintaining order in Changsha. Looting was prohibited. Ample protection of foreigners was believed provided by the British, Japanese, and United States gunboats in the harbor.

NEW RECORD FOR NORTHERN MAIL

Plane Travels the 1,630 Miles to Arctic Post in Eleven Hours.

BOISTEROUS GREETING.

EDMONTON, Ita., June 5. — All records for air travel in the north country were smashed Wednesday when a Commercial Airways Aeroplane, conveying the first mail of the summer and express to Aklavik, N. W. T., situated at the mouth of the Mackenzie River, made the hop to the far northern post from Fort McMurray, a distance of 1,630 miles, in 11 hours and five minutes.

It was the first mail since the winter tie-up and the factors, traders and natives gave the plane a boisterous greeting. It brought mail, express and those things that ordinarily would not be available to anyone in Aklavik for several months.

At is is a two hour trip from Edmonton to McMurray, anyone leaving ths city now, can reach the rim of the Arctic ocean in around 14 hours.

PROBE HABITS OF UNDERGRADUATES

Outgrowth of Revelations of Escapades Leading to Cambridge Tragedy.

AIR OF FALSE ROMANCE.

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., June 5.—(A.P.)—Cambridge University authorities have started searching inquiries into the habits of undergraduates as an outgrowth of revelations of escapades in which Douglas Newton Potts, an undergraduate, is reported to have been engaged long before the shooting tragedy here early this week.

Potts committed suicide after shooting and killing a tutor, Dr. A. F. R. Wollaston, noted mountaineer and explorer and Detective Sergeant Willis of the Cambridge Police.

It has been revealed that Potts had surrounded himself with an atmosphere of faied romance which he insisted his friends should share and that he had been known in the little village of Mildenhall, abou t thirty miles from Cambridge which he frequently visited as "The Prince".

The villagers said that he called himself "The Prince of Lorraine", and pretended that one of his friends was the heir to the Russian throne.

One report which came to the police for investigation since the tragedy was that he was secretly married in London several months ago. It was gathered from various sources that girls had played a prominent part in the last days of his life. He was stated to have told one girl in Mildenhall that he had left Cambridge for London because he could not face his debts.

Royals Outhit and Outscore Leafs in Toronto Game

MONTREAL CLUB EASILY BEATS TORONTO 12-2

Smith Holds Leaf to Four Hits While Bison Batsmen Connect For Thirteen.

WINGS BREAK TIE.

Orioles Chalk Up Fifth Straight Victory at Expense of Reading Keys.

The International League pennant race may be close, but it is going to be a hard job to catch Baltimore at the present rate the Orioles are traveling.

Playing the brand of ball that won seven straight pennants from 1919 to 1925, the Orioles have won twelve out of their last thirteen games, chalking up their fifth straight victory yesterday at the expense of Reading. It took eleven innings, but Baltimore finally won out 10 to 9 after six home runs had figured in the scoring.

The Montreal Royals refused to give ground, however, staying two games back of the league leaders with a 12 to 2 victory over the Toronto Leafs. Smith held the Leafs to four straight hits while his teammates combed three Toronto hurlers for thirteen safeties.

Wings Break Tie.

Rochester broke the tie with Buffalo for third place in the standings, defeating the Bisons 7 to 5 with a ninth inning rally that netted two runs.

The two runs broke up an excellent bit of relief pitching by Mills, who had let the Redwings down with a single run after relieving Wilson in the second.

A big first inning, in which seven runs were scored off Lefty Fisher, gave the Jersey City Skeeters an 8 to 2 triumph over Newark. After getting away to a big lead the Skeeters just coasted in behind the nine-hit pitching of Jess Bream.

TABLE TALK WINNER OAKVILLE HANDICAP

Spirited Racing as Long Branch Opens—Saint's Fancy Surprises.

TORONTO, June 5.—Under ideal weather conditions and with a large crowd in attendance, the Long Branch race meeting opened yesterday. The course, one of the finest in the country, was lightning fast and the racing, for the most part, fully as keen and exciting as at Woodbine Park or Thorncliffe. For sheer grandeur Long Branch takes second place to few, and the grand stand is probably the best and most pretentious in the Dominion. There is ample accommodation for 25,000 people and all can get a fine view of the horses as they pound along to victory or defeat.

Favorites conquered in the majority of yesterday's races, but there were exceptions, the most notable being the defeat of Black Diamond in the running of the Oakville Handicap, and the victories scored by Cross Word and Saint's Fancy. Table Talk, carrying the black and canary stripes of the Thorncliffe Stable, won the Oakville Handicap, the feature event of the day, beating Black Diamond to the finish line by a length and a half.

KILMARNOCK TEAM TOUR UNBLEMISHED

Tourists Beat Western Football Association Eleven by 7 to 0.

KITCHENER, June 5.—Before approximately 3,500 soccer fans, the largest crowd to witness a soccer game in this city for many years, Kilmarnock, touring Scottish Association team, defeated the Western Football team by the score of 7 to 0. As a result of their win the team's record remains unblemished. Since their arrival in this country they have played eight games, winning six and tieing two.

With a light forward line thrown against the rugged Scottish soccer stars, the homesters were unable to threaten seriously, but in the dying moments of the game, Clemie, goaltender of the Kilmarnock eleven, was given several smashing drives to save.

SEMI-FINALS IN WOMEN'S TOURNEY

Miss Cecil Smith Beats Miss Robinson, Last Outside Player.

OSHAWA, June 5.—Miss Cecil Smith and Mrs. E. W. Whittington of Toronto Golf Club, Mrs. T. J. Agar of Mississauga and Mrs. S. G. Bennett of Lambton advanced to the semi-finals of the Ontario ladies' championship golf tournament at the Oshawa Golf and Country Club course by scoring victories in the second round this afternoon. Miss Smith defeated Miss Winnifred Robinson of St. Catharines 3 and 2 to eliminate the last of the players other than representatives of the Queen City. Miss Smith made the turn three up, having won the first, second, fourth, fifth and sixth holes, while Miss Robinson won the third and eighth, with the seventh and ninth halved. Miss Smith was playing brilliant golf, going out in even par figures.

Mrs. Agar continued her steady play of yesterday to defeat Mrs. H. A. Clarke, Lake Shore, 6 up and 4 to play. The winner took five of the first nine holes, lost one and the others were halved to lead by 4 up at the halfway mark.

The second of the Toronto Club players to advance was Mrs. Whittington, who defeated Mrs. C. S. Eddis of Rosedale 2 and 1. The winner also played sensational golf on the first nine, going out in 42, even par, which included a birdie on the fifth, while she was one over par on the first hole for a lead of 3 up at the turn.

Mrs. S. G. Bennett and Miss K. Christie, both of the Lambton Club played a hard fought match, the former winning by a margin of 2 up. They were all square at the turn and halved the first. They were still square at the fifteenth. Mrs. Bennett won three and lost one of the next four holes, the match ending on the home green.

Heavy Hitting Feature Of National Game

Sam Rice Raises His Average Two Points

The Big Six went through a batting slump yesterday, with only Sam Rice upholding the prestige of the group in hitting. Rice made just half of the day's Big Six hits. He got two in four times at bat, raised his batting average 2 points to .404, and took undisputed possession of second place. Frank O'Doul, going hitless four times dropped back to fourth at .389. "Babe" Herman hit one out of five, but holding the lead at 4.19, while "Babe" Ruth made one hit—his eighteenth home run of the year—in four times up, and dropped to .377.

LATE RALLY IS OF NO AVAIL

Brinton Carpet Loses 9-8 Decision at Hands of Sugar Bowl Nine.

HEAVY HITTING.

Five tallies in the seventh failed to save the Brinton softball squad from defeat by the count of 9 to 8 at the hands of the Sugar Bowl men in a clash at the Central School Grounds last evening. The Sugar Bowl entry is now tied with the C. G. E. and Westclox for first place in the league running.

The counters of the Sugar Bowlers were garnered in the first three innings. Ira Dundas, in the carpetmen's box, allowed five hits in the first for two runs, a hit and a walk in the second for another counter and five hits and two walks in the third for six runs. He came to earth and held the Bowl aggregation in the remaining innings with steady twirling backed by high-grade support.

Duggan on the Sugar Bowl mound, allowed two hits and a walk in the opening session for one run and five hits in the next for two runs. Until the seventh stanza he put them down in almost regular order but then, connected with some hard swung willows that boosted the Brinton total to 8 in a few minutes. Creighton started the procession over the plate and was followed by Corbett, Sturgeon, Rose and Shaughnessy before the outfit was put down. Some hard swinging in the last two innings brought only a hit in each session, neither of which developed into the counters necessary for a Brinton triumph.

The Carpet men got nine hits and one walk during the game off Duggan who threw a plain but fast ball. He struck out six. Dundas was hit eleven times and he handed out three walks. He got only one strike out.

The squads:

Sugar Bowl—Duggan, p; Connors, c; H. Dormer, 1b; Weese, 2b; Westbrooke, 3b; Bradshaw, ss; Baker, lf; Gillespie, cf; Dallin, rf.

Brintons—Dundas p; Jones, c; Corbett, 1b; Shaughnessy and V. Rose, 2b; Creighton, 3b; C. Shaughnessy, ss; Sturgeon, rf; Rose, cf; Miller, rf.

Umpires—Ted Lebarr and William Bennett.

Harrisons will tangle with the C. G. E. squad to-night.

Boston, Chicago and Washington All Victorious in Ten Inning Battles.

Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds has become one of the leading experimenters of the National League as well as one of its leading traders, and he has prospects of good results if he can hold the material he now has into a co-ordinated baseball team.

Howley shook up this line-up again yesterday, putting Pat Crawford in the line-up and making Bob Meusel lead off. The result was good enough to produce 14 solid hits but not a victory. Their opponents, the New York Giants had but 12 blows, but six of them came in succession from the first six batsmen in the opening inning and started the Giants off to a 6-1 lead and an 8 to 5 victory. Pete Donoghue continued the act that the former Reds who now wear Giant uniforms have been staging by pitching a fair game and contributing a home run to his first victory for New York.

The hit totals made by the Reds and Giants, big as they were, appeared small when the Chicago Cubs got into action and trounced the Boston Braves 18 to 10. The Cubs hit 20 times for 34 bases, getting six doubles, a triple and two homers and gave Harry Seibold and his two successor a bad time of it.

The Cubs finished only two games behind Brooklyn as the Robins literally threw away a game to the Pittsburgh Pirates by a 12 to 6 score. The Robins made eight errors, most of them on bad throws, and nearly every bobble meant a Pittsburgh run. The Pirates made five errors on their own part but not at such costly points in the game. This result left the Pirates only a game behind the St. Louis Cardinals, who lost the day's only mound duel in the National league to Philadelphia 2 to 1. Ray Benge gave the Cards only four hits. Chick Hafey's homer bringing the one run.

Positions Unchanged

The American League reversed the procedure and produced four tight battles, three of them going into extra innings and left the positions of the leaders unaltered. The leading Philadelphia Athletics beat out the St. Louis Browns 4 to 3 in the only nine inning contest as Sam Gray, formerly the star of the Brownie mound staff, lost his ninth straight game.

Washington, in second place scored three runs in the tenth to beat out the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 8.

The Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees remained in third and fourth places respectively, the victims of upsets. The Yankees dropped a decision to the Chicago White Sox as Johnny Kerr followed the example set for him a few innings earlier by Babe Ruth and won the game with a home run after two were out in the tenth inning. The Babe had tied the count in the seventh with his eighteenth homer of the year, Ed Morris of the Boston Red Sox proved better in the long run than Willis Hudlin of Cleveland and gave Boston a 5 to 4 victory in another ten inning duel.

Tractors imported into Canada last year were valued at nearly $19,000,000.

CLICK OUTPOINTED BY TONY CANZONERI

Beaten Lightweight Down For Two Counts of Nine—Sid Terris Loses.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Tony Canzoneri, battling his way back to the top of the lightweights, won the ten-round decision over Joe Glick, New York puncher, in the feature bout at Ebbetts Field last night. Canzoneri weighed 132 pounds, and Glick 137.

After being hit low in the fifth round and refusing to stop for an examination by the referee, Canzoneri came back to score two knockdowns and win the bout easily. Tony dropped his heavier opponent for the count of nine in the early part of the sixth and then sent him to the mat with a hard left to the body a minute later. Glick again took the count of nine. The end of the session found Glick practically out on his feet.

Crack Runners Enter Canadian Marathon

TORONTO, June 5.—Who will win the second Canadian marathon championship? But more important still, who will be the six lucky runners selected to wear the Maple Leaf of Canada in the British Empire games at Hamilton in August.

These puzzling questions will be answered when the largest field of marathoners, to ever start in a full distance marathon in Canada, will toe the mark in the marathon championship and official Empire Games marathon trial at Varsity stadium next Saturday afternoon.

The race not only will have the largest field but also the most capable group of runners ever attracted to a distance race here.

Unlike most United States classics, which attract a host of Yankee runners and a few Canadian stars, this event has drawn most of the United States runners of note and all of the Canadian stars. The entries include two runners from Germany, a famous Birchfield Harrier Club of England, a Finnish champion, three United States stars, two German champions and several Canadian title holders.

BOSTON SAILOR TIMES PUNCHES

ORANGEBURG, N.Y., June 5. — While the most popular of all former heavyweight champions looked on, Jack Sharkey gave a startling exhibition of boxing and punching against three sparring partners here yesterday afternoon.

It was the most impressive of all Sharkey's workouts for his Milk Fund match with Max Schmeling, and it drew exclamations of admiration from James J. Corbett, for whose particular benefit it was staged.

"I almost thought I was looking at Jack Dempsey," ejaculated Gentleman Jim. "Really, I think at times he punches better than Dempsey.

"A clever slugger, I'd call him. He has a ring personality all his own. I can't think of any one who was just like him among the heavyweight champions. He seems to have a little bit of everything. I imagine you'd call him the miscellaneous fighter."

Corbett saw Sharkey at his best. Corbett's presence in the front row inspired the Sailor to cut loose. Jack seemed to feel there was one person in the audience who would understand. He wanted to show Corbett that he was worthy of joining the ranks of the heavyweight immortals.

Five rounds in all were boxed, first with Johnny Grosso, then Paul Cavalier, then Grosso, then Cavalier and finally King Solomon. Twice he shook Grosso with rights to the jaw, and twice Cavalier grew teeter-legged from the same punch.

Still, there was nothing vicious about Sharkey. He grabbed the punch drunk sparring partners before they could fall, and danced them around until they felt better. That was the only weakness in an otherwise perfect afternoon.

The man killer spirit was lacking. Sharkey missed left uppercuts, a favorite punch, by feet. He missed them intentionally. Anyone of them would have flattened either Grosso or Cavalier.

OUT TO WIN

The old question is on the fire again, can a boxer stage a comeback? Frenchy Belanger, the Canadian flyweight champion, is out to part Frankie Genaro's hair and at the same time slip the flyweight crown off Frankie's brow. Playfair Brown, the boxing promoter of the big little fellows, has matched the boys for next Tuesday night. Belanger has met Genaro three times, ... him once and losing two decisions. In previous bouts Be... made the mistake of taking off too much weight. In fact his record at this game is 12 pounds in 10 days. This time he has changed his methods, for during the past two months he has been within a couple of pounds of championship weight. During this time he has won three bouts with ease, knocking out "Kid" Lencho and trouncing Quina Lee and Frankie Young. Genaro is a past master at the art of boxing and knows all the tricks of the trade, and that is where Mister Belanger may have his trouble, for although Frenchy apparently has the punch with the old dynamite, he has got to land that punch before it can do any damage. Frenchy is quite aware of the fact this time he has got to be good and do more than show his stuff or his future as a big threat in the flyweight division is somewhat hazy.

HEAVY SLUGGING IN HARWOOD GAME

East Northumberland League Leaders to Play Baltimore on Saturday.

Harwood took the fast Roseneath entry in the Northumberland league into camp Tuesday in one of the fastest games of the season, when Rod MacLean, peppy Harwood catcher drove the ball into deep right field with the bases loaded. This hit coming in the last half of the eighth inning saved the game for the home club. Incidentally this was the longest hit made in the local ball park in several years.

Harwood started the ball rolling by scoring a lone run in the opening stanza. The visitors stepped out in their half of the second for the sum of four runs with as many hits. Lee of the locals hit to center and Minnfie walked. Young struck out while "Billy Goat" Harvey advanced both runners and was safe on first on a pretty bunt down third base line. Frank Wade the butler-maker, scored the three runners with a double to left field tying the score. From then on the game was nip and tuck, although both teams played loose ball in the field. Roseneath scored two in the fourth and one in the seventh putting them in the lead, until three little bunts filling the bases for Harwood and MacLean's Ruthanian clout put the game on ice.

Baltimore will be the next on the list for the league leaders on Saturday and a stiff game is looked for. Following is a summary of the game:

AT THE REGENT

"GOLD DIGGERS OF BROADWAY

This gay show has come back by popular request and there are many who saw it once who will be glad to sit through again its tuneful melodies, its uproarious mirth and its romantic situations.

Contrived mainly to add a little gloss to the somewhat tarnished reputations of "gold-diggers" the moral is forgotten in the very wholesome love story which predominates. None imagines that chorus girls in New York city live as luxuriously as these very virtuous damsels but it is nice to sit back and watch them having a thorough good time. And what could surpass the vivacious Mabel, with the supply of truisms for every situation, as she makes love to her bewildered and very fat "sweetie."

And what could be more tuneful than the singing gentleman with his elongated face and his beautiful voice, chanting "Tiptoe through the Tulips" and "What Shall I do Without You?" with the dancing gigolo at his back?—Jeannette.

Softball Notes.

The C. G. E. squad—the City Softball League leaders—will meet Harrison's aggregation at Central School grounds at 6:15 this evening in a game which promises to hold more than exceptional interest, due to the fact that the latter team need a win tonight to get in the running.

On Friday night Belmonts and Westclox will clash.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

OSHAWA ARABS HERE SATURDAY

"Sailor" Maudsley and "Duke" Dainty Will Likely Be Opposing Moundsmen.

IN LAKESHORE FIXTURE.

"Foxy" Cohen and his Oshawa Arabs will be here on Saturday afternoon to play a Lakeshore League engagement with the Raybestos nine. Said Cohen has more than fifteen smart ball tossers in his Motor City stable and it is expected that he will swing the best of them into action against the Rays. If it is hot, sticky hot, then it is assured that he will send "Duke" Dainty, iron man of the Central League, to the mound. Oshawa has the pick of the Oshawa Central Club and although the Rays pulled a win in the first game, it was merely because the Motorists hadn't shaken down into a team.

Promises are that 'Sailor" Maudsley will do the hurling for the Rays. The 'Sailor' reports that his arm is in fine fettle and is quite ready to dust off the visitors.

The game gets away sharp at 3 o'clock and in order to stay out in front of the pack the Rays will be out there performing their best.

Caretaker Chosen For Softball Equipment

The regular meeting of the C.G.E. Social and Athletic Club was held last night in the Employment Building when two major issues, namely the annual picnic and the softball question were discussed at length.

A heated discussion took place between zone representatives and the softball executive regarding the amount of the grant made to softball this season and also whether or not the parent executive were in order when they appointed a custodian for the softball equipment.

The issue finally wound up in the Association appointing W. Jones whom the softball executive recommended as custodian, this man to take his orders from the president of the softball and be responsible to the Association for the equipment entrusted to his care. This arrangement settled one argument while the finance committee clearly pointed out the parent body could not see their way clear to increase the grant.

Lists were distributed to the zone representatives re the picnic in order that the transportation committee may know how many employees are going to make the trip to Cobourg or Rochester. Employees are requested to give the representatives this information at an early date.

Very few of the spectators who sat in the Toronto Coliseum last winter realized what it cost the Ontario Branch of the A.A.U. to provide material for a final event that lasted little more than six seconds. For six seconds of entertainment it cost approximately $300, or $3,000 a minute.

These were just the bare expenses for these men. So much for the price in money but there is another angle to this sprint game. Recently the new world's record was set at 9.5 seconds held by Eddie Toland of the University of Michigan.

Scientists claim that it requires an hour after running one hundred yards at top speed to recuperate. In other words the faster the muscle works the greater the amount of it red-creating lactic acid it places in the system with the result it piles up more of this acid than can be eliminated thus creating a sensation as we know it, of being tired. If this is true it may be helpful to observe some of these facts so that heats could be separated long enough to ensure complete recuperation of the contestants.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MAY POLE.

Uncle Wiggily looked at the evening paper from which he had just read the bedtime story for some of his little bunny children. There was a look of surprise on Uncle Wiggily's funny face.

"What's the matter?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy as she picked up little Weezie, the smallest of the rabbit children who had fallen asleep before her father had finished the story. "Did you read in the paper something about the Bob Cat, Uncle Wiggily?" whispered the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Oh, no," Mr. Longears answered. "But I see by the paper that this is the second day of June."

"Why of course this is June!" said his wife. "Lovely June with a silver moon and roses in bloom will come pretty soon!" The lady rabbit began to sing.

"Dear me! How quickly time goes!" murmured Uncle Wiggily. I had no idea we were in June. I suppose it is too late, now and he seemed a little sad.

"Too late for what?" asked Nurse Jane, who had taken Weezie up to bed and who had now come back to pick up another little sleepy rabbit.

"Too late for a May pole," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I had it all planned to set up a May pole in front of the bungalow, fasten long ribbons of red, blue, green ,pink and yellow to the pole and have our rabbit children dance a May dance around it, weaving the ribbons into a sort of rainbow. Now it is too late, for this is June and the month of May is passed. I'm sorry!"

"Don't be silly!" said Mrs. Longears with a laugh. "If you like you can have a May pole in June. What's to stop you? You could even have a May pole dance in July if you wished."

What's the matter?" asked Nurse Jane

"Yes, I suppose I could," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "And as this is only June 2nd it may not be too late. We'll have a May pole to-morrow.'

The next day Uncle Wiggily hopped to the woods where he found a tall pole that would do very nicely to set up in front of his bungalow. Many colored ribbons could be fastened to it and his little bunny boys and girls, and all the other animals, could hop, skip and dance around it.

"This will make a fine May pole," said Mr. Longears. He tried to drag the pole along the ground but it was so large and he was so small that it could not be done Uncle Wiggily pulled and tugged, grunted and puffed, but the pole would not move and then, all of a sudden, along came Mr. Stubtail, the kind bear daddy of Neddie and Beckie.

"What's the matter, Uncle Wiggily?" growled Mr. Stubtail. "You seem to be havig trouble."

"Trouble? I should say so!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "I can't drag this May pole home."

"I'll help you," offered the bear. Sticking his long, sharp claws in the pole, Mr. Stubtail easily dragged it along, with Uncle Wiggily helping as much as he could.

"Thank you," Mr. Longears said to Mr. Stubtail when the pole lay in front of the bungalow. "Now, don't you want to stay and see the May pole dance?"

"I shall be glad to," growled the bear. "And I will help you set the pole up in the ground."

Uncle Wiggily was glad of this help. He and Mr. Stubtail dug a hole in the ground. At this work of digging Uncle Wiggily was almost as good as the bear, for rabbits know how to burrow in the earth.

When the hole was ready Mr. Stubtail lifted the big May pole up on his shoulder and slid the large end into the hole. Then the ground was packed in around it to hold the pole from falling over....

Home from school came hopping the rabbit boys and girls, with all their other animal friends. Nurse Jane and Mrs. Longears brought out the long strands of blue, green, yellow, pink and purple ribbons of which the children were to hold the ends as they danced around the May pole. And then, all of a sudden Nurse Jane cried:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Look! You have set up the pole and you didn't fasten the ribbons to the top as you should have done! Why didn't you wait until I had nailed the bunch of ribbons to the top of the pole before you set it in the hole? How are we to reach the top now?"

"Dear me! I never thought of that!" cried Mr. Longears.

"Neither did I!" growled Mr. Stubtail. "How silly of us!"

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, "I suppose there is nothing to do but take the pole down, fasten the ribbons to the top and then set it in the hole again. But it will be hard work and the May dance will be late. However, there is no help for it. Come on, Stubby, we'll lower the pole."

"No, don't do that? Stop! Wait!" cried Neddie Stubtail, the little boy bear. I can take the ends of all the ribbons, climb up the pole as it stands and nail the ribbons to the top. Then I can slide down and we can have the dance and twine the ribbons. Give me a hammer, a nail and the nds of the ribbons. I'll climb up!" So Neddie got ready.

And what happened next you shall hear in the story after this. It will be named Uncle Wiggily's May dance.

Weak After Operation

"I was very weak after an operation. My nerves were so bad I would sit down and cry and my husband would not go out and leave me alone. Now my nerves are much better, thanks to a booklet that was left under the door. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound surely put me on my feet. I have taken eight bottles. My friends tell me I look fine. My sister has taken this medicine too."—Mrs. Annie Walton, 67 Stanley St., Kingston, Ontario.

QUICK PILE RELIEF

No Salves or Cutting

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds, because it removes this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID tablets as sold by druggists everywhere, have such a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief, that McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store always sell them with guarantee of money-back if they do not end all Pile suffering.

TRAMPLING ART FOR PROFITS

FOR all its virtues, modern industrialism can run amuck under the spur of greed for profits. Witness, the ruin threatening the Art of Music.

500 musicians in Hollywood supply all the "music" offered in thousands of theatres. Can such a tiny reservoir of talent nurture artistic progress?

The true function of the machine is to increase the value of the product fed into it—not to debase it. Therefore mechanical music, as a substitute for Living Music, is a spurious form of progress—Like a loom converting good wool into shoddy.

The grind organ, however operated, is a grind organ still. For music is an emotional art, a form of social intercourse, and hence dependent upon human contact.

Who profits by the elimination of genuine music from the theatre? Not the music-loving public! Not the musician!

If you agree that theatre patrons are entitled to real music—in addition to talking and sound motion pictures, for the price they pay—HELP SAVE THIS ART FROM RUIN. Enroll with millions of others in the Music Defense League. When the public's voice is raised its will must be served!

CHAPTER HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

Peter Robinson Hopes in Future to Aid Nicholls Hospital

ASSIST IN TAG DAY.

A brief business meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. followed the conclusion of their annual picnic, held yesterday at Mrs. W. Belleghem's cottage at Chemong Park. Mrs. R. C. Cummings the regent, presided.

It was decided to use the funds received from the recent picture sponsored by the chapter at the Regent Theatre, nearly $100 having been realized from this effort, along with $40 realized from a rummage sale, and augmented by $60 from the general fund of the society, to make the sum of $200, which will be added to the $500 bond owned by the organization. This will total $700 and will be in the neucleus of a $1000 donation which the Chapter hopes to be able to make, by further effort, toward the building fund of Nicholls Hospital.

The chapter will assist the other I.O.D.E. organizations in the city, at the annual tagday for the Canadian Institute for the Blind, to be held on June 21st.

It was decided to continue assisting two children who have been helped in their High School work by the chapter. It was also decided to assist with the Y.W.C.A. garden party on June 27th.

Otonabee Chapter

The June meeting of the Otonabee Chapter I.O.D.E. was held yesterday afternoon in the green room of the Y.W.C.A., the regent, Mrs. C. A. White, presiding.

A splendid report, prepared by Mrs J. A. Robinson, who was the chapter's delegate to the recent Provincial I.O.D.E. meeting in Hamilton, was read by Mrs. J. D. Cameron.

Arrangements were made for assisting Mrs. S. Newhall, convenor, in carrying out the forthcoming tag day for the Blind Institute, on June 21st, the date having been changed from June 7th. The date for the fifteenth anniversary tea has also been changed to the 17th of June, and will be held, as planned, at the residence of Mrs. R. R. Hall.

Mrs. A. Murphy was appointed convenor of the telephone committee.

Uncommon Sense
By John Blake

EDUCATION RESISTANCE

The business problem of overcoming "sales resistance" is one about which a great deal has been heard lately.

One would think from addresses at advertising clubs, and the life stories of some of the great salesmen, that the average man was stubborn as a mule when asked to buy anything, and that it required the persuasive powers of a silver-tongued orator to convince him that buying useful things was for his own good.

To-day the science of overcoming sales resistance is progressing.

People who have things to sell which other people need are learning the art of selling.

There is no doubt that there has been in the past too much sales resistance, but that is no longer a cause for uneasiness, for a way has been found to overcome it.

But parents and teachers have a greater problem on their hands, and one that they have not learned to solve.

That is the problem of education resistance.

Everyone who has ever attended a school or served as a teacher knows what that sort of resistance is, and how difficult it is to eradicate.

Most school-children simply do not want to learn.

They cannot understand how education will help them. It seems a long and dreary business, and they look forward eagerly to the end of school sessions, to week-ends and to vacations, when it will be all over and they can do as they please.

There is one way to cure this resistance to education, and that is to make it attractive—in other, words to "sell" to the young people of the country the idea that they cannot get along in this modern age without trained minds, and without a desire to learn all that there is to be learned up to the limit of their capacity.

There are youngsters, of course, who seem to understand instinctively the value of learning.

But these are rare cases.

The great teacher is the one who can interest his pupils in education, make them see its value, and fill their minds with a craving for it.

That is difficult, but it is a problem that is not incapable of solution, and which is coming nearer to a solution every day.

Let all teachers feel that they are salesmen and saleswomen, that they have a valuable commodity to dispense, and they will have less trouble with the little flocks committed to their charge.

This is a day when there is no place for the illiterate or the half-educated.

Education resistance must be overcome.

TREASURE SEEKERS ENJOY SOCIAL HOUR

Members of St. James Sunday School Class Motor to Millbrook.

On Tuesday evening June the 3, about fifty members of the Treasure-Seekers Class, of St. James Sunday School, motored to Millbrook, where they were entertained at the spacious country home of Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson, former member of the class. The host and hostess welcomed their guests on the lawn, where a social hour was enjoyed, after which all gathered in the living room which was prettily decorated with spring flowers.

The Treasure-Seekers had arranged a short but very entertaining program during which the class president, F. D. Armstrong, ably presided.

Miss Geneva Sedgwick, a favorite soloist at the class affairs, sang "When We Get to the End Of the War".

The reading "Driving from the Back Seat" was also amusing and applicable, and was given in her usual good style by Mrs. William Fell.

Mrs. George Cuff and Mrs. A. R. Church sang in duett the lovely old song "Love at Home", and Mrs. E. L. Woodley gave a humorous reading with a strongly pointed moral entitled "Our Minister's Sermon".

Community singing interspersed the other numbers of the program, and short addresses were given by several of the gentlemen present, including the class teacher W. D. Sargent and a former class teacher, J. O. Fife and Mr. Kent while Mr. Patterson again welcomed the class to his home recalling pleasant memories of his membership among them

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Patterson for their kind hospitality and the National Anthem, in honor of the day, was sung.

Refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by her daughters Edith and Margaret and Mrs. Allen. The Social Commttee of the class also assisted in the service.

The moonlight drive home brought to a happy conclusion this very enjoyable outing.

BAIT CASTING CONTEST HELD

Fair Showing is Made By Many Entering Contest.

PRIZES OFFERED.

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association held their first bait casting tournament at the Exhibition grounds on Wednesday evening, at 6.45 p.m., and though a good crowd of spectators were on hand only about a dozen cared to take part in the tournament.

Some very good casting was seen in the accuracy events, where an old Ford tire was used as a target at distances of 50 to 75 feet. A "bulls-eye" counted ten, and Mr. Stoskopf, the winner in this event, scored two "bulls" in 5 shots and in two other shots was less than 2 feet from the target. His score was 36 out of a possible 50. Winners were as follows:

Accuracy—1, M. H. Stockopf, 36; 2, T. MacKay, 33; 3, H. Grose, 28; 4, Mr. Lucano, 28.

Distance—1, H. Grose, average distance 92 feet.

Even better casting would have been seen had some of the boys availed themselves more of the casting practices held during the early spring. It was particularly noticed that in the distance events "backlashes" were all too frequent.

Enthusiasm ran strong and it is hoped to make the contest an annual event and that some of the best casters will journey to Toronto this coming September and compete as a team in the Ontario Tournament, where prizes to the value of close on $1,000.00 are given for various events.

Winners are being notified through the mail to-day and will receive a letter entitling them to obtain their prizes from the Peterborough Hardware Co. Ltd. and Mrs. L. LeBarr, who kindly donated spelndid prizes for the five winners.

Messrs. Gravestock and Black acted as judges in the events.

WEDDING BELLS

McCRACKEN-FAREWELL

A quiet and pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Mellow, 66 Glendale Ave., Toronto, when Viola Kathleen, daughter of Mrs. Farewell and the late M. J. Farewell of New Toronto, was united in marriage to Gratton Earl McCracken, son of Mr. R. McCracken of Roseneath, Ontario. The bride, who entered the room on the arm of her brother, Mr. Fleetwood Farewell, looked charming in a gown of white French lace with tulle veil and coronet of orange blossoms and white kid shoes and hose to match. She carried butterfly roses, lily of the valley and baby's breath.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Mellow, who looked lovely in a gown of blonde figured chiffon with hat and shoes to match, and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses. Little Helen Mellow, niece of the bride, acted as flower-girl in pink crepe de chine, and carried a basket of sweet peas and carnations. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Roy McCracken. The wedding march was played by Mrs. D. McGall of Long Branch, and Rev. C. W. Robinson of New Toronto officiated. Later a buffet luncheon was served to 40 guests. Among the out-of-town guests was Mrs. Joseph Vickery of Brooklin, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. R. McCracken of Roseneath, Ont.

The happy couple left later by motor on a honeymoon to Cleveland and other American points. The bride travelled in a French blue gown, gray coat and matching hat and shoes, and leather purse, gift of the groom. The groom's gift to the attendant was a silver compact; to the best man, gold cufflinks; to the pianist, a bar pin, and to the flower girl, a brooch. On their return they will reside on Ninth St., New Toronto.

McMASTER—HUSTON

The perfect weather of a June day formed an appropriate setting this afternoon for an English bride, who came to Canada just a week ago, to join the finance who preceeded her last year, when Lillian Gladys, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Huston of Newcastle, England, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Benjamin Bolam McMaster of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. McMaster of Newcastle England.

The ceremony was performed at two o'clock at All Saint's Church, the rector, the Rev. J. D. Paterson, officiating. The church was beautifully decorated for the wedding with bridal wreath, iris and tulips.

The bride entered the church on the arm of the uncle of the bridegroom, Mr. B. Bolam, to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March, played by Miss Dorothy Worboy. She wore a lovely gown of ivory satin beaute' made with scalloped hemline, long, tight-fitting sleeves with tiny buttons, and a cape with a central motif of beads. Her veil was of embroidered white tulle with coronet and ear rosettes of orange blossoms. She wore short white gloves, slippers of silver brocade and silk hose of atmosphere shade and carried a sheaf of calla lillies and springeri fern. Her only ornament was the gift of the bridegroom, a necklace of white sapphires.

The attendants were Mrs. R. Peace and Mr. W. Bolam, cousin of the bridegroom. Mrs. Peace was in flowered chiffon, with pink undertones and pink slip. She wore a large matching hat of mohair, white kid slippers and white silk hose, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and springeri fern.

The gifts of the bridegroom to the attendants were a white sapphire bracelet and a gold tie pin.

During the signing of the register and the exit of the wedding party from the church, Miss Worboy played "Adoration" and the Bridal March from "Tannhauser."

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding supper to about fifteen guests was served at the home of the bridegroom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. B. Bolam, of 569 Patterson street, where the guests were received by the bridal party, assisted by Mrs. Bolam, wearing maroon brown georgette trimmed with bands of panne velvet, matching mohair hat, kid slippers and silk hose. Mrs. Bolam's corsage bouquet was of red Pierson roses with maidenhair fern.

The house was prettily arranged with flowers and the table was decorated in pink and white, with bells and streamers, vases of pink and white tulips and the bride's cake in the center.

Tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. McMaster will leave for a honeymoon in Cobourg, the bride travelling in a frock of blue georgette with matching hat of felt.

They will reside at 569 Patterson street.

STUDENTS STRIKE FAILS TO MATERIALIZE

KINGSTON PUPILS ATTEND CLASSES AT COLLEGIATE

Threatened Strike of Collegiate Pupils Fails to Materialize.

QUESTION STILL OPEN.

Strike Had Been Decided Upon By Mass Meeting of Pupils.

KINGSTON, Ont., June 6.—(C.P.)—Wiser heads prevailed here this morning and the threatened strike of the Kingston Collegiate Institute did not materialize.

Yesterday afternoon the students held a mass meeting in protest over the action of the Management Committee of the Board of Education in asking for the resignation of J. W. Kelly, science teacher, and decided to go on strike this morning.

Fifteen minutes before school time the students decided to go to classes and in the meantime appoint a committee to ask the Board of Education for a hearing. It was pointed out to the students that nothing final had been done, the entire matter being in the hands of the Board of Education.

Kelly resigned when differences arose between Principal Hanby and the teacher, the principal recommending to the board that the resignation be asked for.

J. W. Kelly was once principal of the old Ashburnham school in this city and will be remembered by many of his old pupils. He was well liked by his scholars, and left here about 16 years ago to go to Kingston.

RICH OIL STRIKE MADE IN NORTH

Drillers Encounter Gas While Seeking For Water on Railway.

IN SASKATCHEWAN.

THE PAS, Man., June 6 (Canadian Press). — Northern Saskatchewan may have its own oil boom, according to reports reaching here to-day. Excitement is said to have followed a strike of natural gas at Kakawa, nine miles north of Reserve Junction. Gas was encountered at 300 feet, it is said, while drillers were seeking water for section house and station.

Reports told of the escaping gas being ignited and of a fire still raging. A number of oil claims were filed immediately after the strike and many residents from outlying points rushed to the new point in anticipation of an oil boom. Presence of oil in the Kakawa section of Northern Saskatchewan is said to have been claimed by old-timers for many years.

Kakawa is located on the new south branch of the Canadian National Railways, a short distance south of Hudson Bay junction where Manitoba and Saskatchewan trains meet going north to The Pas.

PROFESSOR FINDS NO RESEMBLANCE HE TELLS COURT

$550,000 Damage Action Against H. G. Wells Enters Fourth Day.

USED SAME AUTHORITIES.

War of 1812 Was Petty Event, Declares Professor Underhill of Toronto University.

TORONTO, Ont., June 6. (C.P.)—The fourth days' hearing of the suit for $550,000 damages brought by Miss Florence A. Deeks, authoress, against H. G. Wells, English novelist, and his several publishers, opened here to-day with the cross-examination by R. S. Robertson, K.C., for the plaintiff, of Prof. F. H. Underhill, Professor of History at the University of Toronto, who in his evidence declared he could find no more resemblances between Miss Deeks' "The Web" and Mr. Wells' "The Outline of History" than were natural when two writers of a similar work had recourse to the same authorities.

Witness agreed that there were resemblances in the plan and construction of both works but not more so than similarities between the plans of other works of that kind known to him.

"Do you know that both plaintiff and defendant omitted all references to the war of 1812" asked Mr. Robertson.

Witness—"Well. I don't know whether you know it or not but the war of 1812 was a very petty event."

Later on witness remarked, apropos some questions of counsel: "Do you know that Wells had confessed to being temperamentally incapable of

BRITISH PREMIER MAN OF DESTINY KIWANIANS TOLD

Harry Muir, Vice-President of the Canadian Dailies, Addresses Kiwanis Club.

PROMINENT KIWANIAN.

Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald is Subject of Most Interesting Address.

"Regarded from any angle, Rt. Hon. Ramsay Macdonald, Prime Minister of Great Britain and leader of the British Labor party is one of the most outstanding men in the world today, a peasant socialist in the king's court, a man of destiny," declared Harry Muir of Kingston, vice president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association and a prominent Kingston Kiwanian, addressing the local Kiwanis Club at luncheon today.

"His career is full of adventure and romance. By his nature, culture and appearance, he is an aristocrat and is known as the handsomest man in parliament. He was born in a two-room house at Lossienmouth, Scotland, 63 years ago, of a rugged race of Highlanders. His father was a farm laborer but his mother and maternal grandmother were women of great beauty and refinement."

Mr. Muir was introduced to the club by J. A. McNabb who said that he was president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, past-president of the London Kiwanis Club and managing director of the Kingston Whig-Standard as well as vice president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper association.

Wife Was Great Help Mate

Referring to Ramsay Macdonald's wife who died during 1911, Mr. Muir said that her influence broadened and refined Mr. Macdonald's views and was a tremendous factor in the development of the great statesman. He portrayed Mrs. Macdonald as a charitable, refined woman of intellectual distinction.

Dealing with Ramsay MacDonald as a politician, Mr. Muir said, "Mr. MacDonald's experience as a secretary and newspaper writer inspired him to enter politics. He started as a Liberal but became a Laborite, and in 1893 at Bradford with Keir Hardie organized the Labor Party. Like Gandhi he was a pacifist and sought to bring about a peaceful evolution in the economic and political affairs of Great Britain."

"By queer destiny MacDonald became Prime Minister of England in 1924 and nine months later was thrown out of office because of cer-

SAVAGE ATTACKS ARE LAUNCHED BY NORTHERN TRIBES

Barbaric Warriors Take Advantage of Indian Difficulties to Kill and Loot.

POWERFUL LEADER.

Inspiration Not Love of Indian Independence, but Hatred of Europeans.

LONDON, June 6.—(A.P.) — Attacks on the British by savage tribesmen who inhabit the inhospitable mountain territory along the border of the north-west province of India represent a decided menace but they are nothing new. They have been proceeding for generations.

These barbaric warriors live only for fighting and constantly are raiding British territory to kill and loot. It is difficult, therefore, to say just how much connection there is between these attacks and the Gandhi movement, beyond the fact that the tribesmen always take advantage of any British difficulty to perpetrate raids.

The trouble in Peshawar which has been engaging British troops recently has provided an opportunity for a savage invasion. But beyond this the British authorities have stated that representatives of the All Indian Congress have enlisted the sympathy and aid of the famous and powerful Mohamedan Mullah, the Haji of Turangzai, who because of his religious position, has great influence among the border tribesmen.

It is further reported that he is raising an army of 100,000 to invade the Peshawar district.

Whatever motives may inspire the Haji to assist political agitators in India, observers say that his followers would be inspired, not by any desire to aid the Indians to independence, but by these factors, love of fighting and looting, bitter hatred of Europeans and equally fierce hatred of all those who do not adhere to their religion.

3RD CONSECUTIVE TIME.

The vote was 17.10 against the board nominations, with Mayor Bert Wemp heading the Hacker-McBrien-McMaster group.

DISTRICT CROPS GOOD CONDITION

Vegeation a Week Ahead Due to Good Growing Weather Early in May.

LOSS IN CLOVER.

Crops in Peterborough are stated to be in very good condition, particularly those on which fertilizer has been used. Vegetation is at least a week ahead of normal, chiefly due to exceptionally good growing weather early in May. The slight frosts experienced last week did not cause much damage, if any, to the grain crops, although there was a loss probably of 15 per cent. by winter killing and bad weather early in the spring.

Some of the clover has come through well, but there was a considerable loss of this crop also by winter killing, which chiefly hit the sweet clover and alsike.

The first two weeks of seeding were excellent, and the seed was in good condition; since that time the farmers experienced a great deal of cold, wet weather which slowed up the growth a little and made it difficult to get the seeding completed in good shape. Practically all the seeding is completed.

DOMINION NEWS IN ENGLISH PRESS IS VERY SCARCE

Imperial Press Conference Censures British Dailies Regarding Overseas News.

ARE NOT INTERESTED.

Four Inches of Space Given in London Daily to Session of Commerce Congress.

LONDON, June 6 (By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—The small space devoted to news of Dominion happenings by the British press was a subject of criticism at this morning's session of the Imperial Press Conference, the Canadian delegates, particularly, betraying disappointment at the way in which news of Canada was lacking.

The discussion was started by an Australian motion, which affirmed the desirability of wider public knowledge of inter-Empire affairs, and urged earnest consideration of the matter of devoting increased space in the British press to Dominion happenings.

Lord Riddell, owner of several newspapers, contested the view that the London newspapers was not interested in Empire news. The Hon. Frank Carrel, managing director of the Chronicle-Telegraph, Quebec, cited the case of a London 16-page paper of last week. The congress of the Empire Chambers of Commerce had been discussing in London the highly important question of commercial relations within the Empire, yet this particular paper only gave four inches of space to the session.

HON. CAIRINE WILSON CLAIMS WOMEN NOT FAILURE IN POLITICS

Benefits From Liberal Rule Outlined By Senator at Niagara Falls.

PROUD OF BUDGET.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 5 (C.P.)—"It has been said that women are an absolute failure in public life for, despite our possession of the franchise, there are few in positions of importance. We should remember that we must learn to walk before we run and that we must not discount the years of training which the members of the other sex have had," said the Hon. Cairine Wilson at a Liberal luncheon given here to-day.

Senator Wilson stressed the progress of recent years; "When the Liberal party first took office in 1921, it did so with a sadly depreciated currency, and a terrific war debt. Interests charges on this debt have been met, Canadian currency is accepted everywhere, and since 1925 substantial reductions have been made in the public debt." The speaker mentioned the Mother's Pensions," Compulsory Education, Child Labor Laws" and Public Health Policy as milestones of progress.

Taken From Labor Market

The benefits to be derived from the War Veterans' Allowance Act were outlined by Mrs. Wilson; "Permanently disabled or unemployed veterans will be removed from the labor market, and the prematurely-aged man will be helped. It will enable many to keep up their home. It was an act," Mrs. Wilson said, "for the man who was discharged as apparently fit, but who now owing to war effects is breaking down," and its effects were "likely to be far-reaching."

Touching upon the Dunning Budget, she claimed "All loyal Canadians are proud of the Dunning Budget which is designed to benefit all parts of the country." Decreased sales taxes, decreased prices of household commodities, British preferential tariff, and income tax amendments, were the high-spots of the Budget, thought Mrs. Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson concluded: "The 15 years of Liberal rule from 1896-1911 have been sometimes described as the golden age of Canadian history. We have once again made a step in that direction."

Equality Attained Through Unity Says David Lloyd George

Britain's Wartime Premier Sounds the Call to a New Empire Unity, a Unity Based on Equality in, Addressing Imperial Press Conference.

Should Work Toward Welding All Nations of Empire Into Free Commonwealth of Equal and Independent Nations

Great As Dominion Might Become Individually, Yet as Integral Part of British Empire They Will Become Still Greater, Speaker Says.

LONDON, June 6 (Canadian Press). — The Right Hon. David Lloyd-George, Britain's wartime Premier, to-day sounded the call to a new Empire unity—a unity based on equality.

"We have attained to equality through unity," he declared at the Imperial Press Conference, "and now let us rivet that equality through unity."

Mr. Lloyd-George sketched the evolution of the British Commonwealth in the days just before the war, during the war, and since.

"The Dominions," he proclaimed in ringing tones, "entered the Versailles Conference not as toddling babes in the hands of a nurse, but as young men in the full panoply of war, carrying the trophies of their victory with them.

Independence Is Accomplished.

"Equality and independence for the young nations of the Empire is now an accomplisherd fact. They have been accepted unreservedly." The former Premier turning to the future, showed that the nations of the Commonwealth must come closer together or the Commonwealth would disintegrate, for, said he, "Nature abhors stagnation. It will not stand it. Decomposition is not merely its protest, but its method of finding a new equilibrium."

"You cannot remain stagnant", he continued.

"We should strive onward until we have welded all the nations of the empire into one free commonwealth of equal and independent nations—equal, free and independent in a common-wealth with vast opportunities but also with burdens and responsibilities.

"If the nations of the empire fail to realize this ideal we will have neglected one of the greatest opportunities in history and the world will suffer. The British empire has vast territories under its away—territories which have not yet become dominions and for some time the burden and responsibility of governing these immense territories will fall upon the center of the empire."

Here Mr. Lloyd George stopped and then added slowly and impressively: "That center must be strengthened. Britain is passing through a very bad

PARENTS WANT THEIR SON, SEEK RULING IN COURT

Boyish Pride in Fountain Pen Precipitates Legal Dispute in Osgoode Hall.

ILL TREATMENT CLAIMED.

Child is Living With Grandparents Who Are Quite Willing to Give Him Up.

TORONTO, Ont., June 6.—(C.P.)—Boyish pride in a new fountain pen precipitated a legal dispute which had its sequel in Osgoode Hall today, when Mrs. Elizabeth Schacht of Huron County applied for the custody of her 11-year-old son, Walter Scott who fled from her home to that of his grandparents, her parents, following a spanking, and has since refused to return, according to affidavits filed.

Ill-treatment on the part of Frederick Schacht, his step-father was given as the reason for the boy's refusal to leave his grandparents, Mr. C. McLean, their counsel, told the court.

Wanted to Take Pen to School

Walter wanted to take his new pen to school, David Robertson K. C., Walkerton, counsel for Mrs. Schacht told Mr. Justice McEvoy. "His mother knew he was in the habit of trading things", said Mr. Robertson, "and told him he could not do this. The boy refused to go to school then, and she spanked him. Then he ran away to his grandparents, who lived two miles away".

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Becker, were willing to give the child up, Mr. McLean stated, but were not willing to force him to leave them against his will.

May Be Bad-tempered

"It may be in the end that we will find he is a bad-tempered little lad, who should be controlled, said His Lordship, "but his stepfather's place sounds to me like a poor place for the boy to grow up. Apparently the old people are very fine people."

His Lordship adjourned the motion for one week, that fuller affidavits might be filed by either side.

"The little boy can come and tell me his story then," His Lordship agreed. He suggested the Children's Aid investigate and make an affidavit.

BENNETT ARRIVES IN QUEEN'S CITY

Conservative Leader Will Deliver Address at Foot of Macdonald Monument.

ATTENDS LUNCHEON.

TORONTO, Ont., June 6 (C.P.). — Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative Party, arrived in Toronto this morning to attend the annual ceremony of laying a wreath on the monument of Sir John A. Macdonald, first leader of the Conservative Party. The Conservative leader attended a luncheon arranged in his honor by the Executive of the Central Conservative Association of Toronto.

His speech at the foot of Sir John A. Macdonald's monument to-night will mark the first public appearance of Mr. Bennett since the opening of the election campaign. It is not expected, however, that he will deal extensively with current political questions, reserving his main election pronouncement for the official opening of his campaign tour at Winnipeg next week.

DETECTIVE WAS SERVING WARRANT WHEN STUDENT SHOT HIS TEACHER

Potts Previously Had Wanted Fellow Student to Embark on Career of Crime.

LIVING HECTIC LIFE.

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., June 6 (C.P.). — The pistol shots that took three lives here Tuesday were revealed at the Coroner's inquest to-day as having been fired when Detective Sergeant T. Willis, one of the victims, served a warrant for the arrest of Douglas Neton Potts, young undergraduate and central figure in the tragedy.

The three victims were Dr. A. F. R. Wollaston, distinguished explorer; Sergeant Willis, and Potts himself, who committed suicide after shooting the other two.

Coroner George Wooton, who made known the fact of the warrant's existence, did not reveal what the warrant charged.

The testimony which followed brought out the hectic life that young Potts had lived recently. One of his friends said that Potts had proposed they embark upon 'a career of crime.' He said that he considered Potts was merely joking and that they had really had not embarked on any such career.

"There was no crime in our minds at all," declared the youthful witness. "His words, 'a career of crime,' meant nothing."

ASSEMBLY AGAIN ADJOURNS CO-OPERATION QUESTION

HAMILTON, Ont., June 6 (C.P.)—The question of co-operation with the United Church of Canada was again adjourned for further consideration by the Presbyterian General Assembly this morning. Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson, Hamilton, maintained Presbyterians were willing to co-operate with any church, but only where there was agreement. At present, he stated, there were several points of sharp disagreement, notably on the right of using the name "Presbyterian Church in Canada," on the use of closed church buildings, and on the settlement of bequests which were originally left to the Presbyterian Church.

Lapointe Opens Liberal Campaign

YOUNG LIBERALS HEAR MINISTER AT BIG BANQUET

Who Should Represent Canada at Conference, Canadians or Colonials, He Asks.

WOMAN SENATOR SPEAKS.

Conservatives Erecting Trade Barriers With Britain and States, Minister Says.

TORONTO, Ont., June 6. — (By Frank Flaherty, Canadian Press Staff Writer).—Are the men who will represent Canada at the Imperial Conference in September to be men who will carry on the work of developing the British Empire on principles of equality of status or men who are still "suffering from an inferiority complex, who have not grown with the country and moved with the times?"

That is the question the people of Canada will have to decide at the coming general election as it was laid before an audience of young Liberals here last night by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice. Mr. Lapointe's speech was the first utterance from a member of the cabinet since the dissolution of parliament and inaugurated the Liberal campaign.

Canada in Leading Position.

Laying the record of the King government before his hearers Mr. Lapointe declared the administration had placed Canada in a leading position in Inter-Imperial and International affairs. In addition the government had made outstanding contributions to the national life of Canada and placed the country in the forefront among the nations of the world in trade and advanced social legislation, he continued.

The Minister of Justice spoke at the inaugural banquet of the Ontario Federation of Twentieth Century Liberal Clubs and his speech was broadcast throughout the Province. Sharing the position of guest of honor with Mr. Lapointe was Canada's first and only woman Senator, Hon. Cairine Wilson of tOttawa. Miss Odette Lapointe, daughter of the Minister, brought greetings to the newly-formed Ontario organization.

Agreeing with the declaration of Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative party that the Government to represent Canada at the Imperial Conference should have a mandate from the people, Mr. Lapointe said this was the reason for the election at this time. The work of the 1929 conference on Dominion legislation in London which devised plans for bringing the findings of the 1926 Imperial Conference into operation had been called in question by the Conservatives.

People to Decide

It was for the people to say whether Canada would be represented by men who would continue that work or by men who criticized the new ideas of Empire, he said.

These ideas, Mr. Lapointe continued, were that the Empire could best continue in unity through the complete freedom of the component parts. Inspired by the same ideals and giving allegiance to the same King, the Dominions and the Mother Country would march hand in hand, giving to the world a new conception of a combination of freedom and unity.

As a result of the efforts of the Liberal Government Canada now had complete control over external as well as domestic affairs, he said.

Defends Legations

The Government had been criticized for establishing legations in countries with which Canada had important problems to discuss. "Would you young men and women

CHANGE IN FLAG IS OPPOSED BY THE GRAND LODGE

Col. T. A. Kidd, of Kingston, is Elected Head Grand Orange Lodge.

RETURN OF RESOURCES.

Supreme Lodge Selects Hamilton as Place for Next Meeting.

BROCKVILLE, June 6.—The Supreme Grand Orange Lodge of British America, in session here yesterday, elected the following officers: Supreme Grand Master, Lieut.-Col. T. A. Kidd, Kingston; Deputy Grand Master, Starr Taite, Nova Socia; Grand Chaplain, Rev. W. M. Sanders, Montreal; Grand Secretary, Loftus H. Reid, Toronto; Deputy Secretary, Banjamin Kirk, Toronto; Grand Treasurer, E. Armstrong, Ottawa; Grand Lecturer, J. Hagerty, Hamilton; Grand Marshal, D. K. Graham, Campbellton, N.B.; Grand Auditors, James Mayor, Toronto; H. C. Shipman, Ottawa.

The City of Hamilton was chosen as the next place of meeting.

In his address yesterday the Supreme Grand Master, John W. Easton, Winnipeg, said for some time there has been an attempt by certain individuals to change the national flag. He believed that the Grand Lodge should pass a strong resolution against any attempt to interfere with the Union Jack. There is no popular demand for a change of flag, he said—only an attempt to create such a demand, by persons whose chief interest is the weakening of the ties which bind the Dominion and the Motherland.

Return of Resources

The consummation of a fight organized by the late Dr. Edwards for the return of the natural resources to the three Prairie Provinces must be gratifying, the Grand Master said. "Dr. Edwards had put before the Conservative convention in Winnipeg a platform plank, and after it had been approved, he put it on the order paper of the House of Commons. It is to be regretted that he did not live until the matter had been finally settled," said the speaker. "It was only in the latter part of 1929 and the beginning of 1930 that arrangements were made with the Prairie Provinces for the return of their natural resources without any reservation."

With the manipulation by the Federal Government of the immigration regulations, the office in Belfast was closed last July, he said. All the assisted passages had been cut off from single men and from families, with a small exception. The Federal Government lent its assistance to the bringing out of 3,300 trainees, who had been unemployed. Some of them unemployed for many years—none for less than a year—got out here for nothing. The machinery was used on this side for their reception and distribution; and it is reported that hundreds of them have been returned already; in fact, many of them within a few months of their arrival, as undesirables. Your committee," said the speaker, "has a working arrangement with the British Reunion Association, the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian National Railways, the British Immigration and Colonization Association, and in this way are able to secure, under their guarantee, the right type.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 6.— Captain Robert A. Barlett, Arctic navigator, who piloted Peary's ship on his dash to the north pole, was steering his schooner Morrisey northward again to-day at the head of a scientific expedition to Greenland.

The Morrisey cleared New York harbor yesterday bound for the desolate region which indents the northeast coast of Greenland.

Junior Bird of Rye, N.Y., is in charge of the Ethnological division of the expedition which will seek relics of ancient Eskimo tribes for the museum of the American Indian.

Harry Witney, of New Haven, Conn., sportsman and explorer, who sailed part of the way with Peary in 1908, plans to trail live specimens of seals, walrus and Polar bear. He represents the Academy of Natural Science of Philadelphia and the Philadelphia Zoo.

R. J. Tully's Wheat Measures 48 Inches

Robert James Tully of Smith Township informs The Examiner in answer to the challenge G. F. Clarke of Cavan made last week, that he has several stalks of Fall wheat from his fields that measure 48 inches in height. He reports that he has a ten-acre crop which measures between 30 and 40 inches.

Mr. Clarke's prize stalks only measured 29 inches. James Sexsmith of Cavan also betters Mr. Clarke's record with several stalks of grain measuring 36½ inches. He says that he has ten acres of wheat between 30 and 36 inches high.

TEACHING STAFF TO BE INCREASED

One New Teacher Will Be Added to Academic Department of Collegiate.

SCHOLARSHIP PRESENTED.

An additional teacher will be appointed to the staff of the Academic department of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School to permit the opening of added class room in the Fall and replacements will be made in the cases of two teachers resigning from the staff of the vocational department, according to a decision of the Board of Education at a meeting last night. The extra class room will be instituted in the Academic section to alleviate crowded conditions.

Grace Moore will fill the position in the Academic department at an initial salary of $2,300, and I. W. Clubine and Amelia R. Thompson will fill the vacancies which will be left this summer in the Vocational staff at salaries of $2,000 and $2,200 respectively.

Scholarship Presented

At the meeting the presentation of a sum of money from the Otonabee Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire for the insitution of scholarships during the years 1930 and 1931 in the first and second forms of the Commercial department of the Collegiate, was accepted. The scholarships will compare with the Nicholl's scholarships in the Academic section, $12 going to the first pupil in each of the two forms and $8 to the second pupil.

Commenting on this matter, Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman of the board, expressed the hope that other organizations or public spirited citizens would make possible the establishing of similar scholarships in forms of the school in which scholarships have not yet been provided.

The receipt of many applications for positions on the public school staffs was reported. Resignations from two teachers on the staffs were accepted.

REBEL TRIBES DRIVEN BACK

Royal Air Force Dispatches Flying Column From City of Peshawar.

ROADS ARE BLOCKED.

PESHAWAR, India, June 6 (C.P.). —The Royal Air Force and a flying column which marched out of Peshawar yesterday has engaged a force of Afridi tribesmen which had been advancing on Peshawar.

The raiders, who had already withdrawn from the immediate vicinity of the town, were stated to have been driven off. On the evening of June 4 a considerable body of Afridis entered the Peshawar district and advertised their intention of attacking the cantonments. They invited the local Khaill and Mohamand villagers to join them. The villagers, reluctant to be drawn into such a quarrel, refused. This caused some of the raiders to waver and a large body withdrew to the hills. Several groups, many hundreds strong, remained in the neighborhood, however, camped in the gardens south of the city and in the vicinity of the cantonments.

Roads Destroyed.

Yesterday morning a reconnaissance showed that culverts had been destroyed and trees felled across the road from Peshawar to Bari Fort, eight miles from the city. Trees also were placed across the road running from Peshawar to Kohat.

The Afridis, however, apparently began to lose their war-like intentions, as large parties were seen retiring westward across the Kajuri plain beyond the Bari road.

The retreating tribesmen were attacked from the air by Royal Air Force planes apparently with some success, and early yesterday morning a flying column marched from Peshawar with the aim of driving the Afridis from the area between the Kohat and Bari roads.

The troops engaged the enemy until evening. The nature of the country south of Peshawar rendered the ejection of the raiders from the district exceptionally difficult. It was stated that the troops sustained a few casualties, but no figures have been available thus far.

FALL OF TSINAN MATTER OF TIME

Northern Allies Are Forcing Their Way Towards Capital City.

ACTIVITIES NORMAL.

SHANGHAI, June 6 (C.P.)—Although the artillery fire of the fighting Northern and Nationalist troops was plainly audible, the native population of Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province, continued normal activities to-day, said Japanese advices received to-night by way of Tsingtao, Shantung seaport.

The dispatches said many Japanese women and children were arriving at Tsingtao from the west, as well as numerous wealthy Chinese merchants.

Urges Neutral Zone

The Japanese Consul-General at Tsinan to-day urged Chinese authorities to establish a neutral zone about the capital city, as a step toward elimination of the danger of foreign complications.

The Northern allies forced their way across the Yellow River yesterday about 60 miles east of Tsinan and reached a line near the Tsinan-Tsingtao Railway before the Nationalists halted their retreat and reorganized their defenses. It was felt in foreign circles here that the fall of Tsinan was only a matter of time.

U. S. GHOST ARMY FADES ON BORDER

New Bill Ends the Border Patrol of 10,000 Armed Men.

MAKES CROSSING EASY.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (C.P.). — The grotesque spectre of ten thousand heavily armed men marching up and down the Canadian border to enforce the immigration and Customs laws of the United States, never more than a spectre, has been fading rapidly for several months, and to-day as the Inter-state Commerce Committee of the House reported a border patrol bill the ghost disappeared.

The bill reported to-day provides for no military force as was at first proposed, but merely for unification of the Customs and immigration patrols under the Treasury. It makes it illegal for anyone to enter the country except at a designated point of entry, but the exception has been enlarged and the regulation made easier by inserting a clause under which people living on the border or in the "neighborhood or vicinity" will be allowed to cross freely.

The bill will hardly get through the Senate, if it gets through the House this session. It will probably be passed when Congress re-assembles in November.

Ironware exported by Germany last year was valued at $500,000,000.

Election Will Cost Canada $2,000,000

OTTAWA, Ont., June 6 (C.P.) —Jules Castonguay, Chief Electoral Officer, has estimated the coming election will cost the Federal Treasury $2,000,000 — the highest on record. He said there would be 30,000 polls, and it would cost from $20 to $30 to man each poll.

The preparation of the Voters' Lists containing 4,000,000 names, will cost about 25 cents a name when enumeration, registration, revision and printing of lists had been concluded.

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE BY FIRE

Two Dwellings and Stable Razed By Fire Early This Morning.

AT HAVELOCK.

HAVELOCK, June 6 (Examiner Correspondence). — A dwelling-house and its contents, a frame structure known as the old hotel and a stable were razed by fire in the early hours of this morning, while other frame buildings in close proximity were in great danger of destruction.

Excitement ran high as the Havelock Brigade responded, and when the hose was found to be out of commission, the crowd minimized the defect by manning a line of buckets which were used to good effect along with the chemical outfit of the Fire Department. It is not known whether or not the damage is covered by insurance.

It is believed that the fire was started from the sparks of an engine, and when first noticed it had gained a good hold.

The dwelling-house was burned out, together with various household effects belonging to Harold D. Ellis, who was in process of moving out and Abe Fillion who was moving into the house.

Roland Edwards, tenant of the old hotel, was able to save a quantity of his effects, while the stable, which was burned out, was empty at the time.

The fire fighters had a difficult time to save Cecil Wilson's blacksmith shop, which was in the direct path of the fierce blaze, but apart from a severe scorching it came through intact.

LIBERALS NEXT AT WARKWORTH

Northumberland Party Announce Convention Date, Wednesday, June 11.

TO CHOOSE CANDIDATE

Northumberland Liberals have called their convention for Wednesday, June 11, at Warkworth. The purpose of the meeting is the nomination of a candidate to contest the riding against the Conservative nominee, M. E. Maybee.

Two speakers have been invited to address the convention, Miss Pritchard of Toronto, and M. F. Hepburn, M.P., of St. Thomas, the member from West Elgin in the Parliament that has only recently passed into history.

It is understood that Mayor W. A. Fraser of Trenton will likely be the convention's choice. In the last election September 14, 1926, Maybee and Fraser were the two opponents, the Conservative protagonist emerging with a majority of some 300 votes.

Hence, in one sense the campaign of four years ago is being renewed, if Mayor Fraser is the Liberal choice, and Northumberland should again provide one of the most interesting engagements in this district.

26 HAMILTON TEACHERS WILL BE JUNE BRIDES

HAMILTON, June 6.—There will be a bevy of June brides among the school teachers of Hamilton this year, it developed at a board meeting last night. The School Trustees were told by R. H. Foster, Secretary that no fewer than 26 public school teachers had resigned, giving matrimony as their reason. However, many applications are on hand and the vacancies will be filled before the fall term commences.

INQUIRY IS DEMANDED FOLLOWING DEMOTION OF CHICAGO OFFICERS

CHICAGO, June 6.—The Chicago Crime Commission and the Political Action Commission of the Chicago Church Federation yesterday headed aroused public opinion in a demand for an inquiry into the shelving of Detectives William Drury and John Howe, following their continued activities against the hoodlum aides of "Scarface Al" Capone and Joe Aiello, gang leaders.

"Outrageous," "unwarranted and unwise," and "reprehensible" were the epithets applied by civic, industrial and church leaders to the action of Captain John Stege in taking the men off active duty following the protest of Harry Gusick, jailbird, convicted of a crime against a young girl, and Hymie Levin, white slaver. The two are collectors for the Capone rum and beer business downtown.

AUGER ACQUITTED OF PERJURY CHARGE

Now Serving Sentence of Two Years on More Serious Charge.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 6.—(C.P.)—Louis M. Auger, former member of parliament for Prescott, was last night acquitted on a charge of perjury. The charge grew out of Auger's denial on the witness stand that he had been found in his room in the House of Commons with a woman early on the morning of February 15, 1929. He is now serving a sentence of two years as the result of being convicted of criminal seduction committed the following day.

CHARGE IS REDUCED.

CORNWALL, June 5 (C.P.)—Lack of Corroboration, urged by defence counsel, was accepted by Judge Francis T. Costello in County Court here this afternoon as grounds for the reduction of a charge of indecent assault against Wilfrid Proux, 45-year-old East Hawkesbury farmer to one of common assault. Proux was sentenced to two months' imprisonment.

ISAAC BARLOW OLDEST MEMBER

Has Been Member of Orange Order Since He Was Eighteen Years of Age.

RESIDENT OF HAVELOCK

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, June 6—Mr. Isaac Barlow, Havelock, Ont., who is at present in Brockville attending the Orange Grand Lodge convention, is believed by the residents of this district to be the oldest Orangeman in Eastern Ontario.

Mr. Barlow who is in his eightieth year, became a member of the Orange Order when only eighteen years old, and during that time has never been absent from a twelfth of July walk. Mr. Barlow is still hale and hearty and quite active, despite his advanced age. He is a retired engineer with 30 years in service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and retired fifteen years ago. He has resided in Havelock for the past forty-five years. For a number of years he was chairman of Havelock School Board, and each year played Santa Claus and distributed the gifts at the Christmas entertainment in the school. He is an ardent member of St. John's Anglican Church, and this year was lay delegate to the Anglican Synod, held in Toronto. He has at various times held the offices of Warden and sidesman in the church here. Mr. Barlow is treasurer of the Black Preceptory Lodge, Havelock, and standard-bearer in the Grand Lodge, Brockville. He is also a member of Benjamin L. O. L. Belleville.

Yearly he attends the banquet in Toronto of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and takes part in the frolic that is a feature of that banquet. On more than one occasion he has won the kiddie-kar race in which a number of the pensioners took part, which will indicate the merry disposition of the old gentleman. He is popular in Havelock with old and young, and a familiar figure in this district.

His wife died two years ago and since that time he has made his home with his daughter Mrs. Ed. Williams. Mr. Barlow is an exemplification of the value of sane, clean living, and good fellowship.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARGARET PAGET.

Friends and relatives were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Margaret Ervin, widow of the late David Paget, who predeceased her forty-two years ago. Mrs. Paget was born in the district, in which she has lived all her life, where she has been known and loved by a large circle of friends.

Always a member of the Methodist and later the United church, her pleasure was to be in her place in God's house.

Her family consisted of three daughters, Lizzie, who died 24 years ago; Mrs. William Forsythe, and Mrs. E. N. McDonald of Douro and Dummer respectively, who are left to mourn, with eight grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Griffith of Wroxeter, and Mrs. J. L. Kidd of Warsaw.

The funeral, which was largely attended by friends of the deceased was held from her home at Cottesloe at 2 o'clock on Thursday, May 29, to the Cottesloe United church, where her pastor, the Rev. Mr. Fletcher, held a very fitting memorial service. The choir sang as an anthem, "Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown." After the service the funeral cortege proceeded to the Norwood cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest, in the family spot.

Among those who attended from a distance were: Mrs. Griffith, a sister, Miss Griffith and Messrs. Sam and Richard Griffith and Mr. George Hissiop of Wroxeter; Mr. and Mrs. George Peters of Peterborough; Jas. Paget, a nephew, of Trent River, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Patterson of Detroit.

The pall-bearers were her six nephews, Messrs. Leonard, Harry, Robert and Fred Patterson, J. S. Kidd, and Sam Griffith.

HOSPITAL DESTROYED

FORT SIMPSON, N.W.T., June 6—(C.P.).—Flames of unknown origin swept through the 20-year-old Roman Catholic Mission Hospital here yesterday, inflicting damage of $500,000. Heroic work on the part of the sisters in charge of the institution was responsible for the saving of all patients and considerable of the hospital equipment.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, June 6. — The cattle receipts at the Union Stock Yards yesterday morning were 18 cattle, 83 calves, 97 hogs, 30 sheep and lambs.

There were 500 stale cattle in addition to the fresh receipts in the offering at the yards yesterday morning. Most of the cattle left over from Tuesday was stockers and feeders, and demand for that class is practically lacking. Butcher cattle are selling slowly at prices 50 cents a cwt. lower than the opening of the week. A few plain to good butcher cows brought 7½ to 8¼ cents or steady prices in the early sales. Milcher and springer trade is dull, with bids lower on some cows that were held over from Wednesday.

Calves are selling steady at 11 to 11½ cents a pound for choice, with plain veals downward to 8 cents. The lamb market is weak at 16 cents a pound for choice spring lambs, the closing level being $1.00 to $1.50 lower, that Monday's opening.

Hogs are closing firm at a decline of 50 cents a cwt. for the week. Bacons are selling at 11¾ cents f.o.b. and 12¾ cents w.o.c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 6. Spring wheat flour was advanced 10c a barrel yesterday on the Montreal market.

The potato market was very firm. The sudden demand from the United States again found local dealers unable to find sufficient stocks to meet the requirements. Messages to Maritime dealers brought the reply that there was a small supply in the East. New Brunswick Green Mountains advanced another 10c making an advance of 50c for the week, and were quoted at $2.10 per 90 lbs. New potatoes were unchanged.

Some wholesale houses advanced butter prices ½c per pound, while other quoted unchanged. Receipts were 591 boxes.

The cheese market was slightly easier, with receipts at 8,318 boxes.

The egg market was unchanged, receipts amounting to 1 880 cases.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, June 6. — Bear traders gave the Winnipeg wheat market a chance yesterday, and at the close values were ahead by 1c to 1½c. Reports of crop damage in Saskatchewan and Alberta, as well as in some parts of Europe, aided in bringing about the price rise. Exports were reported light overnight.

Liverpool showed improved strength, another point contributing to the advance. Cash wheat business was limited, with higher grades getting the trade. In coarse grains, each trading was very light.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, June 6. — Suggestions that Europe will harvest 25 per cent less wheat this season than usual led to a decided upturn in wheat prices late yesterday. Contributing also to the rise of values were messages saying that first threshing returns from Oklahoma were a disappointment and pointed to yields much smaller than expected. Reports that Farm Board allies are to make new crop wheat loans on a basis of about 75 per cent. of market prices were generally construed as bullish.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at almost the day's top level, and ⅝c to 1¼c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ¼c to 1¼c advance, oats ⅛c to ⅛c up, and provisions showing 2c to 3c gain.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, June 6. — Trading on the local butter market was not quite so bad yesterday as on Wednesday, but it was very slow. Buyers were taking a little No. 1 Ontario at 28¼c to 28½c, and No. 2 Ontario changed hands in a fair way at 27c to 27½c. The market was anything but good, and some buyers stated that they were off the market for a week. There was a better inquiry for prints from dealers as retailers seemed to want to fill up their stock for the coming convention. But this demand did not affect the market as the retailers are now pretty well supplied.

Country shippers were quoted 28¼c to 28½c for No. 1 Ontario pasteurized and 27c to 27½c for No. 2. Retailers were quoted the steady prices of 33c for No. 1 and 31c for No. 2.

Cheese.

Trading on the cheese market was fair, with prices firm. Prices to shippers were 17c for new large, 17¼c for new twins, and 17½c for new triplets. Prices to retailers were unchanged.

Eggs.

The egg market was a little stronger, with dealers asking 30½c to 31c for extras, 28½c to 29c for firsts, and 26c to 26½c for seconds, graded, free cases, an increase of ½c at the top. There was a good demand for firsts, but extras were a little draggy; firsts answer the purpose for handling the coming convention. The whole tone of the market was better, and receipts were being cleared at the prices stated.

Country shippers were offered unchanged prices for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned, with extras 28c, firsts 26c, and seconds 23c to 24c. Prices to retailers also held to the old level of 35c for extras in cartons, 33c for extras loose, 31c for firsts loose, and 28c for seconds loose.

SHOULD SET A BETTER EXAMPLE.

That he had seen the full stop regulation ignored during the past week by citizens high in municipal, church, educational and even in Motor League circles was the statement made to The Examiner this morning by a reader of this paper, who asked the pertinent question, "Should not men to whom the rest of the community look for leadership set a better example "

There is, of course, no other answer to that question but "Yes."

If civic officials and Motor League members and other leaders in their respective spheres are refusing to obey a regulation designed for the general protection of the public, the reaction of other citizens is not likely to be beneficial.

The stop street plan is a simple, effective means of avoiding collisions at intersections, and every sensible driver should recognize that fact and do his bit to make the system one hundred per cent. successful.

There are times when no traffic is near on the through street and stopping seems unnecessary, but the good citizen and the careful driver obeys the law and brings his machine to a stop regardless of the traffic conditions.

If leaders in the community have been doing otherwise, as is charged, they should realize that, like Ceasar's wife, they should be avoid all danger of suspicion.

INCREASED EXEMPTIONS.

Peterborough citizens who are entitled to increased income tax exemptions as the result of the changes made by the last budget should not fail to note the ruling just made by Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Revenue, that they must formally apply for the rebate.

The increased exemptions applied to the 1929 income taxation period for which the tax returns have already been filed, so that it will be necessary for all those who benefit by the revision to fill out additional forms.

The chief change is that taxpayers may claim as a deduction from their income donations made to charitable organizations that do not exceed ten per cent. of the net taxable income.

It will be necessary, if seeking an exemption on this account, to produce a receipt from the organization to which the donation has been made.

Other exemptions provided by the new budget include an exemption of $500 in the case of a taxpayer who has dependent upon him a parent, grandparent, brother or sister incapable of self-support because of mental or physical infirmity.

Forms for making claims for the new exemptions may be secured from the inspectors of income tax throughout Canada.

A GOOD COMMISSION.

The personnel of the commission named to administer the new War Veterans' Allowance Act is such as will give returned soldiers and the public generally every confidence that the legislation will be honestly, impartially and sympathetically administered.

The chairman, Walter Woods, of Calgary, a veteran of the 1st Division, who is vice-president of the Alberta division of the Canadian Legion, was for ten years superintendent of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, and thus has had the necessary executive experience as well as the desired war connection that should enable him to give the commission able leadership.

Ontario is represented by Hon. Dugald Carmichael, D.S.O. and Bar, M.C. and Bar, a veteran with a fine war service and the additional advantage of having been a member of the Ontario Cabinet and Government representative on the Hydro Commission during the Drury regime.

The third commissioner, F. J. G. Garneau, of Quebec, who served overseas with the famous Twenty-Second French-Canadian Battalion, and who is now assistant secretary of the Department of Pensions and National Health.

This commission would seem to be thoroughly qualified to give the proper kind of administration to a measure that promises a new deal for Canada's veterans.

WILL USE THE RADIO.

It is not surprising to find in connection with the federal election campaign that the rival parties will make a much greater use of the radio than ever before.

Mr. Bennett's Winnipeg speech on Monday night will, for example, be broadcast on the greatest national hook-up that has ever carried a political address, and it is understood that arrangements are being made for a similar broadcasting of nine other speeches by the Conservative leader.

The Government campaign organization will undoubtedly use the available radio facilities on a larger scale in sending the speeches of Prime Minister MacKenzie King to all parts of the Dominion.

If this development eases some of the speaking burden from the shoulders of the leaders and curtails the long campaign tours hitherto considered necessary, the change should be a welcome one.

As the Ottawa Journal points out, the party chieftains in the last two general elections drove themselves into a staleness that did their respective parties as much harm as good.

"Even those who went to hear them," says the Journal, "saw little more than two men who were mentally and physically exhausted, who had lost their power to either entertain or persuade and certainly their power to impress."

Systematic use of the radio, supplemented with intelligent newspaper advertising, would avoid much of the wear and tear and at the same time prove much more effective in swaying the electorate.

EMPIRE'S CONSULTATION.

This is a particularly active year, so far as Empire affairs are concerned. At the present time there is the conference of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce being held in London, and in the autumn the Ministers of the various Dominion Governments will meet there, after an interval of four years. It is only reasonable to suppose that important results will follow from these gatherings, but the question is being asked whether it would not be better, instead of occasional meetings of this kind, to arrange for more or less constant consultation between representatives of various parts of the Empire, to deal with problems as they arise. Sir Gilbert Vyle, who is president of the committee which has charge of the preparations for the forthcoming Imperial Conference, on which sit representatives of the different Chambers of Commerce, the Federation of British Industries and the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom, has stated what he considers to be the requirements. "We require a permanent establishment, a ministry if you like, of all the ministries of the Empire, devoted solely to the work of developing the trade of the Empire," he says. "It must have powers to investigate and to advise as to the policies which will give us what is needed in order to develop inter-imperial trade. The peoples of the British Empire are bound together by, and owe allegiance to, one flag. Yet when it comes to arranging how they shall conduct their trade, each goes his own way. We have seen the great benefits resulting from the policy of preference. That is an indication of how we may help each other." Consultation, he holds, should be continued "day in and day out," in order to make of the Empire a great trading unit, standing four square against the world.

If the League of Nations finds it necessary to meet every three months in Geneva, and if the British Government thinks it expedient to send its Ministers to help in the settlement of European affairs, how much more essential is it to give continual thought to the affairs of the Empire, declared Sir Gilbert, especially as the policy of foreign nations is to increase the strength of their competition, whereas the natural inclination of the members of the British Commonwealth is to get together for purposes of co-operation and mutual benefit.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE TRAFFIC TOLL.

The third national conference on street and highway safety, at Washington, has revealed figures of accident totals that are positively appalling.

Deaths from automobile mishaps in the United States have grown to a point, Secretary of Commerce Lamont announces, where they approach annually that country's total casualties in the Great War. Motor crash fatalities have increased from 12,500 in 1920 to 31,000 in 1929. The ratio of deaths for every 100,000 automobiles in use in the Republic amounted, last year, to 117.

President Hoover, addressing the conference, declared that the great loss of human life in this way is "a national concern of great importance." In spite of better traffic conditions, he pointed out, the accident rate continues to rise. Universal improvement, the chief executive added, can come only gradually and through continuous and combined effort. Without the organized effort already put forth, Mr. Hoover believed, conditions would be much worse than they are to-day. Still the steadily increasing traffic had outrun all measures of safety, with the result that a widespread demand has arisen for another conference to secure a new appraisal of the situation in the light of experience and for determination of further courses of action upon which all could agree. "It is necessary," the President said, "to apply massed intelligence to the solution of a particularly difficult problem."

* * * *

There can be no doubt as to the seriousness of the situation, and one of the features is that the problem is being accelerated every month by the sale of motor cars to persons who have not previously used them. A few years ago the percentage of citizens owning machines in any town or city was comparatively small. To-day the total is amazing and it is one that is being continually swelled. Practically no person who has ever owned a car is content to be without one, and each year sees a fresh crop of buyers whose financial circumstances have improved, or apparently improved, to an extent that permits them to be enrolled in the army of car-drivers.

In addition to the vital problem of hazard, there is also the inability of thousands of streets and highways to meet the traffic demands made upon them. We see many evidences of that right here in the Border Cities. Street widening programs, of course, are important and necessary and we must go on with them. But even if every street were widened we should still have a large problem along these lines. Some students believe that this very situation will eventually restore railways, both steam and electric, to something approaching their former state of popularity. There can be no question but that street railways, for instance, can handle a large number of passengers, in congested districts, in better fashion and in an easier way than can either buses or private automobiles. In addition, there is no parking problem. This means, certain observers say, that each year will see a larger and larger number of people using street cars and the remaining rural radials to reach their daily work. The street car, providing the service and equipment are good, affords an easy and direct way to get from one point to another. It relieves the passenger, too, of the nervous strain of guiding his own automobile through dense traffic and of the subsequent annoyance of finding a place to park. And to top of these considerations is the very important one of cost. There is, of course, no argument as to the relative expense of operating one's own machine or taking the street car in.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The full flood of campaign oratory will soon be released, and the battle will be on in earnest.

Apparently there are to be no changes in the Conservative battle array in this section of Ontario. Milton Maybee, Fred Bowen, E. A. Peck and W. E. Tumnon, all former members, are already in the field.

Trucks are asked to keep off the highways leading into Toronto during the Shrine convention. Traffic congestion is expected to reach a new peak at the week-end.

The Tariff Board is to hold a grape juice inquiry next week. Even the W.C.T.U. should not object to that.

As a proof of the ever-ready usefulness of the Canadian Red Cross, it may be mentioned that the Ontario branch is looking after the needs of forest fire victims in the North.

The only thing wrong about the new American ambassador to Canada, Colonel Hanford McNider, is that his name is reminiscent of a musical comedy cast.

Ottawa is spending more than $4,000,000 on a beautification program, but the program, regrettably, does not include tonsorial treatment of senators' whiskers.—Hamilton Spectator.

Gandhi has written a letter stating that he is being well used and kindly treated by the British. It would be very much of a surprise were it otherwise.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

"If a rolling stone doesn't gather moss," says impecunious Imogene, "where does it get its roll?" By Gettler.

EDUCATE FOR TEMPERANCE.

To the Editor Examiner.

Sir:

As a daily reader of Examiner editorials, which are usually interesting, important and valuable, permit me to say that your suggestions that we, to promote temperance, must educate to that end, this is in line with Premier Howard Ferguson's suggestions, who having framed and advocated the O.T.A. turns to the sale liquor as advanced temperance legislation, and advises us to educate the rising generation, and thereby make a temperate people. Has The Examiner or Mr. Ferguson observed that in the past or present the educated class are more abstenious than their less fortunate neighbor? I trow not.

Yours truly,

J. F. LILLICRAP.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If June 6th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 4:30 a.m. to 6 a.m., from 11 a.m. to noon, and from 7 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., and from 5 p.m. to 6-30 p.m.

The influences on this date will breed uncertainty and a feeling of insecurity will be felt generally. Worries within the home of a personal nature and possible estrangements. Business prosperity and things of national interest brought to notice.

The child born on this June 6th will be irritable and highly strung, somewhat precocious and self-willed. It should not be encouraged to show off, and should be treated in a matter of fact way, less it becomes spoiled and impertinent. It will ask questions with avidity, and cannot be put off.

It may be said that you have an interesting character, a charming personality, and a strong individuality. Because you dare to be different, indicates that you are both strong and independent. There is a premium in the world for individuality, and it is self advertising. Your mannerisms are your own, and though you may travel far and near, you will never lose them. You are too busy in the expression of self, to have time to copy others, and probably as a mimic, you would be a flat failure.

There is something very clean and whole-souled about you. Your ideals are of the highest, but they are not on a pedestal, however, you try to live up to them. You display good fellowship in all your doings with others, and as a rule you seldom clash with any one. The positiveness of your nature is offset by your courtesy, tact and thoughtfulness. You are interested in people, and you enjoy watching and studying people off their guard, although you do not judge your victims.

You are destined to be a person of some note in your sphere, although your head will never become turned through the plaudits of the crowd. You will benefit through your friends, although you are not seeking "pulls." You are a practical worker and you will accomplish much.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

They could not see each other's faces, they stood so for perhaps a full minute. Then Cass said.

"Well, that's all right, dear. You don't have to marry me."

Mary Kate laughed excitedly.

"You do understand, don't you?"

"Why, of course I understand," Cass's kind, big-brotherly voice said. "I kind of rushed you, last week. And I knew that what you had wasn't ptomaine, I knew something was worrying you!"

"And you understand?" she repeated feverishly, in the pause.

"Of course I understand. You don't want to be rushed."

"No, that's it. I don't want to be rushed. And you see—" Her voice dwindled away inconsequently. She fingered his coat lapel. "I like this suit—" she began again, swallowing tears.

"It's my old brown suit."

"I know." Her words gathered perilous momentum. "But I like it—I think I like it better than the blue!"

"Mary Kate!" he said. "Ah, darling, don't!"

For she was crying bitterly, in his arms.

"I d-d-don't know why I'm boo-hoo-oo-ooing this way, like a ba-ba-baby!"

"You're all upset," Cass murmured, kissing the top of her head, that smelled deliciously of youth and freshness and the odd delightful fragrance that always clung to Mary Kate's blazing hair.

"I don't know why—" she gulped, trying to laugh, clinging to him.

She never had done this before. Cass tightened his arms.

"Maybe you missed your good-for-nothing beau, while you were away?"

"Yes, I did." She withdrew from his arms, and fumbled for her handkerchief, straightening herself up, shaking herself into composure and order. "I'm crazy!" she confessed on a wet, shaken note.

"You're tired. Let's not go anywhere tonight, Mary Kate? Let's go into the front room, and talk."

This would keep Tom out of his bed, in the adjoining dining-room. But she was so tired! And with the children doing homework, and Mother setting raisin rolls, they could not sit in the kitchen.

They slipped quietly through the dining-room, and Mary Kate lighted a bead of gas in the front room. It smelled very close in there, and Cass opened the windows. The room was revealed as shabby and small, with an upright piano backed against one wall, and a parlor furniture set, consisting of a deep davenport, two old armchairs, and a table, almost completing the furniture. A photograph of the late Thomas O'Hara was on a mock-mantel, a great bunch of limp purple ribbons decorating one corner of the frame.

On the piano were scores of carelessly massed sheets of song music. Sometimes a guest slept on the davenport, but there was no sign of its night use now, it was shut up, and embellished with two silk pillows.

"Cass, have you got two quarters for four bits?" Mrs. O'Hara called from the kitchen.

"I think so!" the boy shouted back, his hand in his pocket.

"I'm going to run upstairs, Cass, and wash my face!" Mary Kate went by him in the dimness, and Cass went into the kitchen.

She came back to the dim parlor fifteen minutes later, cool and refreshed. But she was still very quiet. She had changed to a soft old house dress, and had assumed comfortable slippers, her hair was damp, brushed childishly off her face, which was quite free of artifice.

They sat down close together on the davenport, and Cass pulled her head to his shoulder, and they both rested far back, their feet touching, stretched out before them on the rug. The gas-bead burned low, occasional fans and angles of light crossed the room from passing motor-cars in the street. The somewhat dingy curtains moved slowly in and out, over the sills of the opened window. From the kitchen came the occasional murmur of the children's voices, Mrs. O'Hara's grave motherly tones in reply, and the clatter of pans and oven door.

"Now, let's talk it over," Cass said comfortably. "How about not marrying me?"

Suddenly she was in rebellion again. Her tears, and the application of fresh cold water and soap to her hot face, had rested her. But once again the fever seized her.

"It can wait—" she said deliberately, a tiny edge to her voice.

There was an alarmed note in his, a hurt, reproachful note.

"How do you mean it can wait?"

"Oh, I only think I'm tired," Mary Kate breathed wearily, closing her eyes, tightening her fingers on his.

"But honey, don't you want me when you're tired? Seems to me——"

"It's only," she interrupted, "that I don't like to think of myself as engaged.'

"Well, as long as you'll marry me next month——" he conceded, in good-natured daring.

She was still for a while. Then the tears began to run rapidly down her face, and she whispered without stirring.

"Oh, Cass, I'm so unhappy!"

"Ah, dearv, I'm sorry. I've never seen you like this before."

"I've never been like this before."

Their heads were flung back against the top of the davenport, their eyes closed in the comforting dark. Cass hardly moved as he said, soothingly.

"Well, never you mind. You just sit here with me and cry, if you want to!"

The telephone in the dining-room rang, and she was alert, tense.

"Who is it, Regina?" She was half-way to her feet.

"It's a wrong number, Sis!"

Mary Kate subsided again, and again there was peace in the stuffy little parlor.

"Like to get on the beach trolley car, and go all the way 'round?"

"Cass, I'm too tired!"

"All right, then, darling, we'll just sit here."

He was so kind, so gentle. She recognized in herself the unworthiness of her own impulse to hurt him.

"Who'd you think was telephoning, Mary Kate?"

"What?" Anything for time——

"Who'd you think was at the 'phone, then?"

"Oh? Oh, I was kind of drowsy, I think."

Smells of dust, upholstery and shabbiness came out of the furniture, and the sweet night breezes through the open windows moved them about, and blew them away.

"Cass——" the girl said suddenly. "I have to tell you. I may get over it, but—something's the matter with me It's making me almost crazy. I haven't ever felt like this. I think—" he resumed, with a desperate little laugh, after a moment's pause, "that I'm in love."

"What are you talking about?" Cass's arm jumbled and shook her alarmedly. "You're engaged to me," he said good-naturedly.

"It may pass," she said stubbornly. "But—but I tell you it's terrible.

"I met a man," Mary Kate went on steadily, "who is leaving town in a few days, I'll never see him again. But—but it wouldn't be fair to you—"

"Oh, yes, it would," Cass murmured contentedly, tightening his arm.

"Listen, Cass—"

"Oh, listen yourself, darling! Don't be a fool. Who was it, Locke Lorimer?"

Mary Kate was very still. After a while she said, in a chilled voice:

"I wasn't trying to tell you that I had a crush on a movie star!"

"Well—it was probably just as bad," Cass said. But as the girl resumed her hurt silence, he added, in a slightly more concerned and sympathetic tone, "Tell me about it."

"It makes everything wonderful—the streets and the bakeries and the fog, and going to bed and getting up," Mary Kate presently said, in a dreaming voice. "It makes me want to think—over and over again, of everything he ever said to me, or I to him. Everything—trembles, Cass. Everything—shines. It makes me sick with misery, and yet I wouldn't give it up—"

"What are you talking about?" he asked her again. But without the confident note now, and in a rougher tone.

"I'm trying to tell you!"

A pause. Then Cass said in a puzzled tone:

"Who is he?"

"He's a New York man," Mary Kate answered unhesitatingly. The joy of speaking of him flowed through her fevered heart and soul like the waters of a cool river.

"Say, listen, are you kidding me, Mary Kate?"

"Kidding you!" she echoed, in patient scorn. She was silent a moment. "No, I'm not kidding you," she said simply.

Cass twisted about, to try to see the expression on her face. But the room was too dark.

"Where'd you meet him?"

"In Mr. Rountree's office."

"Who is he?"

"His name is Steynes. Christopher Steynes."

"The polo player, who shot a burglar the other day?"

LEAGUERS HOLD BIG SPORTS DAY

Fine Day is Held by Young People of Seymour Charge at Oak Lake.

SOFTBALL GAME.

PETHERICKS CORNERS, June 6. (Examiner Correspondence.) The league societies of the three appointments of the Seymour charge Tabernacle, Stephens and Zion celebrated the king's birthday with a real old time picnic and sports day at Oak Lake, south of Stirling. A very large crowd attended so much so that the dinner had to be served in relays. The children were the first to enjoy the many good things provided while their elders at 12.30 filled the three large tables to overflowing. Dinner was served in the dining hall of the Bay of Quinte Conference Summer School building, the organization kindly giving permission to use the grounds for the day. Rev. F. G. MacTavish very capably handled the seating arrangements and handled the bell in true dining room style.

The booth for soft drinks and refreshments had a rushing business, this being under the supervision of the Hoards League, while the sports program was arranged by the Zion and English Line organizations.

A series of sports, races, etc., under the leadership of Miss Lillian Tacke entertained the juniors during the afternoon, while the final ball game was being played. Earl Gadden arranged a ball game for the junior boys with six from each league. Roy Oddie was captain of the winning team with R. Maycock as pitcher, A. Petherick, D. Barmum, R. Parr and J. Watson, in the infield and K. Parr B. Lawrence and S. Milne, as outfielders. Ted Peake captained the losers with A. Potts as pitcher. W. Anderson, L. Watson, J. Mitchell and E. Watson, in the infield, J. Stephens, C. Lawrence and A. Stephens, as outfielders. The score was 17 to 7 and umpires were E. Godden and L. Anderson.

Following this game, a few of the older boys engaged in a snappy game of football with honours about even.

Before dinner a close game of soft ball was played between the married and single men. The married men with a makeshift line-up, held the younger fellows down for three innings, but a fourth inning rally netted the bachelors five runs to give them the game 9 to 2.

Single men: Owens c, G. Kerr, p., F. Potts, 1b, K. Oddie, 2b, E. Godden, 4b, G. Meilkejohn, ss, W. Bibby, R. Fry, G. Petherick, outfield.

Married men: Heagle, c, Hoard, p, Anderson, 1b, Croaghead, 2b, T. Fry, 3b, Gunning, ss, Williams, Diamond and Grills, outfield.

Score by innings: single men: 1, 0, 3, 5, 0—9.

Married men: 1, 0, 0, 1, 0—2.

Umpires: O. Rennie and M. Rennie.

The first of the inter-league softball tilts was won by the Hoards nine, when they got 16 runs to 8 by English Line.

ZAM-BUK
HERBAL OINTMENT & MEDICINAL SOAP
Complete treatment for Bad Legs, Ulcers, Eczema, Poisoned Sores, Scalp Troubles, etc.

Thompson with three hits and three runs one a homer in three times at bat was the star of the game. Hoard pitched well and except for the third spasm was given splendid support.

English Line: Craighead, c, Maycock, p, F. Potts, 1b, A. Potts, 2b, E. Gadden, 3b, Stollery ss, Grills, Diamond, Bibby, outfield.

Hoards: Heagle, c, Hoard, p, M. Rannie, 1b, O. Rannie, 2b, K. Milne, 3b, K. Oddie, ss, Gunning, Williams, Thompson, outfielders.

By innings, Hoards: 7, 0, 2, 7, 0—16. Line: 0, 1, 5, 2, 0—8.

Umpires: G. Kerr and T. Fry.

Perhaps the most exciting game of the afternoon was the girls encounter between Zion and English Line. Zion was assisted by Laura Hay of Hoards, who got five hits and five runs in five trips to the plate and engineered a double play in the first. Hazel Petherick also scored five for Zion. Gwelda Dunk was the only Line lady to score twice and the Zion ladies won by the unexpected score of 30 to 7. In two innings, only four Line girls came to bat.

Zion—Mary Peake, c, Gladys Simpson, p, Evelyn Barnum, 1b, Nellie Bennett, 2b, Laura Hay, 3b, Hazel Petherick, ss, Carol Watson, Magaret Petherick, Cora Petherick, outfield.

Umpires: R. Crawford, Ted Owens.

The final game between Zion and Hoards boys was the hardest fought of the series, but Zion emerged victors by pounding Hoards offerings, consistently while the southern boys could no little with either Fry or Kerr pitching. Each Zion player scored once, excepting Don Watson and Don Kerr, while Oscar Rannie got the only Hoards counter. In three innings Hoards had only four men at bat and in the fifth were retired in order. K. Oddie was the only Hoards player to reach first twice, while G. Meiklejohn, Ray Fry and L. Anderson, had the same fortune. Hoards: Heagle, c, Hoard, p, M. Rannie, 1b, O. Rannie, 2b, E. Gadden, 3b, K. Oddie, ss, R. Williams, C. Gunning, K. Milne, outfielders.

Zion: Owens, c, R. Fry, p, Anderson, 1b, G. Kerr, 2b, B. Kerr, 3b, G. Meiklejohn, ss, Fred Fry, G. Petherick, B. Watson, outfielders.

Score by innings: Hoards, 1, 0,0, 0, 0—1.

Zion: 0, 2, 3, 2, 0—7.

Umpires — Craighead, T. Fry, Diamond.

A Thought

INTELLECT

Intellectual pleasure is as much more noble than that of sense as an immotral spirit is more noble than a clod of earth; the pleasure of sense is drossy, feculent; the pleasure of the mind refined and pure; that is faint and languid, this lively and vigorous; that scant and limited, this ample and enlarged; that temporary and fading, this durable and permanent; that flashy, distracted, this calm and composed.—J. Howe.

COMMENT ON MORNING STOCK MARKETS OVER BIGGAR & CRAWFORD WIRE

The Toronto Stock Exchange had another morning of listless trading to-day. Fractional losses were registered by Nickel, Brazilian and Noranda while City Dairy was off one point at 61¼. Crown-Dominion Oil showed a tendency to move ahead and was up a point at 8¼ under light trading; the other oils were inactive. The New York market generally displayed a heavy tone to-day. The increase in brokers' loans was a mild surprise and pressure was exerted against the pivotal issues. However, bearish efforts brought out little liquidation and prices swung listlessly within a narrow range. Under reduced volume Houston Oil was one stock which showed an inclination to move ahead.

BRITISH PREMIER

tain suspicions regarding Russia, at which time he became involved with Communists. However, during his first ministry he did much to help establish confidence and quiet in Europe and prepare the way for the Dawes' plan and the evacuation of the Rhine. His outspoken stand for peace at the Geneva Conference when he was in office made a profound impression on the temper of Europe. These were the first steps toward permanent peace and greatly redounded to the credit of the Labor Premier.

Faced by Big Problems

"During the last election campaign he fought with great ability and again won the Premiership of Great Britain. He now has before him many great problems, two of which are unemployment of nearly two million men in Great Britain and the unrest in India which no one knows better than Mr. MacDonald is loaded with dynamite. His government won a great victory in France in adjusting the war reparations and now the world is applauding him because of his efforts for world peace and his plans for the permanent abolition of war between nations."

During the Kiwanis luncheon musical offerings were presented by Roy Rome, a violinist of repute in this city and Delbert Lucas, also of Peterborough. They were well received.

The occasion of President Carl Browne's birthday anniversary was noted.

WINZE SINKING ON HOLLINGER

Will Increase Production on Two Levels of Barry Property.

ABANA INSTALLATION.

TORONTO, June 6. (Special to Examiner.)—The sinking of the winze from the 1,625 to the 1,875 level is well under way at Barry Hollinger. Latest reports from the property state it is now down thirty feet, this will be an incline winze and it is hoped it will follow the ore to the next two levels. This will give an additional tonnage of high grade for mill feed It is anticipated the 1,750 level will be reached by the end of this month.

Breaking ore in the slopes on Barry's 1,625 level is proceeding and as this is the best level yet opened up, the management expects ore from there and from the winze should have the effect of increasing production. During the month of May very little ore was taken from the lower levels owing to preparation of the slope and the winze. Output for the month, however, will show a profit over all mining, milling and developments operations, it is stated yesterday's annual meeting of Eastern Mining and Milling Company, was entirely routine in character, the business of the gathering being concluded in a very few minutes. Directors were reelected, and reports approved without comment no report on initial operations of the Stirling mill was as yet available, officials stated. Visitors from Rouyn state there is little mining activity under way in the section beyond the work being carried out in the vicinity of Noranda, and on the Amulet, Waite-Ackerman and Newbec, the general copper situation has effected enthusiasm to some extent, and holders of properties have adopted a waiting attitude in anticipation of a change for the better.

Osizko Lodge No. 107 of the Rouyn Noranda section, has undertaken to raise funds for the erection of a lodge building in either Noranda or Rouyn by selling ash trays supplied by Noranda mines and fabricated of blister copper. The lodge has secured a booth at the exhibition grounds for the duration of the Shriners convention, and anticipates a good demand for these articles which will constitute a splendid souvenir of Canada.

Installation of mill machinery has started at Abana and it is expected to be ready for operation by September 1, foundations for the mill have been poured, and underground work on the different levels is right up to schedule. Diamond drilling has also been completed and the drills removed and a complete official report of operations during the past few months together with an estimate of ore reserves is anticipated about the middle of the month.

EQUALITY ATTAINED

time but it will pull through. I have seen it pull through worse. She must make it up. She is a very heavy sleeper. All men of sound constitution are. We have our own burdens but we have, in addition to that, the burden of empire and that burden is increasingly heavy.

Again the speaker paused to emphasize: "We can bear it but we can also share it more. Sooner or later—if you will allow me to speak plainly about this—sooner or later the Dominions will have to face the question of whether they are prepared to take their part of the responsibility and power in guiding the government of these immense territories with us."

Mr. Lloyd George touched on the problems of India, Egypt and Palestine. He hopes the Imperial conference in the autumn would not shrink from frank discussion of all the problems of the Empire. This discussion should lead to greater co-operation.

"For," concluded the Liberal statesman, "great as the Dominions might become individually yet as an integral part of the British Commonwealth of free nations they will become incomparably greater."

BECOMES LORD PRIVY SEAL

LONDON, June 6.—(C.P.)—Vernon Hartshorn, who was Postmaster-General in the Labor Cabinet of 1924 last night accepted Prime Minister MacDonald's invitation to become Lord Privy Seal, the cabinet post just vacated by Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, who becomes Secretary of State for the Dominions.

CLAIMS FICTITIOUS TRADING IMPOSSIBLE WITH NEW RULES

Traders in Mining Stocks Assured of Maximum Protection.

AUDIT SYSTEM EFFICIENT.

TORONTO, June 6 (Special to Examiner.)—By the revisions of the by-laws of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, ratified at a meeting of members, the possibility of bucketing or the making of fictitious or wash sales is completely eliminated and that part of the public which trades in mining stocks is assured of maximum protection in its dealings with brokers, according to A. J. Trebilcock, solicitor of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, who had much to do with drafting the new amendments.

"The new bylaws," said Mr. Trebilcock, "are the result of consultations with the attorney-general of Ontario and the attorneys-general of all the Canadian province in conjunction with the report of Messrs Clarkson and Edwards, auditors and accountants, who were employed by the Ontario government in an advisory capacity and who went to New York with representatives of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange to study methods of trading on the New York Stock Exchange and New York Curb."

"Bucketing is a term which has never until this session of the Dominion House been clearly defined in the criminal code of Canada as it is the penal code of the state of New York. For many years section 954 of the New York code has provided penalties for trading by brokers against customers' orders. A similar clause has now by amendment been inserted in the criminal code of Canada and the security frauds prevention act of Ontario and the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange under by law 42 has included a pilung whereby no member house can make a practice of taking the opposite side of the market to its customers. In other words bucketing has been defined and prohibited.

"Fictitious or wash sales between brokers is likewise made an offence under by law 62 section 12, which specifically prohibits it. Under by law No. 11 section 3, is defined conduct which will be deemed as inconsistent with equitable principles of trade and a penalty of a heavy fine, suspension or expulsion is provided (a) for the making of fictitious transactions, (b) for misleading or attempting to mislead the board or committees of the exchange, (c) for upsetting the equilibrium of the market, (d) for bucketing, (e) for improper soliciting of orders, (f) for high pressure salesmanship, etc

"The audit system now imposed on members of the exchange is as efficient an instrument as can be devised to enforce the new by law," said Mr. Trebilcock. "On December 31, of each year, a complete periodic audit is made of each member's books more comprehensive than anything in force in New York. In addition simultaneous audits will be made on any date chosen by the exchange auditor and without previously advising any exchange member, even the directors. The cost of these audits is paid by the exchange, which afterwards bills the members. The exchange will hold a lien against members' exchange seats until the amount is collected. From results of the first audit made last December the average cost to each member will be approximately $1,400 a year. As there are fifty members this means approximately $84,000 annually."

Mr. Trebilcock also pointed out that every member must now keep a stock position book showing at the end of each day his long or short position in the market. This book will be checked at the time of each audit and the broker will know each day just where he stands, eliminating thereby the chances of sudden bankruptcy. "Every possible protection is afforded the public under the new regulations" in Mr. Trebilcock's opinion. "There is no other exchange anywhere," he said, "with more complete machinery for enforcing its by-laws and keeping a check on its members."

QUIET REIGNS ON FIRE FRONT

Immediate Danger in Sioux Lookout District Obviated With Heavy Rainfall.

SITUATION NORMAL.

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont., June 6 (Canadian Press). — Quiet reigns along the forest-fire front to-day. Not a message of trouble came from any point between Sioux Lookout and Savant Lake, 60 miles east, where timberland blazes threatened lines and property during the last week. Generous rains have dissipated the flame-danger almost entirely.

Two days ago when the blazes were at their height along the right-of-way of the Canadian National Railways, high winds suddenly dropped and allowed fire-rangers to halt the conflagrations in their rushing path. Yesterday for the first time in a week, showers fell throughout the danger zone; as they increased to downpours, all immediate difficulty was obviated.

Residents of Smith, Robinson, Allenwater, and other points along the line are back at their usual tasks to-day after a week of irregularity. The situation is regarded as entirely normal.

PARCEL EXPLODES.

PARIS, June 6 (C.P.).—A parcel containing some sort of explosive blew up at the central post office at ten o'clock this morning. It was reported that no one was injured.

TARIFF BACK AGAIN.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 6 (Canadian Press). — The Tariff Bill was returned to conference yesterday for the fourth time when Vice-President Curtis held a Democratic point of order against its rate provisions.

Arson Threats Made To B. C. Lumbermen

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 6. (C.P.).—Threats of a campaign of terror by arson, through organised gangs, against lumber mills in this province so long as Oriental labor supplants white workers, are made in an anonymous letter received by one Vancouver lumber man. Police are investigating. Officials of the provincial fire marshall's office found evidence of incendiary in two fires in large shingle mills on the Fraser River a week ago.

OIL SECTION REMAINS FIRM

Stocks Fluctuate Within Fraction of Last Night's Close at Toronto.

ACTIVITY IN CITY DAIRY.

TORONTO, Ont., June 6. (C.P.)—The market was without life this morning and stocks fluctuated within a fraction of where they had left off last night. The only news of interest was the official statement last night that City Dairy officers had been chosen and that the company would carry on, thereby putting at best, rumors of sale to Bordens While off slightly, the stock was firm around 62 and, in comparison with the rest of the board, quite active.

The oils were firm on the whole, especially B. A. oil in which there has been evidence of accumulation the latter part of the week.

Durant Motors made a new low for the year when it sold at 6.

EASIER TREND IN STANDARD PRICES

Nickel, Noranda and Hudson Bay Register Slight Reverses.

TORONTO, Ont., June 6. (C.P.)—Prices remained easy during the morning session on the mining market to-day, but while losses predominated at noon, they were of a more or less unimportant character.

Nickel, Noranda and Hudson Bay were all somewhat easier, the cutting of the Noranda dividend again directing attention to the importance of the reduced prevailing for copper. Lindeleys were also a weak group, Falconbridge falling 20 to $2.50, Ventures 6 to 1.74 and Sherritt Gordon a couple to $2.03. Golds were somewhat stronger.

Ajax oil came to the fore in the oils again with increased trading and a gain of 17 to $2.83.

Chicago Wheat Gains In the Late Trading

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6. (C.P.)—Owing largely to dry weather reports from spring crop territory, wheat scored price gains early to-day, overcoming initial declines. The temporary setback was ascribed to selling here by foreigners, but the market soon developed notable resistance to pressure, opening 3-8 7-8 cents off, wheat sagged a little more, and then rose to above yesterday's finish.

Corn, oats and provisions were easy, with corn starting 3-8 ¾ cents down, and subsequently holding near to the opening range.

DOMINION NEWS

of the Victoria (B.C.) Times observed that even the smaller Canadian dailies published reports of the last British elections which, for completeness, could hardly had been surpassed by the London press. Mr. Nicholas was rather disappointed to find British newspapers made so little mention of the political significance in Canada of the Imperial preference question.

Lord Riddell suggested certain modifications to the Australian resolution and these were accepted by the sponsors. The resolution, as altered, was passed.

The conference also adopted a resolution approving the action of the Canadian section of the Empire Press Union, in augurating news letters covering the economic and cultural sides of Canadian life; these letters having been distributed throughout the Empire. The resolution recommended to the newspapers of the Empire co-operation along these lines laid down by Canada.

ENGLAND REJECTS PLAN FOR CHANNEL TUNNEL

Too Many Problems Involved In Big Tunnel Project

LONDON, June 6.—(A.P.)—A white paper issued today gave the Government's reasons for rejection of the project to build a tunnel underneath the English Channel to France. Among other things mentioned were doubt as to feasibility, the heavy cost involved, military problems, and other economic factors.

The Government statement, followed announcement of its rejection by Prime Minister Macdohald in the Commons yesterday.

Q.—What are capital assets and what items do they offset on the liability side ot fhe balance sheet?

A.—The capital assets may be divided into four classes:

1. Property, plant and equipment.
2. Securities owned of other companies.
3. Goodwill.
4.—Patent and franchise rights.

The first group consists of land, buildings, machinery, tools, horses, wagons, motors, furniture, fixtures, etc. Intangible assets must not be grouped with these items as it would lead to an improper understanding of any balance sheet because almost any value could be place on intangible assets in order to deceive the public. It would also mean that the investor would be unable to tell whether proper amounts for depreciation on tangible assets were being charged from earnings from year to year.

Tangible fixed assets are usually carried at the original cost or at conservative re-valuation figure, whichever is the lower. Great care must be taken to see that this valuation is not over estimated. If the business became bankrupt the price that would be received for its land and buildings would probably be very little. These assets are often accounted for on the liability side of a balance sheet by a funded debt or mortgage. In the case of a re-valuation for a bond issue any appreciation should be offset on the liability side of the balance sheet by a corresponding entry under the heading of capital or re-valuation surplus, in order that it may not be confused with the earned profit and loss surplus which limits the company's payment of dividends on its stock.

The second item, "securties owned of other companies," is carried on the books of the parent company at a figure far below a true one. The present market value is the most accurate gauge, allowing margin for a sudden depreciation in the market. This second item can be more accurately determined than the fixed assets. When these securities have no listed market, it is most difficult however to obtain their true worth, and great care must be exercised by the investor.

The third item, "goodwill" is carried on the books of companies at one extreme or the other. It may be carried at a fabulouse price. Conservative companies often carry it at one dollar although it usually represents great worth. But if a business falls into bankruptcy, goodwill becomes worthless, and for this reason it is customary in good accounting principles to value it at this low figure.

The fourth item 'patent and franchise rights' 'is hard to determine. An approximation is the most that can be arrived at, and this statement may be applied to the other three items as well.

Just as a corporation's current assets are offset by its current liabilities, so its capital assets are offet by its capital liabilities. The latter inccludes its stock and every kind of bond issue secured by mortgage collateral or by a mere promise to pay.

FORM OF WORSHIP IS RECOMMENDED

Recommendation is Made to Assembly of Presbyterian Church.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 6 (By the Canadian Press).—A new order of services for Presbyterian churches throughout the dominion was recommended to the fifty-sixth general assembly meeting here yesterday. In moving the adoption of the report of the committee on public worship, Rev. Dr. T. D. McCorkindale of Heirs, P.Q., urged that the Doxology be sung at the end of church service instead of at beginning, when Rev. Dr. Samuel Davies of Smith's Falls proposed a resolution that new "aids to worship" should be commended to the use of all ministers.

It was strongly opposed by Rev. Dr. R. Johnston of St. Catharines, who declared that liberty in form of worship had been an essential principle of the Presbyterian church service, since the time of John Knox.

On the understanding that no church will be forced to use the new forms the motion was passed.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

BEARS UNABLE TO HOLD TRADE

Minor Offensive Staged To-day on New York Exchange Peters Ont.

CREDIT PLENTIFUL.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 6. (C.P.)—The stock market was subjected to another minor bear offensive to-day, but the speculative community has given itself up so completely to a premature case of mid-summer apathy that bears were unable to make much headway.

Wall Street was distinctly surprised by the increase of $79,000,000 in brokers loans, announced last night. In view of the extreme sluggishness of the stock market during the period covered by the loan figures, the gain was generally interpreted as indicating that new bond issues were not selling well. This was seized upon as bearish material by professional traders, and prominent shares generally were depressed a point or two More than a dozen issues, mostly inconspicuous, reached new lows for the year.

Credit remained plentiful, with rates practically unchanged. A few stocks sold off 3 to 5 points, or more.

Including American Tobacco, Allied Chemical, and Detroit Edison. Such issues as American Telephone, American Can., North American, Goodyear, Loose Chemical, and Detroit Edison. Such issues as American Telephone, American Can., North American, Goodyear, Loose Wiles, and Kambert, reacted a couple of points. Stocks reaching new lows included Coty, American Rolling Mill, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Erie, and International Mercantile Marine. Houston Oil, Foster Wheeler, and Coca Cola were conspicuous in the afternoon rally, selling up moderately above yesterday's closing levels.

FINANCIAL BRIEFS

Advantage and profit will come to the individual who can anticipate developments, say R. A. Daly and Company in discussing prospects for bonds. Bonds have taken on a new interest. Most authorities agree that the present outlook for the bond market is more favorable than at any time during recent years. It is noteworthy that since November, 1929, the trend of both interest rates and commodity prices—two fundamental factors in the determination of bond values—has been steadily downward. Cheap money seems assured for the balance of the year, at least. In view of these circumstances it is to be expected that bond prices will gradually improve. It is felt that the elimination of speculative tendencies, the abundance of investment funds, and the decrease in both interest rates and commodity prices, gives ample promise for higher bond prives. Now, all bonds will not show equal appreciation. It is important to remember that discrimination must be made in these as in any other security.

Insurance in Call Loans.

An increase of $1,700,000 in Canadian call loans in April over March, 1930, is indicated by the statement of the Canadian chartered banks for the month, while call loans outside Canada dropped by almost an equal amount. Both accounts show considerable change in the past year. As of April 30, 1929, the Canadian banks had on call in the Dominion $262,764,368 against only $233,732,306 on April 30, 1930. The decrease in outside call loans in the same year is more pronounced, with a drop from $301,764,922 to $182,449,889, an increase of over $119,000,000 this can be directly attributed to lack of interest and the falling off of speculative activities in the stock markets. There is another that concerns the banks and the shareholders of such institutions, the loss of revenue from this source. During 1929 call money commanded high rates of interest that added materially to profit for the year. In Canadian the rate was increased from 6 to 6½ per cent a little over a year ago with the rate since restored to 6 per cent. In Wall Street call money command as high as 20 per cent in 1929 against 3 and 4 per cent for months past. On the other hand current loans although well below the peak for all time established in October, 1929, are holding well around the level of preceding months. In April, 1930, to total was down a little over $2,000,000 at $1,344,686,281 but over $24,,000,000 above the total as of April 30, 1929.

The market continues dull and uninteresting and indicates that despite the fact the present is considered propitious for accumulating stocks there is no rush to purchase.

Such committments as are being made, are being done quietly and generally with a limit on the price. There is no reason for believing the market will lives, except for occasional flurries, until well into the summer, perhaps fall. Sound quarter earnings will show an improvement in some quarters, yet it is now generally accepted that on the whole results will not be up to early predictions.

OLD U.E.L. CHURCH IS BEING RESTORED

Old Methodist Church Near Cairn to Sir John A. Macdonald.

(Special to the Examiner)

KINGSTON, June 6. — The first Methodist Church built by the United Empire Loyalists, at Bay Bay, Lennox County, was sold some years ago, having fallen into disrepair. Allan R. Davis, a Toronto lawyer, bought back the building and temporary repairs were made. In 1926 the property passed into the hands of the United Church of Canada, and the work of restoration will be begun this year. The work, owing to the age of the boards and lumber, is a delicate operation and will have to be done over a period of years. Last summer the outside clap-boards were carefully removed, new sidings put on, the old boards replaced and the whole sprayed with creosote. This year it is proposed to plaster the church on the inside, re-cover the old seats, which are still in existence, clean and restore the original floor and pulpit, arrange the old-fashioned candlesticks as they existed when the church was built, and put the church as nearly as possible in its original condition. The lot on which the church is built is adjacent to a small plot on which the cairn erected to the memory of Sir John A. Macdonald now stands. If present plans mature, this historic site will be beautified and made a veritable shrine for visitors from all parts of the world.

200,000 VISITORS AT SHRINE MEET

Great Shrine Convention Opens in Capital City on Monday.

CITY DECORATED.

TORONTO Ont., June 6.—(C.P.)—Toronto was today on the eve of perhaps the largest invasion in its history—the 56th annual session of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, North America—and was gaily bedecked with flags of the United States, Cuba, Mexico and Cuba entwined with the red, green and yellow colors of the shriners in honor of the event. Special decorative lighting will increase the city's splendor at night.

Estimates made some months ago when preparations for the large number of visitors began stated about 200,000 shriners, their families and friends, would increase Toronto's population by more than 30 per cent during the few days they will be here. But until the convention gets under way next Monday the only safe guess as to the numerical strength of the invasion is that Toronto's accommodation will be taxed to capacity.

COHEN BRINGING STRONG 'NINE'

Arab Manager Hopes to Dethrone Rays From Lakeshore League Championship.

PLAY HERE TO-MORROW.

The Rays have been holding regular practices this week in an effort to be in their top form for the heavy engagement here to-morrow afternoon with the Oshawa Arabs. Cohen, strategy expert with the Arabs, has a smart squad of players, and he has built strong hopes of dethroning the Rays this year from the Lakeshore championship. To-morrow's game will indicate almost conclusively the relative strength of the two outfits, and it has a direct bearing on the standing. A win for Oshawa will put them on even footing with the Brakeliners.

"Sailor" Maudsley will likely get the call to the mound, while "Duke" Dainty may twirl for the Motor crew.

Inter-Club Battle Saturday Afternoon

The Kiwanis Juveniles tackle Jack Leannard's Kiwanis Juniors in a regular nine-inning fixture at James Stevenson Park to-morrow afternoon. It is scheduled for 3 p.m.

Having lost no finishes in three starts, the youngsters are hoping to take a round out of the Juniors and the Juniors look forward to the opportunity to set Bill Sweetman's lads in their place.

The fighting occurred when the demonstrators attacked detachments of police who replied by firing upon them.

CONVENTION OF LIBERALS

Northumberland Association to Meet at Warkworth on Wednesday, June 11.

NOMINATE CANDIDATE.

(Examiner Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 6—With the federal election only a few weeks ahead, the Liberals of the county of Northumberland are preparing to enter the fray. The Convention for the county has been called for Wednesday, June 11, to be held in the Town Hall, Warkworth.

The meetings are called for 2:30 p.m. under the chairmanship of the president of the Northumberland Liberal Association, Clarence Massey. Several prominent speakers will adadress the gathering, among whom are M. F. Hepburn, M. P. for Elgin West, and Miss Pritchard, of Toronto.

The business to be enacted at this meeting includes election of officers for the Northumberland Liberal Association, and the nomination of a candidate for the Federal Election. Although nothing authentic is known it is expected that Mayor W. Fraser, of Trenton will be the choice for that office. Mr. Fraser has been in the field before, and has many supporters and friends in the riding.

YOUNG LIBERALS HEAR MINISTER

like Canada to deal with the United States on a status of inferiority?" he asked. "Would you like your represenatives to be unable to speak as equals with those with whom they have to deal. I think not and that is why we have representatives at Washington, at Paris and at Tokyo."

Claiming for the Liberal Government leadership in international affairs, Mr. Lapointe said the voice of Canada at the League of Nations was powerful. In the same sphere the Government led in bringing about the signature of the optional clause of the protocol of the permanent court of international justice and had been a pioneer of arbitration in international disputes.

Senator Cairine Wilson spoke as follows:

"We who have not had the privilege of being born in this century cannot fail to envy you the boundless possibilities which lie before you and the wonderful opportunities for the advancement of Liberalism.

"The absence of youth in politics produces unfortunate effect. Its vigor and enthusiasm can be substituted by no other element. Before faith and enthusiasm even the Walls of Jericho fell down. When the young men and women take such an active interest in the government of our land there should be no fear for its future. The ballot is a small piece of paper, but an emblem of great struggles for liberty.

Maintenance of Rights

"The ballot is the weapon for the maintenance of rights secured, and the brief expression of the historic struggles of 800 years. Let us not regard lightly what has cost so much and necessitated the shedding of blood.

"You young women find it difficult to understand the circumscribed lives led by your mothers and grandmothers. Already you are accustomed to be consulted, but a woman, even thirty years ago, was expected to accept the opinions of the male members of the household, and if she had theories of her own not to give voice to them.

"It may interest you to know that I myself was the possessor of six children before I cast my first vote, so that our advance has been rapid. On my way to the Senate Chamber recently, I met a colleague who sits opposite to me. He said: 'Do not delay, for your Leader is speaking on the rights of minorities and you should know all about that question.' The same Leader, the Hon. Mr. Dandurand, President of the League of Nations, gave expression to this sentiment at Geneva: 'We should treat minorities not only with justice, but in such a way that they will forget that they are minorities.' That is the manner in which I have been used, for I had quite forgotten that I was a minority."

Juvenile Judge

Judge Quintin Warner of London, who attended the board meeting of the community welfare council of Ontario in Toronto, of which he was recently elected president. He is judge of the London juvenile court and canon of Cronyn Memorial Church of that city.

"Was Tortured with Rheumatism Years. Ended Quick. New Man."

"Especially in wet weather the pain was almost unbearable. Hot flushes, profuse sweating and stabbing pain whenever I moved. Was also very constipated and felt wretched.

"I tried a dozen different treatments and nothing seemed to help. At last decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives.' For the first time wonderful relief. No more torturous pain, constipation disappeared. I am a new, younger man today."

Just one of thousands who write that rheumatism, neuralgia, neuritis of years standing vanish in amazing quick time with "Fruit-a-tives." Constipation and liver trouble end overnight. CAPTAIN FACES LIBEL ACTION

$100,000 Action Brought Against Schooner Following Man's Death.

HOMICIDE CHARGED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 5.—(C.P.)—The filing of a $100,000 libel against the three masted schooner M. J. Taylor, featured to-day's hearing of the technical homicide charge on which Captain Johnston Pittis, of Amherst, N.S., is held in bail of $1,000 as a sequel to a collision last Saturday.

The case was adjourned to-day until August 5 in absence of a corpus deliciti, and bail was continued despite a request from Assistant District Attorney Martin Frank that the amount be increased because Pittis is not a United States' citizen.

The homicide charge followed a collision on Saturday between the M. J. Taylor and the launch Hanna, in which Emil Jensen, of the Bronx, lost his life despite rescue efforts on the part of Captain Pittis and his crew.

HOLES TORN IN DREAM OF RICHES FROM DERBY

Heard Yesterday They Won Sweepstakes but not Listed in Winners

Barnstaple, Eng., June 5.—(A.P.)—Several people of this town got a rude shock today when doubt was thrown upon the correctness of reports they had won a good sized fortune from the Calcutta sweepstakes through Blenheim's victory in the Derby yesterday.

What was stated to be the official list published today failed to reveal the ticket held by Percy Hogg Southern Railway Engineer, and five other men and one street sweeper, as drawing one of the Blenheim first prizes.

However Hogg and his friends are declining to allow their dream of wealth to be completely dissipated and are insisting they were informed of their good fortune by reputable banking authorities. Consequently they are refusing to believe that after all they were not the lucky winners.

EIGHTY DAINTY CHOCOLATES

Dearest Man,

"The most precious thing has happened—what I mean, it's positively ravishing—Lowney's have put out a new box of really dainty chocolates—they're the most scrumptious things, only one bite to a piece, and the unbelievable number of 80 pieces in a pound box. I simply must have a couple of boxes for my party tomorrow afternoon. I'm not going to have the girls spoiling their dresses and the table covers with big, soft creams or melted chocolate at my party—it's so ruinous to the cards, too. So, be a treasure, and bring me two boxes from the Lowney dealer when you come up tomorrow—they are called Eighty Dainty Chocolates—and only cost a dollar."

Tons of love,
BETTY.

'AUNT LUCIA' MAKES BIG HIT IN PLAY PUT ON BY RANGERS

Peppy Play is Well Received By Audience in Collegiate Auditorium.

REPEATED TO-NIGHT.

(By Jeanette

"Aunt Lucia" and her supporting cast had a wonderful time last night on the stage of the Collegiate Institute auditorium, and so did her audience, composed of nearly four hundred people. The peppy play staged under the auspices of the Peterborough Rangers went over big and peals of mirth echoed through the large hall as the production galloped along to a rousing finale. It will be repeated this evening.

Norm Laing as "Aunt Lucia" was a riot. He had a part that kept him on the stage nearly every minute and kept him talking nearly all the time, too. The manner in which he see-sawed between his natural role of Jerry, a college youth of mischievous propensities, and his fake characterization of the visiting aunt from Florida, was a perfect scream. His transitions of voice were instantaneous and enormously effective.

It is rumored that Mr Laing sacrificed a very satisfactory moustache to better portray the part, but his natural regret must be tinged with content when he realizes just how well he enacted the role. As an old lady with long black dress and white lace scarf and grey wig with a figure that looked properly corseted, even if it didn't happen to be encased in whalebone, he gave one of the best female impersonations seen in some time. That is, as long as he remained static, as it were. When he got restless and commenced to cut up didoes, the ladylike demeanor evaporated.

Provocation Immense.

But his provocation was immense. Any fake lady who was compelled to listen to three proposals from mercenary gentlemen, in one sitting, would have something to get excited about.

Jim Turnbull, as the "beautiful big" butter and Egg man, was immense, in more ways than one. His nifty lid on arrival, the gorgeous bouquet which punctuated his proposal to Aunt Lucia, and the manner in which he slid to his knees and proclaimed to all and sundry his love for the fair lady, made his stage presentation a bright spot in the performance. Jim was right there, with a professional touch to his acting.

Then there was Mr Collins, Senior, a part played by Jack Primeau in fine style. His was the second proposal, orated at some length, with flowery periods that evidently entranced the harassed lady on the sofa. And Professor Gaddis, (G. A. Richmond) was the senile old gentleman who pursued the lady with more ardor than his rivals. His cracked voice and doddering form were just right in the role. He basely deserted his love of many years (a part taken in her usual fine style by Miss Annie Crocker, representing the lady Dean Howard of the college), when a wealthier woman appeared on the horizon.

Two college students who had principal roles and did them splendidly, were George (Charles McLeish) and Dick (Dr. Ralph Honey), the two companions of Jerry who pestered him during his appearance as Lucia Wakefield, the rich maiden aunt of the pretty co-ed, Betty (Miss Nan Parsons), and her chum, Molly (Miss Florence Adams). While expecting a visit from her aunt Betsy's relative is impersonated in fun by Jerry, and the arrival of the Dean, who mistakes him for the lady, compels him to keep the fake up for some time.

Cut-Ups.

But Jerry nearly loses his own girl the graceful Ethelyn (Miss Jean Padget), through his mischievous prank, and he is happy to get out of the fake costume, as the final curtain rolls itself down on the hilarious and farcical comedy.

Dr. Seamore, a college president, and his wife, Mrs. Seamore, are dignified persons who are portrayed excellently by Herbert Wilson and Mrs. G.A. Richmond

Two cut-ups whose antics, spontaneous and refreshing, add joy to the first portion of the play, are a couple of freshmen enacted by Jack Krogh and Andy Rutter. They are a pair of pleasing fun-makers.

Then there is the Fraternity president, (Murray Smye), and the Glee Club president (Jack Pritchard), two excellent actors.

The play, directed by the Universal Producing Company, was under supervision of Miss Viola Martin, to whose splendid efforts and energetic work, along with fine co-operation from her cast, the manifest success of the affair was due.

The presentation opened with a big baby pageant, featuring two hundred children and entitled "Take Me Back to Babyland." The youngsters were in pyjamas and nighties, and they slept en masse, before Mrs. Hazel Davidson McClelland appeared and recited to them, in her own inimitable style, "Sleepy Heads, Wake Up," and told them a fascinating ghost story to which they listened with much appreciation.

Special numbers which made musical high spots in the entertainment were a love song, sung in beautiful voice by Miss Daisy Davidson, during a love scene between two of the college boys and their sweeties. Miss Geraldine Collins will sing this song to-night, at the second performance of the play.

Douglas Carlisle, in his fine resonant baritone, sang the Cornish Floral Dance during an intermission, while the program was enlivened to a great extent by the appearance of a tuneful group of rubes and farmerettes, in costume, singing the dainty number, "Out in the New Mown Hay." As sailor girls, the chorus also sang "Breezin' Allong."

The girls' chorus was composed of the following members, the Misses Tuna Hart, Olive Elcombe, Verna Huffman, Helen Heffernan, Doris Skinner, Mary Brooks, Babe Fife, Margaret Skitch, Doris Rogers and Muriel Donaldson.

The College Glee Club was a harmonious organization that obliged with a number of old favorite songs, at the opening of the show. Members are William Grieves, Ernie Abraham, Stanley Peryer, George Chambers, Henry Parnell, Alfred Simmons, Reg Dyer Jack Sage, Fred Ward, Ernie Gilson, Cecil Gallagher, George Johns, Harold Hutchins, William Dyer, Ed Blackwell, Ed Janeway, William Saunders, Alfred Hempstead, W. McLarmon and Bernard Park.

A group of non-coms from the regiment staged a burlesque bit that was extremely funny. They donned costumes of feminine type to portray various well-known people, like Mary Pickford, Helen Wills, Tillie the Toiler, the Girl with the Million Dollar Legs, and Cleopatra, along with a dozen other famous personages. They cavorted about the stage, much to their own enjoyment and the amusement of their watchers.

Those taking part in this College Flapper stunt were S. Calladine, H. Willis, A. E. Borland, J. Gaskell, H. Chate, F. Lockhart, G. H. James, S. Lowe, H. Weir, J. French, T. L. Griffin, C. Cowling, E. Guppy, V. Hunter, E. McClavey, S. Kitchen, J. Taylor, W. Gould, O. Varty, R. R. Ecobichon, W. Jamieson, C. O'Toole, A. R. Carpenter, S. R. Mackness, J. O'Neill, J. Bebee, G. Trennum, K. G. Lee, R. Ryan and F. Thompson.

A very fine orchestra provided music before the first curtain and during intermissions, led by W. H. Peryer. Harry Northrop officiated at the piano in splendid fashion.

"Aunt Lucia" will be repeated this evening in the Collegiate Institute auditorium, and anyone who likes a good laugh and plenty of varied and constant amusement, should be on hand. It is hilarious entertainment by a group of talented amateur actors and their musical assistants.

Youthful Murderer Pays Supreme Penalty

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 6. (C.P.)—Smiling, William (Dagger) Pruitt 22, convicted slayer of William Mann, 17-year old Dallas Texas high school boy, early to-day was electrocuted here at the state prison.

He entered the chair at 12.05 a.m.

"Have you anything to say?" an official asked him as he entered the death chamber with a robed priest.

"Nothing. I have made my statement, but I would like to say that I appreciate what Father Finnegan here has done for me."

As the motors started whirring an unidentified man outside the door fainted. He was carried away and revived.

Pruitt was convicted of slaying Mann when the youth resisted a hold-up.

THIRD EXPLOSION IN PARIS MAILS

Another Parcel Addressed to Nobility Explodes ir Post Office.

NO ONE INJURED.

PARIS, June 6. (C.P.)—A small mail parcel addressed to the Baroness Ediuard de Rothschild to-day exploded in the central post-office while employees were sorting mail.

While the explosion caused a heavy detonation, fortunately no employee was within ten feet of the basket in which the parcel was lying and none was injured.

Prefect of Police Chiappe to-day personally conducted an investigation. This was the third outrage of a similar nature in three months. The first two were of parcels addressed to the Countess Jacques Bevienne and Count de Boisselin.

IN POLICE COURT

Two residents of the Trent River district were fined $100 each and costs, when they appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley in County Police Court this morning, and pleaded guilty to contraventions of the Liquor Control Act.

Napoleon Garneau, 48, carpenter, of Trent River had costs amounting to $9 making a total of $109, or in default three months' imprisonment. He was charged with having liquor in a place other than his legal residence, in the township of Belmont on or about Monday, April 21st.

The other defendant, Francis Ruttan, 26, fishing tackle maker, working in Havelock and who resides at Trent River, who drew a similar penalty had costs amounting to $5. He was charged with having liquor in a place other than his private residence, in the village of Havelock on or about Monday, April 21st. The fines were paid in both instances.

The only case on the docket in City Police Court this morning, before Magistrate O. A. Langley, was that in which a father was charged with neglecting his child's attendance at school, contrary to section II of the School Attendance Act.

After hearing the father's version of the affair, the Magistrate withdrew the case. There were no costs.

The boy's father said that he has been working out of the city for some time past and only managed to get home on Saturday evenings. The boy had been sent to school by his mother, morning and afternoon, he said.

James Abraham, School Attendance Officer: I don't blame this man or the mother. It is the boy who has played truant.

The 11-year-old boy who accompanied his father to court was called by the Magistrate, and as he stood, his head just coming on a level with the top of the bench, he was severely but kindly admonished.

Advertising Campaign Planned For Canned Salmon

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 6. (C.P.) A sum of more than a hundred thousand dollars will be spent in a nation-wide advertising campaign to promote the sale of canned salmon. The campaign will be started by the backers this year and will probably extend over three years.

The Dominion Government has appropriated twenty-five thousand dollars to aid the work in domestic market, conditional on the canners raising a like amount. In addition the Department of Trade and Commerce is contributing a special limited grant of ten thousand dollars for advertising British Columbia fish products in the preference markets of Australia and New Zealand.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

MR. BENNETT AND BRITISH PREFERENCE.

To Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Mr. Burnham's statement appearing in The Examiner last evening (June 5) that Mr. Bennett has declared against Empire preference, and therefore for a separationist policy, etc., is entirely incorrect Mr. Bennett is anxious for such preference.

To indicate this it will not be necessary for me to do more than quote these remarks recently made (on May 6 last) by Mr. Bennett in the House of Commons, as reported verbatim in Hansard:

"In order that there may be no misunderstanding as to our position with respect to British preference I wish to say the following: As an earnest of our affection and goodwill, as an expression of the hope we all have that some day a CLOSER ECONOMIC ALLIANCE OF EMPIRE STATES MAY FIND BEING, I commend the measures for British preference which the Minister proposes."

The Minister, of course, is Mr. Dunning whose Budget was under consideration.

A retraction by Mr. Burnham may now be expected.

E. A. PECK.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO DO A GREAT SERVICE

The Salvation Army Tag Day To-morow Should Receive Splendid Response.

Are you interested in the misfits of life—unfortunate and discouraged souls, some wayward sons and daughters of many good homes who belong to broken-hearted parents? Would you like to bring brightness, happiness and replacement to many a discouraged soul? You can do your part by buying a tag on Saturday and thus help the Salvation Army to keep open its institutions and enable it to go on with its work of healing the wounded and binding up the broken-hearted and then giving them a fresh chance in life. The social and relief work has been the heaviest in years this past winter, and therefore the need is great. Your best on Saturday will assist in keeping the home fires burning.

POTENTATE WILL ARRIVE SUNDAY

Understood Proposal to Hold Imperial Council Every Three Years Will Be Defeated.

Place Wreath On Cenotaph.

TORONTO, Ont., June 6.—(By the Canadian Press.)— A march to the City Hall cenotaph and the placing of a wreath thereon will mark the arrival here Sunday morning of the Imperial Potentate of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Leo V. Youngsworth, of Los Angeles, it was announced to-day. Engagements along the route from Vancouver, from where the Imperial Potentate is travelling on a special train, prevented him from arriving earlier than Sunday morning, as originally intended.

The Imperial Potenate will be escorted on his arrival by the bands, patrols, chanters and nobles of Al Malaikah Temple of Los Angeles. The 59th annual session of the Imperial Council will formally open on Tuesday.

The Globe to-day says it has obtained information that the proposal to hold Imperial Council every three years is almost sure to be defeated. Cleveland wants the convention next year and Chicago two years hence.

Sixth Peterborough Troop

But two more weekly meetings remain before the boys of the 6th Peterborough Troop leave for their annual camp at Young's Point.

At Tuesday evenings meeting flag break took place at 7.30 and following the routine parade lessons were given in second-class work.

The most important event of the evening was the investiture of three boys into the brotherhood of scouts. The ceremony was officiated over by Scoutmaster Wolffe assisted by Francis MacPherson and Troop Leader Felix Scollard. Following the investiture several pleasant games were played and pyramid building was practiced.

The S. M. gave the boys some idea as to the activities for this year's camp and said that many of the boys will be taught the important art of swimming.

Bringing the proceedings to a conclusion the boys assembled around the flag pole in horseshoe formation and sang the National Anthem followed by the Scout Silence.

GREAT CANADA IS PREDICTED

Sir Henry Thornton Addresses Big C. M. A. Banquet.

LANGUAGE ENGLISH.

TORONTO, June 6. — Sir Henry Thornton, a product of this continent and by adoption a son of the Dominion, expressed sentiments with a peculiarly Canadian tang in an address at a dinner of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in the Royal York Hotel last night.

He held up to the assembled manufacturers the ideal of Canada as a country standing distinct among the other nations of the world. Canada could never be anything but Canadian, he declared. It was bound to be a product of the accomplishments of the past and what succeeding generations built upon the sturdy foundations laid by the pioneers.

"Our language will always be fundamentally the English language," he declared. "But it will not be the English language that is spoken in England."

It would be a Canadian edition, Sir Henry intimated. Similarly, he predicted the building up of distinctly Canadian traditions, literature, art and music.

"We will build a Canadian nation different to any other on earth," he said, and referred to the fact that every country built its character on the basis of its national traditions. Thus, there would be no English people apart from England, no French people apart from France.

It was important, he declared, to build not only great industries in this country, but "to lay the foundation for a fine and strong Canadian character." A character that would be distinctly Canadian — and nothing else.

STORM PLAYS QUEER PRANKS

CHICAGO, Ills., June 6—Queer pranks of a sudden high wind storm which restricted its activities to a southwestern suburb, Midlothian, were seen to-day in several wrecked buildings, unroofed homes and uprooted trees and telegraph poles. Two boys were injured.

The storm followed thunder showers in Chicago which drenched the metropolitan area and forced the temperature down from 85 to 70 degrees within an hour and a half.

UNIVERSITY CENTRES TALK BY TELEPHONE

Precedent Established in Trans-Atlantic Two-way Wireless Conversation.

MONTREAL, June 6—For the first time in Canada a public Trans-Atlantic wireless telephone conversation took place recently between a meeting of the Royal Society of Canada in Moyse Hall, McGill University, Montreal, and Sir Ernest Rutherford at Cambrdge, England.

Through the courtesy of Colonel Boyey, Department of Extra-Mural Relations, the British Postoffice and the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, the Canadian Marconi Company arranged for Sir Ernest Rutherford to speak by Beam Telephone from his home in Cambridge to the meeting of the Royal Society of Canada, in Montreal.

Sir Ernest Rutherford is President of the Royal Society, but he is also a Cavendish Professor, a Nobel Prizeman, and has the Order of Merit.

Dr. S. Eves, Professor of Physics, McGill University, first announced to the audience in Moyse Hall, as well as to the invisible radio audience listening in on Marconi station CFCF, that Sir Ernest Rutherford would speak from Cambridge. Sir Ernest Rutherford's voice then was heard through the loud speaker in Moyse Hall with dramatic clarity, and was simultaneously re-broadcast to the radio audience through the microphone. Clear, two-way conversations were then carried on between Sir Arthur Currie, Chancellor of McGill University, Montreal, Sir Robert Falconer, Chancellor of Toronto University, Dr. S. Eves in Moyse Hall and Sir Ernest Rutherford in Cambridge.

Sir Ernest Rutherford's voice was transmitted by British Postoffice direct line from his home in Cambridge to Marconi Beam station at Bodwin, England, and picked up at the Canadian Marconi Company's beam station at Yamachiche, Quebec. Direct Bell Telephone wire completed the connection to Moyse Hall.

The voices of Sir Arthur Currie, Sir Robert Falconer and Dr. Eves were transmitted by direct Bell Telephone lines to the Canadian Marconi Company's beam station at Drummondville, Quebec; Canadian Marconi beam telephone carried the voices to the Marconi beam station at Bridgewater, England; from thence connection was completed by direct British Postoffice lines to Sir Ernest Rutherford's Cambridge home.

PUPILS PRESENT GOOD PROGRAM

Pleasing Musical Recital Presented Under Direction of Miss Regina Costello.

AT DOWNEYVILLE

DOWNEYVILLE, June 6.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Miss Regina Costello's pupils gave a pleasing recital on Friday evening in the Parish Hall which was prettily decorated, the stage being arranged with a string-like setting of blooms.

A welcome speech was given by Thelma Lucas and Rev. Father Galvin acted as chairman for the evening, giving an interesting address in which he complimented the teacher on her work.

The program consisted of choruses, piano, vocal and violin solos and duets. A dance was given by a group of ten little girls and later two tiny tots. Elton Herlihey and Pauline O'Donnell responded to the encore by doing several steps of the same dance.

Miss Fanny Costello contributed a vocal solo which was well received and readings were given by Miss Helen Hutton, pupil of Mrs. McGuire, of Lindsay. Thomas Abraham's singing and dancing brought hearty applause. Miss Yvonne Lucas sang in fine style and Lindsay's little singer, Edna Allen, sang and danced two snappy numbers accompanied by Kay Ashton.

Pupils of Miss Costello taking part in the program included Albert Lucas, Donald Lucas, Norine Gosselin, Rita Herlihy, Mildred Lucas, Marguerite Winn, Helen Costello, Velma Herlihy, Mary O'Leary, Teresa O'Leary, Yvonne Lucas, Clinton Lucas, Imelda Garvey, Hazel Dorgan, Lolita Lucas, Orville Perdue, Elton Herlihy, Pauline O'Donnell.

At the close of the program, Miss Costello thanked those present for the interest shown in her work and the attention given throughout the program.

The floor was well filled for the dance which followed, music being provided by the Lindsay Girls' Orchestra composed of Kay Ashton, Regina Costello, Edna Allen and in the absence of Mary Crowley, "Kink" Powers played the saxaphone.

William Anderson, the sixty-seven-year-old secretary for Scotland, who recently became a member of Bowhill Rovers, a Fifeshire juvenile football team, has offered his services should the club ever need a full-back.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"I'LL MEET THEE AT THE LANE"
(Contributed by Beatrice)

I'll meet thee at the lane,
When the clock strikes nine,
In ecstasy again, love,
To call thee mine.
My heart for thee is burning,
My brain is almost whirling,
Through loving thee so madly
My mountain rose.
When evening stars are peeping,
Oh then will be our meeting,
Old Time too swiftly fleeting
Our happy time away.

I'll meet thee at the lane,
When the clock strikes nine,
Thine eyes, like stars of evening,
So softly shine.
Thy voice its love tale telling
All other thoughts dispelling,
But loving thee, but loving
My sweet Mountain Rose.
The nightingale shall sing love,
Sweet flowers I to thee bring love,
While moments quickly pass love,
One happy hour with thee.

I'll leave thee at the lane
When the clock strikes ten,
And faithful will remain love,
Believe me then.
Deceive thee I will never,
And breath must from me sever,
If I forget thee ever,
My sweet Mountain Rose.
Thy presence care dispelling,
All other charms excelling,
Oh what to grace my dwelling,
As thee, my Mountain Rose.

Favorite Recipe

ORANGE GRAPEFRUIT AND LEMON MARMALADE

3 cups (1½ lbs.) cooked fruit
6 cups (2½ lbs.) sugar
½ cup bottled pectin.

Remove rind in quarters. Slice pealed fruit very thin crosswise, removing seeds. Then cut slices fine, discarding hard centers. Lay rind flat, and with sharp knife, pare off about ½ of white part of rind. Discard these whites. Shred yellow rind very thin, add 1½ cups water and ¾ teaspoon soda and cook, covered, for just 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add cut-up fruit and lemon juice. Simmer covered, 20 minutes longer. Measure 3 solidly packed cups of this cooked fruit into large kettle, adding water if necessary to fill third cup. Add sugar, bring to a boil, and BOIL GENTLY 5 minutes. Remove from fire and stir pectin. Stir occasionally for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Cover hot marmalade with film of hot paraffin; when marmalade is cold, cover with 1-8 inch of hot paraffin. Roll glass to spread paraffin on sides. Sometimes sets very slowly. Requires 1 large orange, 1 lemon, 1 small grapefruit. Makes about 8 eight-ounce glasses.

FASHION SERVICE

Little Sister steps out smartly these days for the French couturiers are paying much attention to the designing of clothes for the Junior.

The fluttering flaring hemline is given prominence in all Paris showings for Spring. It is youthful—and yet so sophisticated. It is a fashion that delights the miss of 8, 10, 12 and 14 years, who always feels so important in a "grownup" model.

Style No. 3315, an exact copy of the original Paris dress, is in lovely sapphire blue and white printed wool crepe. It shows striking contrast in applied scalloped border of circular skirt and belt placed at normal waistline in plain blue crepe. The deep turn-over collar and flaring cuffs of white pique, that may be made detachable, so as to be easily laundered, give smart lingerie note so appropriate for Spring. They are piped

Here it is to copy at just the cost of the fabric. In the 8-year size, 2 yards of 39-inch material with ½ yard of 35-inch plain blue crepe, 5-8 yard of 35-inch pique and 2¾ yards of ¾-inch ribbon for bias binding, is sufficient.

The bodice in basque effect is in two sections, merely to be joined at sides and shoulders. The circular skirt is in two sections and is seamed and attached to the bodice. It may be made with or without the applied band. Other fascinating materials suitable for this jaunty model are crepe, silk, plain or printed pique, linen, jersey, lightweight tweed, rayon crepe, shantung, wool challis, zephyr prints, and cotton broadcloth prints.

BAND CONCERT SUNDAY NIGHT

Peterborough Rangers Regimental Band Will Give Opening Concert of 1930 Program.

SEVERAL NEW MEMBERS

The Peterborough Rangers Regimental band under the baton of Lieut. Peryer, will occupy the bandstand in Victoria Park on Sunday evening next, when they will give the opening concert of their 1930 parks program.

This band, which has provided several evenings of real enjoyment in past years, is if anything above standard this year. During the past winter several new members have been added to the band, men who are chosen for their musical ability, and they will feature some of the latest music, which has gained popularity over radio and on the talking pictures.

The band has a membership of forty-two bandsmen this season and an outstanding feature of their performances this year will be a series of vocal numbers rendered by R. Fortune, formerly tenor-soloist of Radio stations CNRO, Ottawa, and CKAC, Montreal.

On Sunday night there will also be a cornet solo by Sergt. W. Stuart, formerly of the Middlesex Regiment, England and student of Kneller Hall School of Music, who will play the "Rosary" and the solo in the "Dervish Chorus."

Bandmaster Peryer and his associates are anxious to give the public the type of music they desire and would therefore, appreciate any suggestions and consider any request numbers sent in to the Armouries.

The program for next Sunday evening is as follows:

The Perfect Song, musical theme of the Pepsodent Hour, featuring Amos 'n' Andy.

Franz Lehars greatest waltz hit since "The Merry Widow," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Screen Operetta The Rogue Song.

Musical theme song of the Vagabond Lover, R.K.O. picture, If You Were the Only Girl. Featured by Rudy Vallee.

Musical theme from "Isle of Escape," "My Kalua Rose,"—Vitaphone Picture.

Musical theme of the Fleichmann Hour, "My Time is Your Time," featured by Rudy Vallee.

FASHION FANCIES

GREEK ART REVIVED IN CURRENT FASHIONS

The beauty of Greek art is one that has stood the test of time. Nowhere is this fact more evident than in our current fashions, for gowns of the latest mood and moment derive their inspiration from the art of the ancient Athenians. Many of the loveliest evening gowns created by Parisians couturiers this Spring are designed with the pleated, banded tunics, and full, clinging skirts made famous by Grecian ladies centuries ago.

One that brings visions of a Grecian beauty clothed in moonlight is that of soft, gray-blue flat crepe sketched above. Purity of line is achieved by the wide skirt, finely pleated, that touches the floor all around. One side of the draped surplice extends in a wing-like panel at the back and is held at the shoulder by a large brilliant pin.

Miss Aileen Morgan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Morgan, attended the graduates' ball at Hart House, University of Toronto, last night. The Toronto press said of the event: Light-hearted graduates forgot examinations and long hours of study last night when they revelled in the joys of the graduates' dance, a party anticipated eagerly throughout the undergraduate years. Hart House was thrown open for the occasion, and nearly 2,000 guests thronged the building. The scene throughout the evening had almost an old world air, for the pretty young coeds and their feminine friends had donned long skirted picturesque frocks of organdie, bouffant muslins and laces. Sir Robert Falconer and Lady Falconer greeted the guests, assisted by other members of the faculty. Dancing took place in the big gymnasium, but other orchestras were stationed in the east common room and in the reading room. The rooms were effectively decorated with palms and ferns and the colors of the university, blue and white and special lighting effects in the pool added interest. Supper was served in the great hall.

Another interesting feature is the shirring along the front panel and over the hips, which is particularly effective in this soft material. Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

"O welcome pure ey'd Faith, white-handed Hope, Thou hovering angel, girth with golden wings!"
—Milton.

• • • • • • •

The word "faith" is curiously used by the unthinking. The comment "I have no faith" is frequently made, and I am sure you have all heard that remark, at some time or another.

• • • • • • •

Sometimes it is used by adults who say it either with an air of defiance or with a touch of wistfulness. Most often, however, it is said by youths with a blatant attitude as if their ideas swayed the world, or with the desire to shock person or persons hearing their opinions.

• • • • • • •

As a matter of fact no person is lacking in faith whatever they may say. It is the ground work of modern life as well as of ancient civilization.

• • • • • • •

Of course you will find that persons who are so quick to declare their lack of faith are thinking of it in the terms of doctrinal theology, not in the every day routine of business and home life.

• • • • • • •

Faith has to be exercised in a great many things—or civilization crumbles.

• • • • • • •

Then we have the definition of faith where it means "the substance of things hoped for; the evidence of things unseen."

• • • • • • •

You have all had faith in certain things—you hoped they would come to pass and they probably did because you concentrated on them.

• • • • • • •

Every inventor has in his mind "things unseen" except by his faith in them. He proves his faith when "the substance of things hoped for" spring into existence through his exercise of that faith in developing what he mentally visualized.

• • • • • • •

If this were not so the marvelous engineering feats could never have been accomplished, the radio would never have been invented, nor the airplane. Faith is the fundamental necessity of progress.

• • • • • • •

Do you realize that business is built on faith? A firm has to have faith in those with whom it deals. Credit is founded on faith and business deals are made in faith.

• • • • • • •

Individuals who order from stores have faith they will be delivered, and pay before delivery on this principle. It is seldom that such faith, as herein expressed, fails.

• • • • • • •

Faith in people continues to uphold business!

• • • • • • •

Faith, too, is the foundation of successful home life. A husband, a wife and the children must have faith in one another or misery results. Lack of faith spells ruin. Faith in one another inspires each to live up to the high ideals with which he or she is invested.

• • • • • • •

Students go to school because they have faith in the knowledge of their instructors. If this faith were lacking, education would suffer.

• • • • • • •

Then we have patients who have faith in their doctors. No matter what their ailment is, they have faith that their doctor can cure them of it.

• • • • • • •

Nations have faith in the honesty or other nations or wars may result.

And so you could go on down the list and in every phase of life faith is evidenced. The wise person is firm in the faith because he or she has personally proved its value.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

IMPROVING THE ORDINARY DIET.

It is unfortunate that so often only a part of a man's speech or written article is used or quoted, with the result that he is credited with statements very far from what he intended.

Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins University is one of the world's outstanding food experts.

He has frequently stated that the trouble with the diet of most people to-day is that it is made up too largely from white bread, meats sugar and potatoes. He points out that the world to-day eats more cereal foods than our ancestors, that white flour has replaced whole wheat flour, that the use of sugar has increased from about 10 pounds per individual to about 100 pounds during the past 100 years, and that meat, mostly lean meat, forms a very large part of the average diet.

The point he makes is not that you shouldn't eat the above foods, because as a matter of fact, they are all good foods. Meat is a tissue builder, and nothing is quite as good in building up worn out body cells, and increasing the quantity and quality of the blood, sugar, bread, and potatoes are all starchy foods and therefore capable of giving the necessary heat and energy to the body.

And the two food stuffs that he would add to make a complete diet are milk and leafy vegetables.

The reason that the Orientals keep well, although they eat so much cereal food, is because they eat large quantities of leafy vegetables.

Now why are leafy vegetables, greens, of such value in the diet?

They contain vitamins which are the same as those found in fats, and are what might be termed a protection food, and also a food that enables other foods to give more of their food value to the system than they otherwise would.

Green vegetables can be likened to sunshine in their effects upon the body tissues, they stimulate circulation, and circulation is life.

The thought then to secure the ideal diet is not to do without white bread, meat, potatoes, and sugar, but to decrease the amount of these used, and to increase the leafy vegetables—lettuce, cabbage, spinach and so forth.

That is all Dr. McCollum had in mind.

140,000 MUSICIANS PLAN BIG CONFERENCE

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 6 (C.P.)—Representatives of 140,000 professional musicians of the United States and Canada, thousands of whom have been thrown out of work by the advent of sound pictures, will gather in Boston Monday to see what the future holds.

They will assemble at a convention of the American Federation of Musicians, whose president, Joseph N. Weber of New York, will outline to them the situation as he sees it.

Mr. Weber indicated to-day that his message would not be a particularly cheerful one.

"In all," he said, "not more than 400 musicians are being employed in the sound studios in Hollywood and New York, and many of them are working only part time.

Cognawagas and Crescents Battle to 4-all Count

BRIOUX CLAN GIVEN CLOSE CALL IN LAST HALF OF 9TH WHEN COGS SCORE 3 RUNS

Costly Errors on Part of Crescents Account For Last Inning Rally.

MASTERSON WILD IN SPOTS.

Hardill Put on Mound by Briux in Effort to Stem Turning Tide.

You never can tell about a ball game. That was proved once again yesterday evening at Exhibition Park in an E.P.L. fixture when the Cognawagas and Crescents played to a 4-4 tie.

All the surprises, all the kick of the whole game came in the final half of the final frame. With darkness murking the field and the Cogs coming to bat trailing 4 to 1 even the most rabid follower of the team with the Indian name was quite willing to concede the Brioux outfit the victory.

Then the break family took a big hand in the contest. Baker, first up, drew a walk, but Masterson struck out Vannest. Williams hit a grounder at Crary. Had the ball bounced it would have likely resulted in a double play and curtains, but it didn't. It sifted through Crary's legs, the batter reaching first easily and Baker going to third. Williams started to steal second and Collins whipped the ball down to that sack, but it went right through into centre field, Baker scored and Williams went to third. Billingsley singled into centre field, scoring Williams and Billingsley continued to second when Joe Jones' fumbled the ball. That made the count 4-3 and right then Manager Brioux sent Jeff Hardill to the mound in an effort to shake the jinx. The first ball Jeff whipped in hit the plate and bounced over the screen. Billingsley trotted to third. The next fling did the same and Billingsley walked in with the tying run.

Close Call For Crescents.

That ended the scoring but for a few moments it looked as though the Cogs were even going to cop the verdict. Hardill finished the two wild throws by walking the batter, Cuthbertson. In throwing to first in an attempt to pick the runner off, Collins threw wide and Cuthbertson went to second. Rooke struck out. Cuthbertson stole third. Corbett lifted a short fly over the infield near first, but Crary nabbed it, retiring the side and ending the game.

Outside of that the game was ordinary. Masterson spoiled really good pitching by being wild in spots, issuing five walks. He had ten strikeouts and allowed but three hits, one being of very scratchy nature. Vannest, opposing him on the mound, used a hook effectively during the first four innings. He piled up eleven strike outs, but was touched for eight hits one of them being a triple. He hit two batters.

Garner Early Lead.

The Crescents went out and got three runs in the second innings. After F. Jones had struck out Heard was hit by a pitched ball. Joe Jones hit a roller to short and both runners were safe, when Corbett chose to get Heard at second and failed. Hickey hit into deep right for three bases, scoring the runners. Masterson rolled out to second, but Hickey scored on the play. J. Lebarr walked and stole second, but Sweetman grounded to the pitcher.

In their half of the same innings the Cogs got one back. Corbett drew a walk as did Wilson. Cripps hit a slow one down third base line which Masterson was slow to field and all were safe. Corbett scored when Hickey missed Masterson's throw to first on Vannest's roller. Williams and Billingsley filed out.

In the fifth the Crescents secured their other counter. With one out, Sweetman singled into left field and made second when Wilson fumbled. Crary struck out, but Collins singled into right, scoring Sweetman. F. Jones struck out to end the session.

With the pitcher twirling nicely hits were sparse and it looked as though the Crescents would carry the day until that fateful seventh arrived.

CARNERA TOPPLES MEYER CHRISTNER

Giant Italian Knocks Out Akron Boxer in Fourth Round.

DETROIT, June 6. — Before 18,000 fans who paid $75,000 for the privilege of watching him perform, Primo Carnera, giant Italian, knocked out Meyer (K. O.) Christner of Akron, Ohio, in the fourth round of their ten-round bout here last night.

The fourth round had gone only one minute and twenty seconds when Carnera landed a terrific left hook to the point of the jaw and Christner went down and out. Carnera worked up to the grand finale most systematically after losing the first round by a wide margin on points.

He made plenty of play for that bad left eye of Christner's and at the close of the third round had it swelling. He sank in a brace of left jabs to start the fourth round, and the blood flowed so copiously that Christner could barely see. The finishing touch was merely a matter of course.

New York Sweeps Series

Hughey Critz, Former Red, Drives in Two Runs to Win the Game.

ROBINS WIN 6-5.

Browns Stage Ninth Inning Rally to Defeat Athletics 6-5.

(By Fullerton, Jr., Canadian Press Sports Writer.)

baseball players who have been find material for research in the mysterious something which makes baseball players who have been traded from one club to another do their best against their former mates. This phenomenon has been remarkably evident in this season's games and all the more noticeable because of numerous recent trades.

The New York Giants, now composed to a considerable extent of former Cincinnati players, displayed one great feat after another as they swept a three-game series with the Reds. Facing the perfect combination of having an ex-New York pitcher opposed to them, the Giants didn't do their best in this line as they won the final game yesterday, 7 to 4. But Hughey Critz, known as a light hitter before he came to New York, upheld the tradition by hitting a single and a home run and driving in two runs.

Glenn Wright, whom the Pittsburgh Pirates sent to Brooklyn in exchange for Jess Petty two seasons ago, returned to action against his old team yesterday, and was instrumental in giving the Robins a 6 to 5 victory.

Cubs Win From Braves.

The Chicago Cubs got along very well without the former Bostonians, Hornsby and Bell, as they wound up their series against the Braves with a 10 to 7 victory. It was the eighth in succession for the National League champions. Hack Wilson's 17th home run was the best of Chicago's eleven hits.

Philadelphia had homer No. 14 from the bat of Chuck Klein to aid in a 10 to 4 triumph over the slumping St. Louis Cardinals.

The St. Louis representative of the American League, the Browns, had better luck with a ninth inning rally, going into the ninth four runs behind the Philadelphia Athletics. They put on an uprising that called Jack Quinn into action as relief pitcher for the third successive day, scored five runs and won the game 6 to 5.

One Game Behind.

Detroit's Tigers started their scoring early to keep the Washington Senators a game behind the Athletics. They put over four runs off Sam Jones in the second inning and won by a 6 to 2 count. Cleveland, starting with nine runs in the first inning, scored early and late to beat the humble Boston Red Sox 17 to 7.

The one-sided triumph left the Indians only three games behind Washington and improved their lead by half a game over the New York Yankees, who were stopped in Chicago by a heavy rain after only two innings had been played and the score was tied at one-all.

C.G.E. DEFEATS BETHANY 5-2 TO WIN THIRD STRAIGHT GAME

Victory Puts Electrics in Top Place in East Peterborough Scramble.

INTERESTING TANGLE.

The C. G. E. Intermediates tucked away their third consecutve win last night when they journeyed to Bethany and handed Doc Hamilton's crew the small end of a 5-2 decision in an interesting duel. This win puts the "Electrics" on top of the ladder in the East Peterborough scramble as they have chalked up three victories in as many starts and are beginning to loom up as dangerous aspirants to the Ontario Championship crown.

Vinnie Utronki drew the pitching assignment and although his work on the mound was not indicative of his old self he was never really in much difficulty until the sixth innings when with a run in, two men on and none out he seemed to have put himself in a hole but warmed to the task and polished off three batters in a row to retire the side. The seventh innings saw two more batters flail the air for the triple count while the other was an easy out.

Homer For Beavis

Vern Beavis entered the hall of home run fame in this game when he met one of Ralph's offerings just in the right place and laced out a long drive that soared over the center fielders head and the park fence for a circuit clout, the ball landing a few feet short of the spot where Ryley, Bethany second sacker placed his home run a year ago.

Ralph on the mound for Bethany played a sterling game, fanning nine batters and was never in bad straits, his defeat being due entirely to the slipshod fielding of his team mates who made ten glarng errors and failed to play real heady ball. Starr, Ryley and Smith were the pick of the Bethany team, the latter securing two singles in two trips to the plate. Ralph is earning a soubriquet, the "iron man" due to his habit of working every ball, and maintaining the killing pace throughout the entire game.

The Game

C. G. E.—Kimmons, lead off man for the Electrics whiffed. Johnson walked. Rose hit to Ralph who threw out Johnson at second. Rose stole second. H. Hollingsworth struck out. Starr dropping the ball and catching the runner at first.

Bethany—Walton singled into right field. McGill's long fly was caught by L. Hollingsworth. Phelps' infield fly was nabbed by H. Hollingsworth. Walton stole second. Ryley popped to Utronki.

2nd Innings

C. G. E.—Beavis started the fireworks by hammering the ball over the center fielder's head and the fence for a home run. Dugan was safe when Walton missed his grounder and the runner eventually made third base on past balls. L. Hollingsworth was safe when Dawe took his grounder and instead of touching first threw high to the plate in an effort to get Dugan who scored, Hollingsworth making second. Hatton hit into center scoring L. Hollingsworth and went to second when McGill, made a wild throw to the plate from center field. Utronki and Kimmons struck out. Johnson was safe when Walton fumbled the grounder. Rose fanned.

3rd Inning

C.G.E.—H. Hollingsworth hit through second but was tagged when he over ran second base. Beavis fanned. Dugan fouled to Starr.

Bethany—Ralph was passed and stole second, but was nipped off by Utronki. Walton was out on a roller to Utronki and Rose bagged McGill's high fly.

4th Inning

C.G.E.—Len Hollingsworth was out, Ryley to Dawe. Hatton popped up to Ryley. Dawe failed to block Utronki's grounder and the batter was safe. Utronki stole second and went to third when Starr threw high to second. Jones batting for Kimmons was out, Murdock to Dawe.

Bethany—The side was retired in order, Philps on a grounder to Uatronki, Ryley filed to Beavis and Dawe was thrown out by Rose.

5th Inning

C.G.E.—Johnson was thrown out by Murdock. Rose fanned. Red Hollingsworth made first on a clean hit into center field. Beavis was safe when his hot grounder bounced out of Murdock's mitt. Dugan hit into left, scoring Hollingsworth. L. Hollingsworth was out, Ryley to Dawe.

6th Inning

C.G.E.—Hatton fanned. Utronki's hit into left was good for one base. Jones hit to Ryley who picked off Utronki at second. Murdock threw low to first, Jones going to second. Johnson filed to Smith.

Bethany—Ryley was safe when Dugan missed Jones' throw. Dawe singled sending Ryley to third and with nobody out and two men on Bethany got all set for a big innings. Dawe stole and Ryley scored when Hatton threw high to second. Smith walked and Dawe stole third but just at this period when things began to brighten up for Bethany, Utronki hit his stride and struck out Murdock, Starr and Ralph in a row.

7th Inning

C.G.E.—Rose popped to Ralph. H. Hollingsworth fanned. Beavis was safe when Smith dropped his fly into deep left. Dugan's grounder was fumbled by Murdock who also made a poor throw to first. Beavis scoring. L. Hollingsworth walked. Hatton was thrown out by Ralph.

Bethany—Walton fanned, McGill hit into center for one base and stole second. Philps struck out. Ryley hit into center, but all hopes of a Bethany win went glimmering when Ryley tried to steal second, before the ball reached the pitcher and was out easily.

ROYALS AGAIN DEFEAT LEAFS

Montreal Gets Sixteen Hits Off Barnes—Leafs Helpless Before Vanglider.

BISONS BEAT WINGS 17-9.

In an International league season in which hitting has predominated, the sheer slugging power packed in the bats of the league leading Baltimore Orioles, has been an outstanding feature of the campaign.

Yesterday the Orioles ran up the highest run and hit total of the year in trouncing Reading, 22 to 5 on 27 safe hits, good for 45 bases. The Orioles now have won six in a row and 13 of their last 14. In their last half dozen games they have pounded out 104 hits for 75 runs, an average of better than 17 hits and 12 runs a game.

Montreal, holding second place, two games back of Baltimore, kept pace with the Raiders by whipping Toronto, 6 to 1. The victory was the Royals' fourth in a row and their 13th out of the last 16. While Montreal was pounding Frank Barnes for 16 hits including three doubles and two triples, Elam Van Gilder, veteran right hander, was holding the Leafs to six scattered hits, two of them in the ninth after two were out.

Trip Up Red Wings

Buffalo's Bisons tripped up Rochester, 17 to 9, in another heavy hitting engagement. The Leafs collected 22 hits against 17 for the Red-Wings. The Red-Wings pounded Williams and J. Wilson hard but could do little with Leo Mangum. Heinie Muller hit Rochester pitching for four safeties in as many times at bat.

Jersey City nosed out Newark, 4 to 3, in a close battle decided in the ninth inning. In this frame, Clark Pittenger doubled and came home with the winning run on Grant Gillis' single to center. Bill Henderson relieved Allen on the mound for the Blackcats in the seventh and held Newark to two hits in the last three innings.

HEAVY SLUGGING FOR STOREMEN

Montgomery, Harrison Hurler, Connects With Homer With Two Men on in First.

SHIFT MOUNDSMEN.

A good display of batting by Harrison's squad and loose fielding and lack of co-operation on the part of their opponents the C. G. E., gave the former a 20-5 victory over the 'Generals' at Central School ground last evening; their first win so far this season.

Montgomery twirled a nice game for Harrisons and also did well at bat making a homer in the first inning with two men on bases. During the course of the game he also made a three base hit in the third but was caught out at the plate a few seconds later.

Playford at center field also showed good form earning four runs and making a fine drive to left field in the fourth. It was a good two-base hit and he completed the circuit of the bases on an overthrow.

Each of the teams made four runs in the first innings but the C. G. E. did not add anything to their quota until Miller made a nice two-base hit to center field in the fifth.

At this juncture the 'Generals' displaced Martin on the mound with Richmond who was replaced in the eighth innings by Calladine. Their experimenting and changing was of no avail, Harrisons putting up another 16 runs from the fourth innings to the end of the game.

The C. G. E. nine had an unlucky break in the second innings in the first frame. Bennett being caught out and leaving three men stranded on bases.

Lineup

Harrisons—Calladine, 2b; Playford, cf; Dobson, c; Vinette, lf; Montgomery, p; Smith, 1b; Wilshaw, 3b; Ted Lebarr, ss; Clarke, rf.

C. G. E.—Bennett, rf; Wilson, 2b; Ashmore, c; Calladine, ss,p; Miller, lf; Routley, cf; Griffin, 1b; O'Toole, 3b; Martin, p; Richmond, p.

SKIPS ELECTED BY NORWOOD BOWLERS

Officers For Coming Season Chosen at Annual Meeting of Association.

(From Norwood Register)

NORWOOD, June 6—The annual meeting of the members of the Norwood Lawn Bowling Association was held in the Council Chamber recently. There was a good turn out of old members and several new faces were to be seen.

The ladies decided not to form a separate branch for this year, and will co-operate with the gentlemen. If they have sufficient members another year they may organise a separate club.

The election of officers was then proceeded with and resulted as follows:—President, Dr. H. G. Carleton; 1st Vice-President, P. M. Grover; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. D. B. Cutcliffe; Secretary-Treasurer, D. B. Cutcliffe; Executive: Rev. R. F. Stillman, J. A. Finlay, Dr. N. F. Sutton, L. C. Gunstone. Grounds Committee: Dr. N. F. Sutton, chairman; Rev. R. F. Stillman, P. M. Grover, D. B. Cutcliffe. Games Committee: L. C. Gunstone, chairman; K. F. Kempt, R. A. Dean, C. P. Pearce. Membership Committee: Alex. Kempt and R. A. Dean.

A vote was then taken to elect skips for the present season, which resulted as follows: Rev. R. F. Stillman, Dr. N. F. Sutton, L. C. Gunstone, Hugh McDonald, Dr. H. G. Carleton and D. B. Cutcliffe.

The ladies decided to elect their skips at a later date. Quite a number have signified their intention of joining the club this year. The secretary would be glad to receive their names at the earliest possible date, in order that the rinks may be drawn up. The fees are, ladies $2.50; gentlemen $5.00.

The Trent Valley Bowling League which has been recently organized will operate under the Dominion Lawn Bowling Association rules, with some small additions, such as marking the greens, and allowing one "killed end." This rule should tend to keep down the number of "running shots."

Games are to consist of two rinks from each town and each rink to play ten end periods, visiting teams to retain the same greens and home rinks to change greens at the end of first period.

Miss Cecil Smith Opposes Mrs. E. Whittington For Championship.

OSHAWA, June 6.— Two Toronto golfers will battle it out on the Oshawa Golf and Country Club course to-day for the honors in the consolation series of the Ontario ladies' golf championships. They are Mrs. M. B. Vansant, Rosedale, and Mrs. H. Sedgewick, Cedarbrook. Both won their semi-final games yesterday by tidy scores, and a keenly contested match is anticipated to-day.

Glendale Club, Hamilton, having three representatives in the play-downs, Sarnia, Galt and Oshawa, are represented by one player each in the finals. Hamilton is sure of annexing the honors in the first and fourth flights, representatives of Glendale Club meeting players from the Hamilton City Club. UNCLE WIGGILY PULLS A CORK.

"This will be a good place for our nest," chirped Mrs. Wren to her bird husband as they perched in an apple tree back of a house that stood on the edge of the woods, not far from Uncle Wiggily's bungalow.

"Where, my dear?" sang Mr. Wren, he being a much better songster than was his wife. "Where do you see a good place for our nest?"

"This little round hole in the tree branch down below us," answered Mrs. Wren, cocking her head on one side and blinking her bright eyes. "The hole is just the right size. What do you think?"

Mr. Wren hopped down to the branch where his wife had spied the hole. The father bird looked at it from all sides and then popped into the hole itself.

"Oh!" whispered Mrs. Wren as she saw what her husband had done. "I hope it isn't such a big hole that he falls to the bottom and can't get out! You never can tell how far a hole goes in a tree branch."

But her worries were soon over for Mr. Wren popped out of the hole in a little while, and he sang a jolly song, after which he said:

"You are right, my dear. That will make a fine nest for us. It is lucky you saw that hole. It is just the right size." For you know wrens will only build their nests inside a box, or a hollowed tree branch, where the hole, or door, is not larger than a quarter, or twenty-five cent piece. Many birds like larger holes, or doors, to their houses, and some birds, like robins, build nests out in the open.

Uncle Wiggily pulled the cork out of the hollow tree branch.

But wrens, being, very small birds, only need a little door and another reason they pick out a house with a small opening is so that cats or bigger birds, like crows, who eat the eggs of other birds, cannot reach in through this little hole like a quarter in size.

Mr. and Mrs. Wren were soon very busy making their nest in the hollow tree back of the house where a man lived.

"I hope there are no cats in that house," said Mr. Wren one day when the furnishing of the nest, with its little round hole for a front door, was nearly finished. Cats might get our little birds."

"That would be too bad," said Mrs. Wren. "But I have seen no cat around that house. I have only seen an old man, with rather a cross, unhappy face. I'm sure he will not harm us."

"It is too bad he hasn't a happy face, and that he doesn't feel as jolly as we do," sang Mr. Wren, loudly chirping. "Well, now, my dear, you may start laying your eggs for the nest is finished."

So Mrs. Wren began laying eggs in the hollow branch of the old tree near the house where the man with the cross face lived. And Mr. Wren was so happy that he arose very early every morning and sang as loudly as he could while his wife was in the nest hatching the eggs.

Each morning, when Mr. Wren sang, the man with the sour face would come out of his back door and shout:

"Get away you noisy wrens! You make so much noise I can't sleep!"

But when Mr. Wren only chirped more loudly and happily and Mrs. Wren could tell, by little movements inside the eggs, that soon her little birds would hatch.

One day, when Mr. and Mrs. Wren left their eggs and nest along for a little while to get something to eat, the man with the sour face hurried out of his door. In his hand he had a cork.

"I'll stop those wrens from singing and waking me up every morning!" said the man. "I'll plug up their nest hole with this cork and they will have to go somewhere else and make their noise."

Into the hole, beneath which Mrs. Wren had laid her eggs, the man plugged the cork tightly. Then he went back in his house.

When Mr. and Mrs. Wren flew to their nest after eating, Mrs. Wren could hardly believe what she saw. "Look! Look!" she chirped.

"Oh, isn't that terrible!" sang her husband. "A cork in our front door so we can't get in! Oh, this is awful!"

"If I can't get in to warm my eggs our little birds will never hatch!" sighed Mrs. Wren. "Try and pull out the cork!"

Mr. Wren tried and Mrs. Wren tried, but the man had stuffed the cork in so tightly that the birds could not get it out. They did not know what to do until, all of a sudden, they saw Uncle Wiggily hopping along below them.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" cried Mr. Wren. "Will you please pull this cork out of our front door so my wife can hatch her eggs? Will you?"

"Of course I will!" said the jolly rabbit gentleman. He got his step ladder, when the sour faced man had gone to the store. With a corkscrew Uncle Wiggily pulled the cork out of the nest hole in the hollow tree branch and then Mrs. Wren could go in and warm her eggs. And Mr. Wren perched on the branch near by and sang louder than ever. And wasn't that sour faced man surprised when he came back? Yes, indeed!

When he found the cork had been pulled out he thought the wrens had done it and he made up his mind not to bother them any more. So he left them stay in his apple tree and, after a while, he grew to like their singing and his face was no longer sour.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

LARGE EGGS

Two eggs of phenomenal size and weighing four ounces each or twice the normal weight of a hen egg, were brought into The Examiner office this morning by Paul Maloney, a Douro farmer.

Mr. Maloney, who rears poultry on quite a large scale, having about 140 hens, said that the eggs were laid by two different hens—White Rocks.

One of the eggs has a measurement of eight inches around, from top to bottom with 6 3-16 inches around the widest part, while the other egg is slightly less with a measurement of 6½ inches around the widest part and 8 inches from top to bottom.

CAR WRECKED AT CHEMONG

A new arrival to this city—an organist who should have known his 'stops'—had the misfortune to have his car wrecked while viewing the delightful scenery in the vicinity of Chemong Lake at 4.30 yesterday afternoon.

The sedan car which contained a party of people who had just alighted at the top of a hill, started to run away backwards and narrowly missed plunging into Chemong Lake. A tree into which it careened, prevented it's immersion and incidentally was responsible for wrecking the body. The right side of the car is ripped out, the rear window broken, while the running board and fender on the left hand side is badly buckled as also is the front axle which was bereft of the left wheel.

The wreck was towed into the Duffus' garage and it was found necessary to back the service truck against a tree in order for the windlass to take the full strain without pulling the truck down the steep incline.

ROOF CATCHES FIRE

Damage which will probably amount to $25-$30 was caused to the roof of 503 Rubidge street yesterday afternoon by fire, which is believed to have originated from sparks blown from a nearby factory.

Receiving the call at 4.22 p.m. the Peterborough Fire Brigade responded with one truck and a second call brought out all equipment. One line of hose was laid and the firemen under Fire Chief Gimblett covered the furniture in the house with tarpaulins to prevent damage by water. After a sharp battle lasting about fifteen minutes the trouble was under control. Shingles covering an area of about 10 square feet on the south end of the roof were burned off.

380 POLICE RAID INDIAN CONGRESS

Six Members of Congress Are Placed Under Arrest.

BULLETIN SEIZED.

BOMBAY, June 6. (C.P.)—Three hundred policemen, armed with lathis or staves, and fifty armed police under the command of thirty European police with revolvers today surrounded the headquarters of the All-India National Congress here and raided the premises. It was the third police raid since launching of the civil disobedience campaign.

Six members of the Bombay Congress Committee's War Council were arrested, including President Joshi. The police conducted a thorough search of the premises as well as of the Jinnah public hall which adjoined the congress headquarters.

Police seized copies of the Congress Bulletin which was still being published in contravention to a recent prohibitory order. Some other documents also were seized.

Picketing Shops.

BOMBAY, June 6.—(C.P.)—Picketing of European shops in the fort of foreign quarter of the city began today in accordance with the decision of the Bombay "War Council" of the All-Indian National Congress.

Two volunteers, dressed in khaki shorts and wearing Gandhi caps, took their position in front of each of twelve European shops and urged Indians not to enter, and not to buy anything. Europeans were not molested.

A humorous touch was added to the proceedings by the European firm of outfitters which provided stools on which the Nationalist volunteers might sit.

Raid On Salt Depots.

BOMBAY, India, June 6.—(C.P.)—Advices from Dharasana state that 167 volunteers from various parts of the country attempted another raid on the salt depots there to-day.

When the raiders reached the prohibited area, the police halted them, whereupon the volunteers sat down in the road. They warned them to disperse and some left, but one leader tried to advance and was knocked down.

A general charge followed by the police resulting in the withdrawal of more volunteers. The remainder persisted in sitting in the road and were then bodily removed. The incident lasted about a quarter of an hour.

STOCKS NOT SOLD BUT TAX IS PAID

Solloway and Mills Trial Enters its Fourth Day in Calgary Court.

DISCUSS McLEOD STOCK.

CALGARY, Alta., June 6. (C.P.)—Trial of Isaac W. C. Solloway and Harvey M. Mills, heads of the Canadian brokerage firm of Solloway, Mills and Company, Limited, entered its fourth day to-day. Kenneth Morrison, chartered accountant, resumed the stand for further examination by A. McLeod Sinclair, K.C., counsel for the Crown.

The brockerage executives are charged with conspiracy and fraud.

Witness testified that McLeod stock bore notations that excise tax had been paid, on the transactions, despite the fact that the stock had apparently not been purchased on the exchange. Referring to records of McLeod Stock in the company's office in Toronto, for May 1, 1928, Mr. Morrison tstified that a discrepancy between sales and confirmations existed on that day.

Witness testified, regarding confirmations from the Calgary office on the day in question, that clients had been charged brokerage on the price of the stock.

Justice Raney: "Perhaps if he were here now he would be still more incapable". Asked if he still ignored the similarities, witness said he did not need to get the hypothesis of plagiarism to account of that; "take the case of Columbus—Wells could get all he wrote from the Encyclopaedia Britannica without seeing "The Web". Yes, there are verbal similarith, and that's what I've told you about twelve times, but without sinister significance."

CHURCH QUESTION STIRS ASSEMBLY

Presbyterian Assembly Hotly Debates Subject of Inter-Church Co-operation.

REACH NO AGREEMENT.

HAMILTON, Ont. June 6. — Excitement stirred the meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly here yesterday when Rev. Dr. Andrew Grant, secretary of the General Board of Missions, raised the question of co-operation with the United Church. Dr. Grant told the commissioners he had received a letter from the secretary of the United Church Board suggesting a conference on Mission work. The question has been hotly debated by the members of the Presbyterian Board, he said, and as no agreement could be reached, it was referred to the highest court of the church.

Rev. Dr. T. Wardlaw Taylor suggested that the matter be referred to a special committee, but he was over ruled by shouts of "no" from all quarters of the assembly.

BRITISH AVIATOR HOPS OFF SUNDAY TO FLY ATLANTIC

If Weather Favorable Captain Kingsford-Smith Starts To-Morrow.

EVERYTHING READY.

"Do Or Die Dash" States Southern Cross Hero.

DUBLIN, June 7 (C.P.)—Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith hopes to take off on his attempted trans-Atlantic flight tomorrow, Sunday morning, at 2 o'clock, if weather reports at that hour are favorable, he announced to-day.

"All depends upon the weather," Captain Kingsford-Smith said, in making known his purpose.

"If there is a sporting chance of early reports showing prospects of improvement in the weather the start will be made. Waiting is bad for the nerves. My men share my view that a quick get-away is the thing.

"This is to be a do-or-die dash. Everything is perfect in the machine. We are anxious to be off."

All Optimistic

All four members of the Australian aviator's crew were cheerful and optimistic. They refused to even contemplate the possibility of failure.

The route will be straight across Ireland to Galway, where farewell will be taken to the Irish coast.

The "Southern Cross" is equipped with a strong radio and will flash frequent messages to the world on its progress.

According to Captain Kingsford-Smith's plan to take off to-morrow at 2 a.m. (9 p.m. E.S.T.) to-night, the Southern Cross will be far out upon its journey westward over the Atlantic Ocean by daybreak. There has been but one westward flight that approximated success, that of the German craft Bremen, in April, 1928. (The plane now adorns a balcony in Grand Central Station, New York City, in whose flight an Irishman, Colonel James G. Fitzmaurice, of the Irish Free State, was a distinguished figure. He flew as a pilot with Baron Von Huenefeld and Captain Herman Koehl. They took off on April 12, 1928, from the Baldonnel Airdrome).

It became evident on Monday that the flight attempt would be made earlier than previously planned. The plane was fully equipped when it left Croydon. The flying field at Curragh to-day was in perfect condition. There was no reason for a long delay at Curragh, as the field has none of the ordinary airdrome facilities.

Four in Party.

Captain Kingsford-Smith will have as his navigator an Irishman, Captain J. P. Saul, a sea captain who has crossed the Atlantic under sail and also has served as an observer in the British Air Force in the Great War. J. W. Stannage will be the plane's wireless operator, and M. E. Van Dyk will be assistant pilot.

Captain Kingsford-Smith, with three companions, flew the "Southern Cross" over the Pacific Ocean from California to Australia in 1928.

SCIENCE ASSISTS FEDERAL AGENTS

Bootlegger's Radio Station For Communicating With Ships Located.

SOUND VOLUME BASIS.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 7 (Canadian Press). — A bloodhound of science to-day was given credit by Federal agents for the discovery of an unlicensed radio station believed used by bootleggers to communicate with ships at sea.

Search for the illegal station was started four weeks ago when Undell Patten, a coastguardsman, picked up strange signals while listening in on the station radio set. Discovery of the station's location seemed an almost hopeless task, but yesterday Federal agents raided an apparently vacant house in Brooklyn and found the station that science said would be there.

The device used was a direction finder, a small set with a loop antennae, a number of which had been set up in various parts of the city. Calculations were made on the basis of sound volume. After experimenting for several weeks, lines drawn on a map of Brooklyn and based on the sound volume crossed in front of 1759 Troy Avenue. The house was raided and the set found. Two men were arrested.

SHRINERS THRONG INTO QUEEN CITY FOR BIG SESSIONS

Delegations From All Parts Of North America Begin Arriving.

GREATEST CONVENTION.

50,000 In Toronto Before To-night And 200,000 By Tuesday.

TORONTO, Ont., June 7. —(CP).—Parades and street demonstrations of local shriners, receptions to incoming delegations from all parts of North America and other extraordinary activities in many directions, to-day signalized the unofficial opening of the celebrations attending the annual session of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

Leo V. Youngworth, of Los Angeles, California, Imperial Potentate of the Order will not reach Toronto till Sunday morning. He comes by special train across Canada and his arrival will give an official start to the demonstrations. Meanwhile the members of the Order, with their families and friends, are arriving in Toronto, by aeroplane, train and motor, by thousands every hour. It is estimated the population of Tronto will be increased by 50,000 before to-night, and by Tuesday next there will be at least 200,000 shrine visitors in and about the city. It is the greatest fraternal convention in the history of Canada.

Hotels are already filled to overflowing—or fully reserved for days to come. "Fez City" and "Temple Park", temporary cities of pullman cars have been opened by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, respectively.

Steamships are anchored in the lake as temporary hotels. Thousands of homes have been opened up to billet guests and the motor camps enlarged to accommodate the tourists on wheels.

The local Temple of the Order Rameses will do the reception honors to-day. There will be a parade through the downtown streets prior to the ceremonial and initiation ceremonies at "Oriental Park" this afternoon. To-night there will be a further inaugural program with the Shrine circus and vaudeville, concluding with fireworks. The Exhibition Grounds and its buildings have been turned over for the big convention.

The Imperial Potentate Youngworth on his arrival to-morrow morning will be met by a large delegation of local and visiting Shriners and escorted to his hotel. The choirs and musical organizations of the various temples will take part in many of the church services of the city and in the afternoon there will be a mass divine service and band concert at the exhibition grounds.

Special trains bringing Shriners from distant points will arrive almost hourly throughout Sunday.

A varied programme has been arranged for Monday and the official opening of the Imperial Council of the order is set for Tuesday.

THREE CHARGES AGAINST DRIVER

Walter Uglow of Toronto Granted Remand When He Appears In Cobourg Court.

COLLIDED WITH BUGGY.

COBOURG, June 7 (Special to The Examiner).—The vigilance of Traffic Officer Edward Hornick and Provincial Police Constable William Carey of Cobourg was responsible for the appearance in Police Court on Friday morning of Walter Uglow of Toronto, who was remanded in custody till next Thursday on three charges, namely, driving under the influence of liquor, leaving the scene of an accident and stealing a car.

It is alleged that the prisoner was driving in the direction of Peterborough on the afternoon of Thursday, June 5th, and when at Dales' Corner on the Peterborough-Port Hope highway he collided with a buggy.

GOVERNOR OF TASMANIA MAY BE FORMER LONDON THEATRE MANAGER

Appointment of Robert S. Young Expected Within a Few Days.

NOW DEPUTY SPEAKER.

LONDON, June 7.—(C.P.)—A former theatrical manager may soon become Governor of Tasmania. It is stated in political circles on good authority that Robert S. Young, Labor member of parliament for Islington North and deputy speaker of the House of Commons, will likely to be appointed to the governorship.

Mr. Young joined Sir Frank Benson's company on the stage soon after the war. He was the late Arthur Bourchier's manager at the Strand theater.

Minister Deputy Speaker

Political report gives the deputy speakership which Mr. Young will vacate to the Rev. Herbert Dunnico, Labor member for the Corsett, division of Durham. Mr. Dunnico is now deputy chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and will probably be succeeded in his turn in this position by Harry Snell, Labor member for Woolwich.

POLICY OF 1878 KEY TO PROGRESS SAYS CHIEFTAIN

Tribute is Paid to Memory of Canada's First Premier, Sir John A. Macdonald.

FERGUSON SPEAKS.

Appeals to Young Canadians to Devote Themselves to Service of Canada.

TORONTO, Ont., June 7 (C.P.) — Standing at the foot of the monument to Sir John A. MacDonald in front of the Provincial Parliament Buildings last night the present-day leader of the Conservative Party, Hon. R. B. Bennett, paid tribute to the "Old Chief," and declared it was his highest ambition to model his political career on that of the first Premier of Canada and carry into effect the policies formulated by him which still provided the only means of ensuring the progress and development of Canada. The Conservative Premier of Ontario, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, joined with Mr. Bennett in revering the memory of Sir John.

Eulogy of Departed

The occasion was the annual ceremony of laying wreaths on the statue in which Toronto Conservatives participate on the anniversary of Sir John's death. Mr. Bennett's speech was an eulogy of the departed statesman and an appeal to his audience, particularly the young men to draw inspiration from his life and devote themselves to the service of Canada.

Premier Ferguson referred to the speech made in Toronto Thursday night by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, and said he could not agree with the idea that unlimited trade with other countries was a good thing. It was true Canada had to trade with other nations if the country was to develop, but that policy had to be pursued keeping in mind the most important thing, the development of internal trade and the building up of a home market.

NO PAVING THIS YEAR IN VICTORIA COUNTY.

Good Roads Board By a Majority of One Refuses Paving.

LINDSAY, Ont., June 7 (C.P.).—The Victoria County Council has found it necessary to increase the mill rate by one mill for this year, largely because of old age pensions and highway charges due the Province. The Council was requested by large deputations to pave some 21 miles of road, and a deadlock lasting two days in the Good Roads Board resulted over it. The Board refused to consider the paving by a majority of one, and an attempt was made to re-open it. There will be no paving this year, however. The road levy will be the same as last year.

TROUT STATION BEING PLANNED AT CODRINGTON

Department Plans to Establish Five Rearing Stations in Province.

ONE AT PEMBROKE.

Fish Will Be Brought to Fingerling and Yearling Stage Before Distribution.

TORONTO, Ont., June 7. (C.P.)—Five rearing stations for the propagation of speckled trout will be constructed at strategic points in Ontario at a total cost of $150,000. it has been announced by the Department of Game and Fisheries.

The first of these stations will be erected at a point ten miles north of Pembroke. The government has purchased 140 acres of land at this point, which forms the base of a number of large springs. Other stations will be established at Codrington, North Bay, Sault Ste. Marie and at the head of the lakes near Fort William.

The trout will be brought up to the fingerling and yearling stage before being distributed in the rivers and lakes of the province.

When completed these stations will compare favorably with the finest fish stations on the North American continent, it is declared.

Codrington is in Northumberland county about twelve miles south of Campbellford.

London Guessing

LONDON, June 7 (C.P.)—The official London Gazette publishes an almost unprecedented notice which has all London guessing. It reads as follows:—

"Lord Chamberlain's Office,
St. James' Palace,

"Notice is hereby given that the presentation of Mrs. Christopher Courtney at His Majesty's Court on May 14 has been cancelled."

Nothing similar had happened in many years as far as could be recalled.

Just who Mrs. Courtney is or the reasons for the cancellation of her presentation could not be learned.

COMPANY AT FAULT RICKENBACKER SAYS.

Permission Was Never Sought for American Aviator to Enter Canada Due to Oversight

NEW YORK, June 7. (C.P.) — Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, vice-president of the Fokker Aircraft Company, to-day said that the infraction of international rules which caused its chief pilot to be ordered from Canada was due to oversight on the part of the company.

The company should have given notice and received permission for the entry of William De Wald and the plane, which apparently was not done, he said.

Captain Richenbacker said he was sorry the matter had turned out as it had, but that the incident was closed so far as he was concerned. He was out of town at the time the plane took off.

South Africa's maize crop this year will total 4,600,000 pounds, breaking all previous records.

An Early Bird

"The early bird gets the early worm," so one of the Salvation Army taggers found this morning when she appeared for duty at the corner of George and Hunter streets at 5.30 sharp. A busy newspaper man rushing to his work at 6.00 o'clock was one of the first tagged. "My, this is a dead city at seven o'clock," the lady said to him, for the C.G.E. whistle was just blowing six. She was greatly surprised to be informed that it was just six o'clock. However, she stuck to her job and made a clean-up on all the early risers.

PROCLAIM CAROL KING OF RUMANIA

Paris Reports Say Former Crown Prince Is Already Proclaimed King.

RETURNED YESTERDAY

PARIS, June 7.—(C.P.)—Unofficial reports were received in Paris today that former Crown Prince Carol has been proclaimed king of Rumania by the Rumanian assembly.

His father, King Ferdinand I, died in 1927, and although Carol was said to have wished to return to Rumania opposing political elements at home prevented his doing so and Michael was crowned king. Some months afterward Princess Helina who, with her son's accession became known as a Princess of Rumania, obtained a divorce from him.

The proclaiming of the former Crown Prince Carol as King of Rumania will erase from the list of European Kings its youngest member, little King Michael, who ascended the throne on July 20, 1927, when he was not quite six years old.

Board of Regents Ruled

King Michael, or "Mickey" as he was known by his young friends in the days before he became a king, was not to have actually ruled Rumania until he became of age. A board of regency, one member of which was his uncle, Prince Nicholas, acted in his stead and he only made his appearance as King on formal occasions.

He was the hero of many childish exploits, having to do with sports and his love of outdoor life.

Reports Denied

Official circles later said it had no confirmation of the report that Carol already had been proclaimed king. A spokesman said he believed the report was premature—premature because there was not sufficient time to assemble parliament to to secure the abrogation of the decree instituting the regency.

Bertram Fairbairn Of Water St. North Drowning Victim

Six Year Old Son Of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fairbairn Lost His Life In Haliburton While Fishing On the Banks of The Drag River Early Last Evening.

COMPANIONS MAKE HEROIC EFFORTS TO SAVE BOY WHO IS BELIEVED TO HAVE SLIPPED OFF LOG

Family Had Been Spending a Week's Vacation in the North And Father and Mother Were Away at the Time of the Sad Fatality. Body Is Brought to the City.

HALIBURTON, June 7 (By Staff Reporter). — The first drowning fatality in the district this season claimed the life of Bertram Fairbairn, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fairbairn, of Water Street North, Peterborough, last evening.

The distressing occurrence is the sad termination of a week's holiday which the boy was spending in the north country with his parents and two elder brothers Roy and Clare.

Leaving Peterborough last Sunday, the week had been spent by the family in fishing and picnic excursions. Bertram had gone out last evening shortly before eight o'clock, to fish for minnows from the banks of the Drag River. He was in the company of about fifteen other small boys between the ages of six and ten years. The spot from which the boys were fishing is an old wall built of stone slabs with a quantity of sawdust from an old sawmill at the rear of the wall. It is presumed that the stones were slippery, causing the boy to slip into about seven feet of water.

Heroic Efforts.

Bob Yarnold, of Haliburton, a fourteen-year-old boy, who had been swimming, and who still had his bathing suit on, was 100 yards away from the scene at the time of the sad occurrence, and at once dived into the water in an effort to recover the body. Despite repeated diving, he was unsuccessful, as also were the several other men and boys who made frantic and praiseworthy efforts to locate the body, which was brought from the water thirty minutes afterwards.

Mother in the Village.

Mrs. Fairbairn, who was in the village at the time, was overcome with grief on receiving the distressing news of the death of her youngest son, and telephone messages were at once sent to the mill at Eagle Lake, at which place Mr. Fairbairn in company with Arnold Roberts of Haliburton

OPPOSITION WILL FORCE FURTHER LABOR DEBATES

Prime Minister Must Explain Efforts To Relieve Unemployment.

AGRICULTURAL CURES.

Baldwin Will Deal With Farmers Problems And Imports.

LONDON, June 7 (C.P. Cable). — The troublous problem of unemployment will again come before the House of Commons on Tuesday, June 17, when the Conservatives will initiate another debate. An opportunity will thus be provided for the Prime Minister to indicate in some degree the nature of the Government's new and intensified effort on behalf of the workless.

Next Monday—Whitsuntide Monday—the Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative Leader, will have a 'busman's holiday.' He will speak at Ipswich and will outline the agricultural policy of the official opposition. It is anticipated that he will deal closely with the question of guaranteed wheat prices for the farmer. Mr. Baldwin and his colleagues have done much preparatory research work on this question and they have to consider the milling interests as well as the representatives of agriculture.

Help Agriculture

Mr. Baldwin will deal with the question of barley imported, mainly from France, and with German oats—both cereals allegedly being bounty-fed by the respective governments. The Conservative leader will also indicate other directions in which the Conservatives propose to help agriculture when they are returned to power. It is understood that he will renew his promise that, given the opportunity, he will ensure that the British fighting forces are fed on home-raised meat and bread.

Mr. Baldwin will be at Inverness on Thursday. His mother was a MacDonald and he will receive the freedom of Inverness on the same day as the honor will be accorded to the Prime Minister, the Right Hon. James Ramsay MacDonald. The Right Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal Leader, will be with his Carnarvon constituents next week and will celebrate with them his 40 years in Parliament.

DEPARTMENT TO EXHUME BODY OF FIRST WIFE.

Officers Suspect First Wife of Mayor Charles Shephard Was Victim of Poisoning

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 7.—(C.P.)—Continuing a several months investigation, Department of Justice agents today sought exhumation of the body of the first wife of Major Charles A. Shepard, army medical officer formerly of Belleville, Ont., held at Topeka, Kas., or the murder of his second wife.

Coroner Frank Nance said he was awaiting receipt of a formal request from the Department of Justice before ordering the disinterment. Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Shepard, the first wife, was buried in an Englewood, Cal., cemetery 17 years ago.

R. J. Caffrey, a justice agent, said the department wished to have the body analyzed for poison. Major Shepard is alleged to have poisoned his second wife, Mrs. Zenna Shepard at Fort Riley.

BRITISH AIRMEN SUBDUE TRIBES

Eighty Planes Drop 5,000 Bombs Upon Wild Afridis.

FORCE WITHDRAWAL.

PESHAWAR, June 7 —(AP).—British air operations against Afridi tribesmen, who had advanced from the frontier to within a few miles of town, apparently have been successful.

Troops made a careful search today through the area south of Peshawar and discovered that the entire body of tribesmen had withdrawn from the district.

Isolated parties retreating across the Khajuri plains were heavily bombed from the air.

Eighty planes have dropped 5,000 bombs since beginning of the activities to subdue frontier tribesmen.

The raiders are believed to have sustained many casualties during the British drives through the villages of Mohmand and Khalil.

Macdonald Forced To Abandon Plane

LOSSIEMOUTH, Scotland June 7—(A.P.)—Premier Macdonald arrived at his home here today by motor after a stormy trip from London which finally forced him to abandon his plane and take to the open road.

The plane was signalled down at Leuchards airdrome because of bad weather reports. Mr. Macdonald waited four hours for an improvement before continuing by motor.

When he reached his residence, the Halocks, his daughter Miss Ishbel was anxiously awaiting him. "Yes I had quite a few adventures", he said of his trip.

DESPITE ARRESTS CAMPAIGN CHIEFS ARE UNDETERRED

Former Leaders Jailed Nationalists Elect New "War Council."

STRENGTHEN PICKETING.

Troops Charged With Mutiny Reaffirm Loyalty to the King.

BOMBAY, India, June 7 (C.P.) — Undeterred by arrest of their leaders in the Government's raid on the Nationalist Congress headquarters, Bombay civil disobedience leaders today strengthened and made effective their picketing in European shops in the Forto area.

During the night the Setyagrahis, as the Nationalists are called, met to elect from their number a new "war council" or executive, to direct and manage the campaign against the British Government.

Yesterday's raid by Indian and European police against the All-India National Congress headquarters seems to have resulted in arrest of every hitherto unimprisoned member of the war council except the only woman member, Mrs. Perin Captain.

She appealed to police to arrest her too, but they smilingly refused. She seemed disappointed at their refusal.

Lead Unwittingly

BOMBAY, India, June 7.—(A.P.)—Members of the Garhwal Rifles on trial here on charges of refusal to obey orders during the recent Peshawar riots threw themselves on the mercy of the court today.

Admitting their guilt they charged that they had been led unwittingly into the appearance of disobedence by Subedar Jaising, commander of No. 4 platoon.

They explained that Jaising was punished after a report to the commanding officer and thereupon wished to show his influence over the battalion and so ordered the men to disobey and hand in resignations.

The defense said "For his own ends and by foul means Jaising created a situation which trapped us into an unwitting appearance of disloyalty. We reaffirm our loyalty to the King Emperor.

"Caught in a whirlpool of vicious circumstances we have been dragged into the uttermost depths of degradation. We had no intention of mutiny and we throw ourselves on the mercy of the court".

Prisoners Identified

LONDON, June 7. (C.P.)—A Bombay dispatch to the Daily Herald today said that Chandra, son of one of those arrested after the recent raid against the police arsenal at Chittagon, had turned State's evidence and identified eight of the prisoners as having participated in the raid. Thirty other prisoners consequently were released.

ARCTIC CAPTAIN MISSING FOUL PLAY SUGGESTED

Left His Ship with $500 to Make Purchases Near the Dock

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 7 (C.P.) —Fears are entertained that Capt. W. H. Gillen, 58, well known Arctic shipmaster, may have met with a fatal accident or foul play. Capt. Gillen, who is master of the Hudson Bay Company's auxiliary schooner Old Maid No. 2, has been missing since Tuesday when he left his ship to make a purchase at a store near the dock. Two workers informed police that they saw a man who might have been Captain Gillen walking toward the Old Maid some time later.

It is feared that in returning to his ship Captain Gillen had tripped and been thrown into Burrard Inlet.

He had five hundred dollars cash on him and this led to the theory of possible foul play.

EXILED PRINCE RETURNS HOME, COUNTRY UPSET

Prince Carol After an Absence of Five Years Returns to Rumania.

MAY BECOME REGENT.

Populace and Army Receive Word of Prince's Arrival With Enthusiasm.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 7.—(C.P.)—Dashing Prince Carol, whose amours have disturbed this country's politics for ten years, returned to Bucharest by airplane last night after five years' absence. Today he was the central figure in a situation which may portend sensational developments in Rumania.

He left behind him in Paris his red-haired companion of several years, Mme. Magda Lupescu, for love of whom in 1925, he signed away his rights to the throne and established the succession which led two years later to crowning of his infant son, Michael, in his stead.

In Uniform of a General

He came back home attired in the uniform of a Rumanian general, although bearing the name given him by parliament after his renunciation of the throne, Carol Caraiman. Friends met him at Cotroceni airdrome and went with him to the royal palace where he talked with his brother, Nicholas, whom he is expected to replace on the regency council.

Later he was received by the Minister of Interior and Premier Juliu Maniu, who immediately convoked an all night session of the cabinet to determine what place the 36-year-old prince-father could take in the government under the Rumanian constitution.

The cabinet met again early this morning, and adjourned so that M. Maniu could attend a meeting of the regency council. Shortly afterward the premier announced that he would await a royal proclamation of Carol's return and then would resign. It was believed he would be asked to form a new government of concentration of all the parties.

Populace Pleased

The populace and the army received word of the errant prince's arrival with enthusiasm.

It was believed here that Queen Marie, his mother while cognizant of his intention to return, left here yesterday for Oberammergau, ostensibly to see the passion play, knew nothing of his daring coup.

Prince Carol's return was the result of negotiations with friends and emissaries of the peasant party government covering months. When recently he promised to forego the pleasure of Mme. Lupescu's company the Liberal opposition, which when in power was chiefly responsible for his being declaimed at hime, awoke anew to its dislike of him and fought bitterly to prevent his return.

Britain's Markets Open When World's Were Closed

LONDON, June 7 (C.P.)—"Britain opened its markets to us when the rest of the world closed them, and it has taken a good deal of censure in an extremely good humored way because it would not do more," said John W. Dafoe, editor of The Manitoba Free Press, Winnipeg, in speaking at a banquet given by the Royal Empire Society last night in honor of the visiting delegates to the Imperial Press Conference.

"It is for you," continued Mr. Dafoe, "to decide your own policy in your own interests. Whatever your decision may be, I think Canada will accept it and to co-operate."

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO STOPS FIRST YEAR PASS ARTS COURSE

New General Course Leading to Honor Degree May Be Established.

IMPORTANT CHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., June 7 (Canadian Press). — Abolition of the teaching of first year of the pass course of Arts and the establishment, possibly in 1931 of a new general course leading to an honor degree was announced last night by Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto.

Speaking at a re-union of University College graduates in Hart House Sir Robert said the rapidly increasing attendance which is causing a strain on staff and equipment and the fact that the work of the first year pass can be and is being done in the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes of the province were the main factors in the decision. It was made by the Faculty of Arts, and has been accepted by the Senate and Board of Governors and now lacks only the endorsation of the Department of Education.

The president described the development as one of the most important academic changes of recent years and, was the direct result of consideration and study of new educational tendencies during the winter just past, although some change had been considered for two or three years.

Canon H. J. Cody, chairman of the Board of Governors of the University, said the change was being made in an effort to meet a new educational development in a healthy direction throughout the whole province. He said the trend of educational methods to-day was to stress what is strictly speaking university work in the University.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER YET REMAINS UNSOLVED

Inquest Jury Hears Evidence, but Verdict is "Open"

WINNIPEG, Man., June 7 (C.P.)—Murder of 50-year-old Wsyl Beran, a Ukrainian machinist, shot to death in his north end home a little more than a week ago, still remained a mystery following the coroner's inquest here last night.

After the widow, Mrs. Barn Baran, 39, who is held as a material witness, and many other witnesses had testified, the coroner's jury returned an "open" verdict.

Calmly, Mrs. Baran told of events on the night of the murder. She had attended a church meeting, and, on returning home, shortly before midnight, had found the body of her husband. Other witnesses corroborated her evidence.

COBOURG MAN IS INJURED

War Veteran Struck By Truck When He Attempts to Cross Street.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL.

OSHAWA, June 7.—William Floods, Cobourg, is lying in the Oshawa Hospital with a broken collar-bone and other injuries as a result of a motor accident in Whitby yesterday. The injured man was unable to give his name, and remained unidentified until to-day.

Floods, a returned man of about 60 years of age, was apparently walking east on Dundas Street in Whitby. He stepped off the sidewalk to cross the street. When he reached the centre of the street, he paused. A truck owned by the Ontario Motor Sales, of Oshawa, and driven by Victor Johnston, of Whitby, was approaching from the east.

Johnston states that he saw the man stop in the middle of the street and swerved to avoid him. Floods seems to have dodged the wrong way and stepped directly in front of the truck. He was dragged between 20 and 30 feet before the vehicle could be stopped.

He was picked up by Gordon Leslie, proprietor of the Bond Brothers gas station, in front of which the accident occurred. He was taken to Dr. R. G. MacLaren of Whitby, who sent him to Oshawa in an ambulance.

TWO AIRMEN ARE MISSING IN NORTH

Flyers Left Base on Regular Bush Fire Patrol Last Tuesday.

THREE HURT IN CRASH.

TORONTO, Ont., June 7. (C.P.)—Planes of the Ontario Government air service were engaged in an all-day hunt yesterday for Pilot Carl Crossley and Observer Gordon, who have been missing from their operating base, Bisco, ever since last Tuesday, when they took off for Chapleau on a regular bush-fire patrol over the Elsas district.

Belief was expressed last night by Captain W. Roy Maxwell, director of the service, that Crossley and Gordon were forced to land their Moth machine on one of the out-of-the way waters with which the Chapleau-Bisco district abounds.

George Phillips, district superintendent of flying, was, according to latest advices, last evening, enroute from the Sault base to Chapleau to take charge of the hunt.

Meagre details were also received yesterday of a mishap to a big government supression plane at Goose Island in which Pilot William Lyons, son of Hon. James Lyons of the Sault, and service members Trussler and Faites are reported to have sustained minor injuries.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

ONE of the greatest privileges of my life has been to have known D. M. Stearns, minister of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Germantown, Philadelphia. A few years ago he passed within the vail, but the influence of his life and testimony continues to inspire a great company of believing souls. What God was able to do through him for missions will never be properly estimated on this side of eternity. During a period of 31 years there passed through his hands for missionary work at home and abroad, the sum of $1,133,415.24. His own congregation of about 200 members—by no means wealthy—averaged for many years $10,000 per year; and in 1916 they gave over $17,000 for missions. All this, of course, was in addition to what they gave for their own congregational expenses. Over a period of years his church averaged, per member, for congregational expenses $25.00 per year; and $69.00 for missions. And all this was done without a missionary committee or organization of any kind. Indeed there was not even any personal solicitation. In 27 years and 3 months, his own congregation gave for home and foreign missions, $267,511.22.

How It Happened.

When he was asked how all this was accomplished he said:

"I believe it to be the blessing of the Lord upon His work, done in His way, in the power of the Holy Spirit. Contrast it with the comparatively meager results of great effort, even though well organized, and judge for yourself. Is it not an illustration of Proverbs 10:22, R.V., margin, 'The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and toil addeth nothing thereto'?"

Is it saying too much when we say that the power of God can only be known in connection with work according to His plan?

A Perfect Plan.

I have heard him say, in words that still ring within my soul, that just as truly as the Lord gave Moses the plan of the tabernacle, and David the plan of the temple (Exodus 25: 9, 40; 1 Chronicles 28:12, 19), leaving no room for suggestions, or improvements, or modifications of any kind from them, so has He as plainly told us His plan for subduing this world to Himself, and making a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness, when nations shall learn war no more, and the Lord Jesus Christ shall be King of kings and Lord of lords.

To know the Lord, and to make Him known, is the one only thing that we are here for, and to qualify us for that He has given us His word and His spirit.

When subject to the Teacher and His one text-book, we may expect to become somewhat proficient disciples, but not otherwise. Bible study and missions are, therefore, the calling of every believer, and we may expect a realization of 2 Chron. 16:9, and a fulfilment of Jer. 33:3, when we aim to walk worthy of our calling.

The Turning-Point.

During the early years of his ministry the subject of "Missions" did not have any real interest for him. Then he had an experience which proved to be the turning-point. He tells his story somewhat after this fashion:

On an ever-memorable visit to the city of S——, I went with my host and his wife to their week night church prayer-meeting. The pastor read a familiar portion of Scripture, and then announced the subject of the evening to be "The Believer's Hope." Being a clergyman myself, I felt confident his remarks would be in conformity with my own belief, namely: that at the last great day, when we should all appear at the judgment seat of Christ, the believer would be among those on His right hand who would be welcomed into the joys of our Lord, bask in the sunshine of His presence, and with the redeemed throng, sing His praises for ever and ever. But I was greviously disappointed, for the pastor treated the subject in such a manner that I was led in my heart to pity the poor souls who, with apparent reverence, could sit still and accept what I then believed to be, unscriptural, heretical teachings.

What Was Taught.

He said the hope of the believer was not, as erroneously taught, merely to live a good life and go to heaven when he dies, but to have a place with the saints of the first resurrection, according to 1 Thessalonians 5: 14-18, and afterwards reign with Christ over His millennial Kingdom on earth.

These claims the pastor fortified with numerous texts which he expounded in a literal sense, and which, candor compels me to say, were admirably adapted to the subject.

But I resolved to examine them when more at leisure before conceding that the literal was preferable to the figurative and spiritual interpretation practiced by the Church in general.

A Touchng Incident.

Towards the close of his remarks the pastor feelingly referred to the recent death of a member of his flock, who had made it a practice to ask divine assistance whenever she studied the Bible, and her prayer, which was written on the fly-leaf of the precious volume was in these words:

"Dear Lord Jesus, let us read this Book together."

This devout invocation impressed itself so deeply on my heart that I thought of it all the rest of the evening, and before retiring for the night, wrote it on the front page of my own Bible.

It is wonderful what changes and overturnings are sometimes produced by comparatively small and unimportant events. But the Lord often uses very simple means to accomplish His purposes, and He graciously did so on my behalf.

As I lay in bed that night the beautiful prayer was foremost and uppermost in my mind. In vain did I endeavor to obliterate it for the time being, that I might go to sleep, but there it appeared in large glowing letters before my closed eyes, "Dear Lord Jesus, let us read this Book together."

Memory At Work.

At length my mind reverted to the thousands of times I had opened the blessed Book without asking the Holy Spirit to guide my understanding, that I might be able to use its teachings aright for His glory. I was seized with remorse at the neglect of such a duty, and feared lest while leaning on my own wisdom, I might have "handled the word of God deceitfully," and led many of my flock into error.

A Dream.

At last I fell into a doze, and thought I was in my study with my Bible on a table before me, and as I opened it at the first page the fiery red words appeared, "Dear Lord Jesus, let us read this Book together," and immediately there sat by my side a being in raiment so bright that its radiance illuminated the whole room. Perceiving my nervous excitement, in a tender sweet voice he said to me, "Fear not, my fellow-labourer, for I am come in answer to your prayer to help you to understand the meaning of the words of the Book."

At once my natural strength returned and I felt as if in the company of a dear congenial friend. "Now," said he, "we will look over the writing together," and thereupon he commenced to turn over the leaves one by one, and stopped not until he had reached the end of Revelation.

Strange Blotches.

While this was being done not a word was spoken by either of us. But, O! how surprised and mortified I was to notice that the reading matter of nearly every page was almost obliterated with black and green stains, and that here and there were only small passages and single verses in their original state.

"What mean these blotches and disfigurements?" said he to me as he finished the examination.

"Sir," said I, "I have used this Book for many years but have never before observed its present strange condition, and if you can explain it my mind will be much relieved."

"Then," said he, "as you appear to be desirous of coming to 'The knowledge of the Truth,' I will, for your future guidance, show you the meaning of the blotches, which you have noticed for the first time to-night. But you must not be offended at anything I may say to you." "Nay, Sir," said I, "but I will gladly receive any instruction you may give me."

The Explanation.

Thereupon he said: "The Bible from beginning to end is a perfect and complete book, and makes known to man God's wonderful plan for the redemption of the world from the power of Satan, and its restoration through Jesus Christ, 'THE COMING ONE,' to its original sinless Edenic state. In reading the Sacred Volume, avoid as you would a pestilence, the pernicious, spiritual, symbolical, visionary interpretations of man, which lead to nowhere and end in discord, but adhere to the strict literal sense as dictated by the Holy Spirit, and you will arrive at a harmonious and glorious understanding of the sublime plan therein set forth.

"The dark stains in your Bible cover those parts, including the prophecies, which you have, during your ministry, passed over and failed to teach to your flock. The green stains cover those portions of the yet unfulfilled prophecies which you have preached about erroneously, and with false and misleading interpretations.

"The unstained original parts, which are but few in number, and mainly relate to salvation through Jesus Christ, contain all of the Holy Scriptures which you have taught correctly and to the glory of God."

I Wept Bitterly.

Laying his hand on my shoulder, he said in a gentle, soothing tone: "Fear not, my brother, but rather rejoice that your past errors have been revealed to you, and that your heart is now open to receive the truth as clearly set forth in this blessed Book." Then pointing to the dark places, he asked me why I had overlooked or rejected them.

In reply, I stated that at the seminary where I graduated the Bible was not a text-book, and that our professors of theology taught that a knowledge of prophecy was not essential in preaching the Gospel.

"Ah," said my companion, sadly, "that is why there are so many blind leaders of the blind among the so-called teachers of the Inspired Word. But the time is fast approaching when, with shame and confusion, they will realize 'whose word shall stand,' their's or God's.

His Last Word.

"Had you, my brother, given less time to the vain and uncertain speculations of man, and devoted your talents to a study of the sure word of prophecy, you would have learned that man's plan to convert the world and build up a world-wide Church, always has been, always will be a miserable failure, and that only God's plan shall be a sure and glorious success."

Time has rolled on since that memorable night, and I rejoice to say, the years since have been the happiest and most spiritually fruitful years of my ministry.

Before you, my dear friend, decide to reject this testimony because it is contrary to all your traditions and training, think of the transformation it made in the life of D. M. Stearns, whose service in the cause of missions reads like a romance.

Yours, for the triumph of the Truth, Allan Fairbairn.

What God Accepts

GOD will accept your first attempt, not as a perfect work, but as a beginning. The beginning is the promise of the end. The seed always whispers "oak," though it is going into the ground, acorn. I am sure that the first little blades of wheat are just as pleasant to the farmer's eyes, as the whole field waving with grain.

TRUE!

WILMOT, the infidel, when dying, laid his trembling hand upon the sacred volume, and exclaimed solemnly and with unwonted energy, "The only objection against this Book is a bad life."

The Hour Of Prayer

HELP us, Good Lord, forget the things that are behind, set our affections on those that are above and beyond, leave yesterday's manna to the worms, find Thy mercies new every morning and fresh every evening, march with the youth though our steps be shortening, join in their shout though our voice be weak. Make us ill-content with inaction and freedom from obligation, lest we stand among the pillars of salt that dot the great highway, mere milestones on the road to the goal. Keep us "young to the end through sympathy with youth" that our word may ever be "Come on," not "Go on," and our life stand not as a warning, but as an inspiration. All this we ask in the name of Him who is our Lord and Saviour. Amen.

GERMAN.

THE Lord is my Shepherd and I shall not be in want. He pastures me upon the green meadow and leads me to the fresh waters.

He refreshes my soul. He leads me straight out by the right road for His name's sake; and if I even wander in the dark valley I fear no calamity for Thou art by me, Thy rod and Thy staff comfort me.

Thou preparest before me a table in the face of my enemies; Thou dost anoint my head with oil and pourest out fulness to me.

Goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I shall remain in the house of the Lord for ever.

No honor is too great for a man who has steadily and uncomplainingly done his very best and has failed.

It is hard to feed the satiated, and to make a present to the rich.

GEMS FROM SPURGEON

A Christian, whenever thou art inclined to an avaricious withholding from the Church of God, think of thy Savious giving up all that He had to serve thee! And canst thou then—when you beholdest self-denial so noble—canst thou then be selfish, and regard thy dainties of more account than their necessities, when the claims of the poor of the flock are pressed upon thee? Remember Jesus; think thou seest Him looking upon thee, and saying, "I gave Myself for thee, and dost thou withhold thyself from Me? For if thou dost, thou knowest not My love in all its heights, and depths, and lengths, and breadths."

GOLDSMITHS make exquisite forms from precious material: they fashion the bracelet and the ring from gold. God maketh His precious things out of base material; and from the black pebbles of the defiling brooks He hath taken up stones, which He hath set in the golden ring of His immutable love, to make them gems to sparkle on His finger for ever.

Life is noble in proportion to the nobleness of faith; it is successful in proportion to the fixedness of faith.

Every noble life leaves the fibre of it interwoven forever in the works of the world.

WHAT FEAR WILL DO

SLOW and normal action of fear leads to forecast; its morbid action is a positive hinderance to effort. Water is necessary for the floating of timber; but if a log be saturated with water, it sinks in the very element which should buoy it up. Many men are water-logged with anxiety, and instead of quickening them, it only paralyzes exertion.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED.

The request of the police department that while paving operations are under way there should be no parking of automobiles in the section affected is entirely reasonable.

As The Examiner has already pointed out in urging drivers who have no particular reason to be in that part of the city to keep away until the work is completed, the conditions are such that anything like heavy traffic is bound to be a nuisance and very probably a menace.

If there is no parking and motoring on the blocks where construction work is going on and is confined to absolutely necessary driving, the situation will be considerably relieved and the work correspondingly speeded up.

The quicker the job is complete the better for motorists, business men and the public generally.

The opening of the tourist season is at hand, and it is essential that the paving of the business blocks should be finished as quickly as possible.

Co-operation on the part of car owners is vital to that end, and it is to be hoped that there will be a general compliance with the appeal made by the police.

SOME GOOD ADVICE.

Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, has been giving some good advice to motorists as to how to prevent congestion on the highways.

Instead of always driving on the main roads, Mr. Henry suggests to car owners the advisability, especially on Sundays and holidays, of using the alternate routes upon the improvement of which considerable money has been spent and which are now in condition to provide comfortable and safe driving conditions.

Although a large proportion of motorists are merely pleasure driving on Sundays, the tendency is to stick to the principal highways, with the result that congestion is inevitable.

Hence the suggestion to drivers to get away from the main arteries of traffic occasionally and enjoy the pleasure of a trip through new country and the absence of the nerve strain that is inevitably associated with driving in heavy traffic on the principle highways.

The point brought up by the Minister is well worth considering; as a matter of fact, wise motorists have been following his plan for some time and getting much better value for their money than the driver who no matter what the conditions refuses to leave the main highways.

THE CANADIAN FLYERS.

Pointing out that seventeen American army flyers participated in the air meet at the opening of the civic airport at Kingston this week and that United States aviators have always been found ready and eager to visit similar events at Walker airport, Windsor, the Border Cities Star asks why there should not be a similar readiness on the part of Canadian authorities to allow members of the Canadian Air Force to participate in such meets.

Invitations sent to Camp Borden from Windsor have each year been ignored, according to the Star, which draws attention to the fact that Canadian Air Force members were conspicuous by their absence at the Kingston meet.

Undoubtedly the people who attend air meets on this side of the line would be delighted to see something of the skill and daring of Canadian flyers.

The Camp Borden airmen would be equally delighted to break the routine of training by cross-country travelling and exhibition flying.

At the same time there is another side of the story which doubtless explains the official reluctance to sanction Canadian Air Force flyers participating in civic air meets.

If mischance entered into the situation and a tragedy occurred there would be an immediate outcry from people, who would want to know why the lives of young Canadians should be jeopardized merely to put on a show for the people of any particular community.

A CHANCE FOR BIG BUSINESS.

The development of the potential market represented by the millions of American tourists who will soon be in Canada is being advocated in several quarters.

Hitherto we have been chiefly concerned in inducing our United States neighbors to come over and visit us; any organized effort that has been made has had that object in view, and there has been no systematic campaign to take advantage of the sales opportunities represented by the presence of so many American visitors.

Here is a golden field to be developed.

Americans are permitted to take back with them duty free goods to the value of $100.

We have on sale in this country in certain lines of merchandise goods of better quality than American visitors can buy at home and at prices that cannot be duplicated across the border.

Surely this combination can be utilized to greatly increase the sale of Canadian goods on this great market made up of millions of people with money to spend.

"There are some products of an appealing nature," says the Ottawa Journal, "which are sold cheaper in this country than across the border; there are others which on account of their distinctly Canadian nature would have an immediate appeal, and there are special lines which it would be almost impossible to procure in the United States."

That being the case, isn't it time for Canadians to give more atention to methods of securing bigger returns from the annual influx of our cousins from the South?

NEW GEOGRAPHY.

This year Ontario will wake up to the fact that a new North is in the making and it is not the North that has usually received that title. With Ontario's pioneer railway making steady progress toward its goal on James Bay and a subsidiary of the Abitibi Power and Paper Co. commencing work on a $23,000,000 major power development, the most matter-of-fact imagination must stretch its ideas of the habitable North far beyond Cochrane. It must realize that actually as well as geographically Ontario will become a Martime Province, that the last wilderness is in process of being definitely conquered and that the challenge of the North has been taken up.

The two projects mentioned are among the greatest single developments now going on in Canada. They will give work to many thousands for a few years and they will be but the initial step for other great undertakings. The resources in power of the new North are immense. How extensive are the coal fields contiguous to Blacksmith's rapids the Government's drilling activities should determine this year. The commercial market possibilities of the coal, of the salt water fisheries which Northerners already talk about and of divers' mining projects are yet to be demonstrated, but something should come of all the effort and money being spent. The trout streams and the wild life tempt the tourist. Farms are to be had for the asking and individual farmers have demonstrated that success can be achieved by farmers with strong backs and perseverance.

In Southern Ontario people have spoken in casual conversation of Northern or New Ontario, meaning the region from North Bay to Cochrane. North of Cochrane the inhabitants speak of Cochrane as "down south." To them the district south of Cochrane is regarded as middle Ontario and Toronto as very far south. They believe that a great bridge will be thrown over the Moose River in 1931 and that Ontario will have an ocean where the Moose River flows into James Bay either in 1931 or 1932 at the latest. They believe, also, that when the 1,000 miles from Lake Ontario to James Bay are finally spanned by rail this will be only the preliminary to a great development period. This period will have its inevitable disappointments, but also as great successes.

Thus, Ontario instead of being divided in Northern Ontario and Southern Ontario has become three divisions —Southern Ontario, Middle Ontario (formerly the North) and the great New North.—Financial Post.

IN THE FIRE AREA.

No doubt sections of Ontario are facing serious enough days from the menace of fire. Many of the despatches tell of green timber being attacked, and that means that new areas, which have hitherto escaped, are being destroyed.

We have a system of reforestation in Ontario, but it is not extensive enough to keep up with the burning of matured timber. A bad fire will therefore actually leave us poorer in actual resources.

We read, also, of families starting back to their homes after having been driven out. Many of these are settlers; they will not be very close to neighbors, and that means they will have to face their dangers and fears alone.

A school house was saved in one place. That means there are children in the district. Those two quantities, children and families, constitute something that has to be considered quite apart from the waste of timber.

People who have lived all their days in this section of Ontario, or in places removed from bush fire menace, cannot appreciate or imagine what it means to those with families to be caught between two bush fires, or to be chased out by one fast-moving affair. There is no peace during the day, and there is no rest during the night. Always is there that cloud of smoke, there is the smell of smoke, there is the gust of wind that may carry with it a few ashes telling of a closer approach of fire. It is not possible to get very definite information in many of these new districts. Means of communication are for the most part by word of mouth.

* * * *

Perhaps you have never looked at it that way. It is an interesting, if not a pleasant picture. Much of the time you cannot see a block away because the smoke is so thick. The fire may be one mile away or ten miles away, but the volume of smoke is just as dense and blinding one way as the other.

An adult can take a chance making a last-minute dash for a clearing, for a lake or a railway track; a man can probably look out for himself and make a fairly good job of it. It doesn't hurt much if he has to spend a few days and nights out in the open.

But it is a different story when there are children in the home. When it is considered necessary to leave the home the children must be taken along; if they are going to be guarded one must take them by the hand or carry them because even a brief separation in that blinding smoke and driving gusts of ashes is quite sufficient to become parted from them.

Then, too, it is necessary to make provision for feeding the children, and if they are quite young there must be precautions so they can be kept warm if it is necessary to spend nights out in the open. We dare say there are many families in that fire zone up north where the mother has had food and clothing packed away, waiting day and night for the word that it is necessary to get out.

Then, if the worst comes, and the little home is taken when the fire breaks through, what is there to go back to? Simply a barren looking place, smouldering rubbish and gaunt burned-out trees. It is not a very pleasant site on which to start all over again.

Yet that is what has been taking place for several days in the district between Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur. It is well to get the family side and the human touch to that picture, because it must be there in a very real way.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

A few hundred thousand visitors will murmur over the week-end, "So this is Toronto."

With mid-Summer weather, it is no wonder that political conventions are being described as "hot."

There will probably be more ice cream cones than cigars distributed by the politicians during the present campaign. That should improve the political atmosphere considerably.

The swimming races at the Canadian National Exhibition this year will be operated by the Exhibition and not by the Wrigley Company. That, however, will not serve to make the water any warmer.

APRIL ESCAPADES

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER XXIX.

She had forgotten that. She had forgotten everything but Chris.

Her heart leaped with instinctive fear, but she answered carelessly enough:

"That's the man."

"And you met him in the office?"

Mary Kate's head jerked an assent against his shoulder.

"What'd he do? Try to make love to you?"

"No, he never touched me. He never said a word—like that, I mean."

"O-h-h?" Cass said, in a different, a lighter, tone. Whatever dawning suspicions he had entertained were allayed. "How often did you see him?" he asked.

"Three times," Mary Kate answered, after a moment's consideration. "Twice in the office," she thought, "and once more to cover all that other time."

Cass laughed.

"You saw him three times, and he never said a word about love," he summarized it.

"Well, yes—he did say something about love," she remembered. "He even said something about—well, falling in love with me. But it was not serious. It was sort of about how funny it would be—something like that—"

The man ruminated upon this for some moments, and Mary Kate closed her eyes again. She heard Christopher's voice saying that her gown was grand, that she was a swell—

"Mary, Mary, Mary." It was a beautiful name, it had a hundred times the dignity of "Mary Kate."

He might come into the office tomorrow, he might stand there, looking at her, smiling at her. They might have five minutes talk. It was all she wanted, all she neeced—

"And you got a sort of crush on him?" Cass asked, amusedly.

"I suppose that's it."

"But you don't know one thing about him, Mary Kate!"

"I know."

"Look. You might hate him."

"I might." There had been moments she remembered, when she had thought that she already hated him.

"But then what makes you think you have a crush on him?"

"The—the way I feel, Cass," Mary Kate said earnestly. She had to tell somebody, she couldn't tell anyone else. "If I hadn't met him, I'd think I was sick," she resumed, with a shamed laugh. "Because most of it is just feeling sick—hot and dry and cold and shaky and—well, just mad with restlessness, all the time. I'd not think it had anything to do with—with him, except that it's worse when I think of him—the way his voice sounds—the way he looks—"

Cass had squared about to face her in the dark. Now he said, in an altered voice, a speculative, deliberate voice.

"Say, you have got it!"

"I've got—something," Mary Kate confessed, with an unhappy laugh.

"You've felt like that before?" the man questioned.

A silence. Then she said simply:

"Never in my life before."

Cass fell silent now, too. He got up from the davenport, and went to the light, and turned it higher. A flickering half-hearted illumination wavered on the ugly walls, shabby chairs and curtains. The man lighted a cigarette.

He came back to the davenport, but sat apart from her now, twisted about so that he faced her, the cigarette in his fingers.

"Listen here," he said. "You must have had crushes like that before in high school."

"I never did," she persisted steadily.

"Mary Kate," Cass said, in what, considering his young confidence in his masculine power to handle all her problems as well as his own, was a new strangely uncertain voice, "you didn't—I mean when we were so happy last week—when I was so crazy about you—as God knows I am now—you didn't feel that sort of feeling then?"

Her passive hand lay in his, she raised her troubled eyes, spoke apathetically.

"I think that's what I'm trying to tell you, Cass."

"That's the way I felt about you," he said humbly.

"I know," Mary Kate's voice was almost inaudible.

"Every telephone means you, to me," the man went on.

"Oh, I know!" Oh, voice of Chris, somewhere out in the spring night, where were you now? Her heart began to hammer again. He must not sail next Sunday until she had a chance to talk to him, once—only....

Cass was speaking. She could hear his voice, but not the words.

"Where's he staying, Mr. Steynes?"

"I didn't hear you."

"Is this Mr. Steynes, or whatever his name is, staying in San Mateo?"

"Burlingame."

Then there was a long silence. Mary Kate had closed her eyes again, and was leaning back, looking spent and limp. But there was a sudden narrowing, a sudden speculative light, in Cass's eyes.

"Did you go to Sacramento?" he asked suddenly, in a level voice.

Her eyes flashed open, color rushed into her face.

"No—" she whispered fearfully, slightly shaking her head. She was sitting erect now, and as Cass did not speak, but continued to regard her, with a sort of horrified astonishment in his look, she put her two hands to her head, and disordered her brilliant crushed hair with frantic fingers.

"My God—" Cass breathed, whispering in return, his unmoving eyes glued upon her face.

Silence. Silence. It spread and rose and deepened between them like the noiseless waters of a swollen river.

"Oh, not the way you think!"

Mary Kate presently said, impatiently, indifferently. "I didn't do anything—wrong. I'm not a kid, to be led astray. I know the Commandments. I went down there on business for Mr. Rountree."

"But why didn't you tell me?"

She spoke apathetically.

"I knew Mother'd raise the roof."

"Why should she?"

"I thought she might."

"But if there was nothing wrong—?"

Mary Kate shrugged, sighed, and made no answer. There was infinite indifference, infinite weariness in her averted eyes.

"When I went into the kitchen, a while back, to give your mother a quarter for the gas meter," Cass said, "I didn't have a quarter. So I picked up your purse, and took it from that. And I saw a return ticket from Burlingame there."

She remembered now. Chris had bought her a return ticker on Saturday afternoon, not knowing that she already had such a ticket in her purse. It hadn't seemed to matter, then—

"It kind of surprised me, because in all the months I've known you you've never been to Burlingame that I knew of," Cass pursued.

"They wanted me to go to a dinner, and pretend to be comebody, that was all there was to it!" Mary Kate presently volunteered.

"I see. Well, your mother would not have minded that!"

"She might have."

"Where'd you stay?"

"Oh, at one of their houses."

"Other people there?"

A second's pause. Then she said:

"Yes."

"Did Mr. Rountree ask you to do it, Mary Kate?"

"Oh, yes; as a favor to him." It was all beginning to seem natural and simple. Her nerves steadied.

"I don't see why you shouldn't dothat,' Cass mused. "Was Steynes staying with him?"

"No, he's taken a Spanish house, a little way off. The Bersinger place, I think they called it."

The name stirred Cass' memory.

"Were they talking about the burglar—no, it was before the burglar," he thought aloud. "When were you—let's see—"

"It was that night, it was when I was there," she confessed, fearfully, yet with sudden relief in her voice, too.

"My God!" Cass said, not irreverently, as he glanced at this slender, crushed, anxious girl with the deep blue eyes, who was one day to be his wife. "You might have let yourself in for something!"

"I did," Mary Kate admitted, raising her steady look to his.

"You wern't in Steynes' house!"

"I was—as it happened."

"How'd that happen?"

"The arrangement was made that way."

"He had a house party, eh? Mart would skin you, Mary Kate," Cass said, off on a tack.

"I know it. And Mother, too."

"But why, in the name of all that's holy, did you do it?"

"They wanted to pay me for it, Cass. And you know how I wanted to help Mart."

"To go to Germany, you mean?"

"With Doctor van Antwerp."

"H'm!" Cass mused. "Why, but look," he said, brightening, after a moment's thought, "that's what's been the matter with you, you poor little thing! You've gotten yourself all wrought up over nothing, and you think it's a crush on Mr. Steynes. Don't you see? It was the excitement and the risk—how much did you see of the man?"

"Of Chris—topher Steynes?" She had to add the last three syllables to the name as an afterthought.

"No. The burglar."

"Oh, I heard voices—and the gun—" She covered her face with her hands, shuddered.

"Gosh!" Cass ejaculated youthfully. "They got the police, huh?"

"Immediately."

"Didn't get your name?" He was agitated. The fears of the boy who has worked his own way up, through newspaper deliveries, street gangs, messenger service, were in his voice.

"They got everyone's name—the servants, everyone." Mary Kate had thought this answer out before.

It caused Cass to fall into long thought, his lips pursed, the cigarette dead in his hand.

"Rotten break," he finally commented. "But you don't have to tell me," he went on, patting her hand, "that you didn't do anything wrong."

"No, I didn't do anything wrong."

He went on absently patting her hand; phases of the affair were occurring to him.

"Lucky thing for you Mart was away!"

"Oh, wasn't it!" she breathed fervently.

What To-day Means To You.

"GEMINI."

If June 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to noon and from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Astrologists give danger signals on this date in regard to running physical risks. It is a poor time to travel; the stay-at-homers will reap the biggest harvests. Great events in the sporting world are augured. The children born on this June 7th will be determined little creatures, and they will hang on with grim, crab-like force to their ideas and ambitions. They will be friendly and sociable in manner, and will easily make friends.

Your emotions are too intense and too changeable for you to be altogether dependable. Your sincerities have the depth of the moment, and your enthusiasms come and go with the changing of your moods. You are too much a slave, of your feelings, and are too lacking in logic to realize your instabilities. You are surprised, grieved and feel abused if people call you inconstant or fickle—your memory is short when that of others is long. It is not yesterday or to-morrow but to-day, which interests and worries you.

Although you are easily prejudiced, your likes are interchangeable—your loves of to-day are your hates of to-morrow. You would much oftener be in "dutch," if it were not for your good nature, and your fascinating personality. As you generally feel yourself to be in the right, you are not bothered with pricks of conscience, and your spirits are usually high.

You have brilliant brain storms, sometimes practical, and sometimes most impractical; you sometimes follow them up, and other times they are dropped Slow, methodical reasoning is something you cannot, and care not to do. You must act on the impulse, you must obey our inclinations of the moment. Although you work without method or system, you are able to do some very clever things—when in the right spirit. Your life will be a series of ups and downs, but one into which will be crammed a great deal of pleasure.

"GEMINI."

If June 8th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 4:30 a.m. to 8 a.m., and from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., and from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.

There are no unhappy times predicted on this date, either inside or out of the home. A very good friendship will be formed, and some new and useful ties established. The restless influences of the following day may be felt during the late hours.

The child born on this June 8th will have a joyous temperament, will be proud, and have a keen and penetrating mind. It will be very generous, almost to a fault, and will not have to be taught the joys of sharing. It will have a decided sense of justice, and will fight for the down trodden.

You are not content to remain sleek and fat of spirit, with no thought beyond the rut in which one is apt to crawl through life's pathway until old age is reached. You seek a more colorful existence. You want romance and adventure to follow you all the way. You have the courage and vision of a true pioneer, and it is not luck which has carried you up the ladder of success, but the fact that you did not fumblingly let your opportunities pass you by. You are fitted for an active life, and you would fall off an office stool with boredom. You are also fitted for an outdoor life, and any other will make you dissatisfied. You would never be content to be a minor cog in a wheel—you at least want to be a big frog in a little puddle.

Both men and women born on a June 8th have the unusual ability of remaining impersonal in their attitude toward the things they either oppose or support. You are not biased or prejudiced in your opinions. You are able to hold your tongue at the right moment, or to curb it when you speak. Your self control is your strength, and through it, you are usually master of situations. You are a deliberate, calm, and at times, stubborn fighter. You are probably temperate in all things except work. Your habits are regular, and you are systematic and methodical. You know how to fling cares and duties aside, however, and to throw yourself into your play.

Slump At New York Follows Persistent "Bear" Attacks.

SCORE ISSUES SUFFER LOSSES

Commission of Radio Corporation Quarterly Dividend Report Causes Furore.

2,250,000 SHARE SALE.

In Keeping With Other Declines Wall Street Flooded With Bearish Rumors.

(By A. Jagger, Associated Press Financial Editor)

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 7 (C.P.)—The stock market finally gave way with a rush to-day to the persistent Bear pounding to which it has been intermittently subjected for several days. Stocks were dumped upon the market in huge volume, and trading reached the swiftest pace experienced since early May. A wide assortment of leading issues declined 2 to 7 points, with some of the more volatile stocks recording more spectacular losses.

One of the most unsettling developments was the announcement that the stock exchange had granted permission to Radio Corporation of America to omit its quarterly earnings statement, in view of the difficulties presented by capital charges.

Wall Street was flooded with bearish rumors, as usual during sharply declining markets. A small reduction in steel scrap prices at Chicago, after the recent increase at iPttsburgh, was somewhat disappointing to persons looking for a hardening of iron and steel prices.

Total sales for the two-hour session approximated 2,250,000 shares, more than total sales for several recent five-hour sessions. The closing tone was weak.

Several issues were depressed to new lows for the year in which U. S. Steel was conspicuous. Steel sold off nearly 3 points, touching a new 1930 minimum under 164½, compared to the November low of 150.

Such issues as Radio, Radio Keith, American Can, Johns-Manville, Fox, United Aircraft and Standard Gas lost 3 points or more. Shares declining 4 to 7, or more, included Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Air Reduction, Vanadium, Houston Oil, and A. M. Byers. Losses of around 10 points were recorded by Case, Auburn and Worthington.

HELD LUCKY TICKETS.

The Great English Derby is over and won, yet two residents of this city, H. Gustard of 464 Parnell street and W. J. Ward of 261 Romaine street, are still left in a state of expectance and uncertainty as to their share of the Army and Navy Veteran's Association charity sweepstake of $995,080.

Mr. Gustard was fortunate enough to draw a non-starter "Aldessan," while Mr. Ward also drew a non-starter Duquesne. They received this welcome intelligence before the race and have not yet received notification as to the amount of their prize money.

ARTICLE XLI

Q.—(a) What is meant by "book value"?

A.—A book value is only an estimated value of stock or bonds from the company's books. In order to determine the book value of a share of common stock for example, one subtracts from the total assets, the total liabilities, (including the par value of any bonds or preferred stock outstanding) and divides this diffreence by the number of common shares outstanding. One obtains l,kewise the book value of a bond or of a share of preferred stock. Prior liens are subtracted from the total assets and the balance is divided by the number of bonds outstanding or by the number of preferred shares outstanding as the case may be.

(b) Is this figure a reliable one by which to judge the value of a stock?

A.—This is not a reliable figure by which to judge the value of a stock. In the first place the balance sheet figures may be incorrect, and secondly those figures are apt to change quickly and show a relatively different position. In discussing the probable inaccuracy of the balance sheet, the disadvantages of book value were evident. Balance sheet values are approximations at best and the same may be said of book values.

FIELD WORKER HERE ON FRIDAY

K. W. Taylor Covering Tourist Traffic Aspects Throughout Dominion.

PROBING REPORT.

An interesting visitor to Peterborough on Friday was Mr. Kenneth W. Taylor of the staff of the Economics Department of the McMaster University. Mr. Taylor has been retained by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to investigate, throughout Canada, the many aspects of the tourist traffic which nets the people of the Dominion something in the neighborhood of $300,000,000 per annum.

Mr. Taylor, earlier in the week, made an appointment from Toronto with the manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, with whom he spent most of the day, Friday. Mr. Taylor's impressions were that the Peterborough Chamber and affiliated organizations were the best equipped and most successful in this line of work of any that he had encountered outside of the large municipalities such as Toronto and Montreal.

The decision of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to enquire fully into tourist matters is to some extent due to the optimistic statements made in the press by the general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, Mr. Neill. A committee of Montreal, Toronto, and other Canadian business-men has been appointed by the Canadian Chamber and is responsible for this report. Mr. Taylor does the field work and the result of his findings will be made known to the committee and to the public afterwards.

BRITISH AVIATOR

Curragh, in County Kildare, is 20 miles further inland than the Baldonnel Airdrome. The flying field, which was improvised for this flight by volunteer workers, is a fine even stretch of terrain. It has a two-mile runway, half a mile longer than the Croydon Field.

Capt. Kingsford-Smith plans to take the great circle course across the North Atlantic and estimated it would take him 34 hours from Dublin to Roosevelt Field. His plans has a fuel capacity for 40 hours.

The "Southern Cross" as a plane has a long history. It is made of parts of two planes which Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins used on his first air polar expeditions, the wing being taken from one and the fuselage from the other. The engine is a Wright J-5 of 225 horsepower, blood brother of the one in Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis.

Giving the driver of the buggy a fictitious name, it is stated that he drove away from the scene of the accident. Officer Hornick, on patrol in the vicinity, was informed of the occurrence, and located the man that midnight in Cobourg. He made the arrest in conjunction with Officer Carey, and it was found, it is alleged, that prisoner was under the influence of liquor, and that he was driving his brother-in-law's automobile without his permission. A partly consumed bottle of liquor was also discovered in the car, it is stated.

BIG MOTOR SHOW CLOSES TONIGHT

Draw For The Free Automobile Will Take Place At Ten O'clock.

MAYOR MAKES DRAW.

Scenes of great activity were apparent at the J. J. Duffus, Limited, Motor Show, this morning, the showrooms being comfortably filled with prospective buyers and entrants in the competition, which closes at nine o'clock this evening.

The draw for the free automobile which takes place at ten o'clock from the top of the C.P.R. freight sheds, will be made by His Worship Mayor Denne. The tickets which have been placed in the sealed box all during the week, must by this time amount to several hundred entries. They will be taken from the box in the presence of the Mayor, and a special committee, composed of Messrs. R. M. Glover, J. F. MacKenzie of North Monaghan, and Joseph Wearing, and will be placed in a churn kindly loaned by the Peterborough Hardware Company to ensure that they are thoroughly mixed up. The churn, a 'Favorite," is a product in a class with Willys-Knight cars.

The winning ticket will be drawn from the churn by the Mayor, and the committee of three will inspect the entry card to see that all conditions of the competition have been complied with.

In addition to the Whippet automobile, there are six other prizes, including a pair of Seiberling all-tread tires, ten gallons of Marvelube oil, and other prizes ranging from five gallons of Marvelube oil down to one gallon of oil.

FISHING CLUB WILL SPEND SUMMER HERE

Local Chamber of Commerce Aids Pittsburg Representatives To Find Suitable Location.

The manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce spent a busy day on Thursday of this week in the Kawartha Lakes District endeavoring to find a suitable location for a camp of 60 fishermen who will visit this district this coming summer from Pittsburgh, Pa. Accompanying him were M. H. Blackhurst and Frank Sephton from Pittsburgh, who had been sent by the Fishing Club to pass judgment on prospective sites. Having viewed different sites west of Peterborough without success they appealed to the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and it is to the credit of that organization that they secured this very desirable tourist business for the coming summer as the club usually revisits its fishing grounds for the second and sometimes the third year.

The representatives of the Fishing Club stated that the food requirements of the camp would run into $100 to $150 per day. As the camp will last for three weeks a sum approximating $3,000 will be spent in the district by this party of fishermen for foodstuffs, such as butter, eggs, meat, milk, bread, etc.

GROWING PLANTS IN PLENTIFUL SUPPLY

Eggs Sell for 30 Cents a Dozen On Local Farmers Market This Morning.

A pound of chicken and a dozen of eggs brought the same price of 30 cents at the farmers' market this morning. Butter was 38 to 40 cents a pound.

Growing plants in boxes were the main item this morning. Ten cents apiece or three for a quarter was the price asked for a variety that included gaillardia, delphinium, garden heliotrope, Shasta daisy, perennial phlox, double holyhock, mullein pink and scarlet lightning. Lythrum, which is a rose-pink spike when in bloom, was the same price.

Little boys were selling six spikes of cream iris for a dime, and there were bunches of rose-red peonies, pyrethreum, which is also known as Persian daisy, and sweet rocket, that resembles heliotrope.

White fish was 20 cents a pound and silvery fresh trout from Lake Ontario sold at 23c a pound.

Eating and cooking apples were 40c a peck. Spies sold at 60c. Little pigs were $14 a pair. Potatoes for seeding were $2 a bag and for table use, $2.50.

CANADA SHOULD VALUE GREAT ARCTIC LANDS.

Unseen Wealth May Lie Beneath Soil of Frozen Islands.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 7 (Canadian Press). — For both monetary and sentimental reasons Canada should continue to take an interest in her Arctic possessions, George P. Mackenzie, officer in charge of the Arctic Expeditions of the North-West Territories Branch, said in addressing an Ottawa service club last night.

Everywhere he went he was faced with the question, "Is all this trouble in the Arctic worth while?"

In the first place it was dangerous to state that any land area did not possess value, Mr. Mackenzie continued. Great quantities of furs were already obtained there. When the United States purchased Alaska for seven million dollars, many criticized the scheme. The annual exports from there now were valued at fourteen times the purchase price. What might lie beneath the soil of those Arctic islands nobody yet knew.

Mackenzie King on Friday in which he says: "As we enter upon the political campaign of the present year may I extend to you and through you to the Liberals of Peterborough West the very hearty congratulations of my colleagues in the government and myself, upon your selection as the candidate of the Liberal party in the constituency. The record of the present administration and the far reaching consequences of the main issue of the present lend strength to our cause, which should make a strong appeal to the electors. FEAST OF SACRED HEART IS CELEBRATED IN ROME.

ROME, June 7.—(C.P.)—The feast of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, falling due today on the eve of Pentecost, was celebrated with unusual pomp and fervor in Rome. Besides being one of the most important commemorations to occur in June, which is considered by Catholics as a month of special devotion to the Sacred Heart, it also marked the first anniversary of the solemn ratification of the Lateran Treaties, putting an end to the vexatious "Roman question" between the Italian government and the Holy See.

ENGINEER DEAD

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 7. (C.P.)—Edward Herbert Pense, 49, died in the Welland County Hospital yesterday after a brief illness which attacked him while attending a baseball game at Humberstone where he had resided for the past seven years, being a member of the Welland Ship Canal engineering staff. He was the son of the late E. J. B. Pense of Kingston, publisher of the Daily Whig and served with the Canadian Engineers in France during the Great War.

The remains will be taken to Kingston this afternoon for interment to-morrow. The staff of the ship canal will attend.

POST GRADUATE SCHOOL.

NEWARK, N.J., June 7 (C.P.)—The First Post Graduate University in America, for the pursuit of advanced learning and exploration in fields of pure science and high scholarship, is to be established here with an initial endowment of $5,000,000.

The money is given by Louis Bamberger, retired merchant, and Mrs. Felix Fuld, his sister, and widow of his late partner, and they will make additions to the fund later.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 7.—(Canadian Press).—Reports of favorable weather for maturing and harvesting the domestic winter crop lead to a pronounced downturn of values early today in wheat, weakness of the New York Stock Market counted also as a bearish influence and temporarily the trade ignored dearth of moisture over the spring wheat belt. Starting unchanged to 3-4 cents off, wheat later showed setbacks all around. Corn Oats and provisions were likewise easier, with corn opening 1-4,—1-2 cent down, and subsequently declining more.

FOUR ONTARIO GOLD MINES INCREASING PRODUCTION

Hollinger, Dome, McIntyre, Lake Shore, Teck Hughes All Entering Interesting Periods.

WITHIN NEXT YEAR SHOULD SHOW 33 PER CENT. GAIN.

TORONTO, June 7. (Special to Examiner.)—Much has happened at the properties of the big Ontario gold mines since "finis" was written to the great bull market in mining stocks of 1927. Production has been increasing, costs have been reduced and in many cases profits have been enhanced. Some major development programs have been commenced and are well advanced toward maturity and we are now approaching a time when the benefit of these developments to the shareholders of some of the companies should be reaped. The total production of Hollinger, Dome Vipond, Lake Shore and Teck Hughes and Wright-Hargreaves is now approximately at the rate of 5880 tons per day. Plans have been commenced which within the next year will increase this to around 7800 tons per day, representing a gain of approximately 33%.

Hollinger Coming Back.

In order to emphasize what lies ahead it is necessary to briefly review what has been happening at some of the leading mines. In 1927, the production of Hollinger reached its peak for all time of around 7,000 tons per day. The fire occurred in 1928, was followed by disappointing results from development at the lower levels, and which caused production to be reduced in 1929 to an average of 2942 tons per day and dividends to be cut in half. Profits last year after all charges were at the rate of approximately 74c per share outstanding.

In the first quarter of 1930 it was officially announced that Hollinger's operating profit before depreciation and taxes was, in round numbers, $940,000 against dividend requirements of $799,500. In addition non-operating profit amounted to $144,000 making an amount available for surplus of $285,000 for the quarter. The president has stated that dividends are now being comfortably earned and that the new orebodies found in recent development are very extensive. Production in the first quarter was at the rate of 4460 tons per day, an increase of 200 tons a day over last year's rate. Hollinger's future looks brighter than it has looked for three years and the stock is regaining its old popularity. Net cash assets plus the indicated profit on present ore reserves were equivalent to approximately $5.28 a share.

Dome Increasing Ore Reserves.

The situation at Dome is pretty generally appreciated. The cash value behind the outstanding share not including profits on ore reserves is between $6.50 and $7 per share. In 1929 ore reserves were increased by 500,000 tons in spite of the fact that because of the destruction of the mill by fire no milling was done in the last two months of the year. A new mill is now under construction of the same capacity as the old one which will be completed this year, by which time at least 1,000,000 tons of new ore should have been put in sight. With the new mill in operation, earnings should be well over $2 a share compared with dividends of $1.

McIntyre in Good Shape.

McIntyre is another Porcupine mine with excellent prospects, whose stock enjoys great popularity. According to the last annual report published about two weeks ago, the cash equity behind McIntyre's shares including indicated profits on ore reserves is about $15 a share. A study of the annual reports of the past three or four years shows that on July 1st, 1926, plant and equipment was valued at $2,667,000 and since that date over $1,000,000 has been spent in additions, while in the same period $1,345,000 has been written off. Plant and equipment to-day stand at approximately $131,000, all of which represents expenditures made in the last year.

McIntyre is now milling around 1500 tons a day, but it is expected that within the next two months or so plans will be announced for increasing production to 2,000 tons daily. LOn this basis profits before depreciation and taxes on the same level of per ton profit as last year, would be approximately $3.27 a share before depreciation and taxes compare with $2.60 a share before depreciation and taxes in its last fiscal year.

Lake Shore Increasing.

Passing over Vipond, whose annual report is due within the next three months, we find the big Kirkland Lakes Mines doing equally as well as those of Porcupine. Lake Shore, whose fiscal year ends this month, has been making rapid progress in the development of its lower levels during the past year. On the first of July production will be stepped up about 700 tons a day to a rate of 2100 tons daily and the Northern Miner estimates that in the company's next fiscal year this increase in production should increase earnings from 40 to 50%. In the first quarter of 1930 earnings were at the rate of approximately 38c a share compared with dividend requirements of 30c for the period. An increase of 40 to 50% in profits would mean that Lake Shore would be earning well over $2 a share compared with about $1.30 in its present fiscal year.

Teck's Development Program.

In July, 1928, Teck Hughes, started to sink a new central shaft to a depth of 3600 feet which objective was to be reached by October, 1930. This shaft is now down 3,000 feet and should be completed according to schedule. Last year six new levels were started from the 19th to 25th horizons. Since the annual meeting in November, the Northern Miner has reported that all the new levels down to the 25th showed high-grade ore of equal richness and grade to that in any other part of the mine.

Teck has just announced plans for an increase in production of 350 tons per day, which will bring the output up to 1250 tons daily by May 1931. The Northern Miner estimates that this will increase profits at least one-third and as the current rate of earnings is about 63% a share the increase should result in earnings of around 86c per share. In addition to this in November, the old mill which is now being rehabilitated will begin handling ore from below the 10th level which is expected to increase the average grade put through the mill to arouse $18 per ton, compared with an average of $14.76 per ton in 1929.

Bible Text Found

A pathetic little incident in connection with the Haliburton drowning fatality, in which the youngest son, Bertram, of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fairbairn, Water Street north, lost his life, last evening, comes to light with the discovery in the boy's pocket of a 'Little Bible Lesson Picture' containing the parable of the "Ten Virgins." Underneath the picture is the Golden text from St. Mark XIII: 33 "Watch ye and pray: for ye know not when the time is."

CANADA'S POPULATION ESTIMATED AT 9,796,800

OTTAWA, Ont., June 6 (C.P.) — The population of Canada is officially estimated at 9,796,800, an increase of more than 1,000,000 since the last census in 1921, when the population was officially placed at 8,788,000. Since the last census there were 2,172,622 births up to December 31, 1929, and 938,866 deaths. The natural increase therefore was 1,233,756. Immigrants totalled 1,130,859 since 1921, and the total population would have been 11,152,455 at the present time, but the Dominion lost 1,355,855 persons during the nine-year period, either to the United States, Great Britain or other countries. Many immigrants went home again.

Aeroplane Pilot Is Thrown Into Water.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 7 (Canadian Press).— While landing at Waskesiu Lake in Prince Albert National Park, on Fridy afternoon, a moth plane piloted by Sergeant Barton of the Royal Canadian Air Force, turned over, throwing Barton in the water, according to a radio report received here. The pilot escaped with only a slightly strained neck as a souvenir of the mishap, and the plane, although submerged in the shallow water, was undamaged.

The report stated it had been taken to shore and the pilot planned to fly it back to Udder Lake, the base for R.C.A.F. planes on forestry service.

MACKEREL SEASON OPENS.

PORTLAND, Me., June 7. — The fresh mackerel season opened here on May 20th with the landing of a catch made outside of Portland Harbor.

Up until the present time the local markets have been supplied with fresh mackrel by the big seining fleet working in the vicinity of Cape May, N. J. Local seiners have contributed a small supply of herring caught in the harbor but the mackerel catch, although small, signalizes the arrival of the speckled fish in these waters and the opening of a new seasonal branch of the local fishing industry.

CONTRACTORS UP IN ARMS

OTTAWA, Ont., June 7 (C.P.) — Criticism of civic authorities for allowing alleged discrimination against Ottawa contractors was voiced in an executive report adopted last night by the Allied Trades and Labor Association. It was said local contractors had not been allowed to tender for the construction of a one million dollar bank building which is to be erected here, and civic authorities were held to be remiss in allowing such conditions to exist to the detriment of Ottawa builders. A Montreal firm was awarded the bank building contract.

WEST NEEDS RAIN REPORTS STATE

Wheat Crop Has Taken Good Root and is of Excellent Color.

WEATHER UNFAVORABLE.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 7 (C.P.)—Despite an almost general need of rain and warm weather, the wheat crop of the Western Provinces had a good root and is of excellent color. Frost and high winds, causing soil drifting, have effected the crops, as well as persistent cold weather, and the great need to-day is warm weather and additional moisture to offset damage.

This is a summary of conditions as reported in the Manitoba Free Press' second general crop report published this morning.

Regional showers and occasional heavy rains in some areas have largely overcome wind and frost damage, but they have not been general. The unfavorable weather, states the report, has practically counteracted all the benefits gained from early seeding. The height of wheat compares almost exactly with that of the report of June 8, 1929, when seeding had been fully two weeks later.

Damage from cut and wire-worms is in evidence in all provinces, but so far has not proved very serious.

Campbellford Flying Club. . . Nearing End of Ground Course

CAMPBELLFORD, June 7 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—Nearing the end of their ground work, the headquarters of the Campbellford Flying Club is the scene of bustle and activity these days. The plane upon which they are working is nearing completion, and is causing a great deal of public interest. The body of the machine has been assembled, and the motor installed. On Friday, this was tried out, with great success. With a hum and and a roar the propellers got into action, and the test made.

Members of the club are busy on the wings, and when these are completed, the whole will be assembled and the machine ready for flight. All the work is in charge of C. D. Beattie, president of the club, who has worked hard to make the venture a success.

IS BABY TEETHING?

Teething time is a time of worry to most mothers. The baby is nervous; fretful; feverish. His little gums are swoolen and sore; diarrhoea, constipation, colic and sometimes convulsions set in — neither baby nor mother can sleep.

These troubles can be quickly banished, however, through the use of Baby's Own Tablets concerning which Mrs. Louis Grubb, Teeswater, Ont., says: "I have used the Tablets for all my babies while teething and have found them a splendid medicine."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Many of these sales have been cash, and at nearly all of them prices were good. Among this number have been several outstanding transactions, such as the Bonnyeastle sale, where the prices were not only good, but the total large.

On or about the 14th of April, plaintiff was a passenger in an automobile which was being driven by her husband on the Port Hope highway, when it is alleged the defendant Cunningham drove from a side line, causing an accident to take place in which plaintiff received serious injuries. turned safely to-day to Chaman.

They were held for two days or more by the Achakzai raiders who took them and carried across the frontier into Afghanistan, after their cars, driven by Indians, had been stopped by a barricade of rocks placed across the road.

The engineer of a train passing close by saw the empty cars and stopped to investigate. Divining what had happened he rushed with the news to Chaman, from where troops were sent, but too late to intercept the raiders before they crossed the border, six miles distant.

NO, U.F.O. CANDIDATE

WINGHAM, Ont., June 7. (C.P.)—Following several hours of discussion, which at times grew decidedly heated, delegates attending the annual meeting of the United Farmers Political Association of North Huron here last night, decided the organization would not place a candidate in the field to contest the riding at the forthcoming dominion election.

After much criticism had been heard regarding the alleged tactics of the North Huron Liberals in keeping the farmers from putting their own candidates in the field during the provincial election campaign last fall, the meeting decided each member of the association should be allowed individual liberty of voting.

BENNETT UNDER FIRE AT WEST YORK RALLY

Hon. G. N. Gordon Is Principal Speaker at Liberal Rally Held at Mimico.

TORONTO, June 7. — Hon. G. N. Gordon, of Peterborough, was the principal speaker last night at the Liberal Rally in West York. He twitted Hon. R. B. Bennett with casting the shadow of coming events. "He is at this moment speaking from a tombetone in Queen's Park," stated the speaker, "which, to say the least, is an unhappy sign for him and his party on July 28." Speaking of the Opposition Leader's fitness to head a Government, Mr. Gordon said that he enjoyed a somewhat extensive reputation for making bad breaks. "In Hon. Arthur Meighen's last constituency, he made a terrible muddle of the whole campaign, while in Hon. Hugh Guthrie's riding he fared little better," claimed the speaker, who also recollected that on one occasion Mr. Bennett so far forgot himself as to invite Hon. Lucien Cannon to a fistic duel on the floor of the House.

Alluding to the Dunning Budget, Mr. Gordon pointed out that it was hailed not only in Canada, but in Britain, where Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and the Leader of the Opposition, Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, had both paid tribute to this master stroke of Empire policy.

Student Was Insane Is Verdict of Jury

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., June 7 (C.P.)—A coroner's jury yesterday found that Undergraduate Douglas Newton Potts, King's College, was insane when he shot and killed himself, and that Dr. A. P. R. Wollaston, distinguished scientist and explorer, and Detective-Sergeant Willis were murdered by him previously, in a tragedy that for the last week has rocked the very foundations of the historic institution.

PROGRESS MADE IN TELEVISION

Will Be Featured Within Six Months On R.K.O.

G. E. SETS PACE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., June 7.—Within the next six months Television will be featured on the programs of Radio-Keith-Orpheum theatres in key cities throughout the country, it is said. Broadway will get its first life-sized glimpse of etherized pictures at the Palace.

Already, it is revealed, scientists have perfected a Television area several feet in excess of the six-foot square now flashed on the screen of the R-K-O Proctor's here.

At Camden, N.J., General Electric is now secretly working on a range that will enable televised action to cover the same screen used in standard motion picture projection. It was admitted possible that before the year is out full-fledged Television will be demonstrated to the world, at first and until the novelty cream has been skimmed, exclusively in General Electric's own theatres.

Television reception and projection sets can be sold to theatres for $10,000 and $15,000, or on the same scale of prices the electrics charged theatre owners when sound was a novelty.

STAGE AND SCREEN NOTES.

Bebe Daniels, who discovered she could sing when films became audible, will shortly join the United Artists group for one picture, to appear in "Reaching for the Moon," a story for which Irving Berlin wrote the songs and story.

Tricks before the camera in the studios may be as many as the cameraman's own tricks. One reported is of a leading man who had to hold the heroine's hand as she sang the big song. But he didn't have to squeeze it quite as hard as he did when she was approaching the highest note. The girl couldn't say a thing, for the opposite would have alibied that he was trying to encourage her by the friendly squeeze, although the hand had been held so tightly it was numb.

Or of another leading man who pinched the leading woman at a crucial moment in the film talking. He would have alleged no knowledge of the occurrence, pleading excitement "if it really happened."

It is usually the imports from the stage who have this advantage taken in the studios. Seasoned screen girls know how to protect themselves before the camera against their companion men or women players.

Here is one girl who isn't trying to get thin. On the contrary, Mary Astor is drinking quarts of milk every day to try to get fat. Mary has never really recovered from the sorrow of Kenneth Hawks' death and although she has been very brave, those who know her best attribute her rundown condition to the shock of her husband's tragic death.

She is leaving for Palm Springs to rest and to try to recuperate. Then she returns to Hollywood to play opposite Richard Bathelmess in "Adios."

That thirty-nine-year-old favorite, "Charley's Aunt," will be made by Columbia into a talking film. Al Christie, the comedy maker, who produced a silent version of the farce, will supervise the coming picture.

• • •

After finishing work in "Abraham Lincoln", Walter Huston signed a contract with United Artists to appear under that banner in other films.

• • •

Marilyn Miller will make "Sunny" for Warners.

• • •

Winnie Lightner and Joe E. Brown will be teamed again in "Sit Tight."

• • •

Norman Hall, ex of "Liberty," and Homer Croy, the novelist, are off the Fox writing staff, Hollywood, after three months.

Croy wrote "They Had to See Paris."

TO MARRY HOOT GIBSON

Sally Eilers, who is playing opposite Buster Keaton in "War Babies" has set June 27 as the date of her marriage to Hoot Gibson.

ADMIRED BY PRINCE

June Collyer must indeed have more than her share of beauty. When Prince George was here she was the only girl on whom he bestowed his attention. Baron Rothschild in discussing the atractive women in Hollywood with Marion Davies, told Marion that he considered June Collyer one of the loveliest girls he had met in Hollywood.

She has just been given Ann Harding's part in "Beyond Victor" at Pathe. That, of course, means the lead.

FORMER PETERBORO MAN

OTTAWA, June 7.—Ottawa newspapers have refused further advertising from the Embassy theatre, local stock drama house. Manager Oscar O'Shea launched an attack upon moving picture houses and talking pictures generally through his newpaper advertising, which was severely censored by the publishers. No copy is now being accepted.

AMOS AND ANDY

HOLLYWOOD, June 7.—Amos and Andy, despite denials, it's said, are set for the next Ziegfield Follies, and Walter Donaldson is writing the music. Latter is the only member of the production staff thus far selected.

Flo Ziegfield is out here watching his glorifiers going into cans via "Whoopee."

JANET SAYS NO

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Janet Gaynor says, No, no, positively no. The Fox Company says, Yes, yes, positively yes. So there you are!

Just as soon as John Ford finishes "Up the River" by Maureen Watkins, he will be put right to work on 'Barcelona,' intended to co-star Janet Gaynor and Humphrey Bogart. That in itself is an interesting story because its separates the famous team of Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor. Perhaps by the time "Barcelona" is ready to come to the screen, Miss Gaynor will have kissed and made up with the Fox Company. But right now "Barcelona" is not included in little Gaynor's plans.

HOLLYWOOD SNAPSHOTS

TREATY INDIAN APPEALS GAME LAWS SENTENCE

TORONTO, Ont., June 7 (Canadian Press). — Peter Bombard, treaty Indian of Goulais Bay, who was recently fined, with the alternative of a jail sentence, for two breaches of the game laws by Magistrate Elliott at Sault Ste. Marie on March 11, will appeal the magistrate's judgment at Osgoode Hall.

All expenses connected with the appeal will be paid by the Department of Indian Affairs at Ottawa. M. F. Ludwig, K.C., has been appointed counsel for Bombard, who by his appeal will endeavor to establish the rights of Indian people to the game.

HEAVY OUTLAY FOR FOX FILMS

Will Spend $25,000,000 in Production of 48 Pictures.

LADY PEEL'S FIRST

NEW YORK, June 7—The program of the Fox Film Corporation for the season beginning the end of next August will consist of forty-eight vocalized productions, representing, it is said, an outlay of $25,000,000.

Among the pictures are John McCormack's audible film, "Song o' My Heart"; two productions with Will Rogers, one with Beatrice Lillie (Lady Peel), one in which Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor are teamed; three other pictures with Miss Gaynor; Mr. Farrell in four other productions, Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe as Flagg and Quirt in a Raoul Walsh film, the story of which was written by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson. Mr. McLaglen is also to be seen with Fifi Dorsay in two films; Mr. Lowe and Warner Baxter will also revive further memories of "In Old Arizona"; El Brendel, the comic Swede, will figure in sox offerings; Warner Baxter in four others; J. Harold Murray will be heard and seen in three musical romances; De Sylva, Henderson and Brown will be represented in another musical film.

DOUG LIKES LONDON

Would Live There If Mary Pickford Agrees.

Douglas Fairbanks while in London watching the Walker Cup matches told the press there that if he could arrange it with Mary Pickford he would take up residence in Great Britain.

"I would rather live in London than in any other city in the world," he declared.

He confessed that the growth of the talking film was causing him serious thought. He said he does not regard his own gifts as suited to the talking picture. Consequently he is looking around for a new medium through which to express himself.

It would appear that Mr. Fairbanks, however, is far from thinking of his coming production plans and would rather devote himself to golf, in which he is said to be proficient.

TORONTO CENSORSHIP

Reviewed 7,063,435 Feet of Film Last Year.

TORONTO, June 7.—Once more howls are being made because the local motion picture censors are chopping so-called innocent shots from choice movies.

"Hello Sister" wasn't welcomed by the cutting squad. Several eliminations ordered. One was a shot in a church where a minister announces the hymn to be sung by the congregation.

They went pretty easy with "Anna Christie" and in several cases seem to be more broad minded. Local board plenty easier than many in the U.S.

During the last year 7,063,435 feet were reviewed, or 2,155 subjects.

Right now they have 42 under consideration which will have to be cut before O.K.'d.

CHURCH ORGANIST HAS GOOD RECORD

T. Phillips Newly Appointed Choirmaster of St. Andrew's Church.

T. Phillips, who has been appointed organist and choir master of St. Andrew's church, comes to Peterborough with a good record. He is a Lanchashire man, and has spent twenty years in noted churches in Manchester.

Ten years ago Mr. Phillips came to Canada on the advice of an eye specialist, and two years in Canada resulted in a complete cure. Since coming to this country he secured appointments at the Cathedral in Sault Ste. rMdtne; a aHiiL.cconas Sault Ste. Marie and the former Methodist church in Orillia. His work in Orillia is still well remembered by his friends there who are delighted to hear of his appointment to St. Andrew's.

On returning to England Mr. Phillips resided at Brighton, the great seaside resort on the south coast, and was organist of a Congregational Church. At Brighton he had a most successful choir of fifty voices. His junior choir took premier honors four times out of five attendances at the great Brighton festival illuminated address in appreciation of his services as director of the choir.

Mr. Phillips will reside at 319 Reid Street and will take vocal, organ and piano students.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, June 7. — Possibly the change to warmer weather conditions had some influence on demand for killers at the Union Stock Yards cattle market this week. At any rate, bids on butcher steers were lower from the start, and butcher cattle generally lost 50 cents per cwt. in value, despite well maintained quality in the bulk of offerings. Total supply for the week was some 400 head more than in the week previous, but the increase occurred partly in the stocker and feeder division. While butcher cattle moved slowly up to midday Wednesday, supply of killers was close to being cleaned up at the week's reductions on butchers, a holdover of 500 for Thursday consisting largely of store cattle. Cows and bulls of the butcher kind sold more readily than steers and heifers, and prices of those classes were about steady in the week's trading.

Butcher steers in the week's decline closed at 8¼ to 10¼ cents per pound, with the bulk selling from 9½ to 9.90 cents. Heavies over 1,200 made the highest prices, but closed at from 10½ to 10¾ cents for choice with one outstanding lot of 23 head selling on Wednesday at 11 cents, as against a top of 11¼ cents a pound for 13 head on Monday. Baby beeves sold at a range of 9 to 12 cents, outside of one prime fed calf at a top of 13 cents, the range on the bulk being barely steady with last week. Good butcher cows sold from 8¼ to 8¾ cents per pound, with a fair number of choice fat cows making 9 cents per pound each day. Good butcher bulls sold about steady at from 8¼ to 9 cents, with bolognas firm at 6½ to 7¼ cents per pound.

There was very little inquiry for feeders and next to none for stocker cattle. Only a few of the best feeders sold up to 9 cents and stockers showed a range of 6.90 to 8¾ cents in sales up to Wednesday's close, when several hundred head were carried over. Milker and springer trade turned draggy after Monday on lack of demand for shipment outside the province and prices were lower at the close, none selling higher than $115 each.

Supply of calves totalled some 500 less than last week, and, with export demand restored after last week's lapse, trade was decidedly more active with prices firm at 11 to 11¼ cents a pound for choice veals and up to 12 cents for primes. Light calves sold to farmers at 7 to 10 cents a pound for return to the country and further feeding.

Sheep and lamb supply was heavy, an increase of 1,800 over last week occurring chiefly in spring lambs. The opening price on spring lambs was practically steady at 17 to 18 cents a pound for choice, but increasing offerings had a weakening effect and the best in Thursday's offering sold at 16 cents per pound, with culls and medium lambs selling from 10 to 15 cents a pound. Sheep also fell off in value, closing prices showing a decline of $1.00 per cwt. for the week, with best light ewes selling at 6 cents per pound and culls downward to 3 cents.

Hog receipts at 4,000 for the week were about equal with last week. The market was active, and an advance of 25 cents per cwt. in price at the opening was followed by a similar gain on Wednesday. Bacon closes 50 cents per cwt. for the week at 11¾ cents a pound f.o.b., and 12 cents a pound w.o.c. The spread between f.o.b. and w.o.c. prices was reduced to $1.00 per cwt. on Monday.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, June 7.—At the first of the week the local butter market showed signs of weakening and gradually, first a quarter and then a half cent, prices went down. But the lowest market of all occurred yesterday when dealers were offering No. 1 Ontario for 28¼c, with buyers not very anxious even at that low price. For the latter half of the week buyers have been holding off and very little trading was done. The report of expected arrival of finest New Zealand at Montreal for 28c, disorganized the local market as far as buying was concerned, and many buyers told brokers that they were out of the market for a week at least.

A report on New Zealand storage holdings shows that that Dominion has some 14,000,000 tons of butter on hand, and as the Canadian tariff against this product goes into effect early in the fall, many shipments are expected during the next two months. Local storages have more butter now than at this time last year, and most of it was purchased at prices which will necessitate a great loss, because it will no longer be finest if held until fall or winter. Ontario production is also picking up, and the recent rain means better pasturage in some parts, which also means higher production. So the market is weak and quite likely to be weaker.

Cheese

The cheese market just dragged along all week at steady prices. Sales were fair at 17c for new large, 17¼c for new twins, and 17½c for new triplets. Retailers were quoted 18½c for new large, 18¾c for new twins and 19c for new triplets. Old cheese sold steady, with prices to retailers 27c to 28c for large and 28c to 29c for twins.

Eggs

The egg market became a little stronger toward the end of the week, that is, dealers came back to the 30½c to 31c for extras, 28½c to 29c for firsts, and 26c for seconds graded, free cases, instead of the earlier week prices of 30½c and 28½c flat. Firsts were selling stronger than extras during the week as they suited the needs of the coming convention trade better. At the end of the week seconds were becoming a drag on the market and dealers reported difficulty in disposing of them at 26c. Shippers were quoted 28c for extras, 26c for firsts and 23c to 24c for seconds, undgraded, delivered, free cases.

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, June 7.—Advances of 1⅛c to 1c per bushel were registered yesterday on the Winnipeg wheat market after an up-and-down session. Trading in the pit showed considerable activity from the uncertain start of the market and volume for the day was appreciable. July jumped 1⅛c and the October and December futures showed 1c gains.

News of crop damage and need of rain in parts of the west sent some shorts to cover. This feature, together with generous purchases from eastern houses offset the downward tendency impelled by disappointing overnight export sales. Cash wheat and coarse grains business was slow.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, June 7.—Moisture scarcity throughout the North American spring wheat belt, together with serious crop damage complaints from Canada, gave wheat values a general upward trend yesterday. Toward the last also, the wheat market received further impulse to advance from cables telling of excessive rains in Europe. There were crop damage reports, too, from North Africa, including assertions that for central and southern districts of Tunis the yield of hard wheat this season would be reduced nearly to zero.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous, 1-8c to ⅝c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c to ⅛c down, oats at ¼c decline to an equal gain, and provisions varying from 2c set-back to a rise of 20c

The cause of the collapse is being investigated.

AGONY OF NEURITIS

A Story of Intense Suffering and Relief.

"Do I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" "You may believe I do," says Mr. John H. Jamieson, of Wallaceburg, Ont.

"For five years I suffered day and night from neuritis. The agony was terrible. I lost control of my arm and shoulder, and my hand became shriveled. Nothing helped me till I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Even then the improvement was slow and I took ten boxes before I was on the way to recovery. After that, though, relief was rapid. My hand gradually filled out; the pain left me and I could sleep in peace. That was two years ago and I have not had a twinge of the trouble since."

Sufferers from neuritis, neuralgia or rheumatism should try the common-sense method of banishing these troubles by enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind,
But each shall seek the common weal,
The good of all mankind.

MILLBROOK

Almost any Institute has an opportunity, sometime during the year, of putting on an exhibit of some phase of its work, and from headquarters comes the suggestion to try a Health Exhibit, that gets its message over quite vividly.

Two little wooden houses, each about two feet high, are a necessity, having holes cut for doors and windows, and one covered with oatmeal stucco, shingled with graham crackers, milk bottles let in the roof for chimneys, green lettuce leaves inside the windows for curtains, shutters (turned back) of brown bread, and door steps cut from Canadian cheese. This is "Health House," and should be placed on a lawn of shredded greens, with a stone walk of white beans, celery planted about for trees, and a toy wheelbarrow filled with apples, tomatoes, carrots, and other fresh vegetables.

Now for the second house—the "Danger House;" stuccoed in coffee, and set on a lawn of black tea, its roof is of tonic bottles, with split hot dogs for tiles for the porch roof, and its walk of jelly bean cobblestones. Contrive curtains of hard fried eggs, and decorate the lawn with cheap candy statuary. You will find this exhibit will never lack for interested visitors.

Suggestions for cooking vegetables given at a recent Institute meeting include: If cabbage and cauliflower are put on to cook in cold water to which a pinch of soda has been added there will be no disagreeable odor while cooking; twenty minutes is the correct time, after the water comes to a boil, and the saucepan should be left uncovered during the entire process. After baking a cake, when it has been taken from the oven, place the pan on a cloth wrung out of hot water; after a few moments turn the cake out—it will come without any trouble. Should soot happen to fall on a carpet or rug, cover with thick, dry salt before attempting to sweep it up, it will then leave no stain or smear. Are you anxious to take berry stains out of table linen? Stretch the part over a bowl and pour boiling water through, before wetting with soapy water. To prevent hot grease soaking into the floor when spilled, soak cold water on it until it is hardened, then scrape off with a knife, and remove the stain with a wet cloth sprinkled with baking soda. If you have been so unfortunate as to scorch food while cooking, quickly lift the vessel containing it from the fire, and set in a pan of cold water for a few moments; this will stop further scorching and in most cases will also take away the burnt flavor.

"The Craft of Homemaking" was the title under which the above hints were given; it is a good topic for a paper at a regular meeting, and may be expanded along many other lines.

WARSAW

This is the season when the Summer Series delegates are visiting the Institute. Almost without exception these women have splendid messages and appear to be women who live what they preach. Those who know them in their own homes say they are and they are certainly delightful guests to have in one's home. Mrs. Laura Rose Stevens, then Miss Laura Rose, was the first Institute speaker sent out, and the first one who came to Warsaw. For some years the Farmers' Institute and Women's Institute joined forces, and twice a year, once in early summer and again in late fall, two women's institute speakers, and two or three men, including the district secretary, would be here for an afternoon and an evening. In the afternoon the women and men met separately. In the evening the town hall was usually crowded for the joint meet. After a few years this took place once a year, in early summer.

During the war demonstrators as such were sent around among the Institutes. The first who came gave demonstrations in preserving fruit and vegetables for winter use.

By the time this was over the farmers' clubs were formed and the Institute men came no more. Agricultural lectures and classes from the department had taken their place and many a young man who had been plodding along got his first incentive towards better farming from these classes.

Only one woman has come around since and she comes in May or June and for one session only, preferably the afternoon.

Most of these speakers are women of education and of culture, who know what farm life is, having lived on a farm, or are now doing so. Many have been teachers, some have been nurses.

Perhaps the message they bring is not new, but coming from new lips it brings a new force, or is recognized as above the common place, when we had not heeded it. There is always a certain inspiration to better living better for ourselves and for those around us. It is ever remembered we do not live for ourselves alone.

It is not necessary that the branches have a delegate come. It is left to their own option. Sometimes several branches unite and have the delegate address them at some central point. Some branches prefer to have more classes and demonstrations.

A few members think we should have more speakers but the general idea is to have the members use their own talent and not simply listen all the time to others. If we do not do our own work, with a little necessary outside inspiration, we fail in the very thing for which we are put into the world.

CAVAN

The following is a synopsis of the activities of the Cavan Women's Institute during the past year.

The Cavan branch of East Durham Women's Institute held eight regular meetings during the year and had forty-three members. The Institute joined with Bethany and also with Millbrook Institutes for the summer meetings. Eight excellent papers were given at meetings and an interesting demonstration on mat making was given by two members. Two plays were given and suppers, also a Hallowe'en party. At one play was a candy table and the candy that was left over was sold on Peterborough market.

In August the Institute joined with the Bethany branch for a picnic at Wallace's Point. The Institute undertook three guarantee shares to help bring the Hydro from Millbrook to Cavan village. Five dollars was given towards prizes for the rural school fair. At Christmas a contribution was made to the Star Santa Claus fund, Christie street hospital; boxes of candy and plants in bloom were sent to the sick and shut-ins. During the year fruit and flowers were sent to the sick.

A delegate was sent to the convention held in Toronto in November, who brought back an excellent report. One member was made a member of the League of Nations, and at one of the meetings she gave an instructive talk on this topic.

In the winter months three quilts were made. Two of these were given to the needy. A bale was also packed and sent it to the north country. The bale sent north included: 1 winter quilt; 1 lady's suit; 5 ladies' coats; 3 ladies' skirts; 3 girls' dresses; 3 sweaters; 2 vests; 2 nightgowns; 3 girls' petticoats; 2 toques; 4 pairs stockings; 1 hat; 5 pairs men's pants; 2 boys' shirts; 4 pairs bloomers; 1 man's coat and vest; 3 men's shirts; 2 pairs boy's pants.

Papers Given.

The papers given included: Mrs. Eakins, "Arranging Programs"; Mrs. Braithwaite, "Listening In"; Mrs. Snider, "Habits and What They Lead To"; Mrs. I. Sutton, "Keeping Out of Ruts"; Mrs. R. Matchett, "Living One's Life to the Best of One's Advantage"; Mrs. R. Matchett, "Report of Convention"; Mrs. R. S. Staples, "League of Nations; Mrs. L. Sutton, "A Canadian Woman's Responsibility to Herself, Her Family and to Mankind."

Financial Report

The financial report included cash on hand May 1, 1929, $131.36; members' fees, $10.75; grants, $3.00; miscellaneous, $108.89, making the total receipts $254.00. The expenditures during the year total $112.65, leaving a balance of $141.65.

THE HOMEMAKER'S TASK

Miss Aletta Smith's address to Havelock Women's Institute:

"It takes a heap of living in a house to make it home. It is always a pleasure to address a meeting on this topic, as this is matter which touches so closely our everyday life. In travelling around, visiting the Institutes, and being entertained in the homes of the different hostesses, it is most interesting to note the particular way each individual has of expressing her personality and making her guest feel at home. In order to be an ideal hostess it is necessary to be first physically fit. In order to be physically fit, it is necessary that we have an abundance of fresh air, plenty of sunshine, pure water, wholesome food, a reasonable amount of exercise and sufficient rest. With these requisites we can trust our eyes to guid our feet to sustain and our chest to lead. We should consider the diet in relation to health, and by becoming familiar with the qualities of different foods, eat intelligently, taking foods that are best for the nourishment of our bodies. We should eat more green vegetables, fresh and cooked. We should use more milk, a quart of milk each day for children, a pint a day for an adult.

We should be neat and clean at all times, in the morning dressed for our house work, and suitably dressed in the afternoon for the duties or obligations at hand. We should plan our kitchen equipment with a view to saving all unnecessary steps. In planning a kitchen one should try to have good lighting, and ventilation. Our stove should be placed where it will be most convenient, in relation to the cabinet or work-table, the sink, the pantry. We should plan our kitchen in such manner, that the men folks shall not be passing between us and our equipment, in order to reach the pump, while we are at work.

In one case it was estimated that one woman had walked eleven miles in her kitchen each day, in doing her work. This showed a deplorable lack of forethought in kitchen arrangement. Sometimes a few extra lengths of stove-pipe, a cabinet or table placed differently, the moving or building of a partition, will work wonder in saving steps in the kitchen.

We should make use of labor saving devices, as much as possible. We should think of ourselves as Queen of the Home, not the housekeeper.

Where one has to be the baker, canner, seamstress, cook, nurse, hostess, there is a great demand on the energies, of mind and body. Women in various walks of life, professionals in different lines, are agreed that the task calling for the greatest thought, and planning, is the homemaker's task. In being a homemaker, there is also a wide scope for expression of individuality. We can best express our own individuality, in our home. We should plan our menus ahead, especially for company, and by doing so and planning simply, we can have more time to give ourselves to the enjoyment of our guests. We will not have to be straining our minds, wondering what we will have; we will know, and will have all the necessary materials on hand, and knowing this, we can relax and enjoy ourselves. Interior decoration, and outdoor beautification are also part of a Homemaker's task. The interior color scheme also expresses the individuality of the hostess. The color scheme should be planned with a view to the exposure. The rooms should be planned in their relation to each other, and can be varied. Sometimes the arrangement of a bowl of flowers, the placing of a vase or lamp, will add to the beauty of a room. We should follow the plan of the artist, who draws attention in a subtle way to the high-lights in a picture. We should place the high-lights on the interesting feature in the room. Sometimes the correcte placing of a chair near the library table, or library, is a silent invitation to explore the interesting books contained therein. We should try to make our homes inviting and attractive, to the loved ones in the home, as well as our guests. The bedroom is a very important room in the home, and requires careful planning. This is one place where we should even spend more than we can afford, even if we have to save elsewhere to make up. We spend one third of our time in bed, so the bedroom should be furnished with great care. The bed should be clean and comfortable in order to allow the occupant to thoroughly relax, and thus induce restful slumber. Even the motto or picture on the wall are important, and should be chosen with care. This room is the place of prayer, meditation and decision. In our bedroom we make plans for the day ahead. Here we meditate on our problems, and reach our decisions.

Next outdoor beautification. Laura Rose Stevens, in speaking at the convention, in Toronto last November, drew the attention of the women to the unsightly rubbish heaps to be seen along the railways through Ontario. She urged the women to place the refuse from the home, where it will not be seen, to offend the eyes. The weeds also, are most unsightly, and should not be tolerated by the women of Ontario. It is the intention of the Department to enforce the Weed Control Act, and compel all to combat the weed menace.

We should endeavor to raise the standard of table conversation. People, Places, Things More often the subject of our conversation, has a great influence on the growing generation. The home has a greater influence than the school, or church. Children imitate their elders, even to the tone of voice. As our conversation is, so shall our children be. Let us therefore cultivate the art of conversation, and raise the standard for the future.

There is so much for everyone to learn. We should try to familiarize ourselves with the laws governing women and children, especially. We should try to strengthen the home, every home. The chain is no stronger than its weakest link. Each home is a link in the community in which we live. Strengthen the homes, and we strengthen the community. We should encourage the young folks to bring their friends home. Stretch the table and crowd a little if necessary, but have the fun in your home, not in a hall.

Junior Institute programmes should be arranged, to provide something for The Head, The Heart, The Health and The Hand.

Interesting programs should be provided that every member will want to be present at every meeting. Interesting studies for juniors are provided in the study of Diet in relation to Health. Interior decoration is also a worth-while study for the future homemaker. Good books are a very important thing in a Junior Institute. We should cultivate a taste for good reading. If we cannot afford good books, we can at least afford good magazines. These should be chosen carefully with regard to th features contained therein, not for a pretty cover only. Even the advertisements in a high class magazine are works of art. Make a study of Canadian Industries. Study Canadian made fabrics. Learn that the best grade cottons are those with straight even weaves. A good piece of cotton when torn, will curl at the frayed edges. A good piece of linen will lie flat at the edge. It is good for Junior Institutes to have demonstrations.

Have interesting Roll Calls. Form sewing clubs, and learn to make your own clothes. Have a Home Study Nursing Course. Hold a Community Picnic. It would be a very nice plan to arrange for a picnic at which all three Junior Institutes would be present, and become acquainted. A Girls' Conference is another desirable feature of Junior Institutes. For other recreation, plan a Treasure Hunt. Divide into groups of four or five, and starting from different points, end eventually at a selected point of interest, where you arrive by following directions concealed under a stone, etc. Make notes on the way of interesting objects observed en-route. Take an interest in your local school. Endeavor to have some up- to-date equipment installed in the school. Try and procure an institute library. Get suggestions for making pin money.

Miss Smith displayed some Institute Bulletins which may be had free on application to Mr. Putman, Superintendent of Women's Institutes Toronto.

Avoid All Argument

THE tired and peevish housewife can frequently be excused for a burst of violent temper. You too would fly off the handle if confined to a scorching hot kitchen many hours every day, year after year. Such treatment is enough to ruin the sweetest of dispositions.

Put an end to this by installing gas and a gas range. This happy combination gives the housewife a quick, cool, economic and efficient culinary process which makes cooking a pleasure. Just think of it! A modern gas range will cook a meal automatically without any attention whatever. Come in and see one, and bring the wife along.

The beautiful grounds surrounding Miss A. Wood's home on Belmont avenue lent themselves admirably yesterday to the holding of a garden party there by the Women's Association of Trinity United Church. The lovely grounds were thronged during the afternoon and early evening hours by the large number of people who came to enjoy afternoon and High Tea, to patronize the sales of home-made cooking and ice cream, and to have their fortunes told by ladies in gypsy garb. Among the patrons of the soothsayers were noticed a number of extremely dignified gentlemen who listened with great interest to the wisdom gained from teacups by Mrs. F. C. Neal, Mrs. R. Bugg and Miss Mamie Foote, General convenors of arrangements were Miss E. Morrow and Mrs. F. C. Neal. Mrs. T. McWilliams and Mrs. R. Hicks looked after the High Tea, Mrs. G. S. Mattice was in charge of afternoon tea, Mrs. W. Lytle of the sale of home-made cooking, and Mrs. W. Derry, with Miss Mabel Brown and Mrs. R. C. Cummings, of the sale of ice cream, which was dispensed from a charming little green and yellow booth set up by Mr. Wilfred Derry. Mrs. T. Cruikshank and Mrs. G. E. Porter sold chances on an angel fruit cake, whose weight of two pounds was correctly guessed by several ladies, the draw giving the prize to Mrs. J. F. Allan. A very pleasant time was spent by the guests on the soft green lawns, with birch and elm trees and shrubbery making pleasant little nooks where gay chairs made pleasant resting nooks. Iris and forget-me-nots in the borders added their color to the setting, which was enhanced by the white of a large marquee and the striped green and orange of several huge umbrellas over the tables, which were arranged with bowls and vases of iris, peonies, bridal wreath, lilacs and rose tulips.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Oh, gossip is a dreadful thing; we hate it and we fear it,
But if you have some dirt to spring, you'll find us glad to hear it,
It may be false as grandma's switch, but that can never kill it,
You'll see our ears begin to twitch when you start out to spill it.

The pure in heart it slyly drubs, and takes delight in hitting,
It brings the ladies out to clubs to chatter while they're knitting.
It may be false but still all signs declare there's something in it
And so it keeps the party lines a-buzzing every minute.

It's gossip when the women spin a line of spicy chatter,
But when we bozos wag our chin it's quite another matter
we label it 'the underground' a more impressive handle,
Which has a whole lot nicer sound than gossip has or scandal.

We hear it in the busy marts where civic leaders mingle;
A racy flavor it imparts which makes our eardrums tingle.
We pass some thrilling story on that smears a reputation
But not till we ourselves have drawn on our imagination.

We have the talking picture show, we have our cars for touring,
We have our bridge and radio, and other sports alluring.
Although we've quit old fads to look for something new and clever,
Still gossip, like the well-known brook, goes babbling on forever.

• • • • • • •

And still it goes, and how it grows!

• • • • • • •

Gossip is really a terrible thing. It seems to me that more, or at least just as many people suffer from gossip than from any crime.

• • • • • • •

We have no idea how cutting those bits of gossip can be, until we have discovered some gossip about ourselves.

• • • • • • •

You know people I'm sure who just because of some displeasure on their part will start some story about the person who caused them discomfort.

• • • • • • •

And once a story or some evil gossip has circulated it is hard to live it down. It doesn't really matter how untrue it may be—it has circulated and sometimes it does seem as if the world would rather listen to scandal than the honest-to-goodness truth.

• • • • • • •

Let's think before we repeat some gossip which we may have heard. Let us question ourselves as to whether or not it may seriously injure the reputation of the person in question.

• • • • • •

How thankful we might be sometime if some one would do the same for us, so let's think of the other fellow first!

The funeral will be held at 8:30 from Comstock's funeral parlors on Monday morning to Little Lake cemetery, with Rev. A. E. Thornley officiating.

MRS. JOHN FRANCIS CONVERY

The death of Mrs. John Francis Convery occurred at her home, 63 Robinson street, this morning after an illness of four months. She was 70 years of age.

Mrs. Convey was born in Pennsylvania and was the wife of John Francis Convery. Before coming to this city 15 years ago she resided in Valleyfield, Quebec. She was a member of St. Paul's Church.

Surviving her besides her husband are three sons, James of Worchester, Mass., Frank of St. Catharines and John of Toronto and one daughter, Mrs. E. J. Loy of Bondsville, Mass.

The funeral will take place on Monday at 3 p.m. from the late residence of the deceased to Little Lake Cemetery.

When Will Thorne, seventy-two-year-old Secretary for Scotland, who liament, recently was married for the fourth time, he took his bride, Miss Beatrice Collins, who had been his housekeeper, to the church in a street car.

WEDDING BELLS

NICHOLLS—McFADDEN.

The marriage of Frances Mabel, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. McFadden of Pearl Avenue, to George Edward Nicholls, son of Mrs. Jane Nicholls of Water Street and the late Albert Nicholls, was solemnized at one o'clock this afternoon at Trinity United Church by the pastor, the Rev. D. Wren. The church was attractively decorated for the occasion with a profusion of palms and ferns, bridal wreath and cream and mauve iris. Sprigs of bridal wreath tied with white satin ribbon, marked the guest pews.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss Mabel Clarry. She wore a lovely gown of white crepe romain made in sleeveless style, the skirt in tiers edged with piping of crepe satin and connected by bands of hand fagotting, which appeared also on the tiny round yoke and the deep bertha collar which fell to the waistline at back and front.

The long white tulle veil had a cap of Chantilly lace and seed pearls, with orange blossoms in clusters over the ears. Long white kid gloves, white satin pumps and white silk hose were worn. The bride's only ornament was a rope of pearls and she carried a bouquet of Butterfly roses and lily of the valley.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Harold Rehill, was frocked in mauve taffeta trimmed with point d'esprit, a white mohair hat, white kid slippers and silk hose and kid gloves.

The bridesmaid, Miss Helen McFadden, sister of the bride, wore maize crepe romain with a long stole collar tied loosely in the back, little puff sleeves and narrow front panel of close stitching. She was a small hat of maize lace straw trimmed with matching satin ribbon, white kid pumps and silk hose and long white kid gloves.

Both attendants carried bouquets of pink Briarcliff roses.

Harold Rehill acted as best man.

Ushers were Harold McFadden of Toronto and Charles Nicholls of Peterborough.

During the signing of the register, Miss Alma Blanchard, wearing a gown of fawn-colored flowered chiffon, with matching hat of mohair, sang very sweetly "Love's Coronation."

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, about sixty guests being present. The table from which buffet refreshments were served was arranged with yellow candles in silver candlesticks and a silver basket filled with a variegated bouquet of lovely flowers. The bride's cake was in the centre.

Mr. Nicholls and his bride left later for a fortnight's honeymoon, after which they will reside at 510 Romaine Street. The bride travelled in a gown of pale green crepe marocain with faggot edging to a deep pointed collar and cuffs of white. Her coat was of light-weight novelty tweed in green shades with wolf collar, and her small hat, shoes, hose, purse and gloves were in warm brown tones.

TAYLOR—TRAVISS

The marriage was solemnized quietly at eight o'clock last evening at the Manse of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, by the pastor, the Rev. W. Allan, of John Middleton Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Taylor of Peterborough, and Doris M. Traviss, daughter of Mrs. Traviss and the late Mr. E. Traviss, also of Peterborough.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Millard, Park street.

NO matter how fast you drive a Pontiac Big Six, you are assured of perfect safety. Pontiac's improved, weather-proof brakes grip relentlessly, bringing you to a smooth stop. As an additional assurance of safety in night driving, a new, sloping windshield deflects the dangerous glare of headlights.

Moreover, the beautiful big car bodies by Fisher are so sturdily built of wood and steel that they are another important safety factor. The supple springs are fitted with leather covers, excluding dirt, preventing wear and assuring positive spring lubrication at all times. The 60-horsepower engine . . . the largest in any six priced so low . . . enables the Pontiac Big Six to attain high road speeds at a very moderate engine speed. And it is wonderfully smooth because of the harmonic balancer and the new-type rubber mountings on which the motor now rests.

Orioles Nose Out Keys To Win Seventh Straight

BALTIMORE WINS FINAL GAME 7-6 TO MAKE CLEAN SWEEP OF SERIES WITH READING KEYS

Visitors Lose Despite Four Run Rally in Ninth Started By Walsh and Davis.

FALKNER WINS ANOTHER.

Six-run Count in 8th Wins For Red Wings From Buffalo Herd 9-7.

The concentration of strength in the northern half of the circuit has contrived to give the fast-flying Orioles of Baltimore a comfortable lead in the International league.

The four northern contenders, Buffalo, Rochester, Toronto and Montreal, have been engaged in cut throat competition that has seen only Montreal emerge with a winning percentage. All three of the others have lost more games than they have won against rivals in their own half of the league.

Baltimore won its seventh game in a row yesterday, nosing out Reading, 7 to 6. Luther Roy pitched effectively for the Orioles until the ninth when the Keys scored four runs on home runs by Walsh and Davis, an error and a hit batsman.

J. Weaver went to the mound with two out and stopped the rally. Gill hit two homers for Baltimore and Stroner one.

Rochester bunched hits off Gordon Leverett for six runs in the eighth inning and Beat Buffalo 9-7. Rochester pushed three runners across to tie the count in the eighth and then Paul Florence caught hold of one and drove it over the fence to score two runners ahead of him and break up the game.

Behind air-tight pitching by Lefty Faulkner, Newark beat Jersey City 4-1, and earned an even break in the four game series.

Jersey City touched Faulkner for eight hits but owed its lonely score to West's homer in the third.

Newark bunched hits off Grant for single runs in the third and fourth and for a pair in the seventh.

Wet grounds forced postponment of the Montreal-Toronto struggle.

DELORO JUNIOR PLAYERS ARE IN SPLENDID FORM

MARMORA, June 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—It won't be long now before the new Deloro junior baseball team is seen in action. The boys are all ready to go and just the way they travel after the sphere would do credit to any senior outfit. The regular team will be out on the field next Tuesday night to play against the Yannigans. On Wednesday night they face a stiffer proposition, for they will oppose the remains of last year's seniors and other good ball players too numerous to mention.

Local fans are urged to be present to watch this young team doing its stuff. Just now they have the confidence that they can overcome anything in or around Deloro. "That sounds good to me," says Manager Regan.

The line-up of the regulars for Tuesday night is as follows:

H. Hewett, 3b; H. Brady, lf; J. McGrath, 2b; G. McInroy, c; M. Finnegan, ss; W. Simmons, 1b; L. Paquet, cf; M. McCoy, rf; F. Callery, p.

Rice Continues To Lead American Batters

GIANTS STAGE SLUGGING BEE

Critz Makes Four Hits as New Yorkers Extend Winning Streak.

EARNSHAW SAVES GAME.

The younger batters of the American league haven't much chance to make names for themselves as long as those two old timers, George Herman Ruth and Edgar Charles Rice continue to hit at their present rates. The Babe and Old Sam have almost a monopoly on the league's batting leadership, with Rice holding the highest honors.

Rice, a veteran of some 38 summers, 14 of them spent playing baseball for Washington, has made a record for consistent hitting this season that no younger rival has even threatened. The Senators have played 45 games so far, Rice has played in 44 of them; and only once has he failed to get at least one hit. Sam connected safely in 28 consecutive games before his streak was broken May 18 by Bob Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics. He picked up the series again the next day and has continued through 15 more games.

Games Postponed

Rice had no chance to continue his batting streak yesterday nor did his rivals do much hitting as wet grounds caused the postponement of two American league games while the pair that were played produced few hits compared to the totals that have been piled up in some recent games.

Joe Sewell of Cleveland and Russ Scaritt of the Boston Red Sox had perfect days with three and four hits respectively as the Indians gained a 9 to 4 victory over Boston, but neither is in a position to threaten the batting leader. The blows of the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Browns were pretty well distributed in the 5 to 4 triumph of the world's champions.

Denny Southern of the Philadelphia Nationals turned in the best batting feat of the day to help the Phillies to a 14 to 5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. In five times at bat, he hit five times and scored five runs. Four of his hits were doubles, equaling an all-time major league record set on July 3, 1883, by Pop Anson and Abner Dalrymple of the Chicago Nationals, and equalled six times since then. Chuck Klein added his 15th home run to the Philly hits.

The New York Giants hit 17 times, ten of the blows being divided between Critz, Leach and Terry, and defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 10 to 7, to move into a three way tie in games with the Cards and Pittsburgh for third place in the National league. Pittsburgh gained the post by a one point margin, defeating the Boston Braves, 4 to 3.

Chicago's Cubs scored their ninth successive victory at the expense of the Brooklyn Robins and Dazzy Vance 13 to 0, and cut the Robin's lead from two games to one.

KINGSTON TAKES ELEVEN EVENTS

Trenton Entrants Win Eight Firsts and Fourteen Seconds at District Meet.

NINE FOR BELLEVILLE.

KINGSTON, June 7.—Kingston boy athletes secured the advantage in the annual district track and field meet of the Ontario Athletic Commission at the Richardson Stadium yesterday afternoon, when they took eleven firsts, while Belleville captured first place in nine events. Trenton entrants were first eight times. Napanee won seven and Brockville two. No records were broken in the meet and only ten standards were equalled, the heavy rain being against the times and distance made.

Trenton made about the best showing on the afternoon's program, for they captured fourteen second place positions as well as finishing first eight times, while Kingston were second eight times, as were also the Belleville athletes, Napanee had two boys in second place.

It was significant that only two of the feld events found the standards being met, the heavy condition of the ground after the rains keeping the athletes from reaching the required mark for the Ontario finals. Good showings were made in the 100 yard dash, with R. Hughes of Brockville equalling the standard in the senior event, and H. Moore of Napanee covering the distance in the required time in the intermediate high school series.

R. Burtt of Trenton Public School was the individual winner of the day, finishing first four times, while H. Mott and R. Champaign of Belleville and H. Moore of Napanee were first in three events. M. James S. Langdon, G. McMahon of Kingston, R. Hughes of Brockville were winners in two events.

FRANKIE GENARO SURE OF VICTORY

New York Flyweight Confident He Will Retain Title on Tuesday.

BELANGER HARD HITTER.

TORONTO, June 7.—Frankie Genaro arrived here from New York yesterday in possession of the world's flyweight championship and expressed every confidence that he would still own the title after next Tuesday's bout at the Coliseum when he meets Albert "Frenchy" Belanger, hard-punching Canadian champion, in what will be the pair's fourth encounter.

Genaro expects a hard bout, for he admitted quite freely that he regards Belanger as the hardest hitting flyweight he has ever encountered, not even excluding the late Pancho Villa. However, the vetern Genaro thinks that he is sufficiently better boxer to keep Belanger from putting his heaviest punches to the best effect.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, been more like summer, ain't it? Sun-tan bathing suits is with us once again and the beach crop is been give the once over by all and sundry, with the general verdict being that more girl and less swimming suit is being glimpsed this year than ever before. They ain't many more places for the scissors to snip, and if sunlight is good for the health Peterborough flappers should set a new record.

I beg to report, Mac, I was among them that sat on the sand up in the Exhibition grandstand last Sat. p.m. and watched the local Rays and the lads from Cobourg fight it out in the Lakeshore loop. None other than Mister Ibey, but yesterday a hero of the Deloro Central Leaguers, dished up the curves for the visiting talent, Mister Ibey showing a grin and a fast curve that he had last year and a lobbing looper that he has found somewhere since 1929. It woulda been better if he hadn't come across the old Sally ball at all, for the Rays did all their hitting off of that soft delivery. When Mister Ibey cut loose with his speed the local hitters did just nothing at all with him. Our Mister Rus Kitchen pitched a very tidy little ball game for the Rays, who was ahead all the way through and never looked like getting knocked off until the eighth, when the invaders broke through Mister Kitchens service for a sizeable mess of hits that netted them 2 runs and in a position to take the lead. Barnacle Bill the Sailor, as I call the left-handed Mister Maudsley, was loosening up his port flipper ready to lead a rescue party when Mister Ibey helped a fellow-twirler out of the hole by neatly bunting into a double play that just totally ruined Cobourg's chances.

In the Woolworth loops, Mac, things is about normal, with the Electricians leading the parade. Them and the Cogs staged a loose battle last Fri. nite, the cold weather giving the lads such a attack of chilblains that they couldn't hardly intrack themselves. It was 1 of them games everybody was glad it was over and wished they'd of stayed home covering up the tomato plants.

High lights in the mush ball circuit this week so far, Mac, was the second bump of the season for Mister Harrison's champs, who took the count from the Westclox Big Bens. The Parkhill road grocer is having a new experience piloting a cellar berth crew, but the season is young yet, Mac. Another feature of the week was the debut of Mister Duggan, a twirler with a rural free delivery, who toiled on the hilltop for the Sugar Bowlers Wed. nite and turned in a win, despite some spotty fielding by the supporting cast. Mister Duggan jerks a ball in their like nobody's business, and it looks like they'll hafta buy Mister Lefty Connors a suit of armor if he is going to stay in there behind the bat with foul balls whizzing round like bombs in Chicago.

Well, Mac, I see Mister G. C. Alexander is outa the big show. As Andy sez, there were a pitcher. Baseball will miss a bird like Grover Cleveland, who had the stuff and the nerve to use it in a tight corner. Ask Mister Push 'Em Tony Lazzeri if you think I'm fooling.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

BOBBY JONES NOW ACCLAIMED THE CHAMPION OF CHAMPIONS

New British Amateur Victor Uses Only Wood Clubs.

CADDIEING PROFITABLE.

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright 1930)

TORONTO, June 7. (SNS)—Bobby Jones has at last attained to the heights of his ambition and annexed the British Amateur, which is the only major championship, with the exception of the Canadian Open, which he had not previously won, defeating in the final at historic St. Andrews, Roger Wethered, former British title-holder 7 and 6. Jones is on record as saying that he considers St. Andrews the finest test of golf in the world. At any rate it certainly seems to favor his particular type of game because it was here that he won the British Open in 1926 and 1927 the last time with the record score for the Open, 285.

The "Great Georgian," is now absolutely in a class by himself and can be rightly acclaimed, "champion of champions." Here is a carefully compiled personal record kept of this greatest amateur golfer of all time:

United States Amateur—1916 lost to Gardner, third round. Jones was then only 15 years of age. 1919—Runner-up to Herron. 1930 —Lost to Quimet, semi-finals. 1921—Lost to Hunter, third round. 1922—Lost to Sweetser, semi-finals. 1923— Lost to Marsdon, second round. 1924— won final from Von Elm. 19925—Won final from Gunn. 1927—Won final from Evans. 1928—Won final from Perkins. 1929—Lost to Goodman, first round.

United States Open—1920 — 8th place, after play-off with 299. 1921—5th place with 303. 1922—2nd with 289, after play-off. 1923—1st with 296. 1924—2nd with 300. 1925—2nd with 291, after play-off. 1926—1st with 293. 1927, 11th with 300 (the worst showing he ever made in any major event) 1928—2nd after play-off with 294. 1929—1st with 294 after play off.

British Amateur—1921— Lost to Graham, fourth round, 1926—Lost to Jamieson, sixth round. 1930 — Won championship, defeating Roger Wethered 7 and 6.

British Open—1921—picked up. 1926—1st 291. 1927. 1st 291.

Walker Singles—Jones won 5 lost 0. Defeated Wethered, Hezlet, Tolley, Perkins and Wethered again.

Tied In Canada

The only time Jones ever competed in a Canadian championship was in 1919 in the Open at Hamilton. He was then 18 years of age but tied with Barnes then in the zenith of his fame, and Karl Keffer the defending Canadian Open champion for second place. He has never participated in the Canadian amateur, although unquestionably if he had done so, it would have been his more or less "hands-down". It would be a great thing if he could be induced to enter for the Canadian Open again next month at Hamilton. He is playing in the British Open the week of June 16th, the U. S. Open July 10-12 and U. S. Amateur, next August. And he is already installed a warm favorite for all three championships. Jones has won the U. S. Amateur, four times, the U. S. Open, three times, the British Open twice and the British Amateur once.

It is rather interesting to note that Bobby Jones is one great golfer at any rate who has not succumbed to the fetish of the steel-shaft. On his visit to the Old Country he carried in his bag twenty clubs in all but everyone is hickory-shafted. On the other hand the other American members of the Walker Cup team all carry one or more steel-shafted clubs. In Great Britain where the steel shaft was banned until this season "steel" has become quite the fashion and manufacturers are finding it hard to keep up with the demand.

French Taking Up Game

The U. S. Women golfers touring Europe scored their first victory when last week in their International match with the French ladies they won out 10½ matches to 4½ matches. It was generally thought that Miss Collett's very strong aggregation would make a clean sweep of the event but the French girls displayed unexpected strength.

It is only quite recently that the fair Frenchwomen have taken up golf seriously. If they continue to improve and develop their game the next few years as they have done in the past decade, they will have to be seriously reckoned with in the International ladies matches which are to be shortly inaugurated and in which Great Britain, the United States, Canada and France will participate. France, is today supreme in tennis. It is quite on the cards that golf will be the next game her representatives, both men and women will master. In Montreal, French-Canadian woman, Madame Dagenais, of Montreal is the lady champion of Quebec.

On their showing against the U. S. stars, and comparing that showing with the results of the Canadian Ladies Open Championship, the past few years more or less dominated by American entrants, it would seem that the French women today would give Canadian women a stiff argument indeed in an International match.

Caddieing Profitable

A member of a Toronto golf club has figured it out that members of his club and near-by golf clubs pay $15,000 at least every season in Caddie fees. This means a substantial increase in income to many families living along the Lake Shore Road. A really good caddie during the week-end and holidays can earn one hundred dollars in a season. In addition to the financial side of caddieing is the healthful side. A boy trudging the links physically is all the better for the exercise and should also benefit mentally. Golf has been a great thing for many a boy and many a poor home especially when situated in the vicinity of a course with a large and influential membership. Then too it must not be forgotten that with hardly an exception the ranks of the professionals are recruited from caddies and professional golf is a well paid profession now-a-days—very few better. "By large and small" a caddie's lot generally speaking, unlike that of the proverbial policeman's "taking one consideration with another, is not an unhappy one.

K'oyed For First Time In 10 Years.

OMAHA, Neb., June 7—(C.P.)—When Billy Wells, former British welter-weight king, was knocked out last night in the second round by Young Jack Thompson, negro welter-weight champion of the world, it was the first time that Wells had ever been counted out in more than ten years of fighting.

The wily veteran was sent down for the count by a terrific overhand right that seemed to come out of nowhere. It landed flush and the Brititsh scrapper was counted out with seconds to spare.

Up to the time of the knock-out blow, the champion and Wells had waged an even battle. Thompson was fighting his first bout since defeating Jackie Fields in Detroit and annexing the title.

The title was not at stake, both being over-weight.

SCHMELING ADMITS HE MAY BE BEATEN

German Heavyweight Has No Plan of Campaign For Sharkey Bout.

ENDICOTT, N.Y., June 6. — Max Schmeling has built no air castles about his ability to win the world's heavyweight championship at Yankee Stadium a week from last night, and conceded in an interview with the United Press that he might actually lose.

"You never know what's going to happen in the ring" said Schmeling in broken, but easily understood English, "somebody might slip bananas in the ring and then one of us slip down. It might be me, it might be Sharkey. Of course, I'm going to try to win but I don't know how. I haven't any plans and what I do will depend entirely on what Sharkey does."

Schmeling emphatically stated that he would not go into the ring with the one idea in his head of trying to knock out Sharkey as many believe.

"I am going to fight my best and win if I can, but I do not say I can knock out Sharkey. If I get the opportunity to try for a knockout, I shall do that thing, but that will depend upon what happens in the ring and I don't know, you don't know, nobody knows now what's going to take place there."

While Schmeling admits he might lose, he also explains that this fight may be a lot easier for him than some others he has had.

"It's just another fight to me" said Schmeling. "I am in the best shape of my life and prepared for a hard fight, but Sharkey is human, too. He only cooks water like the rest of us. He might fight like a bum and I will have an easy time winning. However, the fight comes out, I have everything to win and nothing to lose. I'm a young man, just 24 and there'll still be time for me to win the championship even if Sharkey should defeat me."

LONDON, June 7 (C.P.)—A dispatch to The Daily Herald says that Miss Ida Dickinson, who was awarded the Kaisar-I-Hind silver medal in the King's birthday honors for social work in Bombay, has refused the honor as a protest against the Indian Government's "policy of repression."

She also resigned from the Bombay Legislative Council, of which she was the first and only woman member. Miss Dickinson's home is in London.

BROWNS THROW MINOR UPSET

Slow Pitch in Eight Innings Allows Brownton Runner to Score Winning Run.

FINAL COUNT 5-4.

The Brownton Juveniles provided a startling upset last night at the Exhibition Grounds by defeating the Kiwanis Juveniles by the count, 5—4, in 8 innings. The heavy hitting of the Kiwanis was notable only by its absence as Hetherington on the mound for the Brownies kept their war sticks silent for the most part.

It was a fast, well-played game that kept the fans on edge throughout. Brownton got off to a one run lead in the first which they retained until the fourth when the Kiwanis overtook them, bunching hits for two runs. A single and a double with two out once more tied up the game in the fifth and two hits, a walk and a bad throw to the plate allowed Brownton to forge into the lead in their half of the sixth by a score of 4—2.

A thrilling seventh inning rally gave the Kiwanis two runs to tie up the game again. There were two out when Cliff Cadd singled to right, Dennison batted for McIlwain and singled to left, scoring Cadd who had stole second. Dennison advanced to second on a passed ball and brought in the tieing run on McCullough's hit to centre.

Sweetman Falters

Jack Sweetman, who was now pitching, held Brownton in check in their half of the seventh and the game went into extra innings, but he faltered in the last of the 8th and walked the first three batters. He settled down to strike out the next two, but when Cadd threw to McCullough to pick a runner off first, the man on third streaked home and beat the return throw for the winning run.

This win for Brownton evens up the juvenile series at one game each. The Kiwanis having won the first game, 22—2.

YOUTHS LOSE LIVES IN FALL FROM DOCK

Boys Thrown From Bicycle Into Water While Riding Along Wharf Edge.

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C., June 7.—(C.P.)—Thrown from a bicycle over the edge of the Government wharf here, Bert Masters, 14, and Graham Clark, 14, were drowned last night. The bodies were not recovered.

According to witnesses, both boys were on one bicycle, one on the handlebars, and riding down the dock when the wheel struck the guard rail and pitched them into the water. Before help could reach them, they had disappeared, swept by the strong tide into deep water.

With the exception of the south-western part of the country, South Africa will have large crops this year.

REBEL TROOPS STEADILY GAIN

Nationalist Forces Face Difficult Task in Repulsing Invading Kiwangsi.

SHANGHAI, June 7.—(A.P.)— Nationalist forces seeking to defend the so-called Wuhan cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, against invading rebels of Kwangsi province, today apparently faced an increasingly difficult task.

Kankow dispatches said Kwangsi troops were advancing north-ward from Changsha, Hunan province in three columns, with the sister cities, situated at the juncture of the Han and Yangtse rivers, as their objective.

One of the columns was said to be penetrating directly northward along the Haichow Tungkwan railway. Another was proceeding northeastward into Kiangsi province with the important river port of Kiukiang as its immediate objective. The third column was advancing to the northwest toward Shasi, an important river port in Hupeh province, where the river trade is said to amount to at least one million dollars, gold, monthly. Acquisition of such revenue would be all-important to the rebels.

The invaders were deploying over a wide front placing the Nationalist troops in danger of being enveloped, as the latter concentrated their defense at Yoochow on Tung Ting lake. Secondary Nationalist defenses were being prepared 20 miles south of Wuchang.

Flank columns of the rebels were expected to meet with little opposition in their double drive to the Yangtse river.

SECOND CANADIAN MARATHON CLASSIC

Today will see the running of the second annual marathon classic of Canada under the direction of the Monarch A. C. of Toronto. As this event is under the auspices of the Ontario Branch of the A. A. U. of Canada, this race not only is the marathon championship, but is looked upon as the elimination trial for the selection of the Canadian team to represent this country in the British Empire games at Hamilton in August. It is realized by few that the marathon event at the Olympics is looked upon by international sport critics as the major event. Although Canada has put forth in the way of competition very little effort, she has made a mark for herself in this field of sport, which proves that we have the right stuff, and it should be encouraged. In 1904 William Sherring of Hamilton upset the dope at the Olympic games and Johnny Miles led the boys to the tape twice in the Boston Marathon.

Not only Canadians will face the starters' gun but with a large number of American entries from Buffalo comes Hans Oldag, the former 10,000 metre champion of Germany, who led Johnny Miles for 18 miles in his last Boston victory and caused Clarence DeMar to sit up and take notice. Joe Pearson formerly of Birchfield, England, will probably be an entry that will need more than ordinary watching. Canada will be represented by the club marathon champions of Canada, Percy Wyer, Ezra Lee and Alec Burnside, the three who won the Michigan State title in Detroit last year.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S MAY DANCE.

Neddie Stubtail, the boy bear, was climbing up a May pole with a hammer, a nail and a bunch of green, yellow, blue, pink and purple ribbons which he was going to fasten to the top.

"Be careful, Neddie, don't fall!" called his father. Mr. Stubtail stood on the ground at the bottom of the May pole with Uncle Wiggily and all the animal boys and girls who were going to join in the dance of Mr. Longears.

"I'll be careful!" grunted Neddie, who was digging his claws into the pole and hitching himself up and up and up toward the top.

Uncle Wiggily had planned a May dance, even though it was now June. He had forgotten about it in May, but his wife said that didn't make any difference so Uncle Wiggily got a tall pole and Mr. Stubtail, the bear daddy of Neddie, helped the rabbit gentleman set the pole up.

Then, as Nurse Jane came out with the ribbons which were to be twined around the pole as the animal children danced, it was seen that Uncle Wiggily and the old bear had set up the pole, forgetting to first fasten the robbons to it

Uncle Wiggily saw nothing else to do but take the pole down to fasten the bunch of ribbons to the top, and then to set the pole up again. But Neddie was a smart little bear and he said he would climb up and nail the ribbons to the top, which would save a lot of work. And now Neddie was climbing up.

"Oh, s'posin' he falls!" whispered Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit, to Beckie, the sister of Neddie.

"Neddie won't fall!" spoke Beckie. "He knows how to climb poles and trees." Neddie really climbed up very well, sticking his long, sharp claws into the wood of the May pole. The pretty ribbons dangled from his pocket into which he had tucked the bunch of ends of the colored streamers.

"Careful now, Neddie! Careful!" called Uncle Wiggily looking up.

"I won't fall!" Neddie answered. Then, like a telephone man, Neddie

The children danced around the May pole

wrapped one leg around the pole, holding himself in place by digging the claws of his other foot into the pole. Next, using his front paws, Neddie nailed the bunch of ribbon ends to the top of the pole, letting the long, colored streamers dangle so the loose ends could be reached by the animal children down on the ground.

"Here I come down!" cried Neddie. Having finished his work he slid down the May pole like an acrobat in the circus and joined the other children. Everyone said how smart Neddie was. His father and Beckie were quite proud of him and so was his mother the lady bear.

"Now for the May dance!" cried Uncle Wiggily when the ribbons, made fast at the top of the high pole, fluttered in the wind around the bottom. "Each of you children take hold of a ribbon end and begin to dance. Twist and twine in and out to weave the ribbons around the pole so it will look like a rainbow."

"We should have some music to dance by," called Baby Bunty.

"I will make music for you," offered some robins, some song sparrows and three jolly, little wrens. While the birds sang, the animal children danced around the May pole, twining the blue, green, yellow, pink, purple and white ribbons into a beautiful garland. Then Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy who, with Mr. Stubtail and Mrs. Longears were watching the dance, saw a long ribbon of red fluttering idly in the wind.

"There is one extra ribbon that no one has hold of," said Nurse Jane.

"Uncle Wiggily ought to be dancing," called the bear gentleman. "Hi, Wiggy!" he called to the rabbit. "Catch hold of that red ribbon and join in the dance. Dance with the children!"

"Oh, all right!" answered Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose. Taking hold of the end of red ribbon, Mr. Longears began to hop, skip and jump around his May pole as the children were doing. In and out among the animal boys and girls Uncle Wiggily jumped, twisting his red ribbon in with theirs.

Then, all of a sudden, Baby Bunty gave a scream and cried:

"Here comes the Bob Cat!" Surely enough that Bad Chap, with the silly little tail, having heard about Uncle Wiggily's May dance, had made up his mind to come to it though he wasn't invited.

"For maybe," thought the Bob Cat, "when they are dizzy from dancing I can catch a little rabbit or maybe Uncle Wiggily himself!"

So the Bob Cat sneaked up to the dance and Baby Bunty saw him first. But, no sooner had the little orphan given the cry of warning than Uncle Wiggily took out his knife and cut off the end of his red ribbon. Then with this ribbon in his paws, the rabbit ran straight at the Bob Cat and, before the bad chap could get over being surprised, the rabbit twisted that ribbon around his jaws so he couldn't bite. And he twisted the red ribbon around his claws so he couldn't scratch. And then Uncle Wiggily said: "Send for the Police Dog!"

And when the Police Dog came running, he arrested the tied-up Bob Cat, taking him off to jail. And then the May dance was finished.

MR. PECK'S LETTER

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir.—Mr. E. A. Peck, M.P., demands a "retraction" from me because I maintain that Mr. Bennett, his leader, as did Mr. Meighen whom Mr. Peck followed so faithfully (except into exile) is not in favor of a British or Empire preference. He quoted Mr. Bennett as having endorsed the preference and Mr. Dunning's budget in that respect.

I do not deny that he did so, but finding no doubt that this was going to put him in a hole he also said the opposite on the same day (May 6, Hansard):

"Mr. Bennett: If a dollar goes to the West Indies that should go to a Canadian, it is no better than if the money went to the United States.

Mr. Mackenzie King: Shame.

Mr. Bennett: Oh, no, we are not talking about five-cent pieces.

Mr. Dunning: I hope that is correctly reported.

Mr. Bennett: I want to repeat it. I stand for Canada, and upon that issue of Canadians before any other people in the world I am prepared to seek the suffrage of my fellow men.

Mr. Mackenzie King: What about the British Empire?

Mr. Bennett: I am for the British Empire next to Canada, the only difference being that some gentlemen are for the United States before Canada. I am for the British Empire after Canada. Let me put this question to the Minister of Finance, and let me put it also to the unemployed walking the streets to-day: If we buy steel in Pittsburg and those men are deprived of employment; if we now shift the buying of that steel to another country, what boots it the unemployed? If this country has attained equality of status with respect to constitutional matters, this country stands to maintain its economic life as against the world. What is more, the development of the British Empire lies in the development of each unit comprising that Empire.

Now sir, at last the hon. gentlemen have indicated what really is in their minds and what has been in their minds all the time in connection with this tariff. It is not a tariff in which they are concerned about Canada or Canadians; it is a tariff by which they hope to get large headlines in English papers by which they hope to be talked about as being the saviours of Empire; by which they will be talked about as bringing about Empire solidarity. What have they done for Great Britain? Well, sir, I think I have a record which will yield to that of no hon. gentleman opposite in my love and devotion to that Empire, but I would be indeed a poor Britisher if I were not a Canadian first. "That man's the best Britisher that loves Canada most." That is the story. That man is the best Britisher who loves Canada most, and any legislation that subordinates this country either constitutionally or economically to any other country whether it be within or without the British Empire is bad legislation."

Some preference that, Mr. Peck, isn't it? No doubt however, we shall presently hear from you a clear call for unity of the Empire founded on preferences as asked for by the London Empire Conference of 1926, His Majesty presiding. According to you Mr. Bennett is all for the Dunning budget.

If so, then let him and you say so and you will get our votes but not—not if a dollar going to the British Empire is no better than having it go to the United States.

I am afraid that like the hen that raised the duckling, you have been deceived, Mr. Peck.

J. H. BURNHAM.

TREATING ROADS DUST NUISANCE

Laying Calcium Chloride On Chemong, Warsaw and Dummer Highways.

FEW MINOR REPAIRS.

Large quantities of calcium chloride have been put on the Peterborough-Lakefield road in the past week by the Suburban Area Commission to lay the dust and it is planned to treat in a similar manner the Chemong, Warsaw and Dummer roads The Examiner was told to-day by Duncan McFarlane, county roads superintendent.

Last year calcium chloride was used with excellent results on the Chemong road and sections of the Lakefield road. The compound is of such a nature that it condenses moisture and keeps the surface of the road on which it is laid in a damp condition, thus preventing dust.

Roads in the district are in excellent condition at present, Mr. McFarland reports. He claimed that the Lakefield road is now one of the best gravel roads in the Province.

Very little work will be done this year on the roads for which the Commission is responsible, he said, in view of their excellent condition. A few minor repairs are being made at present.

PLEADS GUILTY TO STARTING FIRES

Wellington Tate Is Fined $25 And Costs in Police Court.

30 ACRES BURNED.

Charged with unlawfully setting fire which spread and burned 30 acres of timberland in South Burleigh at the east end of Stoney Lake on May 12 and 13, Stuart Murphy appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley at Warsaw yesterday afternoon and pleaded not guilty. He was remanded to June 20.

Wellington Tate pleaded guilty when charged with having committed a similar offence at Nogies Creek in Harvey township before Magistrate Langley at Buckhorn on Wednesday and was fined $25 and costs.

Coincidentally, both alleged offences were committed on May 12 according to H. W. Crosby, district fire ranger who laid the charges. Murphy, it is alleged by Mr. Crosby, was clearing land which he owned in Burleigh, for agricultural purposes but failed to take the precautions demanded by the Ontario Forest Fire Prevention Act. The fire spread and burned 30 acres of Crown timber land. The blaze was spotted by the forest rangers from Methuen tower on May 13, the day after it originated, and was put under control in two hours.

Tate, without receiving a permit, started a fire on his property at Nogies' Creek also to clear the land for agricultural purposes. When it got out of his control and spread to a neighboring timber area on May 13 it was spotted by rangers in the Gull Lake tower and the Methuen tower. It was got under control quite readily by the rangers.

Both men were warned by rangers on the day they started the fires that they would be held responsible and must take all precautions.

The cases were prosecuted by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., of Peterborough. He claimed that it was through such breaches of the fire laws and such negligence that large forest fires usually start and urged the necessity of protecting the Province's forest resources.

NEW U. S. TARIFF RATES CALLED PROHIBITIVE

PARIS, June 6.—(C.P.)— A letter requesting attention of the United States' Government be called to anxiety of French industry at proposed increases in United States' tariffs has been sent the French Minister of Commerce, M. Flandin, by the French Federation of Industries and the National Association for Economic Expansion.

The letter characterizes the proposed new duties as a prohibitive barrier to most of the principal French industries and predicts a tariff war "dangerous alike to world prosperity and peace."

PLEASED WITH FILM.

In acknowledging receipt of the Trent Waterway film which he had requested from the Trent Waterway-Iroquois Trail Association, Joseph A. Avery, deputy prosecuting attorney of South Bend, Indiana, says that the films were shown to two groups of people, providing an audience of about 65 people. "Comment on the films was unusually flattering to your section of country and many expressed a desire to visit that district."

The film was afterwards forwarded to Edward K. Delana, treasurer, The Creamery Package Manufacturing Company, of Chicago.

WELCOME SIGNS

Among the many attractive signs of welcome to delegates to the Shriners Convention which opens in Toronto on Monday, is a large shield bearing the Shrine Symbols and International flags which is placed in a prominent position on the corner of the Canadian Department Stores Simcoe and George street store. Numerous service stations throughout the city also carry messages of welcome to the delegates, who are expected to visit this district including the Kawarthas, in very large numbers immediately after the convention closes.

ATTRACTIVE CAMP DISPLAY

An attractive display advertising the merits of "Inglestane" Y.W.C.A. Camp on Stoney Lake, is at present appearing in the south window of The Examiner office.

A great deal of originality is displayed in the little tableaux, which is complete with a miniature lake, canoes and fishing parties, miniature automobiles, etc.

Pictures of last year's activities at "Inglestane" afford one a good idea of the beautiful country in which the camp is located and of the benefits to be derived from a vacation spent there.

MANY SWIMMERS ATTEND

Sports hour at the Y.W.C.A. pool attracted a large group of swimmers and spectators last evening.

Senior diving competitions were won by Hazel Bradley and Eileen Bowler, and junior diving by Margaret Pitchford.

Hazel Bradley and Gladys Johnson won the senior speed races and Phyllis Pitchford the junior speed.

The swimming meet next week will be on Thursday evening instead of Friday.

HEALTH FACTS

The Chiropractor knows that pressure upon nerves at the spine interferes with the functional activity of tissues supplied by the impinged nerves. If nerve fibers supplying the arm are pinched the strength, sensation or movement of the arm will be impaired. If nerves supplying the liver or stomach are pinched those organs cannot work properly. This is true of any tissue of the body.

BY RELEASING

pressure from these impinged nerves normal health and activity is restored to the weakened tissues. There are many different diseases because there are many nerve trunks and they are affected in many different ways. However, the fundamental principles of Chiropractic are applicable in practically all ailments and health is restored in a normal, natural way.

SIX LABORERS DIE UNDER DETROIT RIVER

TORONTO WOMAN IS HELD FOR MURDER

BLOODY HATCHET IS FOUND BESIDE REMAINS OF MAN

Tragedy Revealed as Woman With Torn Clothing Tells Store Clerk.

CORONER INVESTIGATES.

Police Seek Four Men Thought to Have Been Present at Killing.

TORONTO, Ont., June 9.—(C.P.)—Helena Vedneski, was arrested early today and formally charged with the murder of a man believed to be Albert Mallette, 45, address unknown.

Clothes Blood Stained

Intimation that a tragedy had taken place was first given when a woman, with torn and blood-stained clothes ran into a Queen Street store and told the clerk that a murder had been committed at her house. Coroner Dr. Crawford, who was immediately called testified that death had occured about two hours previously. A bloody stained hatchet was discovered near the body.

Police are searching for four men who are believed to have been in the house at the time the killing took place.

Mrs. Vedneski, who was released from jail yesterday on the charge of keeping a disorderly house and whose husband is still serving time for a similar offense, at first denied killing Mallette and alleged she had come home about 6:30 a.m. and had found the body of the dead man but after a stiff gruelling police say, she admitted having killed the man with the axe in an endeavor to protect her honor, Mallette, who had previously roomed with the Vedneskis, moved back there this morning. She told him he had no right to be there, according to her statement to the police, and ordered him out. Mallette, she says, refused to go and then pulled her into the room with him and attempted an indecent assault.

The police hold the theory that she picked up the axe which was apparently close at hand and struck him down.

The body was discovered by the police lying on the landing of the first floor with the legs in the bathroom. The body was removed to the morgue.

Double Betrothal in Royal Houses Of Greece and Hesse is Announced

BERLIN, June 9 (Canadian Press). — A double betrothal between the former royal houses of Greece and Hesse has been formally announced.

The engagement of Hereditary Grand Duke George Donatus of Hesse aged 23, and eighteen-year-old Princess Cecilie of Greece, previously reported unofficially in the Berlin papers, was confirmed by an announcement from Darmstadt to-day.

The Court Marshal of the Landgrave of Hesse also announced the engagement of Prince Christopher Ernest Auguste, youngest son of Landgrave Friedrich, and the Princess Sophie, daughter of Prince Andrew of Greece. Princess Sophie will be sixteen on June 26. Prince Christopher's brother Philippe married Princess Mafalda of Italy in 1925.

The Princess Cecilie also is a daughter of Prince Andrew, whose brother, Prince Christopher, was the husband of the late Mrs. William B. Leeds. The Hesse family is lated to both the British Royal Family and the Hohenzollerns.

SHRINE NOBLES PAY TRIBUTE TO TORONTO'S DEAD

Wreath Laid on Cenotaph on Behalf of 600,900 Members of Order.

CITY SQUARE JAMMED.

Shriner's Bands Take Possession of Downtown Streets For Parades.

TORONTO, Ont., June 9 (C.P.).—Before the Cenotaph erected to the memory of Toronto's dead, the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine joined with the people of this city to-day in another manifestation of international goodwill.

"On behalf of the 600,900 members of this Order, which is founded on the ideal of universal brotherhood, I am honored to lay a wreath on this monument in memory of those who gave their all that we might enjoy liberty and happiness to-day," said Leoff Youngworth, Los Angeles, Calif., Imperial Potentate of the Order.

Mayor Wemp, wearing the medals awarded him for distinguished service in the Canadian forces overseas, accepted the wreath on behalf of the city, and declared the best guarantee of world peace was the friendship of the United States and the British Empire.

City Hall Square Filled.

A crowd which filled all corners of City Hall Square stood bare-headed as the band of the Toronto Shriners played the National Anthems of both countries, and "Nearer my God to Thee." The music ended with the sound of the Last Post.

So large was the crowd in the Square that in one corner a wide store window threatened to break beneath the pressure, and the shrieks of frightened women punctuated the Mayor's speech until the danger was averted.

The order of traffic and the quiet early morning hum of the business district were interrupted in a summary manner, but one that was nevertheless welcome to the citizens when the Shrine bands took possession of the streets in alternate serenades and parades. Music of varying modes was provided by the temples from Akron, Ohio; Milwaukee, Wis.; Lacrosse, Wis.; Boston, Mass.; and Peoria, Ill., while the Indianapolis Gun Club climaxed a display of musketry with shots from what resembled a small trench mortar.

Further drilling and athletic events occupied the afternoon, while in quiet quarters apart the jolly jesters and the recorders of the Order continued their sessions.

Trains throughout the day are expected to bring the total number of visitors to the convention to from 35,000 to 50,000.

PROMINENT CLERGYMAN DEFENDS GOOD NAME OF ONTARIO AGAINST SLANDER OF U. S. DRY OFFICIALS

Rev. James Mackenzie Ably Denounced the U. S. Dry Leaders.

CHEAP PUBLICITY SEEKERS.

Finds As Much Liquor Drunk in So-called Dry South.

BOSTON, Mass., June 9 (Special to The Examiner). — Paying a splendid tribute to the cities of Toronto, Windsor, Hamilton and Peterborough in Ontario and to the officials who have the management of those cities in their hands and bitterly scoring the "scurrilous and libellous statements and articles in connection with the liquor situation in the Province of Ontario and especially in the above-named cities,' the Rev. James G. Mackenzie, formerly of Peterborough, and long a temperance leader, declared yesterday that the so-called "dry leaders" in the United States are "cheap publicity seekers." We have a peculiar situation here, especially just at this time," Mackenzie declared. "We hear so much about the dry South and the rottenness of the liquor situation in the Province of Ontario.

Knows Little or Nothing.

"I wish that every city of the United States was as dry or as well managed as Toronto, Windsor, Hamilton, or Peterborough. I have lived in those cities and I know them. I know their people and I know their ideals. I have only just recently completed reading the bitter attack upon these cities and on Ontario liquor situation by the Rev. Mr. Cannon, who, I believe, knows little or nothing of what he wrote or stated. The dry leaders uttering scurrilous and libellous statements ,or issuing similar statements in connection with the liquor situation in Ontario should be squelched.

"There should be some way of putting a stop to the false propaganda being spread throughout this section of the United States.

"I do not know if these so-called 'dry leaders' are just paid to attack Canada, or if they are just seekers after publicity, but I do know they are doing their best to stir up animosity between two friendly nations by their lying accusations.

"I have resided in these splendid Ontario cities and the so-called dry South, and I have had a chance to study conditions in both places, and I have seen just as much liquor drunk in the South, no, not liquor—poison, bootleg rum—yes, right under the nose of the Rev. Mr. Cannon, and any time he feels thirsty he will not have to go far. He may not get the quality that he should procure in Ontario, but he can have any quantity right in his own home town.

"I consider Toronto one of the finest cities I ever have visited or resided in for any length of time, and I know from first hand knowledge that the liquor situation in that city, and in fact in the entire province of Ontario, is as near to what we might desire for temperanne in North America.

Clean and Dry.

"I can say the very same of Peterborough and Hamilton, two excellent cities, well managed, and what I personally call clean and dry Perhaps Windsor may have more liquor and perhaps it has a different class of people, much of it drifting and foreign, the cause of its border

SEVEN DROWNED AS CAR PLUNGES INTO OLD QUARRY

Tragedy Revealed as Body of Woman Seen Floating Near Souderton Road.

WATER 50 FEET DEEP.

Two Women's Bodies, Two Men's Straw Hats and Baby's Milk Bottle Found.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., June 9 (C.P.)—Seven persons were drowned yesterday afternoon in the plunge of an automobile into fifty feet of water in an abandoned quarry on the Soudetron-Hatfield road near Souderton, 28 miles north of Philadelphia.

The accident was not discovered until to-day, when the body of a woman was seen floating on the surface of the water.

Two Bodies Found

The bodies of two women were found in the quarry to-day along with two men's straw hats and a baby's milk bottle. The wire cable surrounding the quarry on the edge of the Souderton-Hatfield road and a post were broken and automobile tracks led over the side of the quarry bank.

Later is was established in this city that six persons, five of one family, had not returned to their home in German-town, this city, from a visit to relatives at Telford, north of the quarry.

"Southern Cross" is Awaiting Weather

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 9 (C.P.).—Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and the crew which will pilot the Southern Cross with him in a trans-Atlantic flight attempt, are passing the time leisurely at Baldonnel Aerdrome, awaiting weather reports which will determine their plans for a take-off. They have been delayed two days thus far by adverse reports.

Captain Saul, the navigator, has insured his life for the trip, and is paying a premium of 400 pounds sterling (about $2,000). The capital sum involved has been kept a close secret, but it is believed to be £5,000. He is a master mariner, and has crossed the Atlantic many times.

T. WALKER WINS WHIPPET SEDAN

Large Crowd Watch Mayor Denne Draw Lucky Number.

OTHER WINNERS.

Tom Walker will not have to walk any more. He was the lucky possessor of ticket number 2041 which claims the Whippet Sedan given free in the J. J. Duffus Limited motor show contest which closed Saturday night. The lucky stub was drawn from the churn in which all stubs had previously been thoroughly mixed by His Worship, Mayor Denne, in the presence of a crowd estimated at 5 000 people.

Mr. Walker is a real estate agent, residing at 345 Rubidge street. Other prize winners were:

Robert Armour, 271 McGill street (2927) pair of Seiberling Tires; Reginald Whitehead, 262 Wolfe street (3706) 10 gallons of Marvelube oil; Mrs. Stanley Millage, R.R. 4, Peterborough, (6974), 5 gallons Marvelube Oil; Albert O'Connell, R.R. 2, Ida. (8520), 3 gallons Marvelube oil; Court Gibson, Springville, (414), 2 gallons Marvelube oil; Robert E. G. Sturgeon, 480 George street, 1 gallon Marvelube oil, (9 216).

Long before the draw was scheduled to take place, the crowd commenced to congregate in the street leading to the C.P.R. freight sheds from the roof of which the prize winners were announced by Art. Blade.

Ten sorters were kept busy all evening in the Duffus' offices, arranging the entry cards in chronological order, after which J. J. Duffus, accompanied by the Mayor and a special committee composed of Messrs. R. M. Glover, J. Wearing and J. F. MacKenzie of North Monaghan, and the Ontario Sales Manager of Willys-Overland Sales, W. Scott of Toronto, made their way to the roof and announced the result to the expectant throng below.

PLANS ATLANTIC FLIGHT

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 9 (C.P.)—Arthur J. Cunnock, textile magnate and Harvard football star of the early nineties, died unexpectedly of heart disease at his home, 251 Park avenue yesterday. He was 62 years old.

ONE ACCIDENT OVER WEEK-END

No Smashups in City Despite Congestion of Traffic Owing to Street Repairs.

HIGHWAY ALSO CLEAR.

Again Peterborough and district reports almost a clean sheet as far as week-end motor accidents are concerned. Despite the fact that most of the downtown area is partly barricaded on account of the curbing operations and preparations for re-surfacing, making the streets particularly congested, there were no motor accidents. Also there were no accidents on the highways running into the city.

Yesterday afternoon a truck struck the car of Steven Elmhirst on the Asphodel and Otonabee boundary road. Elmhirst, accompanied by his wife and three small children, was driving out of his laneway when his car was struck by the truck. No one was injured, although the car was damaged.

LACK OF OFFICIAL EXECUTIONER STAYS DEATH SENTENCE FOR SIX

Appeal May Result in Delay Till Florida Legislature Meets in 1931.

Judge Holds Law Invalid.

RAIFORD, Fla., June 9. (C.P.)—Six men in death cells at the Florida prison farm believe to-day that an indefinite period—weeks or perhaps months—had been added to their life span by a court decision declaring unconstitutional an act of the State Legislature designating an official executioner.

One of their number held a writ of habaes corpus issued in connection with the decision and attorneys said the order was applicable to the others.

Appeal to Supreme Court

Attorney-General Fred H. Davis said an appeal would be taken to the State Supreme Court. An affirmative decision by the high tribunal would have the effect of delaying further executions until the State Legislature could meet and remedy the law. The next regular session of the Legislature is set for April, 1931.

The writ of habeas corpus halted the execution of J. W. Buchanan, of Taylor County, convicted of the murder of two Federal prohibition agents. Buchanan was sentenced to death in the killing of W. C. Mobray, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the slaying of J. P. Brandt, both of whom were shot in a liquor raid on Buchanan's farm.

He was to have died in the electric chair to-morrow.

Circuit Judge A. Z. Adkins held that the law creating the electric chair was invalid because it violated the State constitution by naming the Superintendent of the penitentiary as the executioner. He said that the act should provide that executions be made by persons appointed by the Governor or elected by the people.

The five others in death cells include T. Southworth, Palm Beach County, who shot R. C. Wells, wealthy clubman during a holdup at a party given by Wells.

28 Illegal Executions

Judge Adkins declared if the Supreme Court sustained his decision it would mean that 28 men have been electrocuted in an illegal manner in Florida since the electric chair came into operation in 1923.

There could be no recourse for families of those who have been convicted and executed. Attorney-General Davis said. The Federal constitution and the constitution of Florida provide that the state cannot be named in a suit without its permission.

LAWRENCE THE HERO OF ARABIA

Rotary Hears Fascinating Story of His Part in Allenby's Success.

A SPLENDID ADDRESS.

A fascinating glimpse of the romantic career of that man of mystory of Allenby in Palestine, was influence with the Arabs played such a prominent part in the crushing victory of Allanby in Palestine, was given members of the Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon to-day, when Donald Crawford, vice-principal of the King Edward School, gave a most interesting address on the subject.

At to-day's meeting Rotarian W. R. Morris presented a brief report of the recent district conference at Niagara Falls, which he described as both interesting and entertaining.

President Ross L. Dobbin called attention to the fact that Rotarian Morris had very modestly refrained from mentioning that he himself had been one of the speakers, the president reporting that the address by Rotarian Morris had been much appreciated.

Rotarian James Juby stated that as a result of losing the attendance contest to the local club, the members of Batavia, N.Y., Club had entertained Peterborough delegates to the conference.

In connection with the Rotary Street Fair a week from Wednesday, Rotarian John H. Seels, chairman of the committee, reminded Rotarians of their duties on that occasion.

Reports from the various teams selling tickets for the Pontiac car showed Rotarian Tom Dutton's team in the lead. Thousands of tickets are being sold, it was reported.

Introduced by Rotarian R. J. Bolton, Mr. Crawford began with a brief

PRESBYTERIANS DECIDE TO MEET OTHER CHURCH REPRESENTATIVES

Rev. Dr. Johnstone is Bitterly Opposed By Several on Resolution.

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED.

HAMILTON, Ont., June 9.—(C.P.)—By a large majority the Presbyterian General Assembly this morning recorded its willingness to meet with representatives of the other churches. Introduced by Rev. Dr. Johnstone of St. Catharines and seconded by Rev. Dr. L. B. Gibson of Cooke's Church, Toronto the motion read: "That the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, consistent with its practice in the past, and with the spirit of Presbyterianism through all its history, records its readiness to meet in conference with representatives of other evangelical bodies upon matters of common interest to them in their prosecution of the work of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ".

Defeated in 1925

Rev. Dr. Johnstone stated to the press that the same resolution, introduced by himself at the historic General Assembly of 1925 in Toronto, was then waved aside by a motion of the Moderator's hand, and failed to receive a single vote.

When the debate re-opened this morning it was moved in amendment by Rev. Capt. G. C. Taylor of Montreal that "Owing to existing conditions such a conference is inopportune at present". Rev. Capt. Taylor charged that the United Church are persisting in open propaganda against Presbyterians, and that there can be no conference where there is no trust. Rev. Dr. John Buchanan of India thought there should be at least a meeting to adjust misunderstandings, and moved an amendment to the amendment, that a special committee be appointed for this purpose.

Both amendments were decisively defeated.

In replying to charges of Capt. Taylor, Rev. Dr. S. Banks Nelson said that the disagreements between the two churches are due to the legal department of the United Church which, he said, has taken the Salt Springs case to the Privy Council, and has requested the Federal Government to enumerate all Presbyterians as members of the United Church in the next census. At this there were cries of "shame!" Rev. Dr. Nelson favored a conference without any pledge to co-operation. Who'se afraid of Bob Cochrane? Who's afraid of Endicott"? he demand. "It's not the lion's mouth, but the fox stealing chickens that we're dealing with"! He declared that it was a national disgrace for two great churches not to be on speaking terms with each other and urged that the confidence be re-established.

Much Heckling

In closing the debate Rev. Dr. Johnstone was repeatedly heckled, and Capt. Taylor interrupted on a point of order. On the suggestion of Drs. Campbell and Nelson he was forced to withdraw part of his resolution and agree that it did not pledge the Presbyterian church to co-operation except on its own conditions. The Assembly divided on a standing vote which showed an overwhelming majority for the resolution.

TORONTO GREETS SHRINE MEMBERS WITH OPEN ARMS

Imperial Potentate Greeted By Mayor Wemp and Hon. Geo. S. Henry.

WAR DEAD HONORED.

Special Trains Swell Numbers Every Hour—Official Opening To-day.

TORONTO, Ont., June 9.—(C.P.)—While special trains every hour added to the number of delegates coming for the annual session of the Ancient and Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, those Shriners who had already arrived joined the citizenry of Toronto in the solemn observance of the Sabbath.

Early yesterday the welcome of the Shrine, the city and the province was extended to Leo. F. Youngworth, Imperial Potentate, Los Angeles, Calif., on his arrival at Fez City. He was greeted by Mayor Bert S. Wemp and Hon. George S. Henry, Ontario Minister of Highways both wearing the Fez, indicative of their own membership in the Shrine. Fraternal embraces were exchanged, but there were no other formalities beyond the good will gesture of the wife of the Mayor of this Canadian city in presenting American Beauty roses to Mrs. Youngworth.

Impressive Ceremony.

An impressive ceremony in front of the City Hall, where Leo V. Youngworth, Imperial Potentate, laid a wreath on the cenotaph in memory of Canada's war dead, was one of the outstanding features of the official opening of the convention today.

Escorted from Shrine headquarters by hundreds of the members of this Ancient Arabic Order in colorful uniforms, the Imperial Potentate was met at the City Hall by Mayor Bert S. Wemp and other officials. After this ceremony the delegates journeyed to the Exhibition gorunds where some 12,000 Toronto cadets and bands and 2,000 girls staged 'Young Canada' Day parade.

Various other events are on tapis to-day for the entertainment of the 30,000 or so Shriners.

MISSING PILOTS FOUND IN NORTH

Lived Four Days in Bush on Hard Tack and Speckled Trout.

GROUNDED IN STORM.

TORONTO, June 9.—Pilot Carl Crossley and Observer Gordon of the Provincial Air Force, who vanished during a bush fire patrol over the Elsas district, between Bisco and Chapleau, last Tuesday morning, were found on Saturday at 11 o'clock by George Phillips, superintendent of Western flying operations, on an out-of-the-way lake, on to which their Moth machine had first been forced down by storm, and had been damaged so severely in an attempted take-off.

Reports on the incident furnished to Captain W. Roy Maxwell, director of the service, state that when Phillips dropped down in his rescue plane in response to Crossley's smoke signal, he found the pair ensconced in a birch bark shelter of their own fashioning, and that they had been living for four days on hard tack, "sergeant-major's" tea and speckled trout, which they caught with crudely improvised tackle.

Phillips returned at once to Chapleau, ordered Pilot Overbury of the Sudbury patrol into the "shipwrecks" with provisions, and then flew cross-country to the Sault, where he secured repairs for the damaged undercarriage of the stranded machine. These repairs he took in yesterday morning, and last night the plane was back at the Bisco Station for a real overhauling.

Crossley told Phillips that lightning and heavy rain had first forced them down from their fire patrol. Then rough water on the lake had interfered with their attempted take-off after the storm, and the damage done the plane's carriage was of such a nature that they simply had to "sit tight" until somebody came along and helped them out of their predicament.

CAROL IS PROCLAIMED MONARCH AFTER FIVE YEARS' BANISHMENT ONLY ONE MINISTER IS OPPOSED

New King Interviews His Divorced Wife, Princess Helen.

ARMY SWEARS FIDELITY.

Great Reception Being Prepared For Return of Queen Marie.

BUCHAREST, Rumania June 9 (Canadian Press).—Proclaimed King of Rumania after five years of exile, King Carol II. today was busy consulting political leaders and in picking up the threads of life once more in the capital of his fathers.

Vital Problem

The most vital of Carol's problems was the relationship between him and his former wife, Princess Helen, mother of nine-year-old Michael, former King and now back in the nursery.

Carol had an interview with Princess Helen last night and it is understood it was decided for the present at any rate neither would apply for annulment of the decree of divorce granted Princess Helen two years ago.

The Bucharest papers state that little Michael's education will now be in the hands of the King and henceforth he will live at the Royal Palace at Cotroceni.

King Carol was proclaimed King by an almost unanimous vote in the Rumanian Parliament yesterday. The only vote cast against him was that of Vintila Bratianu, former Premier and Liberal leader, and brother of Lionel Bratianu, onetime dominant political figure in Rumania.

Army to Back King

The army has taken the oath of fidelity to the new King and Carol has issued a proclamation to the Rumanian people stating that he had returned to serve his country and making an appeal for all groups to co-operate in the interests of the state.

The King went to Curtes last night to visit the grave of his father, King Ferdinand, who died three years ago. He seemed deeply affected as he placed two wreaths on the tomb. He was back in Bucharest this afternoon resuming his consultations with political leaders.

On his return to-day the King was given an enthusiastic reception by the populace.

Queen Sends Congratulations

Queen Marie, from Oberammergau where she is attending the passion play, this morning telegraphed her congratulations to Carol on the assumption of the throne and expressed pleasure that Prince Nihcolas is supporting him. Carol was said to be preparing a wonderful reception for his mothers upon her return here June 14 and to be paying particular attention to the part which she will play in his coronation ceremony which will probably take place next October.

POLICE TO CHECK MALTA DISPLAYS

Angrly Crowd Shouts Threats Outside Church at Archbishop.

RESERVES CALLED OUT.

VALETTA, Malta, June 9 (C.P.)—Police to-day intended to check sharply any further demonstrations by clerical and Government sympathizers such as occurred yesterday before the cathedral after the Catholic Archbishop had commented upon his dissension with the Island Premier, Lord Strickland.

In the course of his Whitsunday service the Archbishop asserted that civil servants always obey the Bishops and that in every struggle between Church and State the Church always proves to be right. The words were heard outside and an angry crowd gathered and threatened for a while to storm the church.

"Down With Italy"

There were cries of "Long live Strickland!" "Down with Italy!" The Archbishop remained inside the cathedral and mounted police were called upon to disperse the crowd. Several charges were made from various points until finally the Archbishop appeared to the cheers of supporters and the jeers of the Government sympathizers.

He was driven to his palace in that atmosphere. Several arrests were made and all shops remained closed during the disturbance. The feeling is the outgrowth of a long church-Government conflict culminating recently when the church proposed to send to Sicily a native Maltese-born monk, a British citizen, against his wishes. The Premier upheld the monk.

Milk Diet Protesters

MUNICH (U. P.). — As a protest against the increase in tax on beer the inhabitants of a Bavarian village declared a one-day strike. They held an indignation meeting in a local restaurant and drank all afternoon long, but they drank nothing but milk. It is not recorded, however, that these Bavarians, to whom beer is one of the most essential things in life, have gone permanently on a milk diet.

NOMINATION ENDS IN WILD DISORDER AT WENTWORTH

Allege Orangemen and K.K.K. Members Take Part Against T. J. Mahony.

WEAVER SUPPORTED.

Indefnite Postponement Found Necessary For Conservative Convention.

HAMILTON, June 9.—Issues apart from politics, admitted to be of a religious nature, caused the Wentworth Conservative nominating convention to adjourn in disorder Saturday afternoon. Six hundred crowded Pythian Hall, including a number of non-residents of the riding, non-members of the organization and Liberals, officials declared. Orangemen and Ku Klux Klan members supported S. E. Weaver as against T. J. Mahony, it is alleged.

The flare came when the names of Thomas J. Mahony, M.P.P., of South Wentworth, and Samuel Radcliffe Weaver were introduced. G. C. Wilson M.P. retiring member placed the name of Mr. Mahony before the meeting and it was seconded by Harry Broadbent of East Hamilton. W. H. McWhinney of Glanford Station, and Harold C. Orme of Hamilton Beach, placed Weaver in nomination. Orme is known as a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

Conservatives who called the meeting, withdrew after a motion to adjourn was submitted, it being evident that the gathering was strongly in support of Weaver. Those who remained elected W. H. McWhinney as chairman and continued the meeting. Weaver was declared elected by the new chairman who ruled that the motion to adjourn had not been carried.

Officials of the K.K.K. refused to deny or admit that they had been active in Weaver's nomination.

Delegate Convention

Members of the Wentworth Conservative Association who had arranged the meeting, held an executive session immediately following and decided on a delegate convention. Every polling sub-division in the county will be represented. This session will be held on June 21.

Executive officers were not entirely surprised to find the hall well filled long before starting time, for it was intimated that interesting developments could be looked for.

Matters were brought to a head when F. Wilkinson, secretary of the organization, declared that members had been advised there would be opposition to Mr. Mahony's candidature on religious grounds. "We might just as well face the situation fairly and admit that this is the issue, not politics," continued the secretary. He stated that the party could not accept the vote of a packed meeting and declared only county electors should be permitted to ballot.

The meeting broke into bedlam when someone in the rear of the hall asked if a religious issue was raised whether Mr. Mahony would support the Government or the Vatican.

There were calls of "sit down" and "order" from the audience and finally order was restored, when it was decided to hear the candidates.

FERGUSON RAPS DUNNING BUDGET

A. C. Canuchan Nominated as Candidate For Grenville-Dundas.

ONLY ONE NAME.

MAUNTAIN, Ont., June 9 (C.P.).—Criticizing the policies of the Liberal administration at the nomination convention of the riding here on Saturday, Premier G. Howard Ferguson, of Ontario, described the Dunning budget and the countervailing duties as the "products of the greatest political merry-go-round any circus ever had.

The "heterogenous aggregation," which he said constituted the present Government, "simply waited until the right horses came past on this merry-go-round and then jumped A. C. Canuchan, former member of A. C. Canaghan, former member of Parliament, was nominated at the party's candidate for the constituency of Grenville-Dundas, in the forthcoming election. His name was the only one placed before the accredited delegates, numbering nearly 300.

JUDGE CLEARS WIFE TRADERS

Rules That Conscience Will Inflict Penalty For Swapping Mates.

BROKE DIVORCE DECREE.

MINOT, N.D., June 9 (C.P.)—North Dakota's pair of "wife swappers," whose cases attracted wide attention more than a year ago, to-day had been freed of legal entanglements by District Judge C. W. Butts of Devil's Lake.

The couples are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rikansrud and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Knight, Renville County farmers. Judge Butts' opinion said that if any punishment is to be meted out for the unusual trading in mates, it "must be left to the unfailing penalties of their consciences —those fierce and refined pains and punishments which conscience alone may inflict."

Married 18 Years

The original Mr. and Mrs. Knight had been married 18 years and the Rikansrud 12 years. They lived on farms about half a mile apart, 24 miles northwest of Minot. As time passed, each woman became enamoured of the other's husband.

Each woman obtained a decree of divorce on January 28, 1929, each testifying for the other.

The divorce decrees forbade remarriage for 90 days. Despite this, the two couples went to Melita, Manitoba, exchanged mates in a double wedding ceremony, and went back to the farms with their new husbands. The mothers kept custody of their own children.

The State alleged they had violated the 90-day clause in re-marrying and that they were not legally re-wed.

FOUR SENTENCED FOR PART TAKEN IN TWEED FIRE

Thomas Aok and Mrs. Knight Are Committed to Reformatory.

BURNED HOME.

Attempted to Collect Insurance on Building Following Fire.

BELLEVILLE, June 9. — Thomas Aok, Gus Knight and Mrs. Clara Knight, who elected trial before a judge on charges of attempting to obtain $1,000.00 from an insurance company for furniture alleged to have been burned in a fire which destroyed the Knight home in Tweed in April last, appeared Friday before Judge Deroche. B. C. Donnan, Crown Attorney, prosecuted and James Simpson of Napanee acted in their behalf. Mrs. Parks was charged with fabricating evidence in the above charges. All pleaded guilty and Mr. Simpson placed his clients on the mercy of the court.

Aok and Mrs. Knight, who were apparently the ringleaders in this attempt to defraud the insurance company, were each given one year determinate and a further indeterminate sentence of not more than two years less one day. Mrs. Knight will spend her term in the Mercer Reformatory for Women in Toronto, while Aok will go to Guelph. Gus Knight, who appeared to be more or less dragged into the affair by Aok and Mrs. Knight, and who is a hard-working man, was given six months in Ontario Reformatory. Mrs. Parks was sentenced to three months in the County Jail as her age was taken into account in passing sentence on the recommendation of the Crown Attorney.

The first three mentioned will be given credit for the time served in the county jail on their determinate sentence, which is about two months.

Judge Deroche in passing sentence on the three, stated that honesty had to be observed in dealing with insurance companies or the whole fabric of business dealings would be broken down. "Your case does not affect yourselves alone," said Judge Deroche, "but all of those dealing with insurance companies."

Sault Man Writes to Brothers Seeking Expenses For His Funeral.

POLICE TAKE HAND.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., June 9.—Pretending to be dead then trying to collect your own funeral expenses from your brother sounds like a strange means of raising money, yet J. Miller, alias W. A. Barr, whose home is in Bristol, Tenn., but who has been living in the Sault, tried to do so. Saturday he appeared in police court and was ordered deported to the United States.

Sometimes ago Barr wired his brother in Bristol, signing the message J. Miller. The message was to the effect that W. A. Barr was dead and his dying wish was that his brother would have the body taken to Sunny Tennessee for interment.

The brother in Bristol wired back asking Miller to find out what it would cost to have the body taken south. Miller replied saying that it would cost $176 and he asked to have the money sent immediately. By this time the undertaker in Bristol was on the job, and he telegraphed T. E. Simpson's undertaking parlors to look up the corpse, embalm it and all expenses would be guaranteed.

The local undertakers searched the city but could find no available corpse so the provincial police entered the picture. Constable E. W. Keen found the corpse walking along the street and arrested him. Photographs were sent to Police Chief D. L. Heiberlin, of Bristol, and he identified them as being of W. A. Barr. Barr's brother also identified the photographs.

Riot Tank Shoots Water

BERLIN (U.P.). — Berlin police have equipped themselves with a motorized and armored water tank car. They have found by experience that by playing a fire hose on a crowd of rioters they can break up a riot quicker and more safely than by any other means. Now it will no longer be necessary to call on the fire department for help in case of trouble, but instead the tank car will answer all riot calls. It holds about 1,200 gallons and can throw a powerful stream of water a minimum distance of 120 feet.

For your new home Choose this modern roof

THE question you should settle in your mind when considering the roof on your new house is which is the most economical roof—not which is the cheapest.

While a cheap roof may cost you only a very few dollars less than a beautiful, permanent roof of Johns-Manville Shingles, it will become increasingly expensive as each year brings fresh repair bills. A J-M Roof is the best dollar value you can buy because it gives you roof protection and outstanding roof beauty at the lowest cost per year.

A roof of J-M Asbestos Shingles will never need further attention. A J-M Asphalt Shingle Roof (at lower cost) will give you sturdy protection that will free you from all repair expense for many years.

In either type of roof there is a wide range of beautiful colour combinations which are not obtainable in most other roofings.

Ask your builder or the nearest roofing material or lumber dealer to show you some of these modern, durable J-M Roofs in your neighbourhood.

The Secret of Poise

THAT COMMANDS ADMIRATION!

ELINOR GLYN tells the women of PETERBOROUGH

I KNOW a girl who is neither beautiful nor very plain. Just ordinarily good looking, like most of us.

But she has a serene poise that commands admiration; men instinctively stop to look at her, are proud to be seen with her.

She told me once that she deliberately builds up in herself a consciousness of feminine charm. She realizes that she herself must first be convinced of her own dainty femininity before she can impress others.

Wisely, she begins with her clothes.

One of the surest ways to gain perfect confidence in one's dainty, lovely femininity, she explains, is to have every bit of lingerie as delicate, colourful, charming as possible.

"When I wear these lovely, colourful, feminine things, I feel charming, and therefore I am," she says.

Keep Colours Lovely

But, women tell me, it is so difficult to wear lovely underthings always and keep them looking as wonderful, as colourful, as when they were new. Frequent washing (and we must be dainty) takes some of the lovely colour and charm out of the garment.

To this I reply, that is too often the case, but it need never be so if women faithfully use that invaluable product, Lux—which is made especially to cleanse without disturbing the vibrant loveliness of the colours. If a garment is safe in plain water alone, it is just as safe in Lux.

Wonderful colours, shimmering, lace-edged underthings — they build up in you the happy consciousness of feminine charm.

When truly confident of charm, you inevitably have the serene poise that commands instant admiration from everyone!

And in Your Home, Too

Pride in a charming home gives you poise, too, and here Lux is also an invaluable aid. As in the case of your dainty lingerie—frocks, blouses, scarfs, too—so with your draperies, linens, slip covers. Ordinary soaps will take away some of the colour pigment, whereas Lux preserves colours and textures in their perfect, new state.—Elinor Glyn.

(Left) After 12 washings with an ordinary good soap—silk fibres a little out of place—lace damaged. Lustre impaired, colour off

(Right) After 12 Lux washings—every thread in place—silk and lace fibres intact, colour intact. Retains all the charm of new.

If it's Safe in Water It's Safe in LUX!

Goes to Acadia "U"

DR. C. W. ROSE

who has resigned as pastor of Kentville, N. S. Baptist Church to become first university pastor of Acadia University. Dr. Rose was a former pastor of Murray Street Baptist church, Peterborough.

DR. C. W. ROSE GOES TO ACADIA

Former Pastor of Murray Street Baptist Church Appointed to New Post.

FULL TIME PASTOR.

KENTVILLE, June 9 (Special to The Examiner).—Dr. C. W. Rose, one of the outstanding Baptist clergymen of the Maritime Provinces and pastor of the Kentville Baptist Church for the last three years, is to be the first University pastor of Acadia University.

At last evening's church service, Dr. Rose presented his resignation as pastor to take effect September 30.

The announcement, which was heard with regret, came as a surprise to the congregation generally, as outside of the church officials, the fact that the governors of Acadia University had extended an invitation to Dr. Rose for the new University post was not known.

That Dr. Rose is well qualified for the new post is evident from his splendid record as a leader in Christian work. A native of Port Maitland, Yarmouth County, he graduated from Acadia with the class of 1898. In 1904 he received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity from Newton Theological Seminary, and the same year was appointed to the Senate of Acadia University. He has held pastorates at Nelson, B.C.; Zion Baptist Church, Yarmouth; the Park Baptist Church, Brantford, Ontario; Baptist Church, Amherst, N.S.; Murray Street Church, Peterborough, Ontario ,and Kentville. He was president of the Baptist Convention of the Maritime Provinces, 1922-23; he was a member of Acadia's governing board for many years, is a member of the Canadian Foreign Mission Board, and is on other important denominational committees. He was president of the Acadia Alumni Society last year.

In 1922, Acadia conferred on Dr. Rose the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Dr. Rose in his student days at Acadia was one of the University's best known athletes. He was for four years a member of the varsity football team, and in his senior year was captain. The line-up that year included Edgar N. Rhodes, now Premier of Nova Scotia; W. L. Hall, now Attorney General.

During his pastorate at Kenville, the Baptist Church under the leadership of Dr. Rose has taken great strides forward. Many new members have been added to the church rolls, the unified church and Sunday School plan has been introduced, and the church itself remodelled and enlarged.

FASHION FANCIES

Knitted Costumes Are Cool and Confident

Knitted sports costumes are looking forward to warm weather with cool satisfaction. There is ample reason for their confidence that they will enjoy a popular season in the great outdoors, for knitted fabrics now are of lacy weaves, of fine woolens, sometimes mixed with silk, that challenge the thermometer to do its worst.

An example of the type of frock that has actively gotten in the sports and fashion game is that shown above. It accomplishes the feat of imitating the popular tuck-in effect while retaining the slenderizing lines of the one-piece frock. The prevailing interest in combing contrasting materials is expressed in the use of a light green jersey for the blouse with its collared neck and cap sleeves and a dark green tweed jersey for the skirt. Consideration is extended to both participants and spectators by the skirt, which is gored all round.

ART ASSOCIATION PLANS GARDEN FETE

On Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, a garden party, under the auspices of the Lyceum Women's Art Association, is being held in the grounds of Madame Sifroy Goulet's residence, 500 Gilmour Street.

"Putting on the Green" competitions in charge of Mrs. Potvin. There will be bridge tables for those who would like a game amidst beautiful surroundings, for which prizes will be awarded.

A wonderful "Magic Tree" ladened with gifts for both old and young guests, will be presided over by Mrs. Homer Meyers. Mrs. Dr. Neill and Mrs. Saunders will tell the fortunes of those who desire to know what fate holds in store for them. Mrs. Fred Hooper and Mrs. Newton Staples will cater for the lovers of sweet things and will have a stall for the sale of delicious home made candy, while Miss Isabel Connelly and Miss Betty Armitage will look after the ice cream stall. In the event of the weather being unfavorable the party will take place the following day, (Wednesday).

BEATRICE SIMS, R.N., CLOSES CAMPAIGN

Second Coming of Christ is Basis of Final Address.

The last of a series of sermons extending over the past two weeks was preached by Miss Beatrice Sims of London at the evangelistic service at the Grand Opera House yesterday. She took as her subject "The Signs of the Times" in the afternoon.

Present at the services were Pastor Baker and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. Carter, of Montreal, who assisted in conducting the meetings.

Miss Sims dealt with the second coming of Jesus Christ. There was never a time in the world when as many sermons were preached on the subject of the second coming of Jesus as there are to-day, she said. Man throughout the world is making preparation.

"God points the people to the Jewish nation if they want to learn of the second coming," she continued. "The Jews are God's timepiece. The time of the Gentiles is almost completed and the Lord is about to turn His hand again to the Jew."

Miss Sims declared that the world is now in the period of the dispensation of Grace, the sixth of seven periods. The next period is to be the millenium, she said, which will herald the coming of Jesus into the world for the second time. Before He returns, she claimed, there will be a general awakening and revival throughout the nations of the world. The world will see Babylon rebuilt in order that it may be eradicated as promised by the Word of God, she prophesied.

Special Work Discussed at Representative Meeting in Friends Church.

WOOLER, June 7.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A large crowd joined in lunch at the noon hour with the Women's Missionary Society on Wednesday when the hostesses served a hot lunch in the dining room of the United church parlors. Many friends from Wellington, Bloomfield, Moscow and Thirteen Island Lake are in session at the Friends quarterly meeting at the Friends church. This meeting opened on Saturday to discuss the special church work.

In the evening a public missionary meeting was held when a missionary program was given which included recitations and solos and a pageant, "The Voices of Women." The president of the local auxiliary was in the chair and reports were received from visiting delegates. Services on Sunday were conducted by visiting Friend Ministers.

SHOULD BE A WARNING.

The fact that a resident of the northern part of the county has been fined for setting out a fire without securing the necessary permit and without taking the required precaution should be a warning to others in the timber districts.

Many disastrous forest fires have originated in just this way through a fire started by a farmer clearing his land getting beyond control and spreading to the nearby woods.

It cannot be too strongly empliasized—and the great fires Ontario has experienced in the past few weeks supply emphatic proof of this—that extreme care is called for, not only on the part of settlers and lumbermen, but on the part of sportsmen, fishermen and campers who visit the timber country.

Last year over 625,000 acres of timber land was needlessly burned over in Ontario, and it is to be feared the damage this year will be even greater.

Forest fires destroy more timber than the lumbermen can cut, and the economic waste represented by this unnecessary destruction is surely great enough to convince Canadians generally of the necessity of being careful.

All the fire fighting machinery in the world—and Ontario is well to the forefront in modern means of dealing with forest fires—cannot prevent heavy losses unless there is general co-operation in removing the cause of these fires.

THE FULL STOP REGULATION.

In line with what the Examiner said the other day about motorists who fail to stop before entering through streets, the following from the Ottawa Journal is particularly timely and pointed:

"Anyone with the slightest common sense knows how serious may be the consequence of disregarding the stop signs. These have been erected for the greater convenience and safety of all, and public opinion rightly condemns the irresponsible who disobeys the signals."

In view, however, of the charge that leaders in the community here are themselves offenders in ignoring the full stop regulation, there may be some doubt as to whether public opinion does sufficiently condemn the practice.

It should, of course, for laxity at times when there is no particular danger involved may lead to laxity at times when an accident is certain to happen.

Every driver as a matter of course should faithfully observe the law regardless of traffic conditions, and in that build up a safety habit that would help materially in reducing accidents.

GETTING AFTER THE RECKLESS.

The new policy of a closer check upon reckless driving with the cancellation of the permit of the offender, as announced some time ago by Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, is evidently being vigorously followed.

It is stated that in the first five months of the current year 795 motorists have had either their driving licenses or motor vehicle permits or both suspended for reckless operation of their cars.

The general public will have little sympathy for these victims of their own folly.

They were pleaded with and appealed to until it was seen that something different must be tried, and then they were warned that motorists who persisted in driving recklessly might expect to lose the right to drive at all.

In spite of that clear warning they declined to mend their ways and the axe has fallen.

Of the 795 who suffered 281 cancellations were for drunkenness in charge of motor cars, and in these cases the department should not be in a hurry to restore the privilege of driving.

Persons who are foolish enough to indulge in liquor and then attempt to operate an automobile ought to be regarded as a dangerous menace to the public safety, and certainly in their case the suspension should continue until there is reasonable certainty that the offense will not be repeated.

It would be well for reckless drivers to note that already this year nearly eight hundred have lost the right to operate an automobile.

ALBERTA'S CHAMPIONSHIP WHEAT.

Hon. George Hoadley, Alberta's energetic Minister of Agriculture, may be in the midst of a provincial general election campaign, but he does not, even under those circumstances, miss any opportunity of letting the outside world know of his Province's enviable record in the agricultural industry.

While of late years the people of Canada have heard much of the rapid strides in the development of Alberta's natural resources, such as the oil industry, coal and the immediate prospective developments on a commercial basis, of its 15,000 square miles of tar sands, and while Alberta may have in years past been more widely known for its cattle ranches than grain growing, it is a fact nevertheless that the Province of Alberta has won the world's championship in wheat at the International Exposition at Chicago four times during the last seven years.

At the annual International Exposition held in Chicago for 1929, Joseph H. B. Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, won the world's championship which, as already stated, brought to his Province for the fourth time in seven years the highest honors obtainable by any grain grower in the world.

Hon. Mr. Hoadley has arranged for the distribution amongst the Shriners attending the huge convention in Toronto during this week of 5,000 phials containing a sample of this world-famed wheat. The publicity to be gained by the Province of Alberta will be very far reaching and our friends from across the line will undoubtedly go back home with a clearer understanding of the agricultural industry of Western Canada and particularly the Province of Alberta. Hon. Mr. Hoadley has something worth telling the world about, and he is taking a very effective means of doing so.

AMY JOHNSON, C.B.E.

The King spoke the minds of all his people when he made Amy Johnson, the amazing girl who flew from England to Australia in little short of record time, a commander of the British Empire. The history of aviation has seen no more extraordinary exploit than this flight of the attractive London girl who had only ninety hours of flying to her credit when she set out in a second-hand machine on a twenty-day journey—"the last ten of which," to quote a London correspondent of the New York Times, "were spent in groping over tropic seas and jungles, blinded and bumped about by the father and mother of all monsoons." Herself pilot, navigator and mechanic, with a single engine and no wireless, she tackled and conquered one of the world's most terrible air lanes—and up to that time she had never done a longer single flight than 150 miles.

Her father is a fish merchant in Hull, but it is recorded that in his youth he joined the Klondyke gold rush. Her grandfather was one Jorgensen, a Dane, who ran away to sea at sixteen. Thus there is an adventurous strain in Amy's blood and the complacent life of a secretary failed by far to satisfy her ambitions. She used to be a Sunday school teacher. She went to Sheffield University for three years, intended to teach, but changed her mind, and since 1925 has held three secretarial jobs in London. She is now 27 years old.

In 1925 Amy took her little sister Molly on a five-shilling flight over Hull, and from that time the love of the air possessed her. But she had no money and she could do nothing about it. It was three years later when she began to take flying lessons. She found that by saving ten shillings a week from her salary she could afford a half-hour lesson every two weeks. That was not enough. All her spare time she spent as an apprentice mechanic learning about airplane engines and their operation. No doubt it was experience which served her well on the historic flight which has made her name famous throughout the world. It was not until June 9 of last year that she made her first solo and a little later secured her private pilot's license and her ground engineer's license.

So then, somehow, Amy Johnson became filled with the notion of making this air trip to Australia. She tried to raise money by selling her story to the newspapers, and they laughed at her. Later one of them made handsome amends by cabling her $50,000. Finally an oil magnate guaranteed her fuel supplies. Somehow she got the 'plane on which she had set her heart—a two-year-old machine which had gone 35,000 miles. And with little in her favor save a stout heart and complete self-confidence, she rode the airways to fame and fortune.—Ottawa Journal.

CANADA WARNED OF THE DOLE.

(From the Boston Transcript)

While unemployment is a topic of discussion in this country, it is of interest to note that in Canada the leader of one of its great enterprises deems it pertinent to warn business men against the dole, so-called. President E. W. Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway, speaking at a dinner of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association in Toronto, told his hearers that stabilization of employment was one of the great problems confronting the Dominion. He viewed it as, in the first instance, a problem for industry itself, but "unless effective measures are organized to solve this difficulty, which is periodic in this country, governmental action may be necessary, and governmental action will involve what is known as insurance or the dole, not, perhaps, bad only in principle, but open to grave objection because of its effect on the individual workman who does not desire to lose his instinct for work."

So the spectre of the dole stalks abroad in Canada. The Dominion is warned against adopting the course that has been followed in the Mother Country. To many the fact that the warning was deemed timely will afford a surprise. We are prone to think of Canada as a young country, where, perhaps, save in restricted areas, there is work for all. Canada presents to the imagination the picture of the young giant, active and aggressive. It runs counter to prevalent ideas to think of the giant as now and then faltering and stumbling in his stride.

But a little consideration will show that Canada is not immune from influences that affect other busy countries. Labor difficulties as they exist because of the brief demands of the harvest season on the far-spreading grain fields are not peculiar to one country. No country monopolizes the modern machinery which enables one man to do the work formerly done by two. The merging of smaller concerns to make the greater presumably lessens the jobs of the white-collar workers in Canada as elsewhere. Here are troubles with which many countries must deal.

The president of the Canadian Pacific Railway recognizes the fact. His warning was given in consequence of it. But it is fair to assume that he did not regard resort to the dole as an imminent peril. He counted it among the possibilities of the future. The assumption, however, does not detract from the force of the warning. Here, as in Canada, it were well to give attention to this future possibility. The shaping of business affairs so that there may be jobs for all able and willing to work is one of the problems of the hour.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Toronto at least cannot be expected to grow excited over the Federal election until the Shriners are off its hands.

"Ho for the Lustings!" says the Globe. Well, we might as well be cheerful about it.

This district will undoubtedly see many of the visitors to the Shriners' convention. The fez was as common here yesterday as the straw hat.

As an indication of the trend in the amusement world, the Royal Alexandra theatre in Toronto is to be wired for talking pictures.

The political orators will need better lung power than usual in this campaign, for some at least of their speaking will have to be done in the open air.

The Shrine convention at least gives all the Toronto papers a chance to agree upon something. They are unanimous in welcoming the army of visitors.

A Thought

CONCEIT

But a man may have a good conceit of himself without being what the world calls conceited. Modesty consists not in taking a low estimate of one's own worth, but in refraining from the expectation that the world will take a high one.—Ian Hay.

What To-day Means To You

"GEMINI."

If June 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from8 a.m. to 9:15 a.m., from 11 a.m. to noon, and from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The world and his wife will have a good time on this date as the astrological influences are of an exhilarating and non-worrying character. Pleasures and not work will be taken seriously. The van of progress will be halted for the rejuvenation of the spirits.

The child born on this June 9th will have a well-balanced nature and will find the world in focus. It will be sturdy and healthy minded, and its parents will need have no fears for its future destiny. It will be kindly and generously disposed.

You are both naturally timid and shy, and to hide your weaknesses, you have adopted a manner which suggests conceit and aggressiveness, so as to give you a false air of superiority. This is apt to make you both unhappy and unpopular. Those who penetrate your protective mask find a person full of humility, and one who has a gentle spirit and a kindly heart. If you only realized it, the world would like, even love you, without your unnatural veneer. It would not expect you to play the role which belongs to its more positive or "nervy" people. It would let you seek its more sheltered corners without condemnation. Be satisfied to fit into the picture which Destiny has painted for you! You can never be a sturdy oak, but you need not become a parasite type of clinging vine—you can still maintain your own roots.

You are not lacking in originality, and your individuality can be strengthened. Throw away your pseudo-personalities and let your own develop! You are not a pioneer, and you will be much happier and contented if you do not allow your ambitions or circumstances to force you away from your native haunts. You do not easily make new friends, or are you easily adaptable to new places. Look for your enemies in the religious or legal worlds!

CHAPTER XXX.

None of the names got into the paper," Cass said, visualizing a large house-party. Were the women crazy?" he asked.

What women?"

The women in the house?"

Oh—? Well, the butler's wife, a nice sort of middle-aged woman called Peters, came and slept the rest of the night with me. Everyone was pretty well wrought up."

I should think so! What did—you didn't tell me—what did Mr. Rountree want you to do? I mean who were you supposed to be?"

Oh? Oh, yes! Well, you see, an unscrupulous sort of Russian countess was rather—taking it for granted, do you see?—that he was engaged to her daughter." Mary Kate began, feeling the ice crackle under her, trying to keep her thoughts policing her words in ten directions at once.

She was probably in with a gang of thieves," Cass opined, with some recent thrilling movies in mind. Most of those titled Russian women seem to be."

Oh, no—she was a countess, she was probably genuine enough," Mary Kate defended her. I mean, she had jewels, she looked like all those ugly women with dog-collars and crowns on," she explained. In the Sunday pictorials, you know?"

But he didn't want to marry her daughter?"

No. He hates the daughter!" Mary Kate answered, with satisfaction.

And so he was supposed to be engaged to you?"

Even now she dared not be quite truthful.

That was it."

Yes, but where did Steynes come in?"

Oh, it was to Mr. Steynes. He was the one."

Oh—?" Cass said, on a long-drawn note. I see!"

For an interval there was silence. Then suddenly the man said, in a definite voice:

Now, I'll tell you, dear. That was an awful experience, and of course it shook you all up. Your nerves are shot to pieces, and no wonder. He goes away on Sunday, doesn't he?—and that will end it. And next week, very quietly, you and I'll be married. Then you can tell your mother, and everything will be all cleared up."

Cass, nobody'd believe that I was down there, and yet that nothing wrong went on—nothing wrong was even thought of?"

But you know who does believe you, don't you, Baby?"

If you do—" she said, wistfully, with an affectionate and grateful smile.

'If I do!" He was close to her again, he had his arm about her.

Mary Kate nudged her fragrant, soft young face, and the tossed cloud of her silky hair, child fashion, against his cheek.

"And what—what good will our getting married right away do?"

"Now is that a nice question?" he asked tenderly.

The girl laughed a little guilty laugh but made no other answer.

"Why, in the first place," he said, holding her firmly, "in the first place, dear, it'll mean that you have someone to look after you. You can't get into this sort of scrape, if I'm running you. And then, your mother and Mart, if they ever hear the story, will look at it as just—just nonsense. And then—I hope, anyway, you'll be so happy, and so busy, taking care of your boy, that you won't know there's anyone else in the world."

She was suffocating again. She sat quietly resting against his shoulder, rubbing his hand with the firm little thumb of the hand he held in his, and made no reply.

They were silent for a while, and to Cass at least it was the silence of absolute content. The curtains continued to move fitfully to and fro across the windows, and from the street came angles and slits of light, and the occasionally sweeping brilliance of a motor-car's lamps, as it turned the corner.

"Want to take a little walk, now?"

"Want to go to bed. I'm dead, Cass. You'll have to go."

They got up, and while Cass emptied the ash-tray into the airtight stove, Mary Kate shoved and dragged at the couch, with knees and hands, and straightened out the bedding that was always strapped in place inside it, for Tom. She plumped a soggy pillow, and left a light burning behind her, when she and Cass went into the kitchen.

The place was deserted now. The children had finished their homework, and vanished, Mrs. O'Hara was nowhere to be seen. The kitchen windows were open, and a cool draught of air was blowing through the room, into a speckless sink a faucet dripped a few occasional drops that stood like gray pearls against the carefully wiped zinc. From the stove came a wheaten smell, tomorrow's cracked wheat was already steaming in the double boiler.

The linoleum on the floor was worn in circles, down to its ugly brown warp, at stove and sink, but under the table and in the corners its pattern of red and white and egg-yellow discs and squares was still visible. On the sill of the open window was a tumbler with a score of long-stemmed sweet dark violets in it, and a dozen varnished buttercups on jointed stems.

"Kiss me—" Cass said, holding her slender shoulders in one strong arm, as in a vise, tipping back her chin with his free hand. Her tumble of soft hair fell back, she shut her eyes.

"Don't you like me to kiss you, you little darling, you?"

"I don't." She was breathing hard. "I don't like to have the breath squeezed out of me!"

"Ah, you're such a darling!" His lips were tight and hard against hers again. "Are you a darling?" he asked.

"I don't know."

"Are you a little idiot that can't mind her own business?"

"Maybe I am."

"Baby," he breathed. "Baby, I love you!"

"Mary Kate!" her mother called, from the bedroom that adjoined the kitchen. "Did Cass go?"

"Going Mother!"

He was gone, and Mrs. O'Hara came to the kitchen door, brushing her thick, short, curly black hair, that was silvering at the temples, with a disreputable old wire brush. She wore a worn old gray wrapper, her feet were in black felt slippers.

"He's the salt, that one," she said simply, of Cass.

"I'm awfully glad you like him," Mary Kate said, feeling that she would fly into pieces.

The girls did the kitchen for me—Tess is worth as much to me as any woman ever would be!" the mother said, regarding the ordered room with pride.

Mary Kate was standing still in the open doorway, her back turned toward the room, but her eyes looked out at the backyard, and the bulk of the great apartment houses, checkered with little rising tiers of gold squares, in the spring night. The light of the cigarette advertisement flashed on her coppery hair, sank, wheeled and flashed again, aureoling her head with gold.

I simply cannot bear it," she said to herself. I'll die. I simply cannot bear it!"

There was a frenzy upon her. She wanted to beat her hands together, beat her head against the wall. She wanted to get away from all this familiar setting, get away into silence, and darkness, and strangeness, where she could forget.

Tom took a bath," her mother said mildly, rubbing some home-made compound of mutton fat and lemon juice upon her hands.

Mother, would you think I was crazy if I went out for a walk?"

At fifteen minutes after ten o'clock at night?"

The telephone tingled, and as both women turned fearfully in its direction, Mrs. O'Hara said breathlessly,

That's Mart! Oh, blessed Queen of the angels—"

Mary Kate was in the passage, had snatched the receiver from the hook.

Hello!" her mother heard her say. Then her voice changed. Oh, yes?" she said, in the very essence—the very distillation, of her usual tones. It isn't Mart, it's business," she said, in a reassuring aside, to her mother. Yes, Chris," the new voice resumed. No. It's all right. I was up—my mother and I were talking. Go on—"

After a moment she put the receiver back, and laughed.

It was some business, Mother," she explained, in a voice that sang. She went to the sink, and took a long drink of cold water, filled a second glass full, eyeing her mother innocently over it, as she turned about. It was a man Mr. Rountree knows—" she explained.

Well, it's a nice hour to get people out of their beds, not knowing but what it's a death message!" Mrs. O'Hara commented, scathingly.

He said he'd put the call in an hour ago, but they kept telling him it was busy."

Your Aunt Julia called up. Maybe that was it."

Maybe. Shall I close up here, Mother?"

No, you go to bed, dear. I'll do this!"

Mary Kate got a kiss that smelled of soap and lemon and mutton fat, and then went on her way upstairs, humming. Twice she had to stop, once on the stairs, once in the dark upper hallway, to put her hands over her face, her whole body moving in a long writhing motion of ecstatic excitement.

Oh, life! Wonderful and thrilling and satisfying. Oh, youth and beauty and hope, drawing off silk stockings, hanging up the shabby dress, stepping quietly to and fro in the stuffy bedroom gloom, kneeling at last to pray—and unable to find words!

Yet what Chris had said to her would have struck frozen terror and fear to her heart, a few short days ago.

We aren't out of the woods, yet Mary," he had told her anxiously. There have been some new developments in this damn thing. Can you lunch with me tomorrow—in fact, you've got to. We're in trouble!"

WHEAT FARMERS UNPERTURBED BY RECENT SLUMP IN PRICES

Rainfall Causes Drop — Will There Be Too Much Wheat For World's Demand.

ACREAGE IS LARGER.

TORONTO, June 9. (Special to the Examiner.)—"More rain; more rest." Old daying. And like most of those old time sayings, capable of almost unlimited application.

Applying "the old time saying" to our own times, no doubt the tired and anxious farmer of Alberta and Saskatchewan, who for weeks past has been deploring a "lack of moisture" in the soil, welcomed with a glad shout in his heart, "more rain; more rest!" as he ceased for a moment from his labor, and watched the downpour of rains as it soaked into the hard baked soil, and gave the seed so laboriously planted a chance to germinate and give promise of the future crop.

A Slump.

True, the immediate effect of the reported downpour of rain this week over the west and northwest, was a slump in market prices.

But what of that?

To the eyes of the wheat farmer, the appearance of the anxiously looked for rain, was more restful even than would be the appearance on the market page of the local newspaper of an advance of a cent or a couple of cents a bushel for wheat he did not own. Or even supposing for a moment that he still owns a part interest in a few hundred bushels of wheat in store in the nearby elevator, it would be a safe bet to say that he is far more interested in the future of the crop still in the ground, than he is in the disposal of that disappointing "old crop."

And yet too, that unlooked for and sudden slump in the market this week was somewhat of an aggravation and a disappointment.

Coming as it did, just at the moment when the situation, marketwise, was beginning to look more hopeful of better prices for the wheat which, after months of idleness and repose in the elevators was at last moving in hundreds of thousands of bushels to and across the ocean, it was a disappointment that as a first result of a few showers in the west, the market should go off again to the tune of lower prices.

Too Much Wheat.

Of course the temporary, it is hoped price slump, again raised the question so many times asked in the past months, "What is the matter with the market, anyway?"

And of course, the same old answer in fact the obvious and only possible answer—"Too much wheat."

Too much wheat for the world's greatest requirements.

No sooner does the big surplus and "carryover" of wheat on the North American continent begin to move "out" in the direction east, north east or south, or wherever it is hoped it will find a market, then on the slightest provocation a shower or two of rain, or some such disguised blessing, then the flood of wheat, backs up again, the market is overloaded and prices fall.

"And what's to be done about it?" asks the puzzled marketeer.

"What can be done?"

And aye comes the ready answer from certain quarters—"Reduce the acreage."

"Stop growing the wheat. Why keep on growing the wheat, when the world is already too full of it," urge the wise acres. "Grow cows, or chickens, or turkeys, and pheasants, instead of wheat."

To all of which suggestions the farmer replies—"Nothing doing."

Plants More.

The natural and most logical thing for him to do, and he will do it, is to plant his broad and fruitful acres for a crop of wheat or of oats, or of barley, and be gladdened in his heart at the downpour of rain which germinates the seed, and enables him to take a rest and gloat his eyes over the growing and bountiful crops.

SHORT PLAY PRESENTED BY A.Y.P.A. OF MARMORA

MARMORA, June 9. (Examiner Correspondence.)—A very pleasing and well attended social was held by St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. in the White Hall on Friday evening. The program opened with a 40 minute one act play, "Columbine", the characters being: Sallie, Mary Lumsden; Minnie, Ada Archer;. A trio composed of the Misses Ada Archer, Clara Phillips, and Stella McGarvey, then rendered two appreciated numbers, "Cooking Breakfast for the One I Love" and "Beside an Open Fireplace."

The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Delicious refreshments including homemade lemonade were served.

GALES CAUSE HEAVY LOSS.

PORT MORIEN, N.S., June 9.—Lobster fishing gear along this section of the Cape Breton coast was damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars recently as a result of strong southerly gales and heavy seas. Seriously handicapped at the beginning of the season, the industry will be crippled for some time to come. The weather permitted only two hauls before the series of storms.

Hundreds of lobster traps, damaged beyond repair, are strewn along the shore, in addition to tangled masses of lobster lines and buoys. Breakers extended out to the sea as far as could be seen, and the full extent of damage suffered by lobster fishermen will not be known until the weather moderates.

COMMENT ON MORNING STOCK MARKET OVER BIGGAR & CRAWFORD WIRE.

Adjustment of speculative account in New York market moved ahead in substantial volume this morning, causing a relatively active market. However, forced liquidation was absorbed in good style and rallying tendencies developed in the principal stocks around 11 o'clock and again at 12.30.

A sagging market prevailed in Toronto this morning in line with general weakness in New York International Nickel developed the heaviest volume and was down to $28.75. Brazilian Traction was the next most active, off ⅛ to $46. Walkers and British American Oil were fractionally lower. While the Canadian market gave a good account of itself and gave way grudgingly under the heaviest volume of sale for sev-

FIVE ARE KILLED ON FISHING TRIP

Only One Survives As Electric Car Strikes Indiana Truck.

UNGUARDED CROSSING.

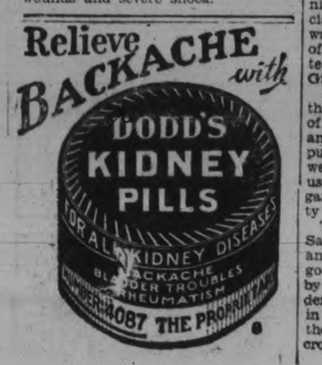
BEATRICE, Ind., June 9. (C.P.)—five members of a fishing party of six, yesterday were killed when their truck was struck and demolished by a Chesapeake and Ohio gas-electric railway coach at an unguarded crossing here.

With a warning of the children's mother: "Don't let them go swimming, they might get drowned" ringing in their ears, the party set out on their fishing expedition shortly after dinner. Five minutes later the truck was a mass of wreckage after being struck by the coach, speeding 45 miles an hour as it turned a curve near the unguarded grade crossing.

AUTO STRIKES ENGINE THREE BADLY HURT

BARRIE, ONT., June 9.—(C.P.)—Three Elmvale residents are in Royal Victoria Hospital here today after their automobile crashed into the engine of a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train near the Craighurst station about twelve miles north of Barrie Sunday afternoon.

Herb Goddard, driver of the car, sustained two fractures of the leg and head injuries, while his father and mother Mr. and Mrs. George Goddard received lesser injuries, the former suffering three broken ribs and bruises and the latter from scalp wounds and severe shock.



NORANDA ISSUE SUFFERS DROP

Irregular Price Trends Feature Trading on Standard Exchange.

LAKE SHORE UNCHANGED.

TORONTO, Ont., June 9. (C.P.)—Irregular price trends featured stock and mining exchange to-day. Volume was small, after an accumulation of week-end orders had been done away with.

Market leaders were subjected to pressure, Noranda suffering the worst loss, at 26.25, off 75, while Hudson Bay and International Nickel were set-back about a quarter each. Pacific Coast issues did little, Mining Corporation up 2, and Pend Oreille off a like amount, while Sherritt, and Falconbridge, in a dull Lindsley group, was off 3, and up 5 respectively.

Higher-priced golds made little change, Wright Hargreaves, Dome, Hollinger and Lake Shore all unchanged, while McIntyre dropped 25, and Teck Hughes 10. Lower-priced golds improved, Kirkland Lake, Amulet, Howey and Sylvanite all making gains, although none were large. Siscoe lost 1, on a sale at 33, Newbec and Premier were unchanged.

Oils were irregular, Calmont up 3, Dalhousie 1, and Home 10, while Nordon and Calgary and Edmonton each lost 1. Chemical Research, Maryland, and Ajax showed no change.

Chicago Grain Prices Registered Light Gains

CHICAGO, Ills., June 9. (C.P.)—All grain prices showed an early upward trend to-day, owing largely to reports of persistent absence of rain over the spring wheat belt. Besides, many of the throng of visitors to the new board of trade building here were taking a hand in the dealings, and showed, a decided preference for the buying side. Opening unchanged to 7-8c higher, wheat held near to the initial limit. Corn, oats and provisions also tended upward, with corn starting a shade off to 3-8c up and subsequently keeping near to the opening figures.

TWO CRIMINAL CASES FOR COUNTY COURT

Harold Cathcart Wil Appear on Charge of Criminal Negligence.

Again the absence of crime of a serious nature in Peterborough County as compared with other counties in the province is evident in the light criminal docket of the Spring Assizes, which open before Judge Huycke at the Court-House to-morrow morning. Only two criminal cases, one of these a motor case, compose the docket.

The trial of Harold Cathcart, charged with criminal negligence arising from the fatal motor accident near Springville, will be heard. J. F. Strickland, K.C., is conducting the defence.

William E. Newell will be tried for alleged serious offence against a young girl, and Mr. Strickland is also the defending lawyer in this case.

The evidence in both cases will first be heard in retirement by the Grand Jury. If a "true bill" is returned in either, then that case will be tried by the judge and jury, and if "no bill" is returned then the case is dismissed.

SAFETY COMMITTEE DOING GREAT WORK

Frank G. Stinson and Jack L. Gillespie Associated With Committee.

Widespread interest in the work of the Highway Safety Committee is evident throughout the province. The committee is truly representative of every section. In every community one or more men in public or semi-public positions have accepted invitations to join the Honorary Advisory Committee, and many have submitted to the Executive excellent suggestions and ideas which are being incorporated in the program.

In this city the following have signified their willingness to be associated with the work of the Highway Safety Committee, as members of its Honorary Advisory Committee: Frank G. Stinson and Jack L. Gillespie.

As in previous years, the work of the Committee will consist principally of an advertising campaign in daily and weekly newspapers and other publications. Radio and billboards, as well as public meetings, also will be used. There will be safety posters in garages and filling stations and safety folders for tourists.

The watchword of the Highway Safety Committee is Care, Courtesy and Common Sense in driving. Its good work in past years is indicated by the fact that the ratio of accidents to traffic is actually decreasing in Ontario in spite of the fact that the highways are becoming more crowded every year.

LOWER PRICES AGAIN THE RULE

Nickel Drop to New Bottom For Year on Toronto Stock Exchange.

DROP IN LEADERS.

TORONTO, Ont., June 9. (C.P.)—Lower prices were the rule again on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Nickel uncovered a new low for the year and other recognized pivotal issues were from a fraction to a point under last week's final.

The decline began with the opening and, with but a short rally mid-way through the morning, a rally which did not hold, was in slow progress throughout until mid-day with prices then at their lowest. Brazilian got down to 46, Ford was selling at 32, the steels were down fractionally, City Dairy down a point to 64, and the oils off from a fraction to one point. Service Stations declined over a point and Walkers, while losing only a small fraction, nevertheless, was the lowest in some time. The stock sold below 11 late in the second hour.

MANY DECLINES ON WALL STREET

Sharp Drop Causes Considerable Liquidation of Weakened Marginal Accounts.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 9. (C.P.)—It was Blue Monday in Wall Street to-day, but somewhat less blue than expected in the more pessimistic quarters, after the bear orge of Saturday. Stocks again developed leaden heaviness, and more than two score recorded new lows for the year, but selling was for the most part quiet and orderly, and the ticker kept fairly up abreast of the market. Important shares generally declined 1 to 3 points, with wider breaks appearing here and there.

The sharp decline in Saturday caused considerable liquidation of weakened marginal accounts, but owing to the extremely limited public participation in the market of late, no frenzy of forced liquidation developed.

Call and time money continued plentiful.

TONG WAR NOW FACING CHICAGO

Gang Leaders Admit Peace Negotiations Have Fallen Through.

EXTRA POLICE ON DUTY.

CHICAGO, Ills., June 9 (C.P.) — The police intelligence division having intercepted telephone messages indicating that Chicago Chinese tongmen would disregard peace agreements in the East, had five squads and 25 extra patrolmen in "Chinatown" early to-day.

Tong leaders here admitted that local peace negotiations had fallen through and that they were "prepared for trouble."

Chang Gong Gang, one of Chicago's wealthiest Chinese, was shot to death in the street Saturday.

In Minneapolis last night Woo Sam, a laundryman, was shot five times. The shots were fired from a passing automobile. Woo, a member of the Hip Sing tong, said he recognized one of his attackers as a member of the On Leong tong.

CANOE UPSETS FIVE DROWNED

Susquehanna River Yields Bodies of Three Firemen.

CAUGHT IN STORM.

COLUMBIA, Penn., June 9 (C.P.)—The waters of the Susquehanna River were being searched to-day for the bodies of three of five men drowned in a canoe accident and rescue attempt.

Four of the victims, Andrew Allwein, 60; William Miller, 35; Lloyd Umberger, 38, and James Reily, 60, were firemen from Lebanon, Penn., who were visiting a Columbia fire company. The fifth victim was Ray Hawkins, 26, a bridge worker.

The Lebanon firemen accompanied by Harry Royce, 18, and John Shuman, 18, both Columbia firemen, put out on the river in a canoe. A storm came up and they attempted to reach shore when the craft capsized.

LADY DRUMMOND HAY IS LEARNING TO PILOT PLANE

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y., June 9.—(C.P.).—Lady Grace Drummond Hay, aviation enthusiast, who has been a passenger on the Graf Zeppelin on several flights, is learning to fly an airplane.

She says she hopes to take a hand at the controls of the 12-motored German airplane Do-X when she embarks as a passenger on its proposed trans-Atlantic flight.

Lady Hay arrived here on the Graf Zeppelin last week, and plans to sail for Europe on the Homeric next week.

Danny Moulton, her flying instructor, called her an apt pupil.

Luxury of modern busses in London has caused a decrease of 2,000 taxicabs in the city in the last few years.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND BRIEFS

A SPECIAL SERVICE TO THE EXAMINER

Pask and Walbridge members of the New York Stock Exchange, point out it is estimated there will be an increase of approximately 25 per cent in United States tourist traffic into Canada during the 1930 season. This they state will be an important factor in fixing the earnings of Canadian oil companies this year. Estimates for 1930 show that approximately 5,630,000 automobiles from the United States are expected to visit Canada and that expenditures by these tourists are expected to reach the huge proportions of $375,000,000. In 1929, figures show that 4,508,809 automobiles visited Canada and that $300,000,000 was spent. Conventions, the recent opening of the harbor bridge at Montreal, the new Detroit Windsor Bridge and the expected opening this summer of the Detroit river tunnel are factors contributing to the increase in tourist travel, this American brokerage house states.

Shriner Visits Exchange.

With trading coming to a standstill at times, floormen on the Toronto Stock Exchange found moments to dash out of the building and view the parades of Shriners passing along Bay Street. One such group was trailed back into the building by a person of slight build with an enormous fez which sat down low upon the head. As he went to walk out upon the trading floor, he was stopped by the doorman, but after much gestulating and earnest conversation got by that individual. His appearance on the floor was the signal for a wild outburst of cheering, his reception was perhaps the warmest of any Shriner visiting Toronto, so warm in fact, that his fez was shortly seen go up in smoke. After the excitement had died down, it was discovered the visiting Shriner was a member of the exchange in disguise.

Exchange Meeting.

Notice has been forwarded to the members of the Toronto Stock Exchange calling the annual general meeting for Tuesday, June 17th, for the election, of officers for the new year, consideration of the president's report and the presentation of the financial statement. The exchange financially had a good year and while the period on the whole, was not just as good as the one immediately preceding the results were about second best of the 77 odd years, the local market has been in existence in the past 2 years the membership of the Toronto Exchange has increased materially with the value of seats reaching a price in the neighborhood of $200,000 and receding only slightly from that figure alterations were made to the trading floor, the board marking space doubled and increase facilities provided for trading, made necessary by the rapid growth in public interest in the Canadian security markets The market held flothing of a cheering nature in store followers this morning. Only bearish operators working for better prices were viewing the continued reaction with satisfaction. There was some short covering this morning, but it provoked a very brief rally and thereafter prices went downward again. Losses, while not extensive, are beginning to loom larger in view of the cumulative decline of the past week. With nickel at a new low for the year and other stocks approaching their previous 1930 lows, there is a danger that weak accounts may be uncovered although the small volume of sales so far since the reaction started would indicate the market has not had to take much account of forced selling.

APPEARS ON CHARGE OF CATTLE THEFT

Davis Hill Refuses to Plead and is Remanded One Week.

Rumors of cattle rustling in Dummer Township were strengthened this morning when Davis Hill, Dummer farmer, appeared in County Police Court, charged with stealing a steer from Henry Dewart. The theft was alleged to have taken place in the month of September last year.

Hill was also charged with the theft of a coil of wire fencing, the property of Robert Tedford. He asked for a week's remand without pleading. Bail was fixed at $3,000.

Fred Parks, 27, of Dummer, was also charged with the wire theft, and, having entered a plea of guilty, he was remanded on bail of $500 for one week.

Police state that the theft of wire was made in September, 1928, from Tedford's ranch, and that Hill and Parks carried the wire to Hill's home, where it was concealed. Police unearthed the wire on Sunday, and the arrests followed.

SHORTHORN CLUB PLANS BIG PICNIC

Breeders Will Hold Field Day at Farm of Bertram Bennett.

OTHER PICNICS COMING.

The Peterborough Shorthorn Breeders' Club will hold a field day and picnic at the farm of J. Bertram Bennett in Otonabee on Wednesday this week, commencing at one o'clock. Professor G. E. Day, secretary of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders, has been secured as the principal speaker.

The picnic will be the first the Shorthorn Breeders' Club has held in this County and for the occasion the committee has arranged an excellent program. It will include the inspection of Mr. Bennett's herd, a judging class of Shorthorn cows, addresses and sports. Breeders who are interested in Shorthorn cattle or good cattle of any breed are urged to attend and meet other breeders of the district. Several horseshoe pitching courts will be provided.

Mr. Bennett's farm in Otonabee is two miles from the Lock's Bridge. All interested have been extended invitations to attend.

A similar picnic will be held by the Victoria and Peterborough Holdstein Breeders' Club at the farm of Wm J. Murphy at Lindsay on June 16, and on June 18 the Central Ontario Ayrshire Breeders' Club will have a field day at the farm of J. Gordon Mann and Son, Bridgenorth. A date has not yet been fixed for the field day of the Central Ontario Jersey Breeders' Club which is to be held at the Field Lodge Farm later in June.

The field days are designed to bring together the farmers of the district who are interested in particular breeds. The programs are planned so as to include something of value to each individual present.

LAWRENCE THE HERO OF ARABIA

biographical sketch of Colonel Lawrence, referring to him as one of the greatest mystery men in the world's history. Lawrnce had consistently refused to accept any honors or decorations as a recognition of his services during the Arab revolt, and since the war had avoided publicity so that his subsequent career was unknown to the world.

The speaker sketched the history of Arabia and supplied a concise description of the country and its people as a background for the story of Lawrence's part in the revolt, stressing the fact that this unknown Christian had succeeded in doing what nobody else had been able to accomplish, that is, to bring together the various Arabian factions and successfully lead them. The manner in which General Allenby had perpetrated the greatest hoax since the Troyan horse upon the enemy by leading them to expect an attack upon the valley of the Jordan and the part played by Lawrence and his Arabians, making a 500-mile trek across the desert behind the foe to cut his line of communications was a fascinating bit of history ably related by Mr. Crawford.

WARFARE DEATH TOLL OF CHICAGO GANGS UNKNOWN

Taking of Law Into Own Hands Aid Police in Drive Aainst Criminals.

SIX LEADERS MISSING.

Disappearances Laid to Al Capone—100 "Shock Troops" Imported.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The death toll resulting from the most recent flare-up of internecine warfare among Chicago's gangsters probably never will be known exactly. Their present method of disposing of their victims is such that seldom a trace of the murdered man is found. In addition, many so-called "big shots" have fled the city until the present wave of killings subsides. Thus, today the police have before them the names of six notorious hoodlums who have been missing from their usual haunts for some time. They may have been cremated, or their bodies weighed with angle-iron and thrown into the drainage canal. They may have "lammed" for safer hide-outs. The authorities, however, are inclined to favor the former guess.

The one favorable feature of the situation is that the gangsters, by taking the law into their own hands, have done what the courts and police seemingly were powerless to do in the way of ridding the city of its notorious characters.

Recent Killings

The recent killing of Phillip Ignolfo, "extortionist king" and all-round criminal, was followed by the Fox Lake killing of three last Sunday. Yesterday the body of Edward ("Red") McLaughlin, who at 26 years of age was known as "the man of a hundred crimes" was taken from the canal, where it had lain, weighted down with angle-iron, for about two weeks. He was the brother of Robert McLaughlin, President of the Checker Cab Company, and was charged with three murders, two of them in connection with the cab company. Robbery and terrorism were also part of his activities. The reason for his killing remains a mystery. According to his brother he was friendly with all the gangster elements of the city.

The characters whom the police have listed as "missing" to-day are: George ("Bugs") Moran, North Side gang leader and deadly enemy of "Scarface" Al Capone. Seven of his gangsters were machine-gunned in the St. Valentine's Day massacre; Teddy Newberry, a leader in the Moran faction; Leo Mongoven, Moran's bodyguard; Bennie Bennett, who left a profitable booze business in New York to join Moran; Robert Schmidt, known as "Frisco Dutch" constant companion of "Red" McLaughlin, and Willie Higgins who entered Chicago's underworld after a crime career in St. Paul.

Capone Suspected

It is the theory of investigating officials that all or several of the missing men have been executed by Capone's 100 imported "shock troops" from Brooklyn and New York, who according to police, have been brought in in small groups during the last few weeks.

Capone, apparently, is making a concerted drive to wipe out the entire Moran and Aiello gangs, that his supremacy in Chicago's vice may be unchallenged.

As for the Police Department, it is going along with the policy of "harassing" all characters who, business men and law-abiding citizens, say, are doing vast damage to the city's prestige and business. Owing to some influence not yet made clear Detectives Drury and Howe, the most active against gangsters, are still doing errand-boy service in the Detective Bureau while Harry ("Greasy Thumb") Guisick and Hymie ("Loud Mouth") Levine, collectors for Al Capone, and alleged white slavers, are free to hustle about the Loop district looking after the large "business" interests of "Scarface" Al. It was the arrest of these notorious vice-lords that resulted in the demotion of the zealous detectives.

Still Planning Graft

Capone is making a fresh effort to get control of the Street and Electrical Departments of the city. His plan to make City Sealer Daniel Serriatella Superintendent of Streets was temporarily sidetracked when a public howl went up. With his own man in as Superintendent, Capone would have had 3,000 jobs under his control, a budget of $7,000,000 annually to spend and a $5,000,000 street repair budget to dispose of. The city council, alarmed by public outcry, let the matter drop, but at the last meeting the Aldermen reinstated the job of Street Superintendent with a salary of $7,500 a year. This revives the possibility of Capone, through Serriatella, getting control of the position.

ARTICLE XLII.

Q.—(a) What are contingent assets and liabilities?

A.—Contingent assets are those which a company may or may not realize something upon. They may prove to be real assets but so long as there is this uncertainty about them, they are grouped as contingent.

Contingent liabilities are similarly liabilities which may or may not prove themselves to be real liabilities. Back notes and bills receivable that have been discounted at the bank are contingent liabilities.

(b) What does profit and loss surplus represent?

A.—When a company commences to do business its assets on the one hand equal its liabilities and capital on the other hand. As the company has net profits derived from earnings from year to year, the value of its assets exceeds the aggregate of liabilities and capital stock, by the amount of these net profits which are not paid out in dividends. This is called the profit and loss surplus. Conservatively managed companies put away a large profit and loss surplus in the form of a nest egg for the "rainy day." This is always in some liquid form such as cash or readily marketable bonds.

Vacation Time Brings That "Sinking Feeling" to Canadian Exchanges.

BEARS ABSENT.

TORONTO, June 9. (Special to the Examiner.)—Vacation time is receiving more attention than the stock markets at this period and price movements were irregularly downward on the Canadian exchanges in another dull week of trading. Selling pressure was not apparent but there were indications of tired holders liquidating their accounts for the vacation period. Going on holiday this year will be a new experience for market followers. In other years accounts were heavily loaded with commitments and the action of the market such that there interested could not leave town for a few weeks without making arrangements to keep well posted on daily doings. A year ago fireworks were the order of the day whereas to-day there is nothing to cause concern for the most ardent trader.

Excess to Selling.

The movement this week was nothing more than a sinking spell and a slight excess of selling over demand. Anything resembling a bear drive was absent and the slight decline general and not solely confined to individual issues. There was little news to affect prices and what there was could be considered favorable. Business continues to show a bit of improvement with statistics not offering a favorable comparison with 1929 but presenting a brighter picture when compared with 1928. The public months ago became resigned to what has taken place and the general attitude is one of caution rather than pessimism.

The markets are now well advanced into the sixth month of the year and it is not so much what has happened in the first half of 1930 as what will happen in the latter half. Generally speaking the security markets put their best foot forward in the late and early months of the calendar year with the period in between one of decreasing activity and a time for whatever readjustment is necessary. During the active campaign of rising prices the summer months provided but brief breathing spells, but 1930, so far, has proven the closest to normal in years and the public is now looking for a return to the old cycle of increasing activity in the autumn.

"This is a so-called dry country. It is a joke. There is more liquor being consumed in the United States to-day than there ever was, and the deplorable part of it is that seventy-five per cent. of it to-day is being drunk by women and minors.

There is more intoxication, more alcoholic deaths, more sin and crime through this prohibition law than could ever exist under the Ontario liquor system or even our old deplorable saloon, where men drank, but women and minors were held clean and sober through public opinion and laws that were respected.

CAMPBELLFORD DISTRICT CHEESE MAKERS HEAR SPECIAL SPEAKER

J. Proffitt Outlines Cheese Industry in New Zealand—Sent By Government.

KEEN INTEREST SHOWN.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9. (By Examiner Staff Corresponddent.)—With a wealth of information regarding the cheese industry in New Zealand, J. Profitt of that country, was the feature speaker at a meeting of the Campbellford district cheese makers, held at the grading station, Campbellford, on Friday evening. W. V. Druary, president of the association, acted as chairman.

Mr. Proffitt, who was introduced by the chairman, is on a three years visit from the New Zealand government, to learn the system used by the cheese industry of central Ontario. It is expected that he will take a course at the Dairy School at Kingston, before returning to his own country.

The speaker said that all milk used in New Zealand, for cheese making was pasturized: It was cooked to 98-99, drained off at 19, cut out at 32. It was milled for two hours, and tried for acid for three hours.

All cheese stood on the shelf for fourteen days before being pac ked,and were waxed. The cheese were cut at 3, 6 and had a 4 per cent test. A great deal more moisture was run in cheese in New Zealand, this being due to climatic conditions. Milk in that country was far richer than here, it nearly all coming from Jersey cows. It was considered that the Short horn Jersy cross was the best milking cow in that country.

Run by Companies.

Of the cheese factories in New Zealand, Mr. Proffitt said that there was one about every three miles. These are run by companies, and all expenses, including the managers salary, is paid by the concern. The smaller factories have an output of 30 cheese a day, while some have a total of 90 cheese a day. In the latter type factory, eight men are employed, excluding the manager and the butter maker. There are some cheese factories that have eighteen vats.

All factories in New Zealand run for eleven months of the year, and make their own butter as well. The straight creameries are mostly found in the towns and cities.

The chairman, Mr. Druary, read the correspondence, which dealt with various matters. In regard to the Herd Competition, it was urged that all makers should sign up their patrons as soon as possible. July 1st is the last day for filing returns, and it was hoped that there would be a good entry list from the Campbellford Association. Milton Maybee, M.P., was donating a silver cup this year, as also was the Royal Bank and J. McArthur, member for the Federal House, was giving a prize of an upholstered chair.

A discussion on cheese making was lead by Alex. Johnson, in which many of the members joined. This was along the line of heating, mixing, and the application of cool water to hold the acid back.

J. A. Murry, speaking of the graded cheese, said that as a whole, they were good, although there was a slight tendency to sweetness. This was no doubt due, he thought, to the cool days at the beginning of the week.

J. L. Irwin, also addressed the gathering, and thought that the cheese had a slight sweetness. But this he thought, would alter with the warmer weather. He suggested that it would be a good thing to see that there was sufficient acid to keep the cheese tight.

Increased Weight.

Referring to a letter read by the chairman regarding the weight of cheese, he urged upon all the makers to conform to the request of the trade. This was to increase the weight of the cheese to, from 90, to 95 pounds. The motive for this action, Mr. Irwin pointed out, was that as the Canadian cheese was filling the British market, it was necessary to get as near to the British standard of weight, which was 1 cwt. as possible. He told the makers to use up the boxes that they had, and the larger boxes would be forthcoming in time.

Mr. Irwin also urged the utmost care in the selection of milk, because of the tendency in the hot weather for cheese to go rancid.

Of the organization as a whole, the speaker said that wherever he went, he saw a great desire to progress. That all along the line associations were being formed, and doing good work.

Other speakers during the session were, G. Pollard, of Roger factory, G. Walker and M. McCan, of Norham factory and A. Merrill. Mr. Merrill spoke of the entries for the Canadian National Exhibition, and thought it would be a good thing if there were more contestants from the cheese makers of Central Ontario. In his opinion, the cheese made in this part of the country was on a par with any in the Dominion, and would certainly stand a good chance of winning prizes if exhibited.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a vote of thanks to the two guest speakers, Mr. Pollard and Mr. Proffitt was made by Mr .Murry and seconded by Mr. Shillingworth.

Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, June 9 (Examiner Correspondence). — A dramatic entertainment was held in St. John's Parish Hall on Friday evening when two short plays were presented by the dramatic group of the A.Y.P.A.

Rev. W. J. Creighton acted as the chairman, and in his pleasant manner introduced the performers. The first play was a farce comedy entitled "Marrying Belinda," with the following cast of characters: Herman Lathrop, the head of the family, T. A. Simpson; Mrs. Lathrop, his wife, afflicted with nerves, Mrs. W. Chappell; Belinda Lathrop, their daughter, devoted to suffrage, Miss Winnie Payne; Lee Benton, Lathrop's secretary, who finally solves the problem, M. Smith; Sidney Craig, Lathrop's nephew, an astute young man, Fred Hampton; Henry Gray, favored by the Lathrops as a husband for Belinda, Gerald Kennedy; Marie, the Lathrop's parlor maid, Miss Grace Watson; Miss Selina Lathrop, Herman's wealthy sister, Miss Mae Mahood.

The problem of getting Belinda married in time to obtain her aunt's legacy occupies about forty minutes, and there are many good laughs in the play.

Miss Winine Payne favored the audience with two solos; T. A. Simpson gave a reading from Service; Miss Mae Dever gave a topical selection by Edgar Guest; and Miss Vera Andrews gave an amusing reading, "Maria and the Mouse."

The second play, "The Obstinate Family," was in a different way quite as amusing as the first play and centred around the obstinacy of the human race, both men and women.

The cast was as follows: Mrs. Henry Harford, a bride of three months, Miss Vera Andrews; Mr. Henry Harford, her adoring husband, L. J. Charlton; Mr. Harwood, Mrs. Harford's father, E. J. Robertshaw; Mrs. Harwood, his wife, Mrs. M. Smith; Lucy, the maid, Miss Mae Dever; James, the butler, in love with Lucy, M. C. Hampton.

Attend Picnic.

A number of the members of the Lakefield Women's Institute attended the delightful picnic given by the members of the Young's Point Institute held at South Beach on Tuesday.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, June 9.—Exports of cheese to Europe from the Port of Montreal last week showed a large increase over the previous week and were the best so far in 1930. Shipments amounted to 12,110 boxes, compared with 4,897 boxes in the preceding week.

Receipts of butter and cheese in Montreal during the week showed another substantial increase. Egg receipts were below those of the previous week. The weekly receipts were: Eggs, 17,329 cases; butter, 16,466 boxes; cheese, 34,444 boxes.

Price changes during the week were featured by a 50 cent advance in old potatoes per 90 lbs. in bulk. Butter was fractionally higher; cheese was slightly lower; eggs about steady, and new potatoes steady to slightly easier.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 9.—A bear market developel in grain Saturday owing to securities breaking to new low quotations for the year. The upset in Stock Exchange prices caught the wheat market at a time when holidays abroad had temporarily blocked export demand. In addition, weather conditions Friday were auspicious for maturing and harvesting domestic wheat, and indications pointed to only a moderate reduction in the visible wheat supply on Monday.

With ralling power at a low ebb, wheat prices closed unsteady, 5-8c to 1c bush under Friday's finish. Corn closed 3-8c. to 7-8c. off; oats, 1-8c. to 1-4c. down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, June 9. — Wheat prices slipped downward fractionally on Saturday on heavy selling. Early advances were soon erased and at the close July and October had lost ⅝c, while December was off ¾c. Traders who gathered in wheat on crop scares unloaded yesterday in generous quantities.

Overnight export business was small and foreign interest, due to holidays in the Old Country, was negligible. Trading in cash wheat and coarse grains was very limited.

OBJECTIVE IS REACHED.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., June 7.—Two announcements of importance to the Maritime Provinces and supporters of Acadia University were made by President F. W. Patterson following the awarding of degrees and prizes at the 92nd convocation of the University. The Acadia Forward Movement Fund of $1,500,000, undertaken some years ago, has been completed, he said. The sum had been nominally secured a year ago, but the payment of $200,000 by the Carnegie Corporation completed the amount in full some months ago. The Centenary Fund, with $3,000,000 as the objective, would be undertaken immediately. In eight years, Acadia will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding as a college. The new campaign, with the addition of a million dollars, follows an announcement of a year ago, that a drive for $2,000,000 would be made to raise money for university purposes.

HER JOB-Could she get it back?

SHE had come down to the place where she used to work. They were advertising for more help.

When she left them, ten years ago, to get married they were very sorry to lose her. She had been one of their most skilful employees.

She was older now, and out of touch with business. She was startled the other day to see girls doing her work who were youngsters at school when she was at her job.

And there were the children! Could she look after them and work too?

Can you picture your wife in a similar position? If you died uninsured could she get back the financial independence from which you took her when you married her?

Is it a fair deal to the children for her to be forced to try?

A few dollars lodged with us each year would have given her a monthly income either for life, or long enough for the children to grow up and help her.

OSHAWA RALLIES TO DEFEAT RAYBESTOS 5-2

ARABS COUNTER THREE RUNS IN THE 11TH FRAME

Victory Puts Oshawa in Tie For First Place With the Raybestos.

TIE COUNT IN THIRD.

Arabs Secure Winning Three Runs on Two Hits and Two Errors.

Scoring three runs in the eleventh innings to break the 2-2 tie which had existed from the eighth frame, the Oshawa Arabs on Saturday afternoon at Exhibition Park in a Lakeshore League tilt defeated the Raybestos team 5 runs to 2.

Thus the Motor City crew gave further proof of the fact that this year they are going to be powerful contenders for the league championship, won last year by the Rays. The victory puts Oshawa right up in first place with the Rays, each having two wins and one loss.

Despite the frigid atmosphere the game was one of the best of the year. It was one of those fast-fielding, snappily-played affairs and with the teams battling most of the way for a one-run advantage it was tense with excitement and interest.

Came From Behind

Oshawa came from behind to tie the score and then went on and copped the verdict in that big eleventh. After the visitors had broken into the score column in the third with one runs, which was something in the nature of a gift, the Rays in their half of the same canto scored two. The Rays maintained that slim lead until the eighth when Hank Cohen's nine plugged the tieing counter across. Everything known of baseball science by either club was called forth in the succeeding innings in an effort to send around the one run that would bring victory.

Things broke loose in the eleventh and Oshawa on two hits and two errors secured the trio that placed the ball game right on their shelf.

Good Pitching.

It was the left-handers' day, Gower, a port-sider, doing the hurling for Oshawa, while "Sailor" Maudsley toiled for the Rays. Both pitchers turned in nice cards, showing absolute control and both were tendered smart support. Mysteriously, Gower seemed to have the Rays' hitters baffled and only three touched his offerings for a total of five hits. The mystery lies in the fact that this is the same pitcher whom the Rays chased to the showers on Victoria Day and who proved easy to them last season.

Rus Kitchen was called in to relieve Maudsley in the eleventh innings with one out and after the damage had been done. Oshawa could not hit Maudsley with any regularity securing but eight scattered hits, and on his twirling he merited a win.

Both Score.

The first high spots in the game occurred in the third innings. Gray opened the session for Oshawa with a fly behind first, which Barry made a creditable effort to nab, but which fooled him in the wind. Gower sacrificed Gray to second with a bunt to Harold Nicholls, and Carver got on when he was hit by a pitched ball. McDougal laid down a neat bunt. Maudsley took it and threw to first, getting the batter, but meanwhile Gray had passed third and was racing home. He scored when Barry's throw to Rogers got away from the catcher in tagging him. Rowden rolled to H. Nicholls.

The Rays secured their two runs in their half after two were out. Corrin having flied to right field and Maudsley rolling out to first. Hillier cracked a single in right field and stole. Mein singled into the same field, and both runners scored on Moore's double. Hall struck out.

Oshawa didn't get a hit through the succeeding three frames and the Rays got but one, a double by Mein in the fifth, right after Hillier had hit into a double play. That was the last hit the Rays obtained.

In the seventh Oshawa nearly pushed a run across, after Young and C. Elliott had been retired. T. Elliott singled through second, and went to third on Gummow's hit into right field, but Gray's hot grounder was taken by H. Nicholls, who tossed him out.

The Tieing Run.

Oshawa came back in the eighth with the tieing run. Again the hits came after two were down. McDougal started it off with a single down the third base line and he went to second on the throw in. He scored on Rowden's long double in right field. Young's fly was taken by Jimmy Hall for the third out. The Rays went out in order in their half, Gray making a neat catch of Moore's low drive into centre field.

In the ninth for Oshawa, C. Elliott rolled to second, but T. Elliott made first on a bunt down the first base line. He was out, Rogers to Mein, stealing second. Mein took Gummow's grounder and threw him out at first.

Things started off nicely for the Rays in their half, Rogers, first man up, getting on when Gower issued his only walk of the game. H. Nicholls sacrificed him to second. Al. Heckman came to bat in place of Barry, but ran into tough luck, raising a foul pop which the third baseman nabbed easily. O. Nicholls rolled to second for the third out.

In the tenth for Oshawa, with two out Carver singled into centre field, but McDougal's bounder was taken by H. Nicholls. The Rays went out in order.

Fateful Eleventh.

Things started badly in the eleventh. Rowden's grounder to short eluded Hillier for a moment and he made a hurried throw to first which drew Heckman off the bag, making the runner safe. Young followed with a sacrifice and Rowden scored on C. Elliott's single into left, the batter going to second on the throw in to the plate. T. Elliott singled scoring C. Elliott. Kitchen was sent to relieve Maudsley. Gummow flied to short. Gray bounced to Mein who made a clean pick up but whose throw drew Heckman off first. T. Elliott scored on the play. Gower's fly was taken by Hall for the third out.

The Rays went out in order in their final attempt.

YOUNG STOPS BIRDS' RALLY

Hardwood Twirler Wins Own Game in Chalking Up His Fifteenth Strikeout.

FINAL COUNT 11-10.

What threatened to be a ninth inning Frank Merriwell finish for the Baltimore Club of the East Northumberland League, was nipped in the bud by King Young, lanky pitcher of the Harwood Tigers, by causing J. Ball, heavy-hitting Batimore shortstop, to swing his war club at three fast balls with the bases loaded, and two down. Incidentally this was the fifteenth strike-out for Young in the hectic fracas, and enough to win a ball game in any man's league.

A large crowd witnessed an exhibition of thrills, chills, good baseball and poor baseball during the afternoon, but the first place Harwood club got off to a big lead in the 4th inning when the heavy artillery got to Harold Mann for 7 runs and scored again in the fifth and sixth, making a total of eleven, and enough to win. Bert Mann finished the game in the box for the home team and held the visitors scoreless.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9. — The first game in the schedule of the Intermediate O. L. A. will be played in Campbellford on June 18th, when the home team will battle with Oshawa. The Campbellford team, which has been hard at practice for the past two weeks is showing good form, and a real game is expected. ROBINS INCREASE LEAD MARGIN BY THREE GAMES IN NATIONAL A's Bunch Nine Hits Off Ted Lyons to Defeat Chicago White Sox 6-3.

DODGERS BLANK CUBS.

(By Fullerton Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer)

A perusal of the current major league records seems to indicate that a player must be very young or very old, as baseball ages go, to get a full share of this season's glory. Picking a few names from the records of those who have done something worth while in pitching or hitting, we find such ancients as Harry Seibold, Adolfo Luque, "Sad" Sam Jones, Ted Lyons, Harry Heilman and Harry Rive. And the youngsters, Mel Harder, Bob Osborne, Earl Collard, Roy Mahaffey, Wally Berger, Joe Stripp, Smead Jolley and Tom Oliver.

Of these, Luque and Heilman are basking in the brightest rays of the limelight to-day. The veteran Cuban hurler, who has been in the major leagues for nearly a dozen seasons, is at the top of the National League's pitchers, with a record of six straight victories. He gave ample proof yesterday that he has earned this post by turning back the Chicago Cubs with four hits while Brooklyn scored a 6 to 0 victory and increased its margin of leadership to three full games.

Heilman in two games against the Phillies yesterday improved his latest official average of .402 by several points, hitting five hits in nine times at bat and giving Cincinnati a 5 to 4 victory in the first contest with a home run. Heilman could not offset the Philadelphia slugging in the second game and the Phillies won it by a 9 to 2 count.

Seibold also did well after a couple of bad games. He pitched his tenth complete game in a dozen starts to beat Pittsburgh, 10 to 6.

Victory for Hoyt

Waite Hoyt, another veteran who seems to be about through with the New York Yankees, made his first start for Detroit and won out, 1 to 0, in a six inning game.

Ted Lyons, one of the season's consistent winners, gave the Philadelphia Athletics four extra base hits in one inning. This was just enough to give the world's champions a 6 to 3 victory over Chicago, producing four runs. Young Wes Ferrell of Cleveland finally passed Lyons in the number of games won by holding Washington in check and finally driving in a run in the ninth inning to win his own game 3 to 2.

Ferrell's victory improved Cleveland's position in the American League standings considerably as the St. Louis Browns subdued the threat of the New York Yankees with a 5 to 4 triumph.

The New York Giants provided the leading exception to the youth and age rule as they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 1, for their eighth successive victory and the 12th Cardinal defeat in 13 games.

ALDDERVILLE BEATS ROSENEATH 3 TO 1

Smoke Pitches Airtight Ball For Eight Full Innings.

(Examiner Correspondence)

HASTINGS, June 9.—Roseneath's entry in the West Northumberland League received a setback on Saturday afternoon when Alderville took them into camp at Alderville by the score of 3 to 1. Smoke pitched airtight ball for Alderville for eight innings, Roseneath not getting their lone tally till the ninth inning. The high wind carried what looked like many a safe hit into foul territory. If Alderville play the same brand of baseball in the remaining games, the Clarke trophy is liable to find a resting place in the reserve for the next year.

Bates of Baltimore and Wellman of Hastings had charge of the game.
